To the Citizens of Portsmouth:—I beg leave to call your attention to the following law concerning refusing to obey at fires. "If any person present at any fire shall refuse or neglect to obey the commands of the firewards, or any of them, at any fire, he shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars nor less than five dollars"—Gen. Sts., page 203, Sec. 5.

Respectfully, &c.,

TO THE PUBLIC.

The NORTH-WESTERN (BABCOCK) FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY having brought suit against the PHILADELPHIA (GARDNER.) FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY, for alleged infringement of the Carlier and Vignon Patent, (dated April 13th, 1869,) which the said Babcock Company professes to own, in the use of water impregnated with Carbonic Acid Gas as a means to extinguish fires, we desire to make the following statements all of which, we are prepared to fully substantiate by proof:

First. The so-called Carlier and Vignon Patent is invalid for want of novelty, in that a patent was issued to W. H. Phillips in England, in 1844, and in this country in 1850, for a Fire Extinguisher, in which water impregnated with Carbonic Acid Gas was used as the extinguishing agent.

Second. The said so-called Carlier and Vignon Patent has no legal existence, no legal application ever having been made for it to the Patent Office; and its issuance therefrom was accomplished by gross fraud.

Third. The lawyers conducting the suit against us, brought suit for the same clients on the same Patent, against one Duryea, in the U. S. Court in New York, 1870, and the answer of Duryea being filed, setting forth the facts herein alluded to, said suit was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiffs.

The Babcock Company expects to destroy the sale of the Gardner Extinguisher, which has so seriously interfered with their long-enjoyed monopoly, by extensively advertising this suit, and this intimidating the public. It is our purpose to defeat their fraudulent design, and to this end, we will shortly publish a history of the matter, which will undeceive the public and expose the worthlessness of that sham, called the Carlier and Vignon Patent.

Copies will be mailed to any address on application. This Company will give guarantees against all loss, damage or trouble for use of the Gardner Extinguisher, and will, at its sole expense, defend all suits that may be brought against it. D. B. WAGGONER, Secretary,
Philadelphia Fire Extinguisher Co.,

Morning Chronicle.

A GREELEY REFORMER AT WORK.—If Mr. Greeley should be elected President, there are at least three newspaper men whom he should not forget in the distribution of his favors, namely, H. J. Ramsdell, of the Cincinnati Commercial, J. W. Knowlton, of the Chicago Tribune, and Richard J. Hinton, of the Boston Globe. Two of the above-named journalists went to Baltimore to work for Greeley's nomination. Mr. Hinton went there with by no means friendly feelings toward the sage of Chappaqua; but as his opposition is quite beneficial and effective as his support, H. G. is as much indebted to him as to the other two. They all suffered terribly at the hands of Mr. Greeley's friends. Ramsdell lost his shoes, and was compelled to walk out next morning to an adjoining shoe store to replace those that had been stolen from him. This was only the beginning of his troubles.

Mr. Ramsdell, while wearing a No. 5 glove, requires, strange to say, a No. 13 shoe. Baltimore men are remarkable, among other things, for the smallness of their feet, and it is by no means easy to find shoes of dimensions to suit Mr. Ramsdell in that city. He spent $10 in hack-riding around the city from shoe establishment to shoe establishment, and at length succeeded in finding a small number 12—the best he could do. They kept him in torture all day, and made him write three fearfully disloyal dispatches, which led to the rumor that the Commercial was going to oppose Greeley. It was not Halstead's editorials, it was Ramsdell's dispatches, and all because some thief of a Greeley man had stolen his comfortable and capacious shoes. What that thief will do with Ramsdell's shoes is mystery to us. To what purpose can he possibly put them? He can't wear them himself, and we are confident that no one of his relations can wear them.

Mr. Knowlton lost a magnificent gold watch, the gift of Mr. Horace White, the editor of the Chicago Tribune. Mr. White presented this watch to Mr. Knowlton some six months ago under the following circumstances: There is quite a difference between Chicago time and Washington time, and to a paper that had the enormous circulation that the Tribune had a few months before it became a Greeley organ, half an hour was of the utmost importance in the matter of getting its mails off, and so forth. Knowlton was always late with his despatches. His excuse was that he had neither watch nor clock in his office; so White, to put an end to that plea, contracted with the Elgin Watch Company in Illinois to make a handsome watch for Mr. Knowlton, and take it out in advertising. Knowlton has been ever since on time with his despatches until last Tuesday night, when, as we said, the watch was stolen by probably the same Greeley thief that made off with Ramsdell's number thirteen shoes.

[illegible] at the lateness of Knowlton's accounts of the convention, and telegraphed for an explanation. He was promptly informed of the facts in the case, and was as may be naturally supposed, highly indignant. He telegraphed Knowlton to serve notice upon the convention, that unless the watch was returned the Tribune could not consistently support the nominations, and that, in his opinion, there ought at least to be some honor among gentleman who expect to plunder the national Treasury as soon as Greeley gets in.

Mr. Hinton's loss was the severest of all. His pocket-book, well filled with nice, new ten-dollar bills, twenty-five railroad passes, including one on the Washington and Georgetown railroad, photographs of leading woman suffragists and communists, was cruelly abstracted. It also contained important correspondence bearing on the forthcoming revolution in Europe, together with all his letters to the Globe, and several other invaluable documents. Even his excursion-trip ticket over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was taken, so that he was left utterly helpless in the city of the Philistines.

Ramsdell and Knowlton say that they do not want to again get within fifty miles of that Baltimore crowd. The question they anxiously ask now is, "What will Greeley do for them in case he is elected?" —Washington Republican.

—The Cincinnati boy who threw a bunch of fire-crackers into the cornet of one of Tony Pastor's horn-blowers produced a staccato passage, which the player couldn't find in his notes.

—A Detroit Sunday school boy learned fourteen hundred verses of Scripture. They gave him a silver ring because he was so good. He cannot wear it now because his fingers wasted away badly while he had the brain fever.

—A tornado passed through Russell, Mass., Wednesday afternoon, making a clean sweep of everything in its path, which was about fifteen rods wide, and lay about a mile north of the centre. Fences were scattered and trees torn up by the roots, and in one instance a hole, six feet long and four feet deep was made in the ground by the force of the whirlwind.

— A Manch Chunk, Pennsylvania, paper tells a strange story of a frightful accident to a deaf and dumb boy, at the coal mines. He was caught in the coal breaker and dragged in with the coal, being fearfully crushed until the machine was stopped, after which it required nearly two hours to extricate him. He lived an hour or more after he was taken out. It is given as a fact, that when lying helpless in the machinery he cried out to people to help him, and prayed to God for strength and assistance, all as fluently and distinctly as any body could under such circumstances, although until then he had never been able to speak at all.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

EXTRAORDINARY FREAKS OF A ONE-LEGGED BOY.—Coming into the city on a C. B. and Q. train as it entered the suburbs recently, a youngster about ten years old, with one leg amputated to a very brief stump, was noticed handling his crutch very briskly along the side of track, evidently with a skilled purpose to get his momentum up to that of a rapidly moving train. He did it and climbed to the rear platform and sat down. At Canal street he climbed down from his perch, and went down the track with flying leaps, like a kangaroo, with the evident purpose of boarding a long freight train, already under headway in an opposite direction. It was an exploit only the most adroit (and venturesome) railway employees would think of attempting, so great was the speed of the train; but again the brisk monopede achieved it, clung like a monkey to the iron ladder on the side of the car, near the rear of the train, and went up, hand over hand with his crutches under his arm. The next instant he was running or rather hopping with long leaps at full speed along the top of the cars, taking the interspaces as easily as a boy skips over a crosswalk. This midge is the victim of an extraordinary passion for riding on the cars. Of course he lost his leg in this way at the Great Eastern crossing eighteen months ago, and was provided with attendance and a light crutch by the railroad company. Any one would think the loss of a leg would be a lesson for a lifetime, but instantly on recovery he resumed his sport, which had become a passion.

Since that time he passes his whole day in the manner above noticed. His misfortune has really equipped him with means of locomotion with which he distances all two legged youngters. He captures every train that passes, takes excursions into the country at will, sure of being able to compass his return in the same way. Railroad employees scold and put him off, but his condition secures him immunity, and as he never mounts a train until it is in motion, he gives them the option, to stop the train or throw him off.—Chicago Tribune.

ON THE ROOFS.—At least nine-tenths of all the roofs in New York are nearly flat, and hence are capable of being used as private pleasure-grounds. At a small outlay, the roof may be made the most pleasant part of the house in summer evenings. Substantial brick parapets would have to be built on each side of the roof, in order to protect pedestrians in the street below from the danger of the falling small boy, who would otherwise daily precipitate himself on the helpless passers-by. A board flooring might then be laid, and a stout awning rigged to shed both showers and sunlight. A conservatory of flowers, rustic chairs, and an occasional table may be added, and the family and guests of the household could escape whenever the sun had so far passed the meridian that its rays no longer fell perpendicularly upon the awning. Builders and owners of tenement houses should at least guard the roof with railing, and make it a safe and pleasant resort for the inmates of the stifling rooms below. Such an investment would bring no immediate pecuniary returns, but it would be an incalculable blessing to the tenement population if they had a cool and safe pleasure-ground on the roof, where the children could play during the day, and where men and women could bivouac during the midsummer nights, without danger of rolling over the eaves, and thus giving employment to police surgeons.—Tribune.

DUMAS.—A good story of Alexander Dumas. There are thousands of good ones, but this is particularly characteristic of the great writer. One day, his son, whose pocketbook was very light at that time, was strolling along the boulevard, when he met a literary chum and after a few minutes' conversation it was proposed that they should go to the Maison d'Or and enjoy a first-class breakfast. "Well and good," said Dumas fils, "but I have only five francs; how much have you?" "Three." "Eight francs will never do for the royal meal we desire, so we had better abandon the idea." "Where is your father!" asked the friend. Tiens! I forgot; he will lend me twenty francs," and off rushed Dumas fils to the author of the "Three Musketeers." Ten minutes after he returned, laughing heartily. "Well" said the chum, "did he give it to you?" "No," answered Dumas fils, "on the contrary he borrowed my five francs!"

—A trip to California is by many deemed superior in attractions to a voyage to Europe.

—Oliver Logan's new lecture for the coming season is on "Successful People"—herself and Sikes, probably.

—It grieves us to hear that in Baltimore George Francis Train "literally tore the treaty of Washington to atoms."

—It is common to speak of those whom a flirt has jilted as her victims. This is a grave error. Her real victim is the man whom she accepts. A happy simile runs thus: A coquette is a rose, from whom every lover plucks a leaf; the thorn remains for her future husband.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

HOLLOWAY'S

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor Absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twingling from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the most acute Instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind from time immemorial, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolute cure for Internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THAGHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREWERHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

The Editorial Excursion.

KIARSARGE HOUSE,
NO. CONWAY, July 17.

Increased to nearly a round hundred, the editorial corps have filled every available room that Messrs. Thompson & Andrews have at their disposal—over 300 guests being lodged last night, by such a "doubling-up" process as can be imagined when 120 room only are ready for occupancy. Through the courtesy of Director Sanborn, the editors and ladies were transported yesterday in carriages, three miles, to the track of the Wolfeboro' Branch, and were thence taken to Sanborn's station, nine miles, over the new and partially graded road. Half way down, one patriotic youngster raised a "star spangled" on a pole and saluted us with one discharge from a small cannon as the train whizzed through the woods, the first passenger train over the road. From Sanborn's, the Conway Express, 4.40 from Portsmouth, conveyed us to this town. The Wofeboro' Branch will hardly be completed before August 1st. The bridges over Smith and Crooked Ponds, are however, nearly finished. A "soft" spot near Wolfeboro' remains to be successfully filled, the loads of gravel disappearing quickly after being dumped, thus far.

The Association held a brief meeting this forenoon, but no business of great importance was transacted. Among the new names accepted were those of Messrs. Marcellus Bufford and Edward D. Coffin of Portsmouth, as honorary members, and Mr. Charles W. Gardner as an active member.

The evenings here at the Kiarsarge are enlivened by Chandler's quadrille band, to whose music the boarders trip nightly their fantastic seven by nines. Rides to the summit of Kiarsarge and to the "Echo" lake and "Cathedral" form the interesting features of each day's amusement. The domestics of the establishment enjoy themselves washing dishes from early candle light till dawn of day—and no one needs waking for early excursive attempts when the tops of the surrounding mountains are lighted from the gasometer around which revolves this globe of ours every 86,400 seconds.

Among the distinguished guests here are Mr. Tourjee, popularly believed to be musically inclined, Mr. Holden of the Boston, Mr. Butler of the Biddeford, and Mr. Dingley of the Lewiston, Journals. Everett, whose surname is O. Foss, is here too, with his inimitable "caravan," which has thus far attracted great attention. It is rumored that a daily paper is to be run at Dover through the Presidential campaign and that Mr. Foss is to manage it. Twenty-five dollars per diem will be about the actual cost of it. Dover people here assert that the aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad will speedily be voted by the City Councils of Dover, it being the intention to secure its passage through both Boards before Portsmouth acts. A man has been found who wants to contract the bridge from Newington to Dover Point for $100,000.

Col. Kent and E. O. Foss head the Greeley men here. The irrepressible cashier of the Boston Globe, who never knew how to keep quiet, canvassed our excursion train, yesterday, and 44 of the voters declared themselves for Ulyssess, while but 17 preferred Horace.

Half the Association left us sad and lonely this afternoon, and meandered to the Glen, where we join them tomorrow. To-night the exercises will close with a "hop,"— and a grand scattering will commence "early in the morning." Our route lies from the Glen over Mount Washington to the Notch, and thence to Profile and down the Pemigewasset towards home.

The heat has been intense thus far; yesterday, the thermometer indicated a temperature of 99 deg. To-day Kiarsarge, Chocorua and the lesser hills have cloud caps at their summits, and to our relief, old Sol has refused to shine more than thirty minutes on dwellers here below.

Political.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says: "Senator Sumner has given an explanation of the Rearis letter, which shows that the date was brought forward a year by Greeley men, in addition to suppressing the last two sentences, to suit their purposes. Mr. Sumner says his letter was written when Mr. Greeley was in Texas, in reply to a letter from Rearis, telling him that discussing citizens of Missouri were the policy of nominating Mr. Greeley by the Republican party, and requesting him (Sumner) to declare for him."

Thus one after another of the attacks resorted to by the Greeleyerats to fire the Republican heart with enthusiasm for the Dolly Varden candidates is exposed; but the worst of it is, in the eyes of the Greeleymocracy, that all this misrepresentation, brag and bluster wholly fails to take a chip from the Republican party—it merely scratches the bark a little. What earnest fellows these Greeleycrats are when they get to denouncing "political trickery!"

Voltaire used to say of the diminutive territory of Geneva, "When I shake my wig I cover the whole republic with powder." It is the prouder boast of Horace Greeley, "When I put on my white hat I cover the whole Democratic party with felt."—Hartford Courant.

One of the largest political meetings ever held in Connecticut was held in New Haven on the evening of July 18. Some ten thousand persons assembled on the green to ratify the nomination of Grant and Wilson. There was music, fireworks and a salute. The meeting was presided over by Governor Jewell, and addresses were made by Senator Buckingham, Hon. Thomas H. Bond, Hon. H. L. Dawes, of Massachusetts, and Representatives Kellogg, Strong, and Starkweather, of Connecticut. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed. Mr. Bond's speech attracted great attention, inas much as he has acted with the Democratic party for years, and has been a member of the State senate and a candidate of the Democracy for lieutenant-governor. He took the ground that the Democracy had sold out, and that between Grant and Greeley he must choose Grant as being much the safer man. Hon. Charles Atwater, late candidate of the Democracy for lieutenant-governor, was one of the vice-presidents of the meeting, he taking the same grounds as Mr. Bond. The action of such men as Messrs. Bond and Atwater create much consternation among the Greeleycrats in Connecticut.

State News.

There are now at the insane asylum 225 persons under treatment, 114 males and 111 females.

The house and barn of Mr. J. C. Miller, in Middletown, with all their contents, were burned a few days since. Cause: Children playing with matches. Loss about $1000.

The News.

An attempt to assassinate the King apd Queen of Spain, on the night of July 18, failed. One of the assailants was shot and two captured.

The court trying the cases of Tweed and Connolly at Albany has adjournned until September, when a decision will be rendered. They take time enough to think about it, anyway.

It is reported that the British agent has presented to the board of arbitration at Geneva a demurrer, praying for the exclusion of the cases of the Tallahassee and other vessels.

AN UNMANAGEABLE ECHO.—Up in the Lehigh Valley there is a hotel-keeper who has a mountain about a quarter of a mile from his house, and it occurred to him that it would be good if he could fix things so that a magnificent echo would be heard from the mountain by persons who stood at his hotel and halloed. He thought the phenomenon might attract visitors.

He engaged a boy named James Simms, who lived over on the mountain, to be on hand every day from twelve to two, and to secrete himself behind a little clump of trees, and when he saw anybody on the roof of the hotel, and heard them calling, to repeat their words fifty or sixty times in a voice which should grow fainter and fainter. He made Jim practice, and the result was splendid. So one day the landlord announced that he had discovered that a noble echo could be heard from the roof of the hotel. He took a lot of people up to let them enjoy the discovery.

The guests called for half an hour, but without hearing any echo. The landlord was crimson with rage; but just as he was about to give it up the voice of Jim came sailing over the river to this effect: "Bin down to the spring for mother. Fire away, now, I'm all right." The guests smiled. The landlord glided down-stairs and tore over to Simms', where he shook James up a few times, and gave him a lecture and some fresh instructions.

In a few day the landlord rushed up a new crowd of guests to hear the echo. It worked grandly for a while, but all of a sudden it stopped in the middle of an impressive reverberation. In vain the callers strove to awake the echo. It was dumb. But, presently, in answer to an exceedingly boisterous cry, the following strain was wafted across from Mr. Simms: "You come over here and make him gimme my knife, and then I'll holler. He's a sotin' on me."

The landlord dropped down-stairs and charged over to the mountain. There was Mr. James Simms lying prone upon the ground, with a big boy holding him down and whacking him. Mr. Simms and his antagonist had engaged in a game of mumblypeg, during which the big boy had seized Mr. Simms' knife, and Jim all at once lost his interest in the echo business. The landlord went home, ascended the stairs, and nailed the trap door fast. No more echoes for him.

—Michigan has a law making it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, to aim a fire-arm at any person, whether it be loaded or not, and if harm come of such an act, the perpetrator is responsible criminally and pecuniarily. This is a salutary statute, and should be adopted in every State. Then there would be fewer fatal accidents with "nobody to blame."

—A wife in Davenport, Iowa, who wouldn't endure her drunken and abusive husband any longer, took advantage of his absence one day to sell out their household goods and disappear with the proceeds. The only article of household goods she took along with her was the young man who did the "chores" around her little farm. She said she wanted something to remind her of her old home.

—The last rat story is from Chicago. In a house where the rats had been very troublesome, traps had long set; but to no purpose. Finally, some of the family determined to watch the trap. It was cunningly set. Soon a young rat appeared, and was about stepping on the fatal spring, when an old rat rushed to the rescue, seized the indiscreet juvenile by the tail, and dragged him off to his hole.

"CAN'T DO WITHOUT IT."—This is what the stage and horse car companies, livery-stable keepers, members of the turf, and all grooms and trainers say of the Mustang Liniment. They "can't do without it." And why? Because it infallibly reduces the external swellings, &c., which, under various names, impair the usefulness and value of the king of quadrupeds, and also because, for sprains, strains, galls and other injuries to which horse-flesh is liable, it is the most trustworthy preparation in the market. Yet these recommendations comprise only a portion of its claims to public confidence. During a period of more than sixteen years, it has been recognized as a specific for many of the most agonizing disorders which afflict the human family—such as rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, lumbago, tic-doloreux, sore throat, earache, toothache; and likewise as a peerless application for cuts, bruises, burns and scalds.

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep and is peculiarly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The first of these preparations remedies or eradicates all diseases of the skin, flesh, muscles, glands, and sinews, while the Pills relieve every disorder of the stomach and bowels. Sold 78 Maiden Lane N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot or box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

IF you feel dull, drowsy, delibitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

Special Notices.

Fraud Loves a Shining Mark.

A great medicine is always a target for fraud. Shallow cheats, without the talent to originate anything useful, or the decency to permit an article of superior excellence to perform its mission, without striving to turn a dishonest penny by attempting to substitute a trash in its place, are now engaged in imitating and counterfeiting HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most popular tonic and restorative in the civilized world. A brood of local bitters, mixtures of damaged drugs with worse liquor, has cropped out all over the country; although the sales of these pernicious slops are too insignificant to affect the interests of a staple remedy, it seems a duty to warn the public against them. The color of the true specific may be simulated, but its cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, intermittent fever, constipation, nervous debility, &c. cannot be imitated.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could procure, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, VOMITO, SNAKE ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is subdued by all alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the compounds specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

City Councils.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the petition of C. E. Walker and others for widening of Warren Street between Chestnut and Middle Streets, was received and placed on file.

Application of Mrs. Maria Walker for relay of sidewalks in State Streets; complaint of Wm. W. Palfrey of the condition of concrete sidewalk on Elm Street; and petition of Henry Lombard for leave to set posts in Mt. Vernon Street, were referred to Committee on Streets.

The Committee instructed to examine the condition of Pleasant Street, reported that said street ought to be widened in two places, and recommended that the parties interested have leave to bring in a petition.

Preamble and resolution authorizing repairs and alterations on City Building were laid over till Thursday night.

The Committee on Fire Department reported an estimate of the cost of building a reservoir in Bridge Street, which was laid over.

At 8 o'clock the Board heard parties interested in the widening of Warren Street, as asked for by Frank Jones and others; the petition was laid on the table.

Voted, That the vote passed Jan. 25 last, authorizing the Committee on Streets with the Mayor added to buy and sell horses, be reconsidered.

Joint resolution concerning aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad was received from the Common Council. The rules were suspended and the resolutions read a second time and passed, —ayes, Ald. Annable, Wilson, Giddings, Mendum, Hatch, 5; noes, Ald. Waldron, 1.

Petition for widening Pleasant Street was received and a hearing appointed for Aug. 8, at 7 1-2 o'clock, P. M.

The Committee on City Lands and Buildings recommended that the stable at the City Farm be removed and fitted for a cart shed and that a new stable be built. Recommendation adopted.

Voted, That the Board visit the City Farm next Monday afternoon, meeting at this room at 8 o'clock.

Voted, That the subject of placing a fire-alarm bell on the Cabot Street School House be considered at next meeting.

In Common Council, every member was present. The clerk being unavoidably absent on account of a death, Councilman Wendell was chosen clerk pro. tem.

Councilman Palfrey presented joint resolutions concerning giving city aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad. On motion, the rules were suspended, and the lease of the P. & D. R. R. by Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, guaranteeing six per cent. yearly on the stock of the former, and the ratification of the lease by the Eastern Railroad, were read.

The Council being desirious of taking prompt action without waiting to secure the written opinion of the City Solicitor, that official, who was present, was requested to give it verbally to the Council. He replied that he had carefollw examined the documents which had been read, and considered them valid and binding, and drawn up with the utmost thoroughness and care.

Several members advocated the passage of the resolutions; and no one speaking in opposition the question was called for, and resulted in their passage by the unanimous vote of the Council. The resolutions are as follows:

Joint Resolutions authorizing City aid in the construction of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad:

Resolved by the City Council: That His Honor the Mayor be directed to subscribe in the name of the City of Portsmouth for stock of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad not exceeding three thousand shares of $100 each.

Resolved: That bonds of the City not exceeding three hundred thousand dollars be issued to pay for said stock, bearing interest semi-annually at the rate of six per cent. per year.

Resolved: That said bonds be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Treasurer of the City, and be issued in sums not exceeding one thousand dollars each, and made payable in terms of twenty, thirty, forty or fifty years.

A joint resolution requesting the Mayor to have the street lights kept burning until midnight, instead of being put out at 11 o'clock as at present, was referred to committee, and the Council adjourned.

Nix Greeley.

Messrs. Editors:—An incident occurred recently which I think worthy of notice. A leading Greeleycrat in this city, in order to display his banner bearing the names of his favorites, asked permission of his neighbor to attach a line to the chimney of the aforesaid neighbor's residence; and he being a tenant of the said Greeleycrat, consented, as possibly courtesy alone would have led him to do. But his daughter, not willing the public should be deceived by appearance, at once flung to the breeze a flag bearing the names of Grant and Wilson. That lady deserves a serenade. NORTH END.

Laconics.

Messrs. Stavers & Chase (at the Temple) have to let to parties camping out or going down river on a chowder party or for a fish-fry on the rocks, a part of the Patent Cooking Apparatus conveniently fitted into a box, which is just the thing needed. Call and see it.

A large side-wheel steamer is soon to be put on the route between Biddeford and Boston, and will touch here on her trip each way. So says a Boston paper.

We are informed that the Came Carriage Manufactory and Repository on High and Hanover Streets is sought for by parties at private sale, and that the Messrs. Came have concluded to postpone the sale till next Saturday. The Cames propose to erect new buildings for their manufactory, on the site of those recently destroyed by fire, and will either sell the estate down town for a manufactory, or lease it to parties for a tenement house.

The whooping cough is unusually prevalent among the children of our city this summer, and in some cases has proved fatal by superinducing congestion of the lungs. Warm weather, however, is very favorable to this dreaded disease, and by the observance of due care in guarding against taking a violent cold it is robbed of much of its terror. A tea made by steeping red clover blossoms in a little water and given occasionally is a good anti-spasmodic and affords great relief in severe cases.

The U. S. Steamer Nantasket now lying at the Navy Yard has been condemned by a board of survey appointed to examine her condition. If approved by the Department she will probably be disposed of by auction.

Clippings.

—It is well said that there is no ocean surf bathing in the world so safe as that of Rye Beach and while quite refreshing and attractive, it is not rough. The most delicate women and children can stand before it without danger of exhaustion, for there is no undertow, and it is well understood that everything, animate or inanimate, cast into this surf is pretty sure to be again thrown upon the beach.

—Bald Head Cliff, at York, is pronounced by one who has travelled extensively over many parts of the world as second in wild and majestic grandeur only to the celebrated Giant's Causeway in Ireland. Each year this point becomes more and more a centre of attraction to tourists and doubtless before another season is passed a fine hotel will be underway close by, by New York parties, for the accommodation of the large numbers who annually visit that ancient town.

—Another bad "sell" is reported in Hampton. A respected citizen and well-known politician was importuned by a traveling Irishman to purchase a watch which he was obliged (?) to sell "just to raise money enough to get back to Boston." The watch was worth $60, so Pat informed the gentleman, but in consideration of his straitened circumstances, &c., he would part it with for the trifling amount of $10. The price was paid; Pat took his departure, and the amount of talk developed upon the discovery that the watch was white metal, worth $2.60 at wholesale—will not bear repeating.

THE OLD FLAG.—At a Democratic flag-raising at the foot of State Street on Tuesday evening last, Messrs. Albert R. Hatch and Daniel Marcy did the talking. The latter stated that the present Administration had become so weakened by its habits of corruption that foreign powers had ceased to have that respect for us as a Government which they had formerly, and that as a consequence the glorious old flag had been insulted during the past year by England, Spain and other countries to a greater extent than it ever was before. We think Capt. Marcy must have forgotton the insult offered to the flag in April, 1861, when his Democratic friends fired upon it at Fort Sumter. It is hardly safe for democrats to prate about the sacredness of the flag, when four years were spent by them and their Southern allies, in endeavoring to trample it in the dust.—Journal.

—The inhabitants of Mud Town, Pa., know when it is Sunday by the appearance in the street of live geese covered with tar and all in a blaze.

—A Danbury boy can make one hundred and sixty-five "faces" without sitting down. The feelings of his broken-hearted father when reaching for him with a strap, can better be imagined than described.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The NORTH-WESTERN (BABCOCK) FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY having brought suit against the PHILADELPHIA (GARDNER,) FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY, for alleged infringement of the Carlier and Vignon Patent, dated April 13th, 1869, which the said Babcock Company professes to own, in the use of water impregnated with Carbonic Acid Gas as a means to extinguish fires, we desire to make the following statements all of which, we are prepared to fully substantiate by proof:

First. The so-called Carlier and Vignon Patent is invalid for want of novelty, in that a patent was issued to W. H. Phillips in England, in 1844, and in this country in 1850, for a Fire Extinguisher, in which water impregnated with Carbonic Acid Gas was used as the extinguishing agent.

Second. The said so-called Carlier and Vignon Patent has no legal existence, no legal application ever having been made for it to the Patent Office; and the issuance therefrom was accomplished by gross fraud.

Third. The lawyers conducting the suit against us, brought suit for the same alleged in the same Patent, against one Duryea, in the U. S. Court in New York, 1870, and the answer of Duryea being filed, setting forth the facts herein alluded to, said suit was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiffs.

The Babcock Company expects to destroy the sale of the Gardner Extinguisher, which has so seriously interfered with their long-enjoyed monopoly, by extensively advertising the suit, and thus intimidating the public. It is our purpose to defeat their fraudulent design, and to this end, we will shortly publish a history of the matter, which will undeceive the public and expose the worthlessness of that sham, called the Carlier and Vignon Patent.

Copies will be mailed to any address on application. This Company will give guarantees against all loss, damage or trouble for use of the Gardner Extinguisher, and will, at its sole expense, defend all suits that may be brought against it. D. B. WAGGENER, Secretary,

THE BALTIMORE CONVENTION.—At last it is done, and nobody is surprised. It was as much a foregone conclusion that the Baltimore convention would nominate Horace Greeley as it was that the Philadelphia convention would nominate General Grant. It was packed to this end, and that by the very men who cried out the loudest against that process as applied at Philadelphia. Horace Greeley, the "Reform" candidate, the champion of "honest administration," has actually been hobnobbing with the Tammany ilk to secure his indorsement by their party. And he has succeeded. To be sure there was some opposition to this action of the convention, which, although it was rather feeble in numbers was red hot in its utterances, but really brought nothing to pass. A brief struggle among the delegates, and down went the Cincinnati platform, Mr. Greeley and all, and the participators came forth looking as serene and happy as though it had been an ordinary dose. *

But the Democratic party, and a pretty good number of Republican malcontents, are in a desperate strait, of which this combination is a good proof. The first see no hope of returning to office but by the aid of these malcontents, and these see no other so promising way of beating the party in power. The movement was started and is kept along by the very caucus-packing and wire pulling that its originators condemn, and the most of their disciples are really animated, by the hope of official reward at the end. Read the liberal and Democratic newspaper; listen to the speeches of the Government reformers; note the utterances of those who were lately leading rebel armies and sending northern soldiers to starve in prison, and one might suppose that a spasm of virtue had swept among the whole of them, and that we were witnessing a resurrection of the political conscience.

We have already admitted Mr. Greeley's honesty. That is too well known to require a specific statement. No one who knows where the sun rises need be ignorant of it. But we insist equally on Grant's honesty, and find a larger and surer promise in his re-election. * * * * *

A heated and vigorous campaign may safely be predicted. The supporters of Mr. Greeley are able men, many of them, and he will not fail of an election if their best efforts can secure it for him. Their appeals are put before the country in popular phrase, and will be likely to attract. People like to hear honesty and purity and impartiality talked about, and many of them will be won by this talk. But do the present combinations and tactics, the class who will inevitably get into office if his candidature is successful, convey any strong prophecy that Mr. Greeley would be the paragon of Presidents? We trust that the good sense of the country will not take any such risks. The Nation can do better than to yield the management of its affairs to Democratic hands, and we confidently expect to chronicle Gen. Grant's re-election not many months hence.—Morning Star.

—A Scotch gentleman says, "There are few people like Burns." We should think not, indeed, nor scalds either!

—A young lady in Dearborn county, Iowa, lost her life while endeavoring to save a gosling from being run over by a railroad train.

—A California milkman is said to have left a can of water by mistake at a customer's house, and the customer never discovered the error.

—Mr. R. M. Cooley, a wealthy resident of Springfield, about 60 years old, was stabbed twice in the head by his Irish servant girl. It is now thought there is a chance of his recovery. The girl has disappeared.

—A most curious insect has found access to the Louisville public library. It was found in a whiskey barrel. Never existed exactly such a nondescript. It has tusks like an elephant, horns like a harte-beeste, eyes like a devil fish, pincers anterior and posterior, wings of immense disproportion to its body, and looks like the devil in faint disguise. Several noted naturalists have examined the creature, but are unable to classify him.

—A tall, slim fellow is in trouble. He wants to know what character to assume at a masquerade. A Gotham journal advises him to chalk his head and go as a billiard cue, braid his legs and go as a whip lash, swallow himself round and round a few dozen times and go as a roll of tape, wrap himself in the American flag and go as a barber pole, bristle his hair up and go as a white-wash brush, swallow a few marbles and go as a rattle-box, put an insulator in his mouth and go as a telegraph pole, or walk on his hands as a pair of scissors. He is in worse trouble now than before.

—A death without a precedent in Europe has just occurred at Brighton, England. Some years ago, an English merchant while trading at Malabar, fell in love with a young lady, and married her. He brought his wife to his home soon after. She refused to embrace Christianity, and built on her husband's grounds a temple, stocked with choice idols, where she was wont to worship. A few weeks ago her husband died. Her agony was horrible. She tore her dress and face to pieces; she mourned and could not be comforted. On the evening of the day of the funeral she disappeared. When search was made for her, the ashes of a funeral-pyre, a few bones, and some fragments of half-burned flesh, were found in her temple—and that was all. True to the customs of her native land, she had immolated herself at the death of her lord and master.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

ALREADY ENGAGED.

There was a motley gathering in the large, old fashioned house of Deacon Smiley.

All the people living within half a dozen miles of the good deacon's prairie home had come together by special invitation to enjoy his hospitality. Circumspect elderly people were there, a score of them. Fun loving, light-hearted ones enough to dance two sets at a time without enlisting a goodly array of 'chubby' kissable babies who were in plenty likewise, quietly sitting on the maternal lap, or toddling about at the risk of being spirited away by some baby-loving old maid.

The young people were enjoying themselves in the ash floored kitchen, the thick doors of which prevented their merry doings being seen or scarcely heard by their grave seniors in the parlors and sitting-room. They danced, sang songs, and played at various games until refreshments were served, after which they sat down in a semi-circle before the great blazing log fire to wait for some leading spirit to propose something new for their diversion.

Maurice Whatacre, the eldest, but by no means the least attractive person in the room, sat down by the side of Olivia West, and shyly stole her handkerchief on purpose to make her coax him to give it back, which he finally did by tying it round her neck, that he might have a good chance to kiss her. His very fingers tingled when they came in contact with her white neck, but he did not kiss her, though he could not have had a better chance than he had when she turned her peachy cheek towards him for his impertinence.

Maurice had never kissed a woman in his life, except his mother, though he was thirty-five, and he dare not do it then before all those eyes, even though not one was looking his way. Maurice knew that Fred Glover, who was sitting so glum over in the chimney corner, would give a good deal to sit where he was, and have Olive smile on himself, and that made him feel still better. He liked to think he was making that conceited fellow jealous.

'Girls, what do you say to our taking a sleigh-ride?'

'Oh, let us have a sleigh-ride by all means!' exclaimed half a dozen at once.

'I'm afraid our papas and mammas will want to go before we get back,' said a demure little miss, who was amusing herself by pinning a gentleman's coat sleeve to the waist of a lady's dress, the two appendages being conveniently near each other.

'Not a bit of it,' answered a wide awake chap, who had just come from the other room. 'They have just brought up another half bushel of apples and Uncle Grimshaw is about to begin one of his long stories. We can drive to Walton and back before he gets through.'

This settled the matter. Two or three of the young men went out to get the horses and sleighs ready, while the others helped the girls on with their wrappings.

Maurice Whitacre kept close by the side of Olive, determined that Fred Glover should not cheat him out of her company for the ride. But in the entryway some one jostled against him, and he lost sight of her until he reached the sleigh.

There was no moon, and but for the snow the night would have been pitch dark, not even a star being visible so that objects could be seen more distinctly. Maurice mistook Fred Glover's madcap sister Mary for Olive. He seized her hands, helped her into a seat, and sprang in beside her.

'Olive, are you warm? Let me fix this robe around you—so'

Then Mary knew that Maurice had made a mistake, and her black eyes shone mischievously under her hood.

'Olive is with Fred, thanks to Maurice's stupidity' thought she. 'Well, I shall have something to laugh about for a month, and who knows but I may be the means of getting Fred a wife?'

The bells jingled merrily, and the horses almost flew over the beaten snow. The night was bitter cold, and Maurice moved closer to his companion, holding the robe, and finally he put his arm around her, drawing her nearer to him, and asked her again if she was comfortable.

'Yes, thank you,' came in a whisper from under the fur-trimmed hood which almost covered her face.

Mary shrank a little from his close embrace, and earnestly hoped that he would not declare himself just then.

After her whispered answer to his question, Maurice fell to talking in a whisper, too, and it was not long before a thought of proposing then and there entered his head.

'Why not tell her how I love her now as well as any time, and then if she consents to marry me, I can let that fop, Fred Glover, admire her and look daggers at me as long as he pleases,' and with this he put his face close to Mary's so that no one should overhear him, and whispered:

'My darling, I love you.'

There was no response, but Mary, who felt herself in a dilemma, was putting her wits to work to help her out of it; so when he asked her bluntly if she

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulino, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, sure and safe.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Political.

The Greeleycratic press is much exercised in its mind over the "disgrace to the Administration" occasioned by the conduct of Consul General Butler in Egypt. The New York Nation, which seems to have a most inconvenient memory, referring to a supper given to Butler when he was first appointed, says: "His character was just as well known to New York journalists then as it is now; he was notorious as a blackguard, and nobody with the opportunity of knowing him thought him anything but a most unfit person for the place. Yet the most noted gentleman who was present at the 'ovation to a distinguished journalist,' and who, we think, presided for a part of the time at least, was the present liberal republican and democratic candidate for the Presidency. He wouldn't make any such appointments. Butler at Alexandria is not a pleasing spectacle, we agree; and we can all agree, we trust, that Butler receiving complimentary suppers in New York with Mr. Greeley in the chair or at the table is not very pleasing either; nor one that need elate the reformer."

A Greeley paper having intimated that Fred. Douglass was leaning toward Greeley, Mr. Douglass prints a card and says it is groundless.

Horace Greeley is now, as he ever has been, a bitter opponent of Masonry. According to his doctrines, no Free Mason, Odd Fellow or member of any secret society, should hold office in the United States.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "It is well that Mr. Greeley has learned to handle the axe so skillfully. There will be something over sixty thousand heads for him to cut off immediately after the 4th of March." O! the beauties of "civil service reform!" How charming the idea of having the civil service reformers' "nobody turned out of office for political reasons" adopted,—after all the offices shall have been filled with good Greeleycrats. Consistency, thou art a jewel; but thy other name is neither Democracy nor Horace Greeley.

The New York Evening Post has declared its intentions to support General Grant in preference to Mr. Greeley. Its reasons are: that if General Grant is re-elected there will be no general sweep of offices, and the civil service will remain in better hands than any into which Mr. Greeley is likely to give it; our foreign relations are likely to be far worse managed in Mr. Greeley's hands than in General Grant's; there is every reason to expect the most serious financial disturbances if Mr. Greeley is elected. On the latter point it says: The Tribune (and this, too, was before Mr. Greeley withdrew from it) has continually and persistently put forth the idea that the only thing necessary to bring about a resumption of specie payments is to post a notice on the Treasury doors announcing that on a certain day specie payments shall be resumed, and presto, the thing is done. The gold with which to perform this amazing feat is what the Tribune calls the "surplus" gold. But everybody knows that this surplus gold is only a balance, which is no real surplus, but comes into the Treasury one day and goes out of it the next. It would be no joke to resume specie payment in this way. The immediate effect of it would be a financial panic; from all changes of this kind we are likely to be completely exempt if General Grant remains in office. Indeed, if the administration will only let gold alone, and neither contract nor expand, in short do just what General Grant's administration has been doing, the elasticity of trade and the increase of population alone will bring gold to par, just as it has been brought from 300 to 112.

Hon. Jesse D. Bright does not swallow "the pill"; at least, he told a friend in Indiana that he had "suffered too much in attempting to maintain the integrity and dignity of the Democratic party to unite in transferring it at this day to its most unrelenting, malignant and vituperative enemy."

According to the Greeley papers the West is one vast wilderness of what the Nation calls "boiled-crow."

The Chicago Times, commenting on Mr. Trumbull's speech at Decatur, asks: "Could there be better evidence that this is the most unprincipled and shameful contest that has ever been witnessed in our political history than is furnished in this thoroughly demagogical speech by a distinguished Senator of the United States, "who has taken the stump" in advocacy of the election of a man whom he has declared to be unfit for the office of President, and who is actuated thereto solely by the selfish desire of retaining to a seat in the Senate? In his honest judgment there can be no doubt that Mr. Trumbull regards Doctor Greeley, as a presidential candidate, with a feeling of thorough contempt. He did not hesitate to say so at the Fifth Avenue Hotel conference. But now, upon "the stump" in Illinois, this dignified Senator lands the man for his anti-democratic partisanism, and has the impudence to ask honest men 'what is the reason they can't vote for 'him!"

Cameron says that Forney's opposition to the republican candidate in Pennsylvania doesn't amount to a puff of wind now.

Gratz Brown has "talked" again, but he did not say anything.

At its recent State convention the Kentucky Democracy re-affirmed its platform of 1866, in which was the following resolution: "We must earnestly assert that Kentucky has the right to regulate the political status of the negro race within her territory, and candor compels us to proclaim that whilst we shall protect their rights of person and property, we deem it both inexpedient and insecure to permit them to exercise the rights of either juryman or voters, and we should regard any attempt upon the part of congress to interfere with our rights in this respect as not only an infraction of the constitution, but also as a gross and palpable invasion of the reserved rights of the states." We know what to expect of the Kentucky democracy, if Mr. Greeley is elected.

The News.

Hon. Samuel Thacher, of Bangor, died on Thursday evening at the age of ninety-six years. Mr. Thacher at the time of his death was the oldest ex-member of Congress, the oldest ex-member of the Massachusetts legislature, the oldest Free-mason and the oldest living graduate of Harvard College.

There was a collision Friday at Pittsford, on the New York Central Railroad, between the Baltimore express and a coal train. Three persons were killed and twelve wounded, two or three of whom cannot survive their injuries.

The remains of three men have been discovered in a cave in Indiana, and upon one of them was found a few lines written upon an old newspaper, signed Antonio Harfe, and stating that he was the murderer of Benjamin Nathan in New York.

Colonel John T. Pickett, formerly Confedrate States diplomatic agent for the government of Mexico, publishes a statement showing his agency in the sale of rebel archives to this government, the price obtained being $75,000.

The board of arbitration at Geneva held no session on Thursday. It is reported that the question of the responsibility of England, which Lord Tenterden denies, was discussed. The next session will be held on Monday.

On Friday the arbitrators admitted the cases of the Tallahasse, Chickamauga, Sumter and Nashville were admitted to arbitration, the Sallie, Jeff Davis, Jay, Music and Retribution being excluded.

The evening following the attempted assassination of the King and Queen of Spain they both assisted at the Te Deum in the royal chapel. The King subsequently walked through the streets and was cheered with enthusiasm by the people, all classes hastening to show their loyalty and sympathy for the dynasty. A crowd attempted to take the assassins out of jail and shoot them, but a strong force of police prevented. Judicial inquiry was actively progressing into the circumstances of the attempted assassination. All connected with the crime will be dealt with according to the utmost rigor of the law.

The New York Sun, if not a sincere supporter of Greeley for his own sake, is certainly a sincere and determined enemy of Grant (who failed to give its editor, Mr. Dana, an office), and advocates Mr. Greeley as the "anybody" it hopes to beat him with. On the 2d of September, 1870, the Sun said: "The Tammany candidate for the nomination of the Republican State Convention that meets at Saratoga next Wednesday, is Horace Greeley. All the Tammany Republicans are for him. Let the honest Republicans of rural districts take notice."

CORRESPONDENTS WANTED. — The Secretary of the Board of Agriculture, Mr. J. O. Adams, Manchester, desires to arrange with some intelligent resident, in every town in the State, and in every section in which a post office is established, to communicate with him on agricultural topics. Should this meet the eye of any person willing to engage in the work, let such an one notify the Secretary, who will furnish a schedule of topics on which he desires information and forward stamped envelopes for replies. By a recent act of the Legislature the Selectmen of all the towns in the State are required, by May 1, annually, to make response to such interrogations as the Secretary may propose to them by the first of April. But it is important that information on many topics be communicated monthly. Hence the request here made.

State News.

Livingston Stone, Esq., of Charlestown, somewhat noted already in connection with fish breeding, leaves this week for the Columbia River region as deputy fish commissioner for the United States. His particular duty will be to assist in the propagation of salmon in the various streams of the country by collecting the eggs in that region where they are plenty, and forwarding them as may be desired. In connection with this he will make collections of specimens, and of all information bearing upon fish culture.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

FOUNDED ON A ROCK!—The disappointed adventurers who have from time to time attempted to run their worthless portions against Drake's Plantation Bitters, vow, that they cannot understand what foundation there is for its amazing popularity. The explanation is simple enough. The reputation of the world-renowned tonic is founded upon a rock, the rock of experience. All its ingredients are pure and wholesome. How, then, could tricksters and cheats expect to rival it with the compounds of cheap drugs and refuse liquor, or with liquorless trash in a state of acetous fermentation? Of course the charlatans have come to grief. Their little game has failed. Their contempt for the sagacity of the community has been fitly punished. Meanwhile PLANTATION BITTERS seems to be in a fair way of eventually supersecding every other medicinal preparation included in the class to which it pe- longs. In every State and Territory of the Union it is, to-day, the accepted specific for nervous debility, dyspepsia, fever, and ague, rheumatism, and ailments involving a deficiency of vital power.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

Special Notices.

The System Sustained

By the invigorating, tranquilizing, and regulating operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS does not wilt and break down under protracted toil. It has, in fact, been demonstrated in repeated instances that a man who takes this wholesome and agreeable vegetable remedy daily, in conformity with the directions, can perform a given amount of labor—whether it be handwork or headwork—in less time and with less fatigue than would be possible without its strength-renewing aid. Persons engaged in sedentary pursuits, or whose occupations involve privation, hardship and exposure will find Hostetter's Bitters a regulating and invigorating elixir, exactly suited to their exigencies, and a sure safeguard against the ailments arising from these causes.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of reach of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY LUBRATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves sleeplessness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor was one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Very Appropriate.

The following parody on a "workingman's song" entitled "'Tis six o'clock, P. M.," was one of the pieces given by the boys at the High School exhibition on Thursday afternoon:—

One O'clock, P. M.

Our school room opens wide its doors.
At one o'clock, P. M;
We scholars issue forth by scores,
At one o'clock, P. M.
Of all the minutes in array,
Of hours that go to make the day
There's none so welcome, so they say,
At one o'clock, P. M.
'Tis one o'clock, 'tis one o'clock, P. M.
Hurrah! Hurrah! a joyous shout
'Tis one o,clock, P. M.

Our parents dear express delight,
At one o'clock. P. M.,
When we return with faces bright,
At one o'clock, P. M.,
Then homeward tend our willing feet,
Nor linger long upon the street,
With joyous tones our friends we greet,
At one o'clock, P. M.
'Tis one o'clock,—'tis one o'clock, P. M.

'Round dinning tables draped in white,
At one o'clock, P. M.,
Our gathered families unite,—
At one o'clock, P. M.
And as we eat our ample fare,
We quite forget our toil and care
And drop all thought of lessons there,
At one o'clock, P. M.
'Tis one o'clock,—'tis one o'clock, P. M.

Then ring the pealing summons! ring
At one o'clock, P. M.;
From North Church tower a welcome bring
At one o'clock, P. M.
Ring out, releasing bells, ring out!
And bid the welkin take the shout,
And echo it all 'round about,
At one o'clock, P. M.

This parody is much better than such productions usually are, and Mr. Lewis E. Smith, the Principal of the school, who wrote it, evidently remembers his own school-boy days with sufficient vividness to fully understand the feelings of the school boy of to-day when he hears the "releasing bell ring out." But though no one who has ever studied the habits of the genus school boy will question the statement that of all the hours in the day the one which lets him loose is the most welcome, there may in some few—very few—cases be a conflict of opinion regarding the delight expressed by the parents when the boys reach home; but "poetical license" will explain that verse—the second—and make everything all right.

The Water Question.

We take the following from the Journal of Friday last, and hope that (as the Journal suggest should be done) the fact that the Brewster Street reservoir furnished water for three hours to two steam fire engines and then had as much water in it as when they commenced, will "be duly considered in the discussion of the question of the economy of a reservoir vs. pipe at the corner of Bridge Street:"

We learn that the Board of Aldermen contemplate building a reservoir at the corner of Hanover and Bridge Streets, instead of laying a pipe from the North mill pond as proposed. It is stated on competent authority that the reservoir on Brewster St. supplied two steamers with water for upwards of three hours at the fire of the Came Bros.' Factory on Friday night last. Those conversant with such matters pronounce it to be the best reservoir in the city. Its great value is occasioned by the manner in which it is furnished with water, being supplied by a pipe connecting with the North Mill pond, laid at a point one foot below the lowest tide water. The fact of its rendering such valuable service at the recent fire should be duly considered in the discussion of the question of the economy of a reservoir vs. pipe at the corner of Bridge Street.

Laconics.

An old clothes line running from the upper story of a tenement house on Church Hill to a dead pine tree in the cemetery bears up a flag with the simple epitaph, Greely.

The board of Assessors hold a meeting this Monday evening at half past 7 at the Aldermen's Room, for consideration of applications for abatements.

The old, unsightly building which for a century or more has projected over and disfigured Market Street at the entrance to what is now Fernald's wharf, has been torn down. Market Street should be widened from Deer to Russell, but the increase should be on the west side.

Commodore A. M. Pennock, the gentlemanly Commandant at this Yard, has been promoted to the rank of Admiral, in view of which we can heartily congratulate him.

Secretary Robeson was at Rye Beach on Saturday and visited the Navy Yard in the afternoon returning to the Beach in the evening. He leaves for Washington to-day.

Rear Admiral Case visited the Navy Yard on Friday and returned to Washington on Saturday.

Among a large flock of sheep and lambs which passed down Pleasant Street on one of the hot days of last week were several that were so overcome by the intense heat that they fell by the wayside. The driver picked them up, gave them a vigorous kick, and in this way succeeded probably in getting the poor things to the slaughter pen. To say nothing of the cruelty of the act the query arises whether the meat of the animal is not seriously impaired by such treatment.

—A horse car for the display of human nature! A conducter on the Brookline Branch of the Metropolitan road, on one of his trips but a day or so since, found three boys, evidently of one family, on the front platform. The oldest boy was perhaps 15 years of age. When our conductor said "fares, please," the boys answered, "mother's inside and she will pay for us." The conductor went through the car and received the fares of the passengers, one or two ladies paying for themselves alone, and no mention was made of any boys outside. "Who owns the three boys outside?" No answer. "There are three boys outside who say their mother is here and will pay for them." This loud enough to be heard down on Back Bay. Still no answer. "Well, the boys'll have to get off, then," and the bell rung. Just then a lady happened to remember that she had three sons, and that they were with her, hooked the conductor with her parasol and paid their fares. She didn't mean to evade paying the eighteen cents. Oh no! She was sleepy or oblivious of her off-spring.—Boston Traveller.

—Bids were made for McCunn's vacant place on the superior bench of New York before he was in his grave, and there are eager candidates already coming forward for the place which will be made vacant before long by the conviction of Barnard. But this haste is not quite as unseemly as that of a well-known politician who, anxious to succeed to the late Alderman Hartt's seat in the board of aldermen, approached Mayor Hall on the subject during the funeral services of the dead alderman. The mayor at first declined to talk to the importunate gentleman, but was finally induced to give "only a word." "Mr. Mayor," began the politician, "to be plain with you, I would like to take Hartt's place." "I'm willing," replied the mayor; "just apply to the undertaker."

—The largest bridge in the world is the Tensas and Mobile bridge, on the Mobile and Montgomery Railroad; its length is fifteen miles, crossing both the Mobile and Tensas rivers, and it includes ten draws, one for each navigable channel into which the rivers are divided. The bridge itself is constructed of wood, but its pillars or supports are iron cylinders, which rests on a solid surface of wooden piles driven down evenly with the bottom of the stream and the mud and intervening morasses. It has been three years in course of construction, and cost $1,500,000.

—An elderly gentleman returning home from church, began to extol the merits of the sermon to his son. Said he: "Jack, I have heard one of the most delightful sermons ever delivered before a Christian society. It carried me to the gate of heaven." "Why didnot you dodge in?" replied Jack irreverantly, "you'll never get another such a chance."

—New Haven newsdealers say that the subscriptions to the Tribune have fallen off one-half since Greeley's nomination, and the newsboys on the cars tell the same story. At Hoadley's the sales have dropped off two-thirds since the tariff question has been taken from the electoral college and remitted to the hands of the people.

—A young man rode ten miles in a railway carriage with a young lady, with the intention of popping the question, but all he said was, "It is quite moony to-night." "Yes," she replied, "muchly." And there wasn't another word said.

—A Westport dog attacked a circus elephant in the street the other day. An eye witness says that the bold dog in about one minute was spread out over several yards of ground, about the thickness of sheet iron.

—A shoe firm in Newport has brought a libel suit against the Portland Transcript for $10,000 and several of the suitors' creditors have trusteed the Transcript for the paddle damages coming to the plaintiff.

—A New Orleans editor said he counted 173 alligators in a sail of six miles along a bayou. That editor had probably taken too much Mississippi water, and sailed around the same alligator 173 times.

—An old maid suggests that when men break their hearts it is all the same as when a lobster breaks one of his claws — another sprouts immediately and grows in its place.

—The Omaha Bee don't mean anything personal, but opines that if the Omaha postmaster would resign "many people would feel less anxious about their money orders."

—The publication of the names of persons in Liverpool who become intoxicated in public has reduced the number of drunkards one-third during the past six months.

—A California jury, in a suicide case lately, found the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that the deceased was a fool."

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

loved him, and would marry him, she answered:

'Mr. Whitacre, I esteem you very highly, but—I am already engaged.'

Maurice held her firmly for a moment while his mind took in the hopeless meaning of her words, then his arm dropped like lead.

Throughout the remainder of the ride he spoke not a word, and Mary was equally silent.

'He will never venture to speak to Olive again, and Fred will win her,' thought Mary, as she noticed the effect her words had on Maurice.

Mary was thoughtless, not intentionally wicked. She did not realize the extent of the wrong she was doing, and only considered the affair in the light of a practical joke, which her brother might improve to his advantage.

When they returned to the deacon's, Maurice assisted Mary from the sleigh and proceeded with her to the kitchen, where he sat down before the fire in a fit of abstraction, from which he was aroused by a banter of his companions. He looked up to see Olive West—his own Olive as he had hoped a few hours before—gaily talking with Fred Glover, who was leaning over her chair.

During the rest of the evening, Olive shunned Maurice assiduously, and for a good reason. She, with Fred, had occupied the seat directly behind Maurice and Mary, and had witnessed his tender advances, had heard his whispered, 'My darling, I love you,' and during the rest of the ride she listened to Fred's never failing flow of small talk, without knowing or caring what he said. Maurice had never told her in words that he loved her, although his looks and actions had often told her that he did; and yet now she had plainly heard him avow his love for another. The weeks passed by. Maurice met Olive often, and Fred was constantly by her side. Olive seemed the happiest of the happy, though a careful observer might have seen that her cheeks were thinner and less rosy than formerly. Maurice moped and grew misanthropic. He only went to the little neighborly gatherings because he knew Olive and Fred would be there, and he felt a savage delight in scowling at them both, and muttering maledictions, against Fred. He wanted to make Olive think that her engagement did not cut him in the least, and it occurred to him that the surest way to do it would be to get married before her. But to whom? He stood leaning against the mantel, while he ran his eyes over the different groups assembled in Mrs. May's parlor. There were young girls and old maids, pretty maidens and homely ones, blondes and brunettes—any one of whom, his vanity told him, would accept an offer of his hand—not altogether for himself, but because of the many broad acres that were his. He fixed his gaze at last on Mary Glover. She was his rival's sister, it is true, and he hated Fred; but Mary was a good girl, he mused, though a trifle wild, and would in time make a steady, noble woman. Besides, Mary resembled Olive in many respects; and since Olive could not be his, he would marry the one most like her.

While these thoughts were passing through the mind of Maurice, Mary was busy with her own reflections, and seeing this was the case, she was wondering whether she had not better make a confession to Maurice Whitacre, and drive away the gloom that seemed so permanently settled over his handsome face.

Her thoughts were interrupted by Maurice.

"Miss Glover, will you honor me by coming into the other room? I wish to speak with you.'

'He has found it, and is going to give me a lecture,' Mary thought, as she followed him in silence. 'O how I wish I had told him all about it myself. My conduct must appear contemptible to him.'

He led her to a seat, and taking one opposite, he proceeded in a business like manner to ask for her hand in marriage. Mary looked up archly, suppressing a smile, and answered:

'Mr. Whitacre, I esteem you very highly, but—I am already engaged.'

'Miss Glover, what do you mean?'

'I mean that you mistook me for Olive the night of the sleigh ride, and—well, you proposed to me instead of her.'

'And you deceived me on purpose? I am surprised that you could do such a thing,' but Maurice did not look much displeased, though he spoke gravely—almost sternly; on the contrary, he looked ten years younger than he did an hour before.

'There, if you are going to scold in that way, I shall be sorry I told you,' and Mary, feeling awfully humbled, ran out of the room.

Half an hour later, Maurice and Olive were alone in the same room.

They were sitting together, hand clasped in hand. All was explained; and, judging from the happiness depicted on both faces, Maurice had proposed at last to Olive West, and had received a satisfactory answer. In due time there was a wedding at Widow West's. Fred Glover was there as gay as anybody, for his fickle nature made him soon forget that he found he could not possess.

Mary Glover was the bridesmaid, and as she dressed the happy bride she told her for the first and last time how her madcap propensities, with a desire to serve her brother, led her to receive and reject an offer of marriage from the next best man she knew of. Olive pardoned her for the word 'next.' It was only natural she should make the comparison, for Mary was really and truly 'already engaged.'

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

WOMAN.—Woman is a perpetual revolution, and is that element which continually destroys and recreates. She is the experimenter and suggester of new combinations. She has no belief in any eternal fitness of things. She is never even content with any arrangement of her own house. The only reason the mistress could give when she re-arranged her apartment, for having a picture in what seemed the most inappropriate place, was that it had never been there before. Woman has no respect for tradition, and because a thing is as it is, is sufficient reason for changing it. When she gets into law, as she has come into literature, we shall gain something in the destruction of our vast and musty libraries of precedents, which now fetter the administration of individual justice. It is Mandeville's opinion that women are not so sentimental as men, and are not so easily touched with the unspoken poetry of Nature; being less poetical and having less imagination, they are more fitted for practical affairs, and would make less failures in business.

I have noticed the almost selfish passion for their flowers which old gardeners have, and their reluctance to part with a leaf or blossom from their family. They love the flowers for themselves. A woman raises flowers for their use. She is destruction in a conservatory. She wants the flowers for her lover, for the sick, for the poor, for the Lord on Easter day, for the ornamentation of her house. She delights in the costly pleasure of sacrificing them. She never sees a flower but she has an intense desire to pick it.—Warner's Back-Log Studies.

BUSINESS LAW.—The following brief compilation of business law is worth a careful preservation, as it contains the essence of a large amount of legal verbiage:—

It is not legally necessary to say on a note, "for value received."

A note made on Sunday is void.

Contracts made on Sunday cannot be enforced.

A note made by a minor is void.

A contract made with a minor is void.

A contract made with a lunatic is void.

A note obtained by fraud, or from a person in a state of intoxication, cannot be collected.

If a note is lost or stolen, it does not release the maker; he must pay it, if the consideration for which it was given and the amount can be proven.

An endorser of a note is exempt from liability if not served with a notice of dishonor within twenty-four hours of its non-payment.

Notes bear interest only when so stated.

Principals are responsible for the acts of their agents.

Ignorance of the law excuses no one.

The law compels no one to do any impossibility.

An agreement without consideration is void.

Signatures made with lead pencil are good in law.

A receipt for money is not always conclusive.

The acts of one partner bind all the rest.

NOT THAT KIND OF A NOSE.—Even in political matters it is always best to be sure of the man you are talking to, as the following shows:—

A gentleman of Dayton dropped into the reading room of a hotel in this city a few days since, and while sitting there a conversation on politics grew up between himself and a stranger who was stopping at the hotel. Now, our Dayton friend, we should explain, is blessed with a roseate nose. The stranger soon began a tirade of abuse against the Administration; he denounced President Grant as both a knave and fool, and asserted that our whole Government was a very cesspool of corruption.

Our friend of the rubicund nasal organ heard him through; then rising from his chair he astonished the stranger by laying his finger upon his fiery red nose and remarking, "See here, stranger, I'm not a Democrat; that's a boil."

A GRAND BALANCE.—A minister who, after a hard day's labor, was enjoying a "tea dinner," kept incessantly praising the ham, and stating that "Mrs. Dunlap at home was as fond of ham as he was," when the mistress kindly offered to send her the present of one. "It's unco kin' o' ye, unco kin'; but I'll no put ye tae the trouble o' sending it, I'll just tak' it hame on the horse afore me." When, on leaving, mounted, and the ham was put into a sack, some difficulty was experienced in getting it to lie properly. His inventive genius soon cut the Gordian knot. "I think, mistress, a cheese in the ither end would make a grand balance." The hint was immediately acted on, and, like another John Gilpin, he moved away with his "balance true."

—A Detroit paper says that Mr. Geo. Barrel commited suicide because disappointed in a love affair. He couldn't bear the thought of remaining a single Barrell.

—"Pitch and toss" is the playful way in which they allude, out West, to the process of tarring a man and throwing him in a blanket.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

All necessary of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office, EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish stupidity, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and written, and many testimonies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

What Are They?

Senator Trumbull, in a recent speech at Decatur, Ill., spent a great deal of time in endeavoring to prove that Horace Greeley, as the Democratic candidate for office, is a better Republican than those who will not vote for a return to power of the Democratic party. This is the way Trumbull talked:

What objection have you to voting for Horace Greeley? How does a man betray his Republican principles by voting for him for President? Was not he a Republican before you were? To what principles of Republicanism was he ever unfaithful? Was not he for preventing the extension of slavery, and against the Lecompton constitution? Was not he in favor of all the constitutional amendments? Was not he in favor of equal rights of all before the law? Horace Greeley is a Republican. The platform is Republican. What is the matter then you cannot vote for Horace Greeley without being denounced as opposed to Republicanism and the Republican party?"

This of course was intended for Republicans,—to give to those who may be wavering between Grant and Republicanism on one side, and Greeley and Democracy on the other, a lift over the fence into the Democratic camp. But the Greeleycrats have others beside disaffected Republicans to coax and wheedle,—a large percentage of the Democratic rank and file. They must tell the "Liberals" that Greeley and the Baltimore platform are Republican; but it will not do to tell the "unterrified" Democracy that. For the latter, Horace and his platform must be Democratic. Having given a sample of the stuff with which the Democratic hook is baited when simple-minded Republicans are to be angled for, (sore-headed ones generally need no bait,) we will now give a sample of the sweetening which the Democratic doctors mix with the unsavory dose they offer to their party followers, to induce them to swallow it. The Maine Democrat says:

The idea that Mr. Greeley will not administer the Government, if elected, to the satisfaction of all Democrats, and that therefore many that supported him will soon be found arrayed against him, is the echo of Radicalism. Somehow—no matter how—the nomination of Mr. Greeley at Cincinnati fired a train that set the prairie on fire. The southern heart, so wearied, so lacerated, first responded to it, and no northern man who watched those pulsations could refuse his sympathy. * * The South again makes the President. And his supporters, desiring only that the Government be administered upon the principles of Mr. Greeley's letter, including the platform adopted, will have no reason to regret it; for that platform is Democratic.

There is a slight discrepancy observable in these two estimates of the political character of the Cincinnati platform; the Senator, anxious only to "beat Grant" and thereby secure his own return to the Senate, advocates the election of a man he has openly declared wholly unfit to be President, on the grounds that he is a Republican and stands on a Republican platform; the Democrat, not daring to claim Greeley as a Democrat for fear of dispelling the illusions of some men who still support him under the impression that he is yet a Republican but who would not vote for him as a Democrat, holds out to the still unsold Democrats that "Greeley will "administer the government, if elected, to the satisfaction of all Democrats," and that they need not hesitate to swallow the platform, "for that platform is Democratic!"

As to Greeley's administering the government to suit the Democratic party, if he had a chance, no one can doubt it who has watched the course of events for six months past, and considers the characters of Greeley's most prominent supporters. The New York World's assumption that Horace Greeley, as a Democratic President, would appoint a Democratic Cabinet, is undoubtedly correct; and the Louisville Courier-Journal's "cutting off of sixty thousand official heads" and the replacing them by Democratic ones, would come to pass at an early date in his reign. He could not act otherwise; elected by the Democratic party, he would have to obey its dictates or stand entirely unsupported. The fact (if it is a fact) which we have seen stated in Democratic prints a hundred times, that Grant was a Democrat before the war and has never voted a Republican ticket, bears out this view of the case; for Grant has administered the Government to the satisfaction of the Republicans, who elected him, and it is safe to assume that Greeley would try to do the same by the Democratic party if he was elected. It may be said that Grant fought on the Republican side through the war, four years previous to his election, and that the Democratic candidate fought against the Democrats up to the day when a Democratic nomination was held up to him as a bribe; but Greeley was purchased by the nomination, and his entire abandonment of the principles he had always before upheld gives the Democrats quite as good a guaranty that he will be a genuine Democratic President as Grant's services in the war gave to the Republican party that he would maintain Republican principles.

But that the platform in Democratic, seems too much to ask even Democrats to believe. "It is the duty of Government, in its dealings with the people, to mete out equal and exact justice to all, of whatever nativity, race or color," cannot be a modern Democratic "principle," or else the ancient Democratic faith, "a negro has no rights which a white man is bound to respect," is abandoned. Which is it? If the last Democratic confession of faith is honest, the Democracy virtually acknowledge that their whole past course has been in direct opposition to the right, for their creeds of twenty years ago and of to-day are directly opposed to each other. Then, the negro was a "nigger," created by the Almighty expressly to be a slave; now, he is "our colored brother," whom it is earnestly hoped will vote the Democratic ticket and prove to the world that he recognizes the vast sacrifices that party has made in his behalf.

Political.

The Tribune denies that Greeley presided at the banquet complimentary to George Butler, or was even present on the occasion, as stated by the Nation.

Hon. Charles A. Eldredge, the Democratic Representative in Congress for the Fourth District of Wisconsin, in conversation with a friend, announced himself as unequivocally and unalterable opposed to Greeley and in favor of Grant, "as a choice of evils."

Of the twenty-seven Republican papers in Missouri which went with Gratz Brown and Schurz for State reform, all but one (Schurz's paper) are out-and-out for Grant.

Mr. B. F. Parks, formerly a member of Congress from Indiana, and a leading Democrat, has declared for Grant and Wilson.

Mr. Read, who has been known as the only Greeley Republican in the Connecticut Legislature, and who is President of the Greeley club in Danbury, now says he will not vote for him, since he has become the Democratic candidate. Senator Perkins of Connecticut, who was claimed by a New Haven Democratic paper as wavering towards Greeley, declares that he has no thought of voting for the man with "a Democratic hook in his nose."

Three members of the New York Legislature, elected as Republicans, sold out to the Tammany ring in 1869, and Mr. Greeley thus spoke of them: "You must stop electing to the Legislature such men as Mattoon, Aiken, Bemus, and three dozen more such, or corruption can never be vanquished. If you lie down with such dogs, you will get up alive with fleas." Messrs. Mattoon, Aiken and Bemus are now out for Greeley, and Mr. Mattoon was recently at the "humble farmer home" of the philosopher, arranging the campaign in Northern New York.

It is reported that fourteen of the thirty-seven Democratic papers of Georgia oppose Greeley and favor an independent nomination. It is further stated that Alexander H. Stephens is prominent in the movement. We were under the impression that he had come out for Greeley, but it don't matter much which side he is on.

Chief Justice Chase has decided to support Greeley. This is not his first wrong decision.

To the long list of bolting Democratic journals are now added the Terre Haute (Ind.) Journal and the Seymour (Ind.) Democrat. The New York Demokrat and Abend Zeitung, which favored Greeley before the Baltimore convention, came out on Saturday for Grant and Wilson.

The Savannah (Ga.) News, Democratic, fears that Grant will carry that State by 20,000 majority.

Ex.-Gov. Vance is hopeful for the North Carolina Democratic State ticket. Senator Pool writes that the Republicans will carry the State by 15,000 majority. Both parties are working hard, and the local Democratic managers have received a large sum of money from New York. The election excites great interest in Washington, it being regarded by both parties as a test of the true strength of the coalition movement at the South.

COLONEL PICKETT'S STATEMENT, concerning the importance of the rebel archives purchased by the United States Government, shows how honest and unrepentant a rebel he is. He avows his readiness to join in any effort looking to the overthrow of the policy which has marked the Federal Administration since the close of the war. His idea of "reconciliation" must stagger some "truly loil" men now acting with him. This Confederate colonel thinks the report of Hon. Jacob Thompson—Buchanan's Secretary of the Interior will be damaging to Davis and J. P. Benjamin. This report is among the documents now in the possession of the national authorities, and relates to burning northern cities. It must be a valuable contribution to the historical records of the war, as furnishing corroborative proof of the savagery of the Richmond junta who controlled the rebel operations.

The idea of destroying by fire non-combatant places, far from the scene of military operations, merely for the malevolent purpose of inflicting injury, could never have been entertained except by officials who took delight in torturing and starving helpless prisoners of war. These incendiary rebel plots in the Northern cities have been denied by sympathizers with the South; but if they are proven, they have existed by authorized rebel documents, the number, contending for extension of amnesty to Jeff. Davis and his immediate advisers, will be materially diminished throughout the North. And by a reflex influence, the candidate who rushes to Richmond to bail the responsible agent of such unprvoked atrocity, will find the ranks of his followers wasting away under a manly and self-respecting public opinion forbidding that such wanton wrongs should be remanded to absolute oblivion.—Boston Transcript.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

FOUNDED ON A ROCK!—The disappointed adventurers who have from time to time attempted to run their worthless portions against Drake's Plantation Bitters, vow, that they cannot understand what foundation there is for its amazing popularity. The explanation is simple enough. The reputation of the world-renowned tonic is founded upon a rock, the rock of experience. All its ingredients are pure and wholesome. How, then, could tricksters and cheats expect to rival it with the compounds of cheap drugs and refuse liquor, or with liquorless trash in a state of acetous fermentation? Of course the charlatans have come to grief. Their little game has failed. Their contempt for the sagacity of the community has been fitly punished. Meanwhile PLANTATION BITTERS seems to be in a fair way of eventually superseding every other medicinal preparation included in the class to which it belongs. In every State and Territory of the Union it is, to-day, the accepted specific for nervous debility, dyspepsia, fever, and ague, rheumatism, and ailments involving a deficiency of vital power.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

Special Notices.

The System Sustained

By the invigorating, tranquilizing, and regulating operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS does not wilt and break down under protracted toil. It has, in fact, been demonstrated in repeated instances that a man who takes this wholesome and agreeable vegetable remedy daily, in conformity with the directions, can perform a given amount of labor—whether it be handwork or headwork—in less time and with less fatigue than would be possible without its strength-renewing aid. Persons engaged in sedentary pursuits, or whose occupations involve privation, hardship and exposure will find Hostetter's Bitters a regulating and invigorating elixir, exactly suited to their exigencies, and a sure safeguard against the ailments arising from these causes.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating, it increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a genuine sudative, and relieves painfulness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUGHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

NOTICE TO RUPTURED SOLDIERS

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR FURNISHING TRUSSES TO DISABLED SOLDIERS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled, That every soldier of the Union Army who was ruptured while in the line of duty, during the late war for the suppression of the rebellion, shall be entitled to receive a single or double truss of such style he may be designated by the Surgeon General of the United States Army as the best suited for such disability.

SEC. 2. The application for such truss shall be made by the ruptured soldier to the examing surgeon for pensions, whose duty it shall be to examine such applicant, and for every such applicant, found to have a rupture or hernia, shall prepare and forward to the Surgeon General an application for such truss, without charge to the soldier

SEC. 3. That the Surgeon General of the United States Army is hereby authorized and directed to purchase and procure the number of trusses which may be required for distribution to such disabled soldiers, at a price not greater than the same are sold to the trade at wholesale; and the cost of the same shall be paid, upon the requisition of the Surgeon General, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Approved May 28, 1872.

EXTRACT FROM REPORT OF A BOARD OF MEDICAL OFFICERS CONVENED TO EXAMINE SAMPLES OF TRUSSES.

* * * * "The Board is of the opinion that the above principles (viz: those which belong to a proper Truss) are best carried out by the Truss, samples of which were submitted by Messrs. Bartlett, Butman & Parker of Chicago, and by the well-known Chase's Truss, (made by several firms) * * These patterns are therefore recommended by the Board, as those best adapted in their opinion for the purposes indicated in the Act of Congress, entitled 'An Act to provide for furnishing Trusses, etc.' * * *

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, July 11, 1872.

The above recommendations of the Board of Medical Officers with regard to Trusses is approved, and any persons entitled under the Act to receive a Truss will be furnished with either of the patterns of Truss recommended by the Board, as he may select.

The proof that a soldier was ruptured in the line of duty will consist of the fact that he is receiving a pension, either wholly or in part on account of the rupture—or of evidence sufficient to procure such pension.

Blank forms for applications for Trusses will be furnished from the Surgeon General's Office, and by examining surgeons for pensions.

Laconics.

Portland harbor, which is claimed to be so excellent, has had during the past three years 200,000 cubic yards of land removed from the channel, so that there is a depth of about 31 feet on the bar at high water. We are glad Uncle Sam has done so much for our neighboring port, more especially as our own harbor, so much nearer Ogdensburg and everywhere else, requires no outlay to preserve double that depth of water in any part of the channel. We fear, however, that some fierce Maine-law man will complain of this "open bar," and that Collector Washburn or some one will be prosecuted for thus keeping a bar open in violation of the law of the State!

The City Council of Dover, by unanimous vote, Friday evening, decided to assist in the construction of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad by a $225,000 subscription to its stock, on behalf of the city.

—Grant has lost another supporter. Yesterday, John T. Wood, assistant-postmaster at Indianapolis, was discovered to be a defaulter to the amount of $4000 or $5000. He was arrested and bailed.—Local Greeley Organ.

State News.

The trustees of the State normal school met at Concord on Friday. Six of the nine members present voted to reduce the expenses for the coming year $1300. To do this they will dispense with the office of assistant principal, now held by Mr. Amos Hadley, so as to bring the expenses within the estimated receipts of the school. Having expended the past year $6000 of the school funds over the amount appropriated by the State for the erection of buildings, they have considered this action necessary to make the school self-supporting.

On Saturday morning a mill situated at Goff's Falls, about four miles below Manchester, took fire and was totally destroyed. The mill belonged to the Derry Mills Corporation and was used for the manufacture of shoddy. The loss was about $50,000.

The sawmill at Franklin, belonging to Bradbury M. Prescott, destroyed by fire on Friday night. Loss $1600; insured $1200.

The Baptist society of Claremont have begun a thorough repair of their church building. They intend to spend about $8000.

Alfred Sears, son Jabez Sears, of Boston, was killed at Durham on the 19th. He was digging in a hole near the river when the earth caved in and buried him.

The Hillsgroves arrested recently at Concord, charged with robbing the house of John O. Huckins, at Strafford, of ninety dollars in money, two watches and valuable notes, have been examined at that place and held in $1000 each to answer at the Strafford county court on the first Tuesday in September. For want of bail they went to the Dover jail.

GRATZ BROWN AT YALE COLLEGE. Worse manners and worse notions could not have been brought here by Mr. Brown, if he had been a graduate of the Tammany grog shop. There are witnesses who can tell exactly what effect Mr. Brown's ice water had on him toward the close of the evening, and what were the astonishing demands which he made at a late hour for relief for his pent-up feelings. The leer in his eye, the swagger in his gait, the silly familiarity of his repeated introduction of himself to students, the big talk with which he fell upon the waiters who did not see his importance, and the egotism with which he received his sympathizers, were evident to anybody who cared to take notice, and told their own story.

Mr. Brown was steered to a seat on the commencement stage, and was called out for a speech after the alumni dinner. That speech very quickly finished the orator of the Chappaqua ticket. Its manner was insolent and maudlin, and its matter was offensive to the last degree. There was no hesitation after that in putting the fellow on his own proper level, and wishing him well back to his native slums. When President Porter uttered a playful rebuke, which evident facts made extremely cutting, it was received with immense applause. That an evidently vulgar fellow who had not seen Yale for twenty-five years should roundly lecture men who had the college in charge, for not doing as well as was done in Missouri, told its own story very plainly. The presumption that Brown was an unmitigated ass was so natural at the moment, that it was with most an afterthought that the diet at the New Haven House had obscured his intellect and cast a shadow of tremulous impropriety upon his manners. Private report of undoubted facts soon made it apparent that the bad signs meant the worse thing, and that it would be judicious to furnish the gentleman a body guard, jointly chosen from a total abstinence league and a Magdalen society. The friends of Grant are rejoiced to know that Mr. Brown intends, as he privately announced, to speak in all the States.—"Tale," in N. Y. Times.

Morning Chronicle.

THE FISHING FLEET are not doing much of late. The Georgesmen bring in light fares, and some of them are hauling off to fit away for the Bay of St. Lawrence. The catch of Georges fish has not been half as large as that of last year, and the stock in the market was never so light at this season of the year. The market is quite firm and prices are slowly working up.

The mackerel fleet have not found fish very plenty off the shore as yet. The seiners bring in very light fares, and prices rule quite low considering the small catch, No. 1's selling at $9.50, and 2's at $8. No arrivals from the bay yet. The prospect there was considered good at last accounts.

The Bank fleet, with some few exceptions, have done rather a slim business the last two months. A few good fares have arrived within the past fortnight, and very fair prices have been realized, late trips selling at $6 and $7 per cwt. for best quality. The fleet, as a whole, have not done near as well up to this time as they did last year.—Cape Cod Advertiser.

WHEN TO WATER HORSES.—The best time to water horses is about half an hour before feeding. While driving, the rule should be little and often. None, or only a swallow or two should be given at the close of a drive, until cool. If very warm, the horse should be walked very moderately where there is not a current of air to strike him, from 16 to 30 minutes, as may be found necessary. If then any danger is apprehended the chill should be taken off the water, if very cool, and given sparingly, a few swallows at a time. The common custom is to give half a bucket of water. The safest course would be to give less and repeat. The rule should be, for ordinary use, to give small quantities often during the day, and the animal to pursue his labor or journey immediately after. If allowed to stand, the system may be chilled. The absorbents are closed, which is the common cause of lamiositis or founder, although this disease may not develop itself until 12 or 24 hours afterwards, and any cause that will chill the system—either cold winds or cold water—while the animal is warm, will be almost sure to produce the above disease.

USE OF HAY CAPS.—The New England Farmer says: Nearly twenty years ago we had some seventy-five hay caps made in the spring. The following summer was what farmers call a "catching one." Showers not only succeeded showers, but there were two storms during haying time, one of them continuing for more than a week. Hundreds of tons of hay were ruined by being washed with water. Mowing fields all around us were dotted with old, collapsed hay cocks, giving a singular aspect to the landscape. By dint of watchfulness and unremiting care, however, we did not lose a cock of any crop, although we cut two or three acres of heavy oats for fodder. The caps most abundantly paid all their cost the first summer they were used. They have been in use every year since, frequently going to neighbors, and are now good for many years to come, if they receive proper care. These caps were made of good twilled cotton cloth, two yards square, hemmed all round, and the corners turned over so as to form a loop into which to fasten a string. The cap being placed over the cock of hay or stack of grain, a pin is thrust through the string and into the hay, the point of the pin being turned a little upward, so that any motion of the cap will not pull it out. The pins are made of pine wood, about sixteen or eighteen inches long. Anybody can split and whittle them out in a rainy day. The caps should always be dry when not in use. If left in the field until moistened by the dew and then thrown together under cover, they will soon mildew and become rotten. If put away dry, they will remain white and clean for many years. A rude but efficient wheelbarrow to convey the caps and pins about upon may be made by attaching two long handles to the axle of a wheel, and nailing two or three slats across to keep the handles from spreading. Upon the end of the handles, farthest from the wheel, attach any light basket to hold the pins, and the thing is ready for use. Caps only four and a half feet square will answer a good purpose, though we much prefer six feet.

GREEN COLOR IN PICKLES.—It is said that to impart an excellent color to pickles that they must first be covered with boiling water, and in a short time the water turned off and the pickles drained. They are then to be placed in an earthen pot and covered with boiling vinegar, covered, and the whole kept at a luke-warm temperature for a long time, the vinegar being poured off every day, heated to boiling, and turned again upon the pickles. This is to be continued until the color is a beautiful green. The vinegar used in this process is then to be poured off and replaced by fresh, and the jar closed tightly. This method of coloring is perfectly harmless; the result is as bright a green as that of verdigris.

—The city attorney of St. Louis has been fined $50 for being half an hour behind time, and $10 more for not sitting when ordered to sit.

—An Alabama parent didn't favor his daughter's lover, and bet him five hundred dollars that he wouldn't marry her. The parent lost.

—A funeral procession was stopped in Milwaukee on Sunday by a photographer, who wanted to "take" the corpse.

—The families of two rival sextons had a lively fight in a New York cemetery, and one of the women was severely kicked.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words tought, not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prucent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

GOOD REZOLUSHUNS FOR 1872 & 1873.

That i wont smoke enny more cigars, only at sumbody else's expense.

That i wont borry or lend—espeshily lend,

That i will liv within mi iukum, if i hav tew git trusted tew do it.

That i will be polite tew every boddy, except muskeeters and bedbugs.

That i wont advise enny boddy until i kno the kind of advise they are anxious tew follow.

That i wont wear enny more tite boots, if i hav tew go barefoot to do it.

That i wont eat enny more chicken soup with a one-tined fork.

That i wont swop dogs with no man, unless i kan swop two for one.

That i wont object tew enny man on ackount of his color, unless he happens tew be blue.

That i wont sware enny, unless i am put under oath.

That i wont believe in total depravity, only in gin at 4 shillings a gallon.

That poverty may be a blessing, but if it iz, it iz a blessing in disguise.

That i will take mi whisky hereafter straight—straight tew the gutter.

That the world owes me a living—provided i earn it.

That i will stick to my taylor az long az he will tew me.

That i wont swop enny hosses with a deacon.

That no man shall beat me in politeness, not so long az politeness kontinues tew be az cheap az it is now.

That i wont hav enny religious kreed miself, but will respect every boddy else's.

That if a lovely woman smaks me on one cheek, i will turn her the other also.

That if a man kalls me a phool, i won't ask him to prove it.

That i will lead a moral life if i lose a good deal ov phun by it.

That if a man tells me a mule wont kik, i will believe what he sez without trieing it.

That if enny boddy loozes even a goose i will weep with him, for it is a tough biziness to lose a goose.

That if i ever do git a hen that kan lay 2 eggs a day, i shall insist upon her keeping one of the eggs on hand for a sinking phund.

That it iz no disgrace tew be bit by a dog unless he do it the sekond time.

That it iz just as natral tew be born ritch az poor, but it iz seldom so convenient.

That one of the riskyest things tew straddle iz the bak ov a 60-day note.

That the best time tew repent of a blunder iz just before the blunder iz made.

That i will try hard tew be honest, but it will be just my darn luk tew miss it.

That i wont grow enny kats. Spontaneous kats hav killed the bissness.

That i will love mi mother-in-law if it takes all the money i kan earn tew do it.

That i believe that real good lies are gitting skarser and skarser every day.

That i will respekt the publick opinion jest az long az i kan respekt myself in doing it.

That when i hear a man bragging on his ancestors i wont envy him, but i will pity the ancestors.

That i wont beleave in enny ghost or ghostesses unless they weigh about 140 pounds and can eat a good square meal.

That i wont bet on nothing: for things that require betting on lak sumthing.

That i will brag on mi wife all the time, but i will do it silently.

Finally, i will search for things that are little, for things that are lonesum, avoiding all torch-lite proseshuns, bands ov brass musick, wimmin's rights convenshuns, and grass widders generally.—Josh Billings.

HIS LINE.—Clerical Gentleman (who objects to smoke and means to make an example.)—"May I inquire your name, sir?" Commercial.—"To be sure you may. I'm Davis, from Bradford, in the stuff trade. What line might yours be?" Celerical Gentleman (with irony.)—"The spiritual, sir." Commercial (not noticing the irony.)—"Is it though? What an awful price you've got gin up to, the last fortnight!" The clerical gentleman discovered he had a friend in another car.

—It seems that the agitation of leather has become so frequent in Louisville as to have earned a slang name, for an exchange says: "The 'whizzing cowhide' agitates the gay young Lothario of Louisville."

—The Chicago fire blotted out $165,000,000 of accumulated production. Assuming that the labor that produced it was equal in value to $2 per day, the loss was equal to the combined production of 50,000 men working 1650 days, or five years of 330 days each. Assuming that the average surplus of production is ten per cent, above what is needed for consumption, it will require the labor of these 50,000 for fifty years to produce a surplus or accumulation of property equal to that destroyed in the twenty-four hours of the Chicago conflagration.

—"Pitch and toss" is the playful way in which they allude, out West, to the process of tarring a man and throwing him in a blanket.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER's HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distracting pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

That Platform.

The Liberal Republican leaders, as an inducement for Republicans to vote the Democratic ticket in November, assert that the Cincinnati-Baltimore platform is Republican; the Democratic leaders, as an inducement for Democrats to vote the Democratic ticket, assert that the platform is Democratic. So long as it was only the platform of the set of sore-headed political wire-pullers who packed the Cincinnati caucus and excluded the parties who first moved in the matter, it was of little account what it was; but since the Baltimore convention has adopted it, it is worth while to decide what kind of a platform it is, if possible. As we have not yet published it, we will now give its substance, and let our readers have a chance to guess at what party principles it embodies. The first resolution is as follows:

We recognize the equality of all men before the law, and hold that it is the duty of Government, in its dealings with the people, to mete out equal and exact justice to all, of whatever nativity, race, color or persuasion, religious or political.

That resolution is Republican; not a shadow of doubt of it; but the fact that the Democratic party after almost destroying the Union in its desperate resistance to equal right, at last announces that it will no longer oppose them, gives that party no superior claim to the votes of the people over the party which was founded on a recognition of those rights and which has forced the Democratic party to acknowledge them as just. And a few affirmative Democrat votes in Congress on the civil rights bill would have emphasized the Democratic endorsements of equal rights for all races and colors.

We pledge ourselves to maintain the union of these States, emancipation and enfranchisement, and to oppose any reopening of the questions settled by the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the Constitution.

That's good enough Republican doctrine for us. If the Democrats had only done a little more towards maintaining the Union during the war, emancipating and enfranchising the slaves, and passing the three last Constitutional amendments, this resolution would have given them more of a claim for votes from Union men and abolitionists than it now does, in view of the fact that the Democratic party fought all those issues tooth and nail, on the battlefields of rebeldom and in the halls of Congress.

We demand the immediate and absolute removal of all disabilities imposed on account of the rebellion which was finally subdued seven years ago, believing that universal amnesty will result in complete pacification in all sections of the country.

That resolution is copperhead. As only a few hundreds of rebels labor under any disabilities whatever, and that extends only to the holding of office, and as these few hundred are all men who have once broken their solemn oaths, "absolute removal of all disabilities" only means that the worst of the traitors shall have another chance to commit treason. Time enough to whine over the disabilities of perjured traitors after the rights of loyal Southern men are secured—as they are not, as yet. President Grant, as everybody knows, has long urged "the absolute removal of all disabilities," but we don't believe in it.

Local self-government, with impartial suffrage, will guard the rights of all citizens more securely than any centralized power. The public welfare requires the supremacy of the civil over the military authority, and the freedom of person under the protection of the habeas corpus. We demand for the individual the largest liberty consistent with the public order, for the State self-government, and for the nation a return to the methods of peace and the constitutional limitations of power.

That resolution is Republican too. "Local self-government" has never been interfered with by the Republican administration, except when "impartial suffrage" was a farce; and then, as the first of these resolutions declares, it was "the duty" of Government to see that all races, religious and political beliefs were treated alike. And no man in the country has more ardently advocated such interference than Horace Greeley.

The civil service of the government has become a mere instrument of partisan tyranny and personal ambition, and an object of selfish greed. It is a scandal and reproach upon free institutions, and breeds a demonstration dangerous to the perpetuity of Republican government.

That's Democratic. Also, it gives the lie direct to "Honest Uncle Horace," who, until his brain was affected by the Presidential maggot, steadily refuted and denounced the misrepresentation and slander with which the office-seeking Democracy sought to smother the administration. That resolution is only a condensed rehash of Sumner's speech, which was only an extended rehash of three years of copperhead slanders. The next resolution intimates that the Democratic party is in favor of civil service reform, and demands that no President shall be a candidate for re-election. "Civil service reform," under a Democratic President, "advised" by Reuben E. Fenton and Tammany Hall, means something astounding, no doubt; but the Republican party—or President Grant—has done more to reform the civil service already, than all the Democratic politicians who have lived since the Democratic party invented that cheering war-cry, "To the Victors belong the Spoils." And who would prevent H. G. from wanting to be President a second time, if he were elected? He is willing to swallow himself and the Democratic party for the sake of running for President once; he would easily swallow that little plank for the sake of a second nomination.

The next resolution "demands" certain things concerning taxation and the economical administration of the finances, all which have long been practised by the Republican administration; and it ends as follows:

And recognizing that there are in our midst honest but irreconcilable differences of opinion with regard to the respective systems of Protection and Free Trade, we remit the discussion of the subject to the people in their Congressional Districts, and the decision of Congress thereon, wholly free from Executive interference or dictation.

That's Greeleyerat. "We remit the discussion of the subject to the people in their Congressional Districts!" Thanks, generous souls; "the people" are much obliged. But hasn't this question always been before "the people in their Congressional Districts?" And what does "wholly free from Executive interference or dictation" mean? Does it mean that if a high-protectionist President has a low-tariff bill presented to him, he must sign it?

The Constitution makes it obligatory upon the President to veto bills which he does not approve. Does the Greeleyeratic plank mean to imply that Horace has violated his Presidential oath of office in advance—a mighty long way in advance—of his election, to secure the free-trade vote? We don't see what else it can mean.

The public credit must be sacredly maintained, and we denounce repudiation in every form and guise.

That's Republican,—every time. We rejoice with exceeding great joy that the Democratic party has recovered from its greenback heresies, and denounces its former policy.

A speedy return to specie payments is demanded alike by the highest considerations of commercial morality and honest government.

Well, who said it wasn't? But for the Democratic talk of repudation, paying the bonds in greenbacks, etc., and the factious opposition of that party to all true progress, the Republican administration would have had gold about down to par before this time. We guess that resolution may be called uncertain.

We remember with gratitude the heroism and sacrifices of the soldiers and sailors of the Republic, and no act of ours shall ever detract from their justly earned fame or the full reward of their patriotism.

Republican resolution; and how much better that sounds than to allude to the soldiers' and sailors' club, the G. A. R., as the "grand army of pap-suckers," as a Democratic paper in this State (the Manchester Union, we believe,) did, not long ago. But we hardly see how any act of the Democracy could detract from the fame of the Republic's defenders; that party did all it could do to kill them during the war, and has called them plenty of pet names since; but probably that was all in recognition of their patriotism.

We are opposed to all further grants of land to railroads or other corporations. The public domain should be held sacred to actual settlers.

Another Republican resolution. The Republican majority in the last Congress refused to give away the two million acres asked for by a Wisconsin Democrat for a railroad, although his petition was supported by that other eminent Democrat, Beck of Kentucky, and the two carried nearly the entire Democratic vote with them. That the Democrats acquiesce in the action of the Republicans in stopping land grants to corporation is indeed encouraging.

We hold that it is the duty of the Government in its intercourse with foreign nations to cultivate the friendships of peace, by treating with all on fair and equal terms, regarding it alike dishonorable either to demand what is not right or submit to what is wrong.

If this resolution only means that dishonorable acts are not honorable, we don't know how to classify it. Perhaps it has some reference to the happy days of "fifty-four forty or fight," or to the way we persuaded Mexico to give us a slice of land to make slave States of, in which case it is doubtless a recountation of former Democratic failings in the line of treading on the weak and then cringing to the mighty.

The last resolution is a come-with-us one—no appeal for votes,—and is Greeleyeratic.

Having gone through the Baltimore platform, and discovered that half its planks are "demands" for what Republican action secured to the country long ago, while the rest are either Democratic or else mere "glittering generalities," we have come to the conclusion that the first impression which went abroad concerning it was correct,—that it is but a patch-work bridge over which disappointed office-seekers hope to pass into custom-houses, post-offices and the Presidential chair. The most favorable thing that can be said of it is that it approaches the platform on which the Republican party has always stood.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

FOUNDED ON A ROCK!—The disappointed adventurers who have from time to time attempted to run their worthless portions against Drake's Plantation Bitters, vow, that they cannot understand what foundation there is for its amazing popularity. The explanation is simple enough. The reputation of the world-renowned tonic is founded upon a rock, the rock of experience. All its ingredients are pure and wholesome. How, then, could tricksters and cheats expect to rival it with the compounds of cheap drugs and refuse liquor, or with liquorless trash in a state of acetous fermentation? Of course the charlatans have come to grief. Their little game has failed. Their contempt for the sagacity of the community has been fitly punished. Meanwhile PLANTATION BITTERS seems to be in a fair way of eventually superseding every other medicinal preparation included in the class to which it belongs. In every State and Territory of the Union it is, to-day, the accepted specific for nervous debility, dyspepsia, liver, and ague, rheumatism, and ailments involving a deficiency of vital power.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instepts, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists.

Special Notices.

The System Sustained

By the invigorating, tranquilizing, and regulating operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS does not wilt and break down under protracted toil. It has, in fact, been demonstrated in repeated instances that a man who takes this wholesome and agreeable vegetable remedy daily, in conformity with the directions, can perform a given amount of labor—whether it be handwork or headwork—in less time and with less fatigue than would be possible without its strength-renewing aid. Persons engaged in sedentary pursuits, or whose occupations involve privation, hardship and exposure will find Hostetter's Bitters a regulating and invigorating elixir, exactly suited to their exigencies, and a sure safeguard against the ailments arising from these causes.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agency. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with, it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a nonopiate pulmonic medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Gov. Straw is recovering his health at Rye Beach.

It is said the Boston & Maine extension to Portland will be finished about Nov. 1st.

It is reported that an injunction is to be served on the city government to prevent or delay the aid voted to the Portsmouth and Dover railroad.

The Boston Transcriptsays; A branch railroad is needed from the Concord & Portsmouth road, to start from the depot at North Greenland, thence across a very level tract to the hotels at Rye Beach. This would save the trouble of being obliged to take the beach coaches over a hard road of six or seven miles. This branch would cross the Eastern Railroad, and visitors and others from every part of this section would patronize it.

The S. B. Breed Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, of Lynn, Capt. G. W. A. R. Smith, is making arrangements for an excursion to Maine and New Hampshire about the middle of September. The company will visit Portsmouth, Great Falls, Manchester and Portland and be absent from home a week. Chief Engineer Kimball and ex-Chief Breed, for whom the company is named, and a number of other gentlemen, will accompany the excursionists.

Little Vagrants.

Some weeks since, we published under the above heading a communication which contained extracts from the State laws and City ordinances regarding truancy, and spoke sharply of the police authorities of the city for not clearing our streets of idle boys. The Journal of last week prints the city ordinances bearing upon this question, and comments as follows:

The difficulty of the enforcement of the above quoted ordinance is the same as that experienced by the owner of the horse that was led to the water but could not be made to drink. The City Marshal informs us that every day he finds boys lounging around wharves, fishing or playing, and on arresting them for vagrancy the parents of the idlers come forward and testify under oath, that they detained them from school to saw wood, run errands, or the like, and of course they are acquitted, as it is the unquestionable privilege of every father or mother to keep a child from school for such purposes. The plea of sickness of the boy is often put in as an excuse for keeping him away from school, while the truth of the matter is that the lad or lads were sent to school, but playing truant and getting locked up for it, the parents come forward and by false swearing screen them from the punishment designed by law. We need a remedy for this abuse and we trust it may be forthcoming in some way.

The statement that the parents of vagrant children screen them from the law in all possible ways, seems quite credible; for the children who run at large in the streets, attending no school and doing no work, growing up in ignorance and too often in vice, are almost wholly of the class which most needs instruction,—the children of poor and ignorant, and in many cases vicious, degraded parents. Intelligent, educated parents are anxious for the thorough education of their children; but parents who are so ignorant themselves often care nothing about their children's education and would be apt to consider their enforced attention, at school a tyranny to be opposed in every possible manner.

The Editorial Excursion.

PROFILE, July 22d.

Messrs. Taft & Greenleaf have about 400 guests here, including about thirty of the editorial party. Being surfeited with stage riding and sight seeing, we were all glad to leave behind the half dozen hotels visited and seek rest and comfort at this grand hostelry, which has grown another wing since last year, an elegant new dining and dance hall, and new furniture. A lively but tired party were we occupants of two coaches who arrived Saturday night. The hencoop still contains the traditional cacklers, the "Old Man" still makes faces at the lookers on from his lofty perch, the waters rush and tumble through the "Flume," and the six-in-hands dash smartly before the best kept hotel in this country, make a royal sweep and draw up before the welcome doors of the "Profile." Yesterday, Divine service was conducted by a Philadelphia Episcopal clergyman, and Dr. Tourjee improvised a choir for the occasion. Some 200 worshippers (?) attended the services in the spacious drawing room—and in full dress, of course.

We supped and lodged at the Glen, Thursday night, getting a nice view of Glen Ellis en route from North Conway. A rain storm set in during the evening and we found the temperature of 66 more preferable than that of 99 at North Conway. Friday morning, it cleared, and eight or ten carriages were filled for the Mount Washington trip. The grand scenery along the route was duly discussed and the furious wind likewise—minus the prefix. A mile from the summit, we entered the clouds, which did not disperse for an hour after reaching the top. We were disappointed at finding that the "furious wind" which made us so uncomfortable was only blowing 16 miles an hour; mercury at 50. As 16 is to 150, so were the discomforts of that day to those of the brave scientists who spent the winter of 1870-71 at the summit! Our ambition to be scientific declined in inverse ratio!

Down by rail and over to the Crawford, nicely furnished by the Barrons, the new landlords, the ladies found they had met with an irreparable loss. At North Conway, the Foss-il hero having in charge the caravan from the desert of "Saruh-Haruh," and who engineered the "hops," had turned his back on "pleasures and palaces," and bolted for home. There was no successor worthy to fill his shoes, and dancing is no longer to be looked forward to by the marriageable young ladies who struggle on. Departed too, Butler, the Biddeford poet, and Fernald, the newly-wedded, who struck across Mount Washington for Great Falls via the Notch—and was happy. We did Mount Willard, Saturday morning, and found the view tenfold better than from Mount Washington. The veteran stager, Seth Greenleaf, obliged the excursionists by detaining two stages for an afternoon trip to the Profile. We leave for home this morning, at 8.30, via the Pemigewasset Valley, the B. C. & M., Northern and C. P. R. R., this being the only route by which we can go through in a day.

For the convenience of those desiring to visit the mountain region, our advice is to leave Mount Washington out of the programme, take the train from Portsmouth at 4.40 for No. Conway; leave there for the Notch at 8 o'clock, next morning; stop at the Crawford and Twin Mountain, the latter being nine miles by stage; and finally take a stage for the Profile, 17 miles. If one climbs Mount Washington, one will be satisfied to remain away from it forever after. At Profile, there is everything to induce a return; and if the visitor goes away from the grand, awe-inspiring region without increased appreciation of the wonders of Creation, there is much room for his soul's cultivation.

TIMBER "AS A FARM CROP."—Attention is being strongly called to the systematic growing of timber "as a farm crop." The growing scarcity of wood, the profit of producing it, the advantage of shelter, etc., are all pressed as reasons why our farmers should engage in this culture. And we must admit their force, and concede that the judicious planting of timber will probably be a good investment for the future generation. But there is danger that with the enthusiasm for timber growing in the midst of our farmers, they will be misled as to the proper management of the existing forests. How shall they be cared for? Are they profitable? and if not, how can they be made so? You are probably aware, Messrs. Editors, that wood for fuel, merely, has declined in price within a few years, even within easy reach of railroads and large cities, until there is no profit selling it. Wood cannot compete with coal as fuel, and wood lots that contain timber that is chiefly good for nothing but fuel are not near as valuable as some years since, when coal was higher and the railroads consumed wood. Much of this class of woodland is not in a thrifty condition, and the increase of growth is therefore small. What shall be done with this? My plan is to clear it off, and put it in tillage. Some of the wood can be sold for manufacturing purposes, and that which is only fit for fuel will have to be sold for what it will fetch. Then I would plant a good wood lot on land which has long been cultivated, planting such varieties as are adapted to the soil and climate and will be valuable for manufacturing purposes. Where coal is accessible it will not pay to keep a wood lot for fuel, or to plant timber for that purpose. Five acres of planted, and therefore selected timber, would be worth, when grown to available size, more money than twenty of ordinary natural forest. There are some wood lots which will pay for improving and keeping; those in which the timber is young, thirty and valuable varieties, as chesnut, white oak, hickory, basswood, and white wood. The way to improve these, is to begin on one side and take out everything that is matured or is useful only as fuel. Cut out the underbrush and pile it snug, so the lot will present a tidy appearance. Chestnut timber will spread very fast by sprouting when trees are cut. If the timber stands too thin on the ground after the removal of all that is deemed second class, plant in such varieties as locust, chestnut, and black walnut. In this way much of our woodland could be greatly improved and made profitable in the future.—Cor. Rural Home.

State News.

Daniel Marsh of Walpole committed suicide on Monday by hanging.

The depot at Berlin Falls, of the Grank Trank Railway, was burned Monday night and Daniel W. Blodgett, a resident of that village, while attempting to enter, assisting in the removal of goods, was struck by a falling chimney and crushed in the burning mass. When removed, which was done as speedily as possible, he was partially consumed. He leaves a wife and three small children to mourn his horrible and untimely death. The origin of the fire is unknown. Several others barely escaped the same fate.

It is reported that the board of arbitration at Geneva has dismissed the cases of five of the vessels named in the demurrer presented by the agent of Great Britain, and overruled the request in other cases. It is also stated that the case of the Florida has been concluded, and that an award of $2,600,000 for her depredations has been made. The Alabama case is being considered.

Steamer New England of the International line, which runs between Boston and St. John, N. B., was wrecked on the "Wolves" on Monday while on her passage from St. John to Eastport, Me. The passengers and crew were saved. The boat which was valued at $100,000, is probably a total loss.

The cotton worm is doing great damage in Mississippi.

Josie Mansfield, who is in Saratoga to testify in the Barnard impeachment, was refused admittance to the Grand Union and Congress Hall.

Political.

An ancient darkey created some amusement on Broadway recently. He had a lump of ice in his hands, and was rapidly changing his dripping burden from one hand to the other. Somebody more curious than polite asked him where he got it? "I jest made a bet of a quarter dat I'd carry it from Broome street to de Battery—an' I reckon I'll drop the thing an' pay up," he replied; and down went the lump, not very far from the Pine street corner. Some of the good people who are trying to lug the Democratic-Liberal-Chappaqua candidate are changing him from hand to hand as the darkey did the ice. They may find it convenient to drop him before long and "pay up the quarter," before the November election. Shouldn't wonder if they did!

Colonel Blanton Duncan, in a letter to the Louisville (Ky.) Commercial, denying the charge that the "straight-out" Democratic movement is in the interest of President Grant, says: "It is certain that we will poll this year a vote that will surprise our opponents of both radical wings. Indeed it is even possible that Mr. Greeley's defeat may be so patent in October that he may be withdrawn, and our nominees receive the opposition vote. Such queer anomalies as Mr. Greeley's nomination induce the belief that other singularities may yet occur, which the politicans will not shape. Those who clamor about our action, as aiding the election of General Grant, should remember that we incur no responsibility for any evils that may ensue, as they re-elect General Grant by the nomination of Mr. Greeley and an adherence to the radical doctrines of Mr. Horace White, the author of the Cincinnati and Baltimore platform."

Somehow or other, people who read the papers much get an idea that Horace Greeley is the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. This is a great mistake. The Horace Greeley who once figured conspicuously as the editor of the New York Tribune expired last May. The undertakers preserved his old clothes and sent them to the Democratic national executive committee, who, in turn, sent them to a skillful taxidermist, by whom they were stuffed in a manner highly creditable to his art. In this shape they were adopted by the Baltimore convention and presented to the people as the veritable and original Greeley.—New York Commercial.

UNDERSTOOD IT.—School-boys sometimes answer the questions in the book very glibly, and much to the pride and satisfaction of the teacher, with but little comprehension of the meaning of the words. In a certain school the geography class was once called up to pass examination before the committeeman, and questions were asked about St. Helena and the grave there of Napoleon Bonaparte. "Where has he since been entombed?" was the next question.

"In Paris, with great pomp," answered the pupil very readily, and in the exact words of the book.

"Right; and what do you understand by 'great pomp?'" asked the committee-man. "A big nigger!" responded the youth, unhesitatingly; and then observing a surprised expression creeping over the faces of the listeners, he added, "I s'pose they buried him with one of his old slaves!"

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

THE WINE QUESTION IN SOCIETY.—It is universally admitted among sensible and candid people that drunkenness is the great curse of our society and national life. It is not characteristically American, for the the same may be said with greater emphasis of the social and national life of Great Britain; but it is one of those things about which there is no doubt. Cholera and small-pox bring smaller fatality, and almost infinitely smaller sorrow. There are fathers and mothers, and sisters and wives, and innocent and wondering children, within every circle that embraces a hundred lives, who grieve to-day over some hopeless victim of the seductive destroyer. In the city and in the country —North, East, South and West—there are men and women who cannot be trusted with wine in their hands—men and women who are conscious, too, that they are going to destruction, and who have ceased to fight the appetite that has the power to transform every soul and every home it occupies into a hell. Oh, the wild prayers for help that go up from a hundred thousand despairing slaves of strong drink to-day! Oh, the shame, the disappointment, the fear, the disgust, the awful pity, the mad protests that rise from a hundred thousand homes! And still the smoke of the everlasting torment rises, and still we discuss the "wine question" and the "grape culture," and live on as if we had no share in the responsibility for so much sin and shame and suffering.

Society bids us to furnish wine at our feasts, and we furnish it just as generously as if we did not know that a certain percentage of all the men who drink it will die miserable drunkards, and inflict lives of pitiful suffering upon thos who are intimately associated with them. There are literally hundreds of thousands of people in the polite life in America who would not dare to give a dinner, or a party, without wine, notwithstanding the fact that in many instances they can select the very guests who will drink too much on every occasion that gives them an opportunity. There are old men and women who invite young men to their feasts, whom they know cannot drink the wine they propose to furnish without danger to themselves and disgrace to their companions and friends. They do this sadly, often, but under the compulsions of social usage. Now we understand the power of this influence; and every sensitive man must feel it keenly. Wine has stood so long as an emblem and representative of good cheer and generous hospitality, that it seems stingy to shut it away from our festivities, and deny it to our guests. Then again it is so generally offered at the tables of our friends, and it is so difficult, apparently, for those who are accustomed to it to make a dinner without it that we hesitate to offer water to them. It has a niggardly—almost unfriendly—seeming; yet what shall a man do who wishes to throw what influence he has on the side of temperance?

The question is not new. It has been up for an answer every year and every moment since men thought or talked about temperance at all. We know of but one answer to make to it. A man cannot, without stultifying and morally debasing himself, fight in public that which he tolerates in private. We have heard of such things as writing temperance addresses with a demijohn under the table; and society has learned by heart the old talk against drinking too much—"the excises of the thing, you know"—by those who have the power of drinking a little, but who would sooner part with their right eye than with that little. A man who talks temperance with a wine glass in his hand is simply trying to brace himself so that he can hold it without shame. We do not deny that many men have self-control, or that they can drink wine through life without suffering, to themselves or others. It may seem hard that they should be deprived of a comfort or a pleasure because others are less fortunate in their temperament or their power of will. But the question is whether a man is willing to sell his power to do good to a great multitude for a glass of wine at dinner. That is the question in its plainest terms. If he is, then he has very little benevolence, or a very inadequate apprehension of the evils of intemperance.

What we need in our metropolitan society is a declaration of independence. There are a great many good men and women in New York who lament the drinking habits of society most sincerely. These all declare that they will minister no longer at the social altars of the great destroyer. Let them declare that the indiscriminate offer of wine at dinners and social assembles is not only criminal but vulgar, as it undoubtedly is. Let them declare that for the sake of the young, the weak, the vicious—for the sake of personal character, and family peace, and social purity, and national strength—they will discard wine from their feasts from this time forth and forever, and the work will be done. Let them declare that it shall be vulgar — as it undeniably is — for a man to quarrel with his dinner because his host fails to furnish wine. This can be done now, and it needs to be done now, for it is becoming every day more difficult to do it. The habit of wine-drinking at dinner is quite prevalent already. European travel is doing much to make it universal; and if we go on extending it at the present rate we shall soon arrive at the European indifference to the whole subject. There are many clergymen in New York who have wine upon their tables and who furnish it to their guests. We keep no man's conscience, but we are compelled to say that they sell influence at a shamefully cheap rate. What can they do in the great fight with the tremendous evil? They can do nothing, and are counted upon to do nothing.

If the men and women of good society wish to have less drinking to excess, let them stop drinking moderately. If they are not willing to break off the indulgence of a feeble appetite for the sake of doing a great good to a great many people, how can they expect a poor, broken-down wretch to deny an appetite that is stronger than the love of wife and children, and even life itself? The punishment for the failure to do duty in this business is sickening to contemplate. The sacrifice of life and peace and wealth will go on. Every year young men will rush to the devil, middle-aged men will booze away into apoplexy, and old men will swell up with the sweet poison and become disgusting idiots. What will become of the women? We should think that they had suffered enough from this evil to hold it under everlasting ban, yet there are drunken women as well as drinking clergymen. Society, however, has a great advantage in the fact that it is vulgar for a woman to drink. There are some things that a woman may not do, and maintain her social standing. Let her not quarrel with the fact that society demands more of her than it does of men. It is her safeguard in many ways. —Dr. J. G. Holland, in Scribner's for August.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Plaster is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the acrid sweat instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The Democratic Game.

"The game of brag" has been a principal agency employed by the Democratic press and orators in every political contest of which we have any recollection; but since the Democratic party acknowledged its whole past record a record of wrong (which it did when it endorsed the principles for which the Republican party has fought ever since its inception, up to to-day,) and nominated for the Presidency a man who had for twenty years denounced them and their acts and been denounced by them as an abolitionist and everything else that was "infamous," their brag and bluster has been carried to a greater extent than ever before. One reason for it undoubtedly is, that a grand outcry and a vast amount of artificial enthusiasm are felt to be needful to induce those Democrats who really believe in the "principles" of ancient Democracy, to endorse the Republican denunciations of those principles by voting for Horace Greeley, who for years stood in the foremost rank of the denouncers of Democrats and Democracy. Another reason for the extravagance of the Democratic brag is, that it is all that is left for the party press to do. The party having pretended (and only pretended, as we believe,) to abandon the broad and crooked ways of Democracy and to walk in the straight and narrow path of Republicanism, appeals to caste prejudice and denunciations of "niggers," bondholders and Union men are no longer in order; repudiation is "played out." Frank Blair no longer demands that the Democrat President-elect shall use the army to compel the Senate to declare the reconstruction acts null and void, and the assumption of the Confederate war debt and pensions for Confederate soldiers must not be too prominently advocated just now, when it is so vital a necessity to those Democrats who ache to administer the national affairs, to get a large number of Republican votes in aid of their schemes.

But the incessant bragging of the Democratic press and leaders, though doubtless it has some effect in inclining towards that party the "drift-wood" which cares only to vote on the winning side, not being troubled with political principles of any kind, and helps to keep the courage of the shouters from making off entirely, is rather thin for the work it is expected to do; we question if the brag will last through a four months' campaign. Whether it does or not, however, will make no great difference; the voters are not all to be-carried out of their minds by a shout, a drum and a cry of "we shall win." This same game of brag was played pretty extensively after New Hampshire disgraced herself by the first Democratic victory in fifteen or sixteen years; the Democratic "tidal wave" was started on its way—in the copperhead papers—to sweep Republicanism from the face of the earth; and it might have done it had not Connecticut got in the way,—the great "tidal wave" hit Connecticut and "got busted." At our last State election the game of brag was tried again; "prominent Republicans" everywhere "dissolved their connection" with the Republican party and "announced that hereafter they should act with the Democracy;" and so persistently did the Democratic papers shout that victory was certain for their side that a large portion of their party was astounded when it came—and perched on the Republican banner.

The present avalanche of boasts may have the hoped-for effect; brag may elect Horace Greeley, and give the moribund Democratic party a new lease of life; but we do not believe it at present, nor shall we for a good while to come. The Greeley "tidal wave" is a fearful thing on paper; so was the New Hampshire one; but the latter only washed away all hope of a straight victory for the Democracy and made them profess to abandon their "principles," and the former, we hope and believe, will wash out of existence the party whose "principles" are now known only by tradition or in history.

The News.

The number of sufferers from the Ku-Klux outrages since the war is computed at twenty-three thousand.

Richard Beardslee, now United States consul in Jerusalem, will succeed Geo. H. Butler as consul-general in Egypt.

Mr. Evans, a Methodist minister, of Cold Spring, New York, has lost his reason on account of a revival excitement.

The price of coal has advanced so rapidly in Great Britain that the ocean steamers have increased their rates and importation from Belgium has begun.

A Wilmington, N. C., despatch says that the killing of Tom Lowery, of the Swamp Angel gang, was effected by the brothers of the murdered Col. Wishart, and James McKay and James Campbell. Lowery was on his way to a political meeting, when the avenging party emerged from their hiding place and fired at him simultaneously.

Political.

Four of the principal Democratic papers of Oregon have declared against Greeley.

S. T. Streeter resigns from the New York liberal republican committee and will support Grant.

Gen. Harriman is stumping North Carolina. The Republicans hope to carry the State by 10,000 to 20,000 majority.

Hon. J. F. Claiborne of Natchez, Miss., formerly a Democratic Congressman, repudiates Greeley and supports Grant.

Of the twenty-seven Republican papers in Missouri which went with Gratz Brown and Schurz for State reform, all but one, Schurz' paper, are out-and-out for Grant.

In Chicago, one hundred and fifty Democrats have formed a Grant club. Their numbers will be largely increased. Its president offers to bet $5000 that Grant will be elected.

The Richmond Whig in 1859 published a card offering $2500 each for the heads of H. Greeley, Beecher, Phillips, etc. The advertiser now supports Greeley for the Presidency.

The Brockport (New York) Democrat heretofore Democratic in its politics, bolts the Baltimore nominations at Baltimore and announces its intention to support Grant & Wilson.

The Democratic revolt is rapidly spreading. Those who have charge of the September convention are receiving responses from all quarters, and they expect a larger and more enthusiastic convention than that which nominated Greeley.

Fred. Douglas, John M. Langston, and other colored speakers made speeches in Richmond on the 24th instant in behalf of Grant and Wilson, and will go thence to North Carolina on similar business.

Senator Wilson will go from North Carolina to Indiana, where he will spend a week making speeches daily. He will begin in Richmond, on the second of August, at the monster meeting, at which addresses will also be made by Governor Noyes of Ohio and Governor Baker of Indiana.

Governor Oglesby of Illinois is a forcible stump speaker, and in his off-hand way makes a great many hard hits. Here is one that has caused voters to reflect a little. Said he: "If Greeley is elected it will be by 90 Democratic votes in every 100. And then that old Democratic paw will come down on you handful of Liberals and knock the daylights out of you."

In view of the statement of Senator Schurz at St. Louis, that some one had offered him patronage in the name of the President if he would support the Santo Domingo project, the President authorizes the statement that no one ever received authority from him, either directly or indirectly, to offer patronage or any other inducements to any Senator for his support of the Santo Domingo or any other measure of the administration. He further hopes that Senator Schurz will print the letter upon which his statement is based, to the end that if any one has assumed to speak for the President he may be exposed.

RULES FOR BATHING.—1. Never bathe soon after eating. Never take a full bath nor go into the surf less than three hours after a full meal. 3. The best time for bathing is an hour or two before breakfast, or as long before dinner. 4. Never eat soon after bathing. 5. Those who bathe in the evening should not remain long in the water. 6. Be sure that the body is uniformly warm at the time of bathing. 7. Never go into the water in a state of fatigue. 8. Never bathe when the respiration and circulation are disturbed in consequence of violent exercise or any other cause. 9. Perspiration is no objection to going into cold water, provided the action of the heart and the breathing are not disturbed, and the system not in a state of fatigue. 10. After bathing keep the body comfortably warm by fire or exercise, and do not expose it to a draft of cold air.—From Science of Health.

THE INDIRECT CLAIMS CONTROVERSY.—Secretary Fish has prepared a full review of the controversy with England over the indirect claims. He hold that there is no gound for the assumption of the British government that historically there is no evidence of the United States ever having contemplated the presentation of these claims. The action of the Geneva tribunal itself is evidence of the fact that these claims were and have been constantly a question of arbitration between the two governments. In regard to the decision he says that this government accepts that decision as at once the settlement of the question of liability that will hereafter attach to acts of vessels illegally fitted out to operate against the commerce of a country with which we may be at peace, and as an admission of the point so long and consistently insisted upon in this discussion, that the indirect claims formed a question which must have a definite and final solution. The rule adopted by the two governments of reciprocal nonliability in accordance with the decision of the tribunal, settles, therefore, not only the question of indirect losses as the basis for pecuniary remuneration, but also confirms the position taken by this government throughout in the presentation of these claims as a part of the question of damages to be decided upon by the tribunal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

FOUNDED ON A ROCK!—The disappointed adventurers who have from time to time attempted to run their worthless portions against Drake's Plantation Bitters, vow, that they cannot understand what foundation there is for its amazing popularity. The explanation is simple enough. The reputation of the world-renowned tonic is founded upon a rock, the rock of experience. All its ingredients are pure and wholesome. How, then, could tricksters and cheats expect to rival it with the compounds of cheap drugs and refuse liquor, or with liquorice trash in a state of acetous fermentation? Of course the charlatans have come to grief. Their little game has failed. Their contempt for the sagacity of the community has been fitly punished. Meanwhile PLANTATION BITTERS seems to be in a fair way of eventually superseding every other medicinal preparation included in the class to which it belongs. In every State and Territory of the Union it is, to-day, the accepted specific for nervous debility, dyspepsia, fever, and ague, rheumatism, and ailments involving a deficiency of vital power.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottoms of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR FURNISHING TRUSSES TO DISABLED SOLDIERS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled, That every soldier of the Union Army who was ruptured while in the line of duty, during the late war for the suppression of the rebellion, shall be entitled to receive a single or double truss of such styles as may be designated by the Surgeon General of the United States Army as the best suited for such disability.

SEC. 2. The application for such truss shall be made by the ruptured soldier to the examining surgeon for pensions, whose duty it shall be to examining such applicant, and for every such applicant, found to have a rupture or hernia, shall prepare and forward to the Surgeon General an application for such truss, without charge to the soldier.

SEC. 3. That the Surgeon General of the United States Army is hereby authorized and directed to purchase and procure the number of trusses which may be required for distribution to such disabled soldiers, at a price not greater than the same are sold to the trade at wholesale; and the cost of the same shall be paid, upon the requisition of the Surgeon General, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Approved May 28, 1872.

EXTRACT FROM REPORT OF A BOARD OF MEDICAL OFFICERS CONVENED TO EXAMINE SAMPLES OF TRUSSES.

* * * "The Board is of the opinion that the above principles (viz: those which belong to a proper Truss) are best carried out by the Truss, samples of which were submitted by Messrs. Bartlett, Butman & Parker of Chicago, and by the well-known Chase's Truss, (made by several firms) * * * These patterns are therefore recommended by the Board, as those best adapted in their opinion for the purposes indicated in the Act of Congress, entitled 'An Act to provide for furnishing Trusses, etc.' * * *

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, July 11, 1872.

The above recommendation of the Board of Medical Officers with regard to Trusses is approved, and any person entitled under the Act to receive a Truss will be furnished with either of the patterns of Truss recommended by the Board, as he may select.

The proof that a soldier was ruptured in the line of duty will consist of the fact that he is receiving a pension, either wholly or in part on account of the rupture—or of evidence sufficient to procure such pension.

Blank forms for applications for Trusses will be furnished from the Surgeon General's Office, and by examining surgeons for pensions.

J. K. BARNES,
Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

Fourteen Supervisors of Internal Revenue go out of office August 1st, including Walcott Hamlim, Esq., of the Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont district.

It is reported that four Grant flags will be raised this evening—one at the Creek, one at the junction of Hanover and Bridge Streets, one near the Grant headquarters, Congress Street, and one near the CHRONICLE office.

A party of forty gentlemen left Newburyport on the 23d on a fishing cruise in schooner Crown Point, Capt. James B. Taylor. On the 24th, Capt. Rand of tug Clara Bateman, spoke them as they lay at anchor three miles s. s. e. of Boon Island. All well. They are to return Saturday night.

A party of four gentlemen are at Eastport, Me., who have purchased the island of Campobello of the trustees of the heirs of the late Admiral Owen of the British navy. It is understood that the price is over $100,000. One of the gentlemen is Captain James M. Hill of this city. It is intended to erect a large hotel for summer travel, and to mine for copper ore, which has been discovered to an extent to warrant working operations. The island is nine miles long and one and a half mile in width. The population is some 1400, occupying leased property, for which an annual rental of some four or five thousand dollars is received.

The Boston Advertiser says a graduate of the high school at Portsmouth, who for seven years has acted as carrier for one of the weekly papers, has by his own efforts entered Dartmouth College and intends studying a profession. Another boy of the same school received one of the gold medals last week. He is poor and obtains his clothing and school-books by selling nick-nacks in the Pullman train leaving Portsmouth every night at 10 P. M., going to Portland on duty and returning at 3:40 A. M., and getting his sleep between that time and the morning school hour. The generous gift of books to this school by James T. Fields, Esq., has encouraged a taste for good reading among the boys. Among the new works in the library none is so constantly sought for as the "Yesterday with Authors," recently added by Mr. Fields to his already liberal list of well selected works sent to the library.

No Convert.

NEWBURYPORT, July 22d.,

Messrs. Editors: I noticed a spread-eagle article on Greeley, in a Portsmouth paper of July 19th, copied from the Amesbury Journal, denouncing Gen. Grant and the Republican party. The editor says that the writer has been a life long Republican, but now leaves his party, and joins the "great reform party." The truth is just this:—The editor of the Amesbury Journal never was a Republican, but on the contrary has always been a Democrat, having held office under a number of Democratic administrations. He opposed Lincoln and the Republican party, during the war, and was a true representative of the Democratic party. When Andrew Johnson swung around the circle he was rewarded for his gallant services to that party by being appointed Postmaster in this city; but his stay in office was short; when Gen. Grant came into power, he had to give away to a true Republican, one who had fought the pro-slavery party, years before the war and who now still holds the position. Since that, the Democratic editor has twice been elected to the State legislature, by the Democratic party, receiving the full vote of that party. In the great contest between Gen. Harriman and Sinclair in the spring of 1868, he was found with the same party advocating the election of Sinclair, and the defeat of the Republican party, but thanks to the noble Republicans of the Granite State he failed. Misrepresentation will not stay the progress of the Republican party, but on the contrary, will nerve them to press on with more vigor until next November, when we shall come out of the battle under the lead of Grant and Wilson, victoriously. JUSTICE.

The Rye Beach R. R.

A correspondent of the Boston Globe says:—

Rye Beach being so familiar to the most of your readers, a lengthy descriptive article will be deemed unnecessary. The increasing travel and the rapid growth of the "boarding" interest afford evidence that its location and attractions are appreciated by the travelling public. Unless all signs fail it is destined within the next ten years to become a famous and fashionable resort. That it is not already so to a greater extent is due to the short-sighted policy of the land owners rather than the lack of desirable natural advantages. Its lack of immediate railroad connection is a serious obstacle to its rapid growth, and is the legacy bequeathed by a generation who admirably succeeded in biting off their noses.

When the route for the Eastern Railroad was surveyed it was the design of the engineers to run the road within a mile of what is now the heart of Rye Beach proper; but land-owners opposed it with such mulish obstinacy that the route was changed to its present location. Had the wishes of the corporation been regarded, it would have been of incalculable value, and the question of railroad connection would not now be agitated. The connection, however, being of such apparent necessity, prominent citizens have been perfecting measures to accomplish the work neglected thirty years ago.

The State legislature at its recent annual session passed the charter for the "Rye Beach Railroad Co.," and it has received the signature of the Governor, consequently there is a fair field opened for the energy and enterprise of the citizens. It is proposed to connect with the Eastern Railroad, somewhere in the vicinity of Hampton, and to have a station at Little Boar's Head—another in the vicinity of the Sea View House, and still another near the Ocean House. The estimated cost of its construction exclusive of rolling stock is $125,000. It is understood that the Eastern Railroad Co. has expressed a willingness to equip and run the road, if the citizens will build it. Probably at no distant date applications will be made to the towns and interested parties along the proposed route for substantial aid, and then the question will have assumed a practical importance.

'Science of Health' directs all persons who wish to avoid sea-sickness to follow these excellent rules. After embarking, the person unaccustomed to the water, should keep on deck as much as possible. When the weather becomes rough he should fast for one day, and if the storm is prolonged, take only one meal a day for two or three days, by which time he will become so inured to the various motions of the ship that they will not disturb his digestive organs much. He may then resume his ordinary dietetic habits, observing, however, moderation in quantity. A handkerchief or girdle of some kind, around the region of the stomach, as tightly as can be borne without discomfort, will often prevent sickness, and will allay the pangs of hunger when fasting. While in the cabin, if the person feels inclined to sickness, he should keep his birth, lying with the head low or nearly level with the body. This will prevent the blood receding from the brain to the digestive organs, and prevent the spasmodic action which results in vomiting.

"GRIS," of Cincinnati, known all over the world and the Fejee Islands as "The Fat Contributor," has put forth for public support the "Saturday Night," and salutes his million readers with a jolly solicitation to make the new weekly successful, closing thus:—"Smile if you will when you read us, but read: Laugh at us if you must, but subscribe!" And the good natured public, never desiring to lose sight of "Gris," will go for that paper. May Griswold's "Saturday Nights" be many!

Morning Chronicle.

State News.

The dwelling-house and out-buildings owned by Hon. John Lynch of Portland, and occupied by William B. Stantley, a few miles from Gorham, were entirely destroyed by fire on the 21st, together with about $2000 worth of last blocks belonging to Mr. Stantley.

A new dwelling-house of Mr. Benjamin Nichols, in Keene, was burned on the morning of the 21st. The second story was occupied by William White, who recently moved from Medway, Mass. White and a young Frenchman, the only persons in the house, barely escaped with their lives, being badly burned. There was an insurance of $800.

Mrs. James Drew of Great Falls poisoned herself by taking a large dose of washing fluid for home-made beer, which she kept in bottles just alike. She lies in a critical condition.

A son of Mr. Moses D. Hackett of Orford was fatally injured by being struck on the head by an ox. It seems that the ox, while being shod, was very fractious. The lad was rendering the blacksmith assistance, when the ox turned and struck him on the head, and produced the sad effect.

SPRAINS AND BRUISES.—These injuries are sometimes very distressing, and their consequences very serious. The dense ligaments and membranes of the joints swell, and sometimes inflame, as the result of local injuries, and the pain is often extreme. But simple water is all necessary in any case. It should however, be of a temperature adapted to the circumstances, the intention being to unload the congested vessels of the injured part as much as possible. If the part is hot and painful, apply cold water or cold wet cloths, frequently renewed, until the heat becomes normal. If there is pain or tenderness without increased heat, apply fermentations until the pain is relieved. All the after dosing required in either case is a wet cloth covered with a dry one, and worn until all tenderness is gone. This simple treatment will do all that any medication can do, and is better than all the liniments and lotions, plasters and poultices, that were ever invented.—Science and Health.

—The Chicago barbers say they will do no work on Sunday, and pious citizens are asking, "What shall I do to be shaved?"

—There is more than $1,000,000 invested in the manufacture of lamps in this country. Of chimneys about 1,000,000 dozen are annually sold, at an average of fifty cents per dozen.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have sold very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

Portsmouth.

A city set beside two rocky gates,
Between whose narrow portals rushes strong and deep,
At every turning tide the throbbings of the mighty ocean,
An arm of the sea flowing wide and long, by isle, and shores
Of rock, and field, and wood.

Dear to the dwellers and to those who first saw light,
Beside the stream, or sported on its banks,
But now are scattered over all the earth.

For of her children few can long remain,
But like the restless river, must go forth
To do life's battles, and find them dwellings where they may,
Yet ever with fond remembrance turn towards the Quiet spot that gave them birth.

Or from the cities when the summer sun is high,
Come here to rest among its shady walks and drives,
Or bathe upon the beaches near, or on the river
Sail, or ply the oar, and line.

In other days long since,
Many the hal knows well his mighty pride,
As to the shore he came, bearing the honors
Of having swam for the first time, his Hellespont,
The north pond from point to point;
Or when the north wind blows his wintery blasts,
With wings of steel, to skim with swiftness
O'er its ice bound tide.

In years gone by, deep rolled its waters,
With nothing to pollute its shores with meadows crowned,
With mill wheels turning at its far extremes,
To grind the grain, or weave the woolen web.

But all is changed since then.
The greed for gold has changed thy meadow banks,
And now thy black and slimy shores,
Festering poison rank, and foul,
Pollute the air, that from the ocean, mixed with Piny scents o'er clover meadows blows.

O! city, with thy harbors wide, by none excelled,
Will ye for gaudy ornaments,
Become a stench in the nostrils of the world,
Both in the stream sent forth, to foster ignorance
And crime, bringing want and shame to humble homes,
Leaving behind the dregs, to fester poison
And pollute God's free gifts to all?

Oh! city, wilt call your sons and daughters home
To celebrate a natal day;
Bring fond memories of better times,
When the sick couch was fanned by life giving airs,
Not doomed to death by vapors foul;
Can ye displace than memories,
And let them hence depart in deep disgust?

No! banish the cursed curse;
Recall your scented gales, your life giving breeze,
And make a welcome, fit for those who come,
That coming, well the parting may delay,
Or going forth, these memories and the story
Shall be in gladness spoken to others yet unborn.

ONE OF THY SONS.

TEA DRUNKARDS.—Dr. Arlidge one, of the Pottery Inspectors in Staffordshire, has put forth a sensible protest against a very pernicious custom which rarely receives sufficient attention either from the medical profession or from the public. He says that the women of the working class make tea a principal article of diet instead of an occasional beverage; they drink it several times a day, and the result is a lamentable amount of sickness. This is no doubt the case, and, as Dr. Arlidge remarks, a portion of the reforming zeal which keeps up such a lively warfare against intoxicating drinks might advantageously be diverted to the repression of this very serious evil of tea-tippling among the poorer classes. Tea in anything beyond moderate quantities is as distinctly a narcotic poison as is opium or alcohol. It is capable of ruining the digestion, of enfeebling and disordering the heart's action, and generally shattering the nerves.—Scribner's for August.

A WOMAN'S BUSTLE ON FIRE.—A ludicrous occurrence took place on the day of the fire, which created some excitement on Main street, just south of Church street. While everybody was busy putting out the falling sparks, suddenly the screams of a woman were heard above the surrounding din, and she came running along the sidewalk with her bustle all on fire. It was composed of paper or rags, and burned rather lively. The woman ran and screamed, small boys and dogs got out of the way in a hurry, while strong men were so overcome by the excitement of the occasion as not to have many wits at their disposal. At length a man, bolder than the rest, grabbed the woman and beat her bustle until he put the fire out. The fire had not quite reached the flesh, and besides a severe scare, a burnt dress and a very tickled crowd of spectators, the lady came out uninjured.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

—Horse-men say that Longfellow will entirely recover and run again as of yore.

—Women will hereafter be admitted to Griswold College, Iowa, on an equal footing with men.

—Mr. Cobb recently married Miss Webb. He knew that they were meant to be joined as soon as he spied her.

—Seventeen hundred gallons of whiskey were destroyed by lightning in an Indiana town recently, but it was a pretty even tussle between the two.

—A Berlin physician tried to dissever the bodies of two twin girls grown together like the Siamese Twins. One of the girls survived the operation one day, and the other lingered for three days.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. HIS HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sore-est instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAYFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap3

Why Support Grant?

Whatever may be the opinion of the reader as to the administrative capacity of General Grant, who has shown such illustrious ability as a military chief, he will not deny that there are specific dangers attendant upon the chance of Mr. Greeley's election which cannot be looked for if General Grant is re-elected.

In the first place, it is as certain as anything can be that if General Grant is re-elected there will be no general sweep of offices. The civil service will remain in the present hands—not good hands, it is true, in all cases, but better than any into which Mr. Greeley will be likely to give it. The administration, at least, is not Tammany Republican. And the mere fact of a general dismissal of office holders, involving as it does the change in employment of a hundred thousand people, and in a revolution in the domestic life of many thousand families, is no small thing. This revolution will be entirely avoided if General Grant comes in for a second term. But omitting this altogether, there is every reason to believe that Mr. Greeley's appointments will be worse than General Grant's have ever been. General Grant at least tried, when he came into office, to improve the civil service. Mr. Greeley does not know how to try. To improve the character of a civil service it is necessary to select men of better character for the civil service; and to do this it is necessary to have a knowledge and appreciation of character. Now it is painfully well known that Mr. Greeley's knowledge of character is of the smallest. Of this we want no better evidence than the fact that he is allowing himself in the present campaign to be managed by such men as George Saunders, his guest at Chappaqua, and John Cochrane.

In the second place, our foreign relations are likely to be far worse managed in Mr. Greeley's hands than in General Grant's. To take a single illustration, any one who will take the trouble to read the extracts we gave the other day from Mr. Cushing's remarks to a correspondent at Geneva, will see that there are, even among distinguished lawyers, those who believe it would be best to revive the "indirect," or, if they prefer it, the "national" claims against England. Our readers may remember that not many years ago—about the time of Sumner's "great speech" on the Alabama claims—the Tribune (it was at that time Mr. Greeley's organ) published two articles advocating at great length the acquisition of Canada in exchange for these claims. This idea may be revived, and if Mr. Greeley comes in the office probably will be, and if it were revived in connection with these claims which, on grounds of international law, have just been denied the right to exist by the Geneva Tribunal, it would be justly considered a grievance by England. When we recollect Mr. Greeley's warm hatred of England, his fierce accusations of the use of "British gold" to publish tracts in favor of free trade, and so on, it is impossible not to see that the English question may become at any moment during his administration a deeply dangerous one. Now the English question, if General Grant comes in again, is forever at rest. Not even Mr. Cushing will go so far as to say that the indirect claims can be revived by this administration.

Again, awkwardly as our foreign affairs have been managed by General Grant, it must, at least, be admitted that an administration learns something in four years. Certain mistakes which have been committed are not likely to be repeated. But with Mr. Greeley the case is quite different. He is very ignorant of foreign affairs, filled with the pernicious idea that it is the first business of republican governments to foster the growth of republican sentiments in other countries without regard to their traditions or present condition; and, further than this, he is a total stranger to the European code of civilized intercourse between the representatives of nations. Mr. Greeley does not believe in and has a contempt for that dignity and urbanity of demeanor which is as necessary for peace among nations as among individuals. To put the matter plainly, General Grant has some sense of decency in manners. Mr. Greeley has none.

To this we know very well what reply will be made. It is the old reply which has always been made whenever objections are made to the want of character and training in a candidate—that we are really hypocritical aristocrats, who have no sympathy with the great heart of the people, but who are covertly bent on getting into office what are called "gentlemen." Very good, let us admit the charge. We do want a gentleman for President of the United States, and what is more, we intend sooner or later to have one. By a gentleman, we mean a man of character, education, delicacy and honor, disciplined in the art of government, one who feels a keen sense of responsibility, and whose actions are governed, not by sentimental egotism, but by principle. These are the men whom the world, and this country too, have held in respect in the past, and we do not believe they will long hold any other. Meantime, of two candidates, neither of whom measures himself by this standard, we distinctly prefer that one whose egotism is least offensive and whose ignorance least egotistic.

In the third place there is every reason to expect the most serious financial disturbances if Mr. Greeley is elected. We do not refer to the question of protection, though the advent to power of a man who actually advised the Liberal Republicans not to nominate him because he was a "ferocious protectionist" is alarming enough. But there is another point on which Mr. Greeley is understood to hold views of the most extraordinary character, which, if he should carry them into execution, would involve the country in a frightful crash. The Tribune (and this, too, was before Mr. Greeley withdrew from it) has continually and persistently put forth the idea that the only thing necessary to bring about a resumption of specie payments is to post a notice on the Treasury doors announcing that on a certain day specie payments shall be resumed, and presto, the thing is done. The gold with which to perform this amazing feat is what the Tribune calls the "surplus" gold. But everybody knows that this surplus gold is only a balance, which is no real surplus, but comes into the Treasury one day and goes out of it the next. It would be no joke to resume specie payment in this way. The immediate effect of it would be a financial panic; from all changes of this kind we are likely to be completely exempt if General Grant remains in office. Indeed, if the administration will only let gold alone, and neither contract nor expand, in short do just what General Grant's administration has been doing, the elasticity of trade and the increase of population alone will bring gold to par, just as it has been brought from 300 to 112.

In reply to all this, it is said: But we know what the defects of Grant's administration have been; Greeley's administration has not yet been tried, and he may be better. Now, the fact is that General Grant has been in office for four years, while Mr. Greeley has been discussing politics in a pretty open manner for forty years under our eyes here in New York. If we don't know him no one does.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

JOSIE MANSFIELD turns up again as a witness in the Barnard impeachment case before the New York Senate, at Saratoga. There was no question of a quorum among the Senators. The meagre seventeen who gathered from day to day to pronounce upon the legality of the evidence against McCunn, found their numbers increased to thirty-three. The additional half by some sudden means became convinced of the wisdom of hearing all the evidence in the case. Josie testified that Judge Barnard had been several times with Fisk at her house in Twenty-fourth street—say seven; several times also at her house in Twenty-third street. She had seen him at the Grand Opera House, and at Long Branch. She had congratulated him on the receipt of a very handsome present from Fisk, in trust for the Judge's child. Fisk had told her it was no less than $10,000. His Honor modestly told her it was but the paltry sum of $1,000. She had never had curiosity enough to arrive at the real truth. She had seen President Grant. Was it at her home? No; she could not remember having seen him there. It was at the Grand Opera House. He had subjected her to the affront of not paying a visit to her box, and, as she put it, "she had to content herself with sitting opposite" the distinguished guest. It wasn't to be supposed that her visiting list contained only such men as Barnard and Fisk and Gould and Stokes. She gave dinners at "my house in Twenty-third street." She received some of the "best citizens of New York" at "my house in Twenty-third street." Would she mention one or two? Oh yes; besides Judge Barnard, Recorder Hackett, Judge McCunn, Judge Bedford, the Attorney-General of the State, and others. "Any member of the Bar Association?" asked Mr. Beach. "Yes, sir, I think I have," was the reply; "I have received you"—whereat the audience indulged in boisterous mirth at the learned gentleman's expense. An explanation ensued, when it appeared that Mr. Beach was there concerning business in the Stokes matter.

MOUNT WASHINGTON is 6,315 feet above sea-level. The altitude commonly given is 6,284 feet. The greatest cold experienced last winter was sixty-nine degrees below zero, Fahrenheit. Mercury freezes at forty degrees, consequently in the winter a spirit thermometer is used. The greatest velocity of the wind observed by Lieutenant Hearne, last winter, was one hundred and fifty one miles an hour—thirty miles more than has been observed elsewhere, either in Europe or America.

—Our Greeley Friends at Gonic, raised a flag Thursday night, in honor of the nomination of the Hero of Chappaqua, but did not have time to put on the names of the nominees. During the night some joking Republican put on the names of Grant and Wilson, in large letters. In the morning, quite a crowd gathered and saw the flag taken down suddenly by the discomfited Greeley men, who "swore big swears" that the "joak" was only lent.—Dover Inquirer.

The News.

The cholera is reported to be abating throughout the Russian empire.

A young man named Marshall was sawn asunder by a saw at a mill in Lima, Ohio, recently. The saw cut him from the right shoulder tot he left knee.

The apple crop throughout Maine will be remarkably large this season. In Androscoggin county many of the trees are propped up, so great is the weight of the fruit.

The workshops of the Erie Railway Company located in Jersey City were burned on the 24th. Thirty-three locomotives were destroyed and nothing was saved from the shops. The total loss is said to be $2,000,000.

Political.

Gov. Saulsbury, of Delaware says 2,000 Democrats of that little State will refuse to vote for Greeley.

Gov. Noyes of Ohio has accepted the invitation of the republican committee of Maine to participate in the canvass in that State. He will speak from the 7th to the 14th of August.

The Memphis Avalanche pays this touching tribute to a contemporary in anguish: "We thought he would, but he didn't, and he won't. The truly able editor of the Brownsville Weekly Greeley be Dam declines to support the farmer of Chappaqua. He is a greater Greeley-be-Dammer than before the Baltimore Convention. He isn't for Greeley. He isn't for Grant. He isn't for anybody; so he just sits up on his hind legs and howls."

THE GAME OF BRAG.—The Lake Village Times, edited by a wide-awake veteran of the old New Hampshire Second, thus riddles the pretended stampede from Grant to Greeley in Belknap county:

The Dolly Vardens are simply engaging in the loudest kind of bragging they are capable of. The Patriot claims 1000 majority! A wilder or more absurd statement never emanated from the most fertile pen. It is quite probable that Belknap County, Democratic as it is, will give a clean majority for President Grant. The Greeley managers here are deeply alarmed at the Democratic disaffection which has been developed within a few days, and the end of which is not yet. We speak knowingly, understandingly, and conscientiously, when we say that for every one of the names given at the head of this article, collected with such pains from all parts of the county, we can name, within pistol shot of this office, two independent Democrats who refuse to sell out with the party, and who will either vote for Gen. Grant or not vote at all. Our friends in other parts of the State can confidently count upon Belknap County doing its share toward a rousing majority for Grant and Wilson.

MEXICO. — President Juarez died suddenly of apoplexy on the 18th. The presidency of the republic will devolve on Lerdo de Tejada, chief justice of the supreme court and until recently secretary of foreign affairs in Juarez's cabinet, but latterly in opposition to the government and regarded as sympathizing with the revolutionists, although he remained in the City of Mexico and took no active part with the insurgents. Tejada will act as President until Congress shall order an election to fill the vacancy.

The System Sustained

By the invigorating, tranquilizing, and regulating operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS does not wilt and break down under protracted toil. It has, in fact, been demonstrated in repeated instances that a man who takes this wholesome and agreeable vegetable remedy daily, in conformity with the directions, can perform a given amount of labor—whether it be handwork or headwork—in less time and with less fatigue than would be possible without its strength-renewing aid. Persons engaged in sedentary pursuits, or whose occupations involve privation, hardship and exposure will find Hostetter's Bitters a regulating and invigorating elixir, exactly suited to their exigencies, and a sure safeguard against the ailments arising from these causes.

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparations, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and nothing children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

FOUNDED ON A ROCK!—The disappointed adventurers who have from time to time attempted to run their worthless portions against Drake's Plantation Bitters, vow, that they cannot understand what foundation there is for its amazing popularity. The explanation is simple enough. The reputation of the world-renowned tonic is founded upon a rock, the rock of experience. All its ingredients are pure and wholesome. How, then, could tricksters and cheats expect to rival it with the compounds of cheap drugs and refuse liquor, or with liquorless trash in a state of acetous fermentation? Of course the charlatans have come to grief. Their little game has failed. Their contempt for the sagacity of the community has been fitly punished. Meanwhile PLANTATION BITTERS seems to be in a fair way of eventually supereeding every other medicinal preparation included in the class to which it belongs. In every State and Territory of the Union it is, to-day, the accepted specific for nervous debility, dyspepsia, fever, and ague, rheumatism, and ailments involving a deficiency of vital power.

NOTICE TO RUPTURED SOLDIERS

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR FURNISHING TRUSSES TO DISABLED SOLDIERS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled, That every soldier of the Union Army who was ruptured while in the line of duty, during the late war for the suppression of the rebellion, shall be entitled to receive a single or double truss of such style as may be designated by the Surgeon General of the United States Army as the best suited for such disability.

SEC. 2. The application for such truss shall be made by the ruptured soldier to the examining surgeon for pensions, whose duty it shall be to examining such applicant, and for every such applicant, round to have a rupture or hernia, shall prepare and forward to the Surgeon General an application for such truss, without charge to the soldier.

SEC. 3. That the Surgeon General of the United States Army is hereby authorized and directed to purchase and procure the number of trusses which may be required for distribution to such disabled soldiers, at a price not greater than the same are sold to the trade at wholesale; and the cost of the same shall be paid, upon the requisition of the Surgeon General, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Approved May 28, 1872.

EXTRACT FROM REPORT OF A BOARD OF MEDICAL OFFICERS CONVENED TO EXAMINE SAMPLES OF TRUSSES.

* * * * "The Board is of the opinion that the above principles (viz: those which belong to a proper Truss) are best exemplified by the Truss, samples of which were submitted by Messrs. Bartlett, Butman & Parker of Chicago, and by the well-known Chase's Truss, (made by seven) Truss * * * These patterns are therefore recommended by the Board, as those best adapted in their opinion for the purposes indicated in the Act of Congress, entitled "an act to provide for furnishing Trusses, etc." * * *

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, July 11, 1872.

The above recommendation of the Board of Medical Officers with regard to Trusses is approved, and any person entitled under the Act to receive a Truss will be furnished with either of the patterns of Trusses recommended by the Board, as he may select.

The proof that a soldier was ruptured in the line of duty will consist of the fact that he is receiving a pension, either wholly or in part on account of the rupture—or of evidence sufficient to procure such pension.

Blank forms for applications for Trusses will be furnished from the Surgeon General's Office, and by examining surgeons for pensions.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

P. & D. Railroad.

The lease of this road is authorized by an act of our legislature passed July 6, 1867. The original charter of the road was strongly opposed by the Boston & Maine railroad and the influence of this latter corporation was sufficient to obtain the introduction of a provision in the charter prohibiting the lease of the road to any other. The next year, the charter was amended in this respect, despite the continued opposition of the B. & M. railroad, and legislative leave was given to lease the road for the purpose of encouraging its construction to any connecting road as well before as after its completion. The present lease of the road is to the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire and is sanctioned by the act of the legislature above referred to.

The road is leased for a term of fifty years at a rent of six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually; and one-half of the net earnings of said P. & D. R. R., which shall accrue to or be received by said Eastern R. R. in New Hampshire over and above said 3 per cent. semi-annually during the term aforesaid. The gross receipts from passengers and merchandize coming and going over the P. & D. R. R. from Dover and Boston, to be credited pro rata per mile carried. The Eastern R. R. in New Hampshire to furnish the rolling stock, cars and engines, and to contruct and complete all buildings needed, and to repair, renew and improve the track, buildings, fixtures and other property of the P. & D. Road. The reasonable cost of running and maintaining the P. & D. Road, taxes, salaries, wages, insurance, interest, rents of real estate hired for P. & D. use, wear and tear of engines, cars and other rolling stock, just damages and claims, &c., are to be deducted from the gross earnings. The capital stock of the P & D. Road is to be fixed as near as practicable at the cost and expense of building said road, and to meet further cost, enlargement and permanent improvements, additional stock by the consent of the Directors of the roads can be issued. The subscription books are to be opened at once. The P. & D. road is to be commenced immediately. The Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire to pay the expenses of maintaining the legal organization of the P. & D. road and the occupancy of the leased premises to be strictly according to law. The road to be kept in good order, and at the expiration of fifty years to be peacefully yielded up with all the additions and improvements thereon. The lease is signed by President Frank Jones and Directors of the P. & D. Road, and countersigned by Geo. L. Treadwell, Treasurer, and by President B. T. Reed and Directors of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire and countersigned by John B. Parker, Teasurer; then ratified, confirmed and adopted by the Eastern Railroad, by President Thornton K. Lothrop, and countersigned by John B. Parker, Treasurer.

The lease remains to be ratified by the stockholders of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire. For this purpose a meeting of the stockholders has been called in this city, on the fifth day of August next, and when it has thus been accepted we are assured that no legal quibble can raise a possible flaw in the contract between these two railroads. Regarding the situation of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire and its capital stock we suppose any one would be content with the responsibility of the chief contracting parties, but the lease is also sanctioned by the Eastern railroad of Massachusetts and the latter corporation has agreed to indemnify the Eastern railroad of New Hampshire, in this undertaking. This indemnity, we understand is in accordance with some contract between the two Eastern railroads and is in terms identical with that of the Great Falls & Conway and the Wolfeborough roads.

The interest manifested in behalf of this enterprise seems to be quite as intense in Dover as in our City. And the vote authorizing subscription to the stock of the stock of the road was there unanimous. There would now seem to be no impediment to its early construction, unless some person should be found who has the interest of these two places so little at heart that he would be willing to invoke the "law's delay" for the purpose of postponing it. We are constrained to believe that there are none such among our citizens, and if any such resort to the law should be had, we believe that the interruption would be only temporary.

The discussion before the Dover City Councils developed the fact that Dover is solidly for the project. Councilman C. H. Horne made a telling speech in its favor, referring to the excellent financial ability of the Eastern Road. He quoted from Henry V. Poor's valuable book for 1871-2 and from the Eastern and the Boston & Maine annual reports in support of his statements.

Considerable had been said regarding the business and financial status of the Eastern Road, and he desired to show beyond a doubt the falsity of the charges made. The increase of business the past ten years over the Boston & Maine Road has been about 95 per cent.; over the Eastern 180 per cent., or allowing one-third for increase mileage (24 miles added to the road within said time) 125 per cent. or 30 per cent. in favor of the Eastern Road. The gross earnings of the Eastern Road during the year ending Nov. 30, 1871, were $1,863,965 01; expenses $1,158,-219 65; net earnings, $705,745 36.—The interest on the bonds, ($2,987,400) at 6 per cent, was $179,244; on its temporary loans, ($1,520,145 63) at say 7 per cent., a fair market rate, was $106,410 19; total interest, $285,654 19; which deducted from the net earnings of the road leaves $420,091 17. The Eastern could have declared this past winter an 8 per cent. dividend, ($341,-008 00) leaving $79,083 17. Had the Wolfeboro', and the Portsmouth & Dover Road (not yet completed) both been built and running with the 6 per cent. guaranteed on their stocks, or $60,000; even then there would have been left $19,083 17 net earnings.—That does not look much like bankruptcy. The question has been raised as to the position the Portsmouth & Dover Road would occupy if the Eastern Road should pass into the hands of boudholders (a mere supposable case of course.) It would not affect this lease at all, as it would come into the obligations of the one as much as the other, being a business contract. While the Boston & Maine gross earnings were $172,157 32, larger than the Eastern, the latter's net earnings were $92,551 72 larger than the Boston & Maine, making a difference in favor of the Eastern Road of $209,709 04.

Hon. Thomas J. Smith spoke of the great need of the early construction of the Lake Shore (Alton Bay and Weirs) road as another link in the grand chain which was to establish the best and shortest line from Vermont to the sea at Portsmouth; also that the people at and near Meredith were very anxious to have it built, and its construction means the building also of the Lake Shore Road.

Andrew H. Young, Esq. Director of the Portsmouth & Dover Road, next spoke in behalf of the enterprise, alluding to the advantages of competition, the large bay business in this section, and the lower freights and passenger rates over the Eastern than over the Boston & Maine, the more civil treatment Dover will receive from the B. & M. after the Portsmouth & Dover Road is built, the beautiful scenery along the proposed route of Black River, which in itself possesses a great money value, the large summer mountain and seaside travel which would be secured, and other advantages.

Alderman Wyatt advocated the building of the road. The President of the Boston, Concord and Montreal Road has stated that when the Portsmouth & Dover Road was assured he would remove his opposition to the Lake Shore project and heartily support it. A. D. Parinton, Esq., a Director of the Dover and Winnepesaukee Road, said that Hon. Daniel Marcy and other enterprising gentlemen in Portsmouth are to establish a line of propellers between Portsmouth and New York, thus enabling the shoe and other manufacturers of New Hampshire, who now have to send so largely to New York by way of Boston, to send direct and cheaper by steamer. The great benefits to be derived from the building of these roads the people had not begun to understand.

The Dover Enquirer says of the action of the Dover City Councils:—

The unanimity of the vote was gratifying, as it was astonishing, and shows a commendable disposition on the part of our city fathers to do something rather than let our little city, with superior natural advantages, go to decay, business become stagnant and property become worthless. Some, whose opinions have not been asked, seem disposed to throw legal quibbles in the way; but the project has received sufficient momentum to crush as many old fogies and their trumped up quibbles, as can stand between here and Portsmouth. The morning light is breaking, the dark cloud that has so long hung over our business prosperity is passing away, and we shall soon see thrift and enterprise that will gladden the hearts of the young and astonish old fogyism.

HOW IT IS DONE.—The Portsmouth Times feels bound to contribute its mite to the tide of manufactured enthusiasm which is relied upon to give the Greeley movement a decent start in this State. On Monday the Times triumphantly told its readers that in this State "it is known that there are seven or eight thousand men who voted for Grant who will this year vote for Greeley." Whether the epithet of Lyre, sometimes applied to the Times by the Chronicle, is deserved, the public can judge.—Nashua Telegraph.

Democrats are accustomed to that kind of talk, in this vicinity. Before every city, State and Presidential election, the chap who edits the Lyre enthuses wonderfully, blows himself into a first class bubble and breaks o'er all the land (he spreads himself so thin) with "See 'em! See 'em! Look uv 'em! Look uv em! Converts by tens! Converts by scores! Converts by hundreds! Prominent Republicans by thousands are joining the Democracy! See 'em! See 'em! See 'em! Look uv 'em! Look uv em! Converts by tens! Converts by scores! Converts by hundreds! Prominent Republicans by thousands are joining the Democracy! See 'em! See 'em! The woods are full of 'em!" And when election time comes the woods are just as "full of 'em" as ever, the thousands dwindle to hundreds, the hundreds to scores, the scores to tens, and the tens to units. The ever reliable "prominent Republicans" walk up to the polls with straight Republican ballots, and help swell the majority against the Democracy, whose credulous followers look sheepishly at each other and turn indignantly towards the wonderful chap who tells the wonderful yarns and deceives only "the elect"—with "what a blasted lot of cheek you have, Billy!"

Laconics.

The flag raisings were postponed from last evening, as preparations had not been completed. The four flags will go up this evening—perhaps.

Supervisor of Internal Revenue, George Marston, of the Florida and Georgia district, goes out of office on the 1st of August, being one of the fourteen Supervisors whose services are dispensed with.

Republicans are requested to meet at headquarters, at rooms formerly occupied by the Young Men's Christian Association, Congress Street, at 7 o'clock this evening, to take part in the flag raisings. Music by the Cornet Band.

A Methodist excursion party of 600 persons arrived here in a special from Manchester about 7 o'clock, Thursday morning, and were taken to the Shoals in Steamer Appledore, which made two trips for the purpose. A fine band accompanied the excursionists, who returned home in the evening.

Mr. Andrew P. Bodge of this city has commenced manufacturing ladies' and misses' boots and shoes on Vaughan Street. Mr. D. J. Terhune, who was formerly with Mr. Thomas S. Nowell, has charge of the work, and his well known reputation in the business is a recommendation of the quality of the goods offered to the market.

A number of workmen who were in the employ of the Came Brothers have formed a Co-operative Carriage Manufactory and are fitting up a shop on Fleet Street for the commencement of their operations. The superior excellence of the workmanship in the carriages made by the Messrs. Came reflects credit on the skilfulness of the workmen who are connected with this Company, and assures those who are in want of good work, that they will not be excelled by any other establishment.

Col. Henry O. Kent of Lancaster, Greeley's Head Pusher in this State, was in town on Thursday to confer with some of the Democracy who bring up the rear of the combined caravan and circus in which Horace and Baxter G. Brown are directly interested. The Colonel intimates that if the Democrats who furnish the tail end of the Greeley kite with a bob have an idea that they are to waggle the kite because the tail is the longer appendage they are most Kent-ly mistaken.

By the act of June 6, 1872, all stamp taxes on instruments in writing are repealed from October 1, 1872, except the two cent stamp on checks. It is provided further, that in the meantime the holder of any instrument of writing of whatever kind or description, which has been made or issued without being duly stamped may make application to any Collector of Internal Revenue, who then will affix the stamp provided by such holder upon such instrument of writing as is required by law, subject to the provisions of Section 158 of the Internal Revenue laws. It is important that the holders of such instruments avail themselves of this opportunity to render them legal and valid.

RIDER & CUNNINGHAM'S,
NO. 19 MARKET STREET.

Morning Chronicle.

A BIT OF POLITICAL BURLESQUE.—Sumner had his audience next—being gently mobbed by the ex-rebels and negro drivers on their way home from the Baltimore Convention. On their shovel shoes they transported a good deal of mud to the senator's axminster carpet. They produced greenish-looking flasks, and hospitably asked him to join them in drinking confusion to the Republican party. He replied, in the language of Richelieu, "Put up the flask, States can be saved without it;" and added that he hadn't made up his mind which way he should swing. They expectorated on his new edition of Plato, and implored him to oblige them by making an appeal to the blacks of the South for Greeley; promising that the niggers are absurdly prejudiced in favor of Grant. Sumner used a sponge on Plato, and said it occurred to him that the old slave drivers and overseers might win the votes of their former chattels and victims, by becoming reconciled to them, by ceasing to Kuklux them, by letting them ride on the railroad cars, and generally treating them like human beings.

Whereat, the chairman of the Texas delegation cursed in the incomprehensible southwestern patois, and did some tobacco fresco work on the ceiling around the chandelier. "The other day," resumed the senator encouragingly, "I received a letter from a colored man in Tennessee who had read one of my speeches. In that letter he says, after stating his satisfaction with the speech, 'Mr. Senator, you must be a brother to General Grant.' Now," continued Mr. Sumner, "you see that man has a very high opinion of Grant, therefore he thinks he inspired my speech in favor of equal rights to the colored race." The Texans spat on Mr. Sumner's pet dog and inquired "whether Charles would write a letter to the infernal nigger. Sumner called the dog to him and replied that "the time had not come to speak out." They turned to go, and went, while the genial senator from Massachusetts set his dog on the last man in the hall.—Chicago Evening Post.

GOOD BYE, NILSSON.—M. D. Conway sends what "a little bird" told him concerning the coming marriage of Nilsson, which is to take place in Westminster Abbey on the 27th. The fortunate gentleman is M. Auguste Rouzaud, a stock broker of Paris, and son of a French admiral; as there are only twelve admirals in France this means a high distinction. M. Rouzaud, does not need, to those who know him, any rank beyond that which he intrinsically is—a cultivated and amiable man. He is thirty-six, she twenty-four years of age. The wedding will have some features which will, perhaps, surpass those of the Marquis of Bute and of Miss Fox, of Holland House. For instance, all the dresses—bride's and bridesmaids'—are to be made by the famous man-milliner of Paris, Worth. Baron Rothschild is to give the bride away. The bridegroom's first man is to be Prince Poniatowski, the author of the new opera written for Patti, "Gelmina." Among the bridesmaids are to be Miss Bentinck, daughter of Lord George Cavendish Bentinck; Miss Kate Vivian; Miss Burnham and Miss Spooner — the last three being ladies whose acquaintance Mlle. Nilsson made on her voyage from America.

BILLY MCMULLEN.—Any man who has lived in Philadelphia and never heard of Billy McMullen must have filled a very deaf and dumb spot in that city of Brotherly Love. Billy is an alderman, a pugilist, and naturally a gentleman. He generally furnishes a good local article once a month for the city papers by biting off somebody's ear, or punching somebody's head, or inserting a knife in somebody's abdomen. It is very seldom that any one "gets back" on Billy, for, as the minors say, "he is despot lively with his weepins," but one Monday night, during a firemen's ball, Hugh Mara, a recently pardoned convict and an old political friend, had some words with the alderman, and followed them closely with a shot from a good-sized Derringer. Anybody but Billy McMullen would have succumbed at once, but the papers tell us that he will be about again in a week or two, and when he is he has promised the reporters another good thing by going for" Mara. The public can confidently rely upon it.—Boston Globe.

—A Peoria paper says: "A happy bridal party went down on the P. P. and J. Railroad this morning. The blushing young bride thrust her head out of the car window as the train started off, and, after looking around for a moment or two suddenly jerked her head back with a quick exclamation, and buried her face in her hands. Her loving, frightened husband sought to learn the cause of her dismay, and offered feeble consolation: "What was it darling? What frightened it, dear? Tell its own bubby! What makes it cry?" There wasn't much to cry about to be sure; oh, no! Darling had only dropped a set of glittering front teeth out of the window, that was all. The sad affair has cast a gloom over the entire community.

—Watch cases are now made of India rubber.

The sugar River Railway will be completed next week thirty miles long so construction trains will enter Claremont, and regular passenger trains on the 1st of September.

The Iowa Falls Sentinel analyzes the names of Grant and Greeley thus: Both have the same handle, "gr." One has the suffix "ant," which means industrious, prudent, full of work, foresight and energy; and the other has a suffix "eeley," which means wriggling, slippery, and not twice in the same place.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among us only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

New Publications.

The Phrenological Journal for August has articles on Hon. Geo. I. Post; the Republican Nominees for President and Vice President; and Fisher Ames, with portraits. We find also, Social Science, or what do we mean by Love? Expression; Diseases of the Skin; Prison Reform; What are Comets? Effects of the Mind on the Body; Have you a Character? The Pre-Adamites Again; Character and Success. $3 per year. SAMUEL R. WELLS, Publisher, 389 Broadway, New York.

The August number of Old and New opens with an article by Mr. Hale on the popular discussions of the treaty, by way of introduction the next paper, a summary of "The Printed Cases at Geneva." James Martineau contributes a second essay on "God in Nature." There is a sketch of three unknown "Saints," and a fanciful "Diagram of Life." In the "Fine Arts" department Mr. Hale tells what he thinks of the Jubilee, and the other editorial departments contain entertaining articles.

The July number of Harpre's Magazine opens with an illustrated description and sketch of Mount Desert, now becoming a fashionable summer resort, by George Ward Nichols. This is followed by a paper which tells all any reasonable being can want to know about soda-water. J. Augustus Johnson gives an interesting sketch of eastern travel, entitled "On the Bronites." Among the illustrations of this article are some of the city of Antioch, lately destroyed by an earthquake. Emilio Castelar, in his third paper on "The Republican Movement in Europe," concludes his review of the Latin peoples.

The Science of Health, second number, has articles on Popular Physiology; Three Classes of American Girls; Electro-Therapeutics, by A. D. Rockwell, M. D. The Privileges and Penalties of Sex; A practical article on the Use and Care of the Teeth; The Health of Woman; Ante-Natal influences; Way to use Wheat; Hygienic Bathing; Directions for Avoiding and the Cure of Summer Complaints; Sun-stroke; Sea-sickness; The Bath and Small-pox; an interesting Department of Agriculture; and Talks with Correspondents. This new Magazine is published at $2 a year. S. R. WELLS, Publisher, 389 Broadway, New York.

Two very reasonable articles in Scribner's for August are—the entertaining paper by Mr. Shanks on "Yachts and Yachting," and a pleasant and practical illustrated essay on "The Canoe: How to Build and how to Manage it." There are also three sterling articles by well-known writers on three vital questions—Prof. Comfort's "Should the study of the Modern precede that of the Ancient Languages?" Amasa Walker's "Labor and Capital in Manufactures," and Charles Dudley Warner's "What is your Culture to Me?" Among the illustrated articles are an interesting account of "The Graphic Art," by Benson J Lossing, and "The Island of Corfu," by Charles K. Tuckerman, late United States Minister to Greece. Hans Christian Andersen tells the suggestive story of "The Gardener and the Manor," and Miss Annan relates in a very fresh and striking way of "Hebe's Jumbles." Dr. Holland writes about the recent strikes, and discusses "The Wine Question in Society," and "Novel-Reading." In "The Old Cabinet" we find "A Hard Time for some of Us," "Photographs and Looking glasses," "A Glimpse of One's self," "Wrecked on a Resemblance," and "Lost Opportunities." The Department of "Nature and Science" is very entertaining as well as instructive. "Home Science," is very entertaing as well as instructive. "Home and Society," among other papers, has a very sensible one on "Domestic Ethics." In "Culture and Progress," the "Jubilee I" is mentioned, there is something about "Two Modes of Prison Discipline," and a long review of Lamon's Lincoln; the number closing with a quaint page of Etchings by the Misses Ledyard.

—Enter young sprig at a florist's. "How much for the lilies of the vallhy?" "A dollar and a half a sprig." "Too much." "Well," blandly replies the vender of exotics, "If you have the lilies of the valley, you must pay the valley of the lilies." The young man bows and takes his leaf.

—An afflicted patron of intelligence offices thus gives vent to his emotions: "Earnestly solicited—A person of culture and æsthetic taste to preside at the kichen range where there are only two in the family. Salary, whatever such a superior mortal could deign to ask."

—A correspondent of a Maine paper wants to know some remedy for striped bugs. He is told that the remedy depends very much on what ails the bug.

—Mohammed once said, "When a man dies, men inquire what he has left behind him; angels inquire what he has sent before him."

—Illinois liquor dealers are rapidly going out of the business. Paying for the damages of customers isn't profitable.

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray (either at the roots or tips) to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER's consummate skill has produced a preparation for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair, and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful locks of older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching tumors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THAYER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

MR. GREELEY'S FRIENDS.—The Detriot Tribune has a significant article which deals with certain persons in different places as Mr. Greeley's friends, but there is nobody acquainted with the people of those places who will not see how imperfect the enumeration is. Thus, for instance, it singles out only one man to show the nature of the Greeley organization in this city. It makes the choice, no doubt, because General Cochrane is in an official position; but we in this city know that that paper would have kept within the truth had it gone a good deal beyond this. There are other persons of notoriety around Mr. Greeley; but will anybody have the hardihood to deny that most of them are men of questionable reputations? More than that, we ask the reader, whether he is a Greeley man or not, to look about him and reckon the number of respectable, thoughtful men in this community who support Greeley. We do not mean democrats who may accept him as the party nominee, and that, too, with infinite disgust and loathing; but men, we mean, who are free to choose, and choose him as a fit candidate for the Presidency. How many men are there of character and reputation who may be counted as among his friends? If there be any at all they are very few—so few that it is difficult to recall the names.

Nor is this less true of other places, though the farther we go from New York, where Mr. Greeley's real character is less known than here, the fact is the less striking. But elsewhere as well as here his supporters, so far as they are known at all as public men, are men of exceedingly doubtful political reputation at least, and generally something worse than that. They are politicians of easy virtue, whose abilities, they are persuaded, will be better appreciated under a new administration of affairs at Washington. One of these said in a letter to the Greeley organ in this city a day or two ago: "We concede two states South, with Governor Wise of Virginia, who hung John Brown, the martyr, Semmes the pirate, Mosby the raider, Stephens and Toombs, the fire-eaters, and such for Grant." Be forgot that among the rebel generals in favor of Greeley there are in Louisiana, Beauregard, Longstreet and Hays; in Texas, John B. Hood; in Mississippi, Featherston, Walthall and Humphreys; in Alabama, Petrus and Morgan (John T.); in Georgia, Gordon, Benning, Wofford and Wright; in South Carolina, Hampton and Kershaw; in North Carolina, D. H. Hill and Ramsey; in Virginia, Imboden and Pickett; in Tennessee, Forrest, Bates, Cheatham and Brown. The Greeley organs have no hard names for these.

There is no escaping this fact: that Greeley is supported by the disrepatable and the most dangerous classes of the population everywhere. Surely this is not accidental; and if not accidental, it is not totally meaningless. In the first place, he is supported by the democratic party, and this is, politically, as bad as can be. As bad as it can be, that is, those to who believed in the late war; that its enormous sacrifices were made for a high and only purpose; that slavery was rightfully abolished; the blacks rightfully enfranchised; the public debt rightfully fully incurred to be faithfully and honorably discharged in due season. Then he is supported by the Tammany element in the democratic party, not only here but everywhere. These people support him while they loath and despise him, because they hope he is to be the instrument, detestable as he is to them, of restoring them to power. Then the rebels support him, as indeed they nominated him at Cincinnati; and they support him, as they nominated him, through pure "cussedness." They don't want reform; they don't want peace; they don't want purity. All they want is disorder, distrust, anarchy—if possible, another chance for insurrection.

If we come down from the general to the special again, we find that his friends are the personally bad men in every community. The observation of every one of our readers must bear us out in this assertion. Every right minded man must acknowledge that if in his ward or village or neighborhood there are any Greeley men, they are to be found among those who are never attracted by whatsoever is pure or noble or of good repute, but by that which is low and unworthy and has an ill name. If sometimes reputable men enroll themselves in his party, the cases are exceptional, while it is universally true, true almost without any exceptions, that the most objectionable characters, the political "bummers," the men bankrupt in reputation the camp-followers of all political parties, the roughs and rowdies of the slums of all the cities, as Greeley himself has so often described them, are rallying everywhere around the Greeley standard. The decent men are shocked at the companionship which is forced upon them; the more reputable journals, like the Cincinnati Commercial and Springfield Republican, are shamefaced to acknowledge themselves in such company. But the fact is notorious, is too patent for denial, and is confessed with come lame attempts at explanation. And, being a fact, we insist it has a meaning.

We need not search far for it. One of two things is true; the people who flock around Greeley do so simply because the Democratic party comes into power with him, with the ability and means to reward its followers, hungrier for spoils than ever a party was before; or else the cunning and corrupt men of all parties are gathering about him from all quarters because they know that the administration of affairs under him will be in the hands of the worst of men, over whom a man so weak, so vacillating and so unstable can exercise no control, against whom, even if he were always of honest purpose, he would have no defence, except the poor one of his low and selfish cunning.

There is still a lingering belief in the reputation which attached to Mr Greeley a dozen or fifteen years ago, of his simplicity of character and purity of purpose; and it is in deference to that opinion—supposed to be universal—that there is a good deal of hesitation in speaking of him as he is known to be by those who know him best. But no more conclusive practical evidence can possibly be given of how correct the popular estimate of the man is, than this striking fact, that around him, as the candidate for the highest office in the gift of the people, the most corrupt, the most designing and the most dangerous of the community rally; while those who have nothing to gain by politics, and whose motive for their political course is the good of the country, shun and abhor him as their leader, and will have no part or lot in his elevation to power.

Is there anything unfair or illogical in measuring the popular estimate of Mr. Greeley by this visible evidence of what sort of people it is that esteem him? Could there be a better test given of what manner of man he is generally supposed to be? Is it not plain that his notoriety has been mistaken for fame, and the good-natured amusement with which the public has regarded his eccentricities and follies, has been unwittingly supposed to prove him to be popular? Put up as a candidate for the Presidency on this false estimate of his strength with the people, the magnitude of the blunder is at once made apparent. The Greeley party is composed of men whose accession to power is fraught with danger, and who choose him as a fit instrument for their purposes. There lies his only strength. Good men avoid him because they don't believe in the existence of his imputed good qualities, and because they fear those weak and bad ones of which so mischievous a use can be made.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

NORTH CAROLINA.—A Charlotte correspondent of the New York Herald, evidently a sympathizer with Greeley, writes that "the negro vote, numbering in the State seventy-eight thousand in round figures, can be as solidly counted for the Republican candidates on the 1st of August as if they were now in the ballot boxes. Conservative orators may talk, and flatter, and make the most extravagant professions to the negro, but it is no of use; his vote will remain unchanged, and his determination in this respect is as unalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians. Sambo was politically born and baptised a Republican, and he is to all intents and purposes going to die a Republican death."

HOW THE COLORED MEN LOOK AT IT.—The North Carolina correspondent of the New York Times relates the following:—

Just now, when one who has been known for a generation as the most radical of radicals is the presidential candidate, it might be supposed that the vision of the negro would be dimmed, and that he would be unable to clearly see his duty. Such, however, is not the case, and I can in no way illustrate the truth better than by relating an incident of the democratic meeting here the other night, of which I happened to be an eye-witness. Just beyond the hearing of the voice of Doolittle, who was garbling and perverting Boutwell's speech in a way that would have disgraced a pot-house politician, was a group of several negroes. Presently a Greeleyite came along, and with a good deal of the old plantation dictatorial manner sought to have these negroes attend the meeting and listen to the democratic arguments. None of the blacks paid any attention to him, whereupon he opened upon them with a fierce tirade to the effect that they would listen only to one side, and were more slaves than they ever were. To this, one of the group, a tall, jet black man, who was evidently a pure African, answered, "We doesn't know dat, sah, but we does know that we can't be tied up and whipped any more, dat our wives and children can't be sold away from us, and dat we has the money we earns, and we knows de republican party done git us all dat and wese gwine to vote de publican ticket." The Greeleyite hereupon changed his tactics, and wanted to know what better republican they wanted than Greeley, and launched into an impassioned eulogy of Greeley as the first and firm friend of the colored race, the original advocate of emancipation and negro suffrage. To all this the African only said:—"Dat may all be, sah. We nebber learned suffin about it, but dar must be somethin' wrong wid Mr. Greeley now or you uns wouldn't be for him." This simple rejoinder was unanswerable, and the disconcerted Greeleyite strode away with an energetic but somewhat profane remark.

Political.

William H. Clifford, Esq., of Portland, has been nominated as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the First (Maine) District.

A statement having gone abroad that Oberlin College favored Greeley, a canvass was had with this result: Grant, 360; Greeley, 21.

An old-line democrat living in a town in Middlesex county, Conn., writes to the Hartford Courant that there are at least fifty democrats in his immediate neighborhood who will not vote for Greeley.

The democrats and liberal republicans in the 18th Illinois district failing to agree, have placed separate tickets in the field for congressmen. The liberals nominated J. Blackburn Jones, and the democrats George W. Wall.

A letter from Louisiana, under the date of July 17th, says: The colored men here are stampeding from Greeley by thousands since his nomination at Baltimore. If things continue, we shall carry Louisiana by 50,000 for Grant.

Judge Davis, the ex-presidential candidate, has concluded to vote for Grant and Wilson. He is very frank and unreserved in the expression of the opinion that the election of Greeley would be detrimental to the business interests of the country.

The Kentucky Statesman says Democrats in that State are disgusted with rebel deceit in foisting on the party the doting Horace, and having an aversion to "crow," whether raw or boiled, are coming out for Grant, and thus forsaking forever the "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain."

The Kennebec Journal has a standing offer to wager $1000 that the electoral vote of Maine will be given to Grant and Wilson; $100 that Grant carries the State by 1000 majority; $100 that he carries it by 2000 majority; $100 that he carries it by 3000 majority; and so on, $100 on every thousand majority up to and including 25,000:"—making $3500 in all.

The New Haven Grant and Wilson ratification meeting was so grand a success that its influence will be felt far beyond the limits of the beautiful city in which it was held. Of one of the influential Democratic participants in it, the Hartford Courant thus speaks: "Hon. Charles Atwater, who was nominated by the Democrats last spring on the ticket with Hon. R. D. Hubbard, and who has now openly declared for Grant, was placed upon the ticket at the special request of Governor English, who urged that his strong local influence would very much contribute to the party's success. Mr. E. W. Seymour of Litchfield was left off because of this claim. His indorsement of Grant and Wilson is one of striking political significance."

Granville Moody, the eloquent Methodist war-preacher of Ohio, pitches into the Cincinnati Enquirer with fervent heat, for its slanders against the President. He recapitulates the services of the President to the country with graphic power, and subsequently in a private letter thus epitomizes the action at Baltimore: "Yesterday (10th) the Democratic party died in Baltimore for want of patriotism, loyalty and common honesty. It committed suicide, and political 'body-jerkers'—graveyard resurrectionists—sowed the head of the old weathercock, Horace Greeley, on to the galvanized but lifeless body, and, in their unlucky night-work, got it on wrong side foremost, and set it up, like Dagon, in their political temple—a double death indeed—the death of the Democracy and the death of Greeley!"

Regarding Greeley's strength in New Jersey the Trenton Gazette says: "We are in the possession of information, carefully and conscientiously gathered, from every part of New Jersey, and we have yet to hear of the first locality where there is such development of liberal sentiment as to create the slightest alarm. In some entire townships not a single Greeley Republican can be found, while in those districts where their most boasted strength lies, diligent inquiry and research invariably reduces their number to three or four. The Democratic party, on the other hand, is demoralized and spiritless. The nomination of Horace Greeley has benumbed and disheartened them. Not a single Democratic journal has accepted the nomination with enthusiasm. Thousands of New Jersey Democrats will not vote at all; a large number will vote for Grant."

—It cost "Brick" Pomeroy $300,000 to find out that there wasn't room for another paper in New York.

—The latest marriage in high life is reported from Lafayette, Ind. The ceremony took place in a balloon, a mile above the earth.

HALF AN ICE-CREAM.—A few days since a lady from a neighboring town entered a well known fruit and confectionery store in this city, and quietly called for "half an ice-cream." The desired demi-refreshment was furnished her. After finishing it she stepped up to the counter and paid over her eight cents. Then as she was passing out of the door, she seized a large lump of spruce gum, saying "I overpaid you half-a-cent; this will make us about even." The point of the story is, she is reputed to be worth some $200,000.—Biddeford Democrat

FOUNDED ON A ROCK!—The disappointed adventurers who have from time to time attempted to run their worthless portions against Drake's Plantation Bitters, vow, that they cannot understand what foundation there is for its amazing popularity. The explanation is simple enough. The reputation of the world-renowned tonic is founded upon a rock, the rock of experience. All its ingredients are pure and wholesome. How, then, could tricksters and cheats expect to rival it with the compounds of cheap drugs and refuse liquor, or with liquorless trash in a state of acetous fermentation? Of course the charlatans have come to grief. Their little game has failed. Their contempt for the sagacity of the community has been fitly punished. Meanwhile PLANTATION BITTERS seems to be in a fair way of eventually superseding every other medicinal preparation included in the class to which it belongs. In every State and Territory of the Union it is, to-day, the accepted specific for nervous debility, dyspepsia, fever, and ague, rheumatism, and ailments involving a deficiency of vital power.

EMBLEMATIC POETRY.—The St. Louis Journal is responsible for the following:

That's just the shape
Of the old white hats,
That adorn the forces
Of Greeley and Gratz.
Avery nice hat
With a nice brown band,
That shows at a glance how the wearer may stand.

And this is the shape
Of the same old hat,
When the coming storm
Shall have made it flat,
A thing to be flouted and wondered at.

Chief Constructor Isaiah Hanscom, U. S. N., is at the Rockingham House.

J. S. H. Frink, Esq., is mentioned for the vacant Judgeship. Hope he will be appointed.

On account of the rain, Friday, the flag-raisings were again postponed until next week.

Mr. G. H. Jenness has invited Horace Greeley to take rooms at his fine new boarding house at Rye Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Martyn are to give a concert at the Ocean House, Old Orchard Beach, next Wednesday evening.

A salute was fired from the Navy Yard battery, Thursday, consequent upon the promotion of Commodore A. M. Pennock to Rear Admiral.

T. P. Pemberton, Esq., formerly draughtsman in the Steam Engineering department at the Navy Yard, is now editor of the mechanical department of the Industrial Monthly.

Auction sale at noon to-day of the Came property on High and Hanover Streets. Nice chance for a business location. Also, sale of dwelling house and land, corner of State and Cabot Streets.

The editor of the Concord People declares that during his excursion with other editors and publishers over Lake Winnepesaukee, he had "nobody's eyes in particular to gaze into" and contented himself with "indulging largely in moral reflections." Just think of it!

Litigation is likely to ensue between the Grand Trunk and Maine Central railroads. The Grand Trunk have the right of way on Commercial Street, Portland, and they claim that the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth road must pay them when they bring the Maine Central cars over the street.

One of our Brooklyn, N. Y., subscribers, having an intimate acquaintance with Horace Greeley, while en route to this city spied what he thought was the Democratic candidate for President in a corn-field at Greenland, as the cars passed rapidly by. Peering from a car window, he soon found that he had mistaken a scare-crow for Horace, some enthusiastic follower of the "philosopher" having adopted his candidate's style of dress for the adornment of a pole and cross bar.

A narrow escape from an accident was experienced by Conductor Philbrick's train from this city on Friday morning, about midway between Hampton Falls and Seabrook. A large telegraph pole had canted from an upright position directly in the way of passing trains, but was fortunately seen in season to check the train in response to Peter Page's sharp signal of "down brakes." Half a dozen road hands changed the list of the pole from starboard to port, and the train moved on its course to the relief of all on board.

BOSTON, July 23, 1872.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of Kearsarge Mills held at the Treasurer's office in Boston this date, it was unanimously resolved,

That the Directors of this Corporation, at their first meeting, since the death of their associate, Wm. P. Jones, Esq. of Portsmouth, desire to express their sense of his worth and usefulness, and their own personal loss, as well as that of this Corporation by his death.

Having been associated with him from the organization of this Company, they can testify from their own knowledge, to the energy, wisdom and faithfulness he brought to the service of those he represented, and that the establishment and prosecution of this enterprise are largely owing to his efforts.

These associates, feeling that in his death they personally have lost a true friend, and the community in which he lived, an honest, energetic, wise and good citizen, desire to express their sincere sympathy with his family and fellow townsmen in their great bereavement.

[Signed,] JAMES M. LITTLE,
Pres. Kearsarge Mills, Portsm.

THE SECRET OF LIVINGSTONE'S EXILE.

"I had to give him (Dr. Livingstone) five years' news to begin with."—Correspondenie of Herald Expedition in search of Dr. Livingstone.

"General Grant is President of the United States."

"Since when?"

"For the last four years."

"Indeed? And what else has transpired?"

"Half of Chicago has been burned to ashes; loss $200,000,000. France and Prussia have had a devastating war. Prussia utterly vanquished France in an uninterrupted series of tremendous battles and brilliant victories. The Emperor Napoleon is an exile. The Queen of Spain has been driven from the throne, and she and her family are in exile. An Italian Prince is King of Spain. Charles Dickens has been dead two years. A negro has been numbered among the Senators of the United States. Jim Fisk was shot in a 'vital part by a person named Stokes, and one set of Doctors proved to the satisfaction of a jury that another set of doctors killed the man with a probe, and, as that was entirely legitimate, nobody was hanged. A dozen official ruffians ran the city of New York in debt $125,000,000 in four years and stole $20,000,000 from the public treasury for their private use, and live to-day unwhipped of justice. Women vote now in one of the Territories, and a notorious woman is candidate for President. France is a republic, and Henry Rochefort an exile. Mazzini is dead. China has sent a great embassy abroad into the world to make commercial treaties with the nations. Japan has undergone a bloodless revolution, more marvelous than ever created by the sword, and is become a free land; the great nobles have voluntarily reduced themselves to the condition of private citizens; they have disbanded their armies of retainers and government; railroads and telegraphs are being built, colleges established, and Western dress and customs introduced. The Tycoon is dethroned, and the Mikado reigns untrammelled. He has come out from his ancient seclusion, and exhibits himself to all the world in the public streets without hardly an attendant. He is going to France. Horace Greeley is the Democratic candidate for President of the United States, and all rebeldom hurrahs for him. He——"

"Hold on! You have told me stupendous things, and with a confiding simplicity born of contact with these untutored children of Africa, I was swallowing them peacefully down; but there is a limit to all things. I am a simple, guileless, Christian man, and unacquainted with intemperate language; but when you tell me that Horace Greeley has become a Democrat, and the Ku-Klux swing their hats and whoop for him, I cast the traditions of my education to the winds and say, 'I'll be damned to all eternity if I believe it.' (After a pause.) My trunk is packed to go home, but I shall remain in Africa, for these things may be true, after all; if they are, I desire to stay here and unlearn my civilization."

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 55.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

INDIAN DEPREDATIONS IN SEABROOK In 1712 Hampton Falls was set off from Hampton and incorporated. It embraced a considerable part of what is now Seabrook, which was set off from Hampton Falls and incorporated in 1763. Seabrook was therefore originally a part of the large town of Hampton and the Indian ravages were in 1703 and before the disannexion.

The time was in August of the year named. Not far from where Seabrook Village now is was a swamp and the Indians were first seen issuing from that. Some accounts are that they numbered 32. In a recent visit to the place, some of the localities where they operated were seen. They first killed a widow Mussey, who was passing near the swamp. They despatched her with their tomahawks. An old story is that a fillert that bound her hair was cut in three pieces. She had under her arm an earthern pot, which would hold nearly two gallons. This is still preserved in the family of Jonathan Gove where we saw it. There is a crack on one side, said to have been made when it fell with her by the blows of the savages. A few rods southerly from Mr. Gove's we were shown the cellar, nearly filled up, over which the widow Mussey lived. She was a speaker in the Society of Friends and was much lamented.

A few rods farther south and on the main road was a garrison house. This is still, a part of it at least, standing. The east end next to the road was the garrison part. Oak timber was hewn square and locked together at the corners. There are no boards on the outside of this part and all are seen just as they were originally. The Indians passed that way, having killed a Mr. Lancaster after the widow Mussey. Jonathan Green was out to the northwest of the garrison. One account is that having black eyes they wished to capture him, but as he ran they shot him and he expired.

Next we come to the house of Benjamin Brown. In a house that stood there lived a widow. Flax was cultivated then and females went to work out of doors. The widow went to pull flax. She had left her child in the care of two young females. The Indians appeared; the young ladies fled; the child attempted to follow; was caught by the Indians, who dashed its head against a plow standing near.

More than 200 years have passed since that part of Hampton, now Seabrook, was settled. One of the early settlers was Thomas Philbrick. The name is still preserved in the place. Also others that were there early.

THE STAR ALCYONE.—All who know anything about the heavens know the seven stars. They are small appearing in size, but an interesting cluster worth gazing at long. But six can be seen with the naked eye. They are in the constellation Taurus, or the Bull, and pretty well back in the shoulder of the figure of that animal.

Dr. Madler regarded the seven stars as the central group of the system of the Milky Way. We understand him to mean that there are many Milky Ways, and this the centre of them. If this is not certain, it is nevertheless interesting to contemplate.

And then somewhat in accordance with and more probable as well as more grand, one of the seven stars, the largest of them named Alcyone, is considered the astronomical centre of the universe around which the sun with its system of planets and the stars, which probably are suns with planets, all revolve. The arguments in favor of this are 1; motion is a law of matter. The planets move and sun may as well, 2; the Most High in addressing Job, chap. 38:31, asks "Canst thou bind the sweet influence of Pleiades?" Pleiades is this group, the seven stars. The word Chimah is translated Pleiades and means the axis, hub or centerpiece.

And still further, some suppose that this centre may be the place of future bliss. The place of future felicity is not revealed in the Scriptures, but if we suppose at all on the subject it is as reasonable to believe it in the centre of the universe as any where.

But the most enlightened of astronomers consider the universe boundless in extent. Dr. Young in the "Night Thoughts" asks where are the bounds of creation, and intimates that there are no bounds. If none, how can we talk about Alcyone or any place being the center?

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Boils or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, and has long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

WON BY A KISS.

BY HARLAN E. WARD.

"Is she dead, doctor, or has she only fainted?"

Without answering the question of the frightened groom, "Doctor" Hugh Liscome bent down above the prostrate form upon the grass, and placed his hand over her heart, while his own was throbbing wildly.

Presently the look of terror faded from his own face, and glancing up, he said:

"Her heart is beating regularly. She is not dead, nor do I think that she is injured seriously. Perhaps, however, you had better get a carriage, for she may be unable to reach the hall by walking."

The groom hurried away, and Dr. Liscome resumed his examination. Presently soon he uttered an exclamation, as he discovered a dislocated wrist.

"It's too bad," he muttered.

He was a very young man for a doctor, and it was no wonder he was deeply moved, for Mabel Ringwood, the daughter of him of the hall, was very beautiful. Hugh Liscome thought he could gaze on such loveliness forever without tiring of the employment.

After a while he stooped and kissed her. Almost immediately she opened her eyes. He shrank back appalled, but the look of anguish upon her face, and the whiteness about her lips, recalled him to himself.

"Where am I, and what has happened?" she feebly asked.

"Your horse ran away Miss Ringwood. You were finally thrown to the ground, and I think your wrist is dislocated."

"Ah yes; I remember. Sultana got scared at the cars, and you tried to stop her. In the melee I was thrown to the ground But were you not hurt, Dr. Liscome?"

"O, nothing to speak of. The horse came down on my boot once, but that is nothing."

"And you risked your life to save me? How can I ever thank you enough?" Mabel exclaimed gracefully.

"By never speaking of the matter again. It was merely an act of duty, and as it was you, a pleasure. Forget it, Miss Ringwood".

"Can you set my wrist;" she demanded, changing the subject.

"I can if you wish; but the pain will be terrible during the operation."

"It will have to be set sometime will it not?"

"Certainly."

"And the pain will be no greater now than at another time. You may set it now if you please." And closing her pearly teeth tightly together, Mabel waited in silence.

Twice Hugh felt along her wrist before he could gain requisite courage, but at last he compressed his fingers, and the joint sprang into its place with a snap.

"Did it hurt you severely?" he asked when it was all over.

But she did not open her eyes or answer, and he thought that she had fainted again. He could not resist the inclination to give her another kiss. The color flowed into her cheeks, and she opened her eyes rather suddenly.

"Was that in lieu of the usual fee?" she questioned, mischievously.

Fortunately the carriage from the hall arrived at this particular juncture, with old Mr. Ringwood, half frightened to death by the groom.

On learning the exact state of the case, he proffered the doctor a hundred dollar bill.

"I cannot accept that," said Hugh. "My professional fee for setting Miss Ringwood's wrist is only five dollars."

"That or nothing," roared old Mr. Ringwood, excitedly. "You saved her life, and if you do not take the hundred, I'll—I'll—be your mortal enemy."

But the Doctor drew back, and springing into the carriage with as much agility as his two hundred pounds would permit, the old gentleman gave orders to drive off. And Hugh went home to dream of Mabel's blue eyes.

Mr. Ringwood got over his huff in the morning; and before noon he had summoned his daughter's preserver to dine at the hall.

"Excuse me, doctor," he said heartily, "for my thoughtless boorishness in asking you to take money for such an inestimable service. I had classed you with the common herd of humanity, but I see you are possessed of a very different spirit. And you would have done the same had it been a poor girl, instead of the lady of Ringwood. That is the spirit I like to see, Dr. Hugh. I honor you for it."

He spoke so earnestly that Hugh was charmed, and when the solicitations of Mabel had been added to his, the young man agreed to become a frequent visitor there.

And a frequent visitor he soon became. And not only a visitor but a most welcome one, as was evinced by the color that dawned on Mabel's beautiful cheek at his approach and the constant smile by which her father greeted him. Altogether, everything appeared in a roseate light, and he was congratulating himself that his prospects were

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either gray heads, that we to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S compound skill has perfected an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes regenerates lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair worn on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application; and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREPEHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

The News.

Stokes will not be tried again in New York; his case will be removed to some other county.

Ex-Postmaster General Alexander W. Randall died in Elmira, N. Y., July 26th, aged 53 years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, near Newbury, N. Y., died on Wednesday of hydrophobia from the bite of a skunk.

Two children in a boat were carried over Niagara Falls, Friday. They were the son and daughter of a fisherman named Lescor.

A heavy storm with wind passed over Van Wert, Ohio, on Thursday evening, doing great destruction to property. Several lives were lost.

The Boston City Flour Mills on Commercial wharf were burned Friday night. Loss $72,000. Several firemen were thrown to the ground by the breaking of a ladder. One of them was seriously injured.

Political.

Ex-Judge Thomas W. Clarke has resigned from the Tammany general committee. His letter says he is dissatisfied with the conduct of the reformed Tammany and the nomination of Greeley.

It is generally believed in England that if Horace Greeley is elected President he will make Charles Sumner Secretary of State, and that they will instantly insist on having the whole of the indirect claims paid up in a lump, or declare war on England.

The estimate of Senator Pool, that the Republican majority in North Carowill be 12,000, is known to the national committee to be based on reports from inspectors who, under instructions from the State committee, have lately made a tour of each election district.

The Democratic bolters' convention will be a much more significant affair than the Greeleyites would have us believe. In a brief address made before a social club in New York last week. Colonel Blanton Duncan of Kentucky declared that the ticket placed in nomination at Louisville would receive seven hundred thousand votes. This was not an idle boast but a prophecy based upon what he had already seen and heard. Judge Flanders, the originator of the movement, has been actively at work since the adjournment of the Cincinnati convention, making preparations for the Louisville gathering.

Hon. William Sirwell, a distinguished and influential democrat of Armstrong county, Pennsylvania, was recently nominated by the democrats of his county for Congress, subject to the decision of the conferees, to whom the selection of a candidate ultimately falls. General Sirwell has published a card, however, in which he declines the nomination, and announces that he intends to support General Grant for President and vote the entire State and county republican ticket. Upon this act the Kittanning Free Press comments thus: "General Sirwell was a good soldier and fought gallantly during the rebellion against the very same influence which now aims to get control of the government through the agency of Horace Greeley. Two years ago he was the democratic candidate for Congress. He is a man of influence in this district, and his bold and manly declaration in favor of General Grant and the republican State and county tickets will have a favorable effect upon hundreds of dissatisfied Democrats, not only in Armstrong county, but through the State."

—The sage's last advice is to a gentleman in New London that it would be folly to attempt the distillation of liquor from cotton on an extensive scale. We cannot, he says, compete with pauper labor, and the cotton gin, though a pleasant drink, cannot be manufactured as cheaply as London Dock or Old Tom.

—A wicked Detroit paper says that Susan B. Anthony was able recently to dead-head a passage upon a ferry boat there, under a merciful provision which allows for the free transportation of persons over ninety years of age.

—Lieutenant-General John Hay goes for Greeley. He would probably be private secretary, and that is "a darned sight better business than loafing 'round the throne."—Cincinnati Commercial.

—Iced water should be drank very sparingly, unless the ice is perfectly ripe.

—A Minnesota farmer has rye six feet and a half high. How is that for rye?

How dear to the heart is the green covered ball field,
Where good rival captains their men rightly place,
The pitcher, the catcher, the right field and left field,
The good men, the true men, who guard well each base.
The short stop so lively, the centre field handy,
The ball, and the striker, who aims to send high,
But dearer than all to the hearts of good fellows,
Is the leather-clad base ball we catch on the fly—
The jolly old base ball, the well-covered base ball,
The leather-clad base ball we catch on the fly.

IN MEMORIAM. — Sad news from "Confederit Cross Roads" (which is in the State ur Kentucky). Elder Pennibacker is no more. The Greeley movement killed him. So says the Rev. Nasby, who further particularizes:

"He never wuz capable uv understanding it, and at first refoozed to yield to it. He refoozed to buy one uv the white hats which I brot back from Cincinnati, and Bascom wuz forst to take stern measures with him. 'Nary drink, Elder, till it goes under that hat! That fetched him. He put it on.

"I'm a Dimocrat,' sed he, sadly, with a puzzled look, 'and I find, akkording to my candidate fur President, that I'm a boss thief, a liar, a perjured villin, a slum, a skirlot, and that I'm bought with British gold, but where's the gold? Good Heavins! I shel go mad!'

And the wretched old saint, who was afflicted with a mind wich wuzn't calkulated to grasp the suttleties of a modern politix, would rush out uv his house into the field, and calm hisself by communing with nacher."

After the ratification meeting which followed, Elder P. took to his bed and delirium set in. Nasby called upon him and was thus saluted:

"Parson, somewhere I've read an anecdote ur a man wich was drunk, and wich leening up against a tree, vomited. While he was contemplatin the ejected contents uv his stumick, a little dog came snuffin around, and the man saw him and wuz amazed, 'Thunder,' he remarked, 'I know where I eat them crackers. I 'member with utmost 'stinctness where I got that bolony sarsage, but —— me if I know where I ate that dog.' Parson, I'm in the same fix. I hev taken the Cincinnati emetic and it's worked. I know where I got my free-trade. I remember distinkly when I swallowed State rites, but I'm ——if I know where I took in that Greeley pup, with an Ablishn head and a high protective tariff tail. Parson, its too much."

And here are Nasby's reflections over Pennibacker's demise:

"Thus died Elder Pennibacker, one uv my first friends at the Corners. He wuz stanch and stoopid. He wuz a bleever in States rites, in Ham and Hager, and in Democracy. He died from a severe attack uv supposin Horris Greeley to be ez honest ez he wuz himself. He woodent turn Ablishnist for no offis, and he spozed that Horris wuz still the same old heathen that he alluz wuz. He bleeved that Horris hed swallered the Dimocratic party, and do wat I cood, I cood not make him understand that the Dimocratic party had slavered Horris over with the Presidency and swallered him. Poor old man! He don't understand sich politishens ez I do, or he wood hev knowd better and lived. He died uv stoopidity, a disease, wich, ef it wuz alluz fatal, wood redoose our party to a mere nothin, noomerically.

Deekin Pogram and I are administrators uv his estate. Ez Bascom hez a mortgage on the farm for all it is worth, our dooties will be light. There ain't been a crop raised on the place since the emancipation uv the niggers, and Bascom hez furnisht him and his sons their likker ever since on tick. Most of the property in this visinity is in the same fix. Mine wood be, but fortunately I haven't any."

GLEANINGS FROM THE REBEL ARCHIVES.—The report of J. P. Thompson upon his operations along the northern frontier in 1863-4 has been prepared for the press and will be given out this week. It is dated December, 1863, and indorsed by Judah P. Benjamin as received by him February 5, 1864. It details the attempt to organize rebellion in the northwest and proves the existence of and gives considerable of the Sons of Liberty, and this order is stated to have been abandoned because a democratic candidate on the Indiana state ticket threatened to expose the whole thing if it was not given up. The certainty of a conspiracy to burn New York and northern cities and those of the frontier is established. The names of parties entrusted with the project of burning Cincinnati are given and the amount of money to secure this end is stated. The successful burning of steamboats at St. Louis and the partial success on the Ohio is reported. The details for plans for releasing prisoners on Johnson's Island are set forth. In one part of the report Thompson writes that he has been considering the propriety of starting south until he saw by Benjamin's 'personal' in a New York newspaper that it was not desired that he should. Those in charge of the preparation of the document are very reticent about it, but the above are believed to be the main points.

—I gave her a rose and gave her a ring, and asked her to marry me then; but she sent them all back—the insensible thing—and said she'd no notion of men. I told her I had oceans of money and goods—tried to frighten her with a growl; but she answered she wasn't brought up in the woods, to be scared by the screech of an owl. I called her a baggage and everything bad; I slighted her features and form; till at length I succeeded in getting her mad, and she raged like the sea in a storm. And then in a moment I turned and smiled, and called her my angel and all; she fell in my arms like a wearisome child and exclaimed, "We will marry this fall."

THIS WEATHER.

BY CHARLES D. WARNER.

Dr. Livingstone is not probably so much of an idot as he has been thought. He at least knows enough to stay in Africa during our heated term, and refuse to be discovered and brought back to be broiled under our July sun. If we could, we would be in Unyanyembe to-day. For there is said to be a subterranean passage between Unyanyembe and Nyassa, and Dr. Livingstone is no doubt in it this minute. He is exploring its cool recesses and luxuriating in its dripping passage. Perhaps he is sailing on a stream in that underground channel, where he has no need of fans or umbrellas, or iced sherbet or lager beer. If it is true that the river Rusyi flows into Janganyiki, and that therefore Janganyiki is unconnected with the Nile, the exploration of this subterranean passage may solve a problem in physical geography. But it is not in this respect that we are interested in it, but because it promises to open up a new and cool place in which to spend the summer. It would be better in some respects than the cave under the chorus in the Boston Collseum; for it would be a temperate place for one thing, and less Teutonic than the subterranean passage in Boston.

This is, like the same season every year, the hottest weather ever known. The intercourse with Oriental Japan has something to do with it. The country is flooded with Japanese fans. Everybody must have noticed that And where there is a great increase of anything artifical, there is always created an artificial want for it. The weather was never so hot before as it has been since the importation of so many ship-loads of these fans. But this is not by any means the worst of it. These pagan fans are deteriorating the national character. Look at the pictures of them, the dragons, the monsters—the impossible domestic life, the beating fes-parties, the strange gods. Everybody does look at these pictures the greater part of the day. They are low in moral tone. How different these are from the simple palm-leaf fans of our primitive and more Christian national life! The palm-leaf fans come from missionary lands, and were associated in our ideas with missionary effort. In all the country churches were these great fans of palm-leaf. They were Sunday fans. They had not a worldly suggestion. Can you use the Japanese fan on Sunday? Ought you to do so, if you can? How would a Sunday-school look studying these grotesque and trifling pictures? What would be our feelings to see a meeting of the American Board, every member of which had a Japan fan in his hand? It is in this way that heathendom is coming in and demoralizing us all in a pictorial manner, when we are powerless under the heat, and least able to resist its encroachments. Talk about our Tract Society! These pagan fans are the most effective tracts that were ever distributed. And they are good fans, too; cheap, light and carry a great deal of wind. But there is doctrine in the wind. And long before we got cool we shall find that we are more than half pagan, and there will remain very little for the Buddhist missionaries to do. They no doubt are looking at us now, and saying, complacently, "His fan is in his hand." Their work is well begun.

For this is not all that the Japanese have done. From paper fans we shall go to using their paper handkerchiefs, and paper all-sorts-of-things. In Boston now they advertise paper suits of clothes for sixty-two and a half cents a suit. This is cheap enough, though if a person wearing one of them should get caught in the rain we imagine he would feel still cheaper. They ought to be cool and comfortable, especially if they are made of wrapping paper, but they would hardly keep their shape with the thermometer at ninety-five and one hundred. We are not informed what sort of paper they are made of, but they might be the means of disseminating a cheap literature; one could wear a small volume, so that he that runs could read. It would be economical to have the suits printed on both sides, so that they could be turned on the second day, and a person could in this way wear a serial through the week, "to be continued" being stamped on the coat-tail. On Sunday he could put on good clothes, with a sermon, or religious extracts from the secular papers, printed on them. There is no end to the variety in costume that can be attained in the use of paper, or to the good that can be done. Business men will come down to their offices in the morning in a suit of the morning daily, cool and fresh; and sure that they have the latest, because the telegraphic news will be on their backs. They will thus be the means of spreading information wherever they go, to non-subscribers. Summer clothing will not hereafter get out of style, but it will get out of date, for a man's old clothes will be at once recognized. Instead of being pointed as having old clothes he will be noted as wearing old news. We are evidently only just in the beginning of our discoveries of the use of paper.

These remarks are not made in any trifling spirit. One does not trifle with the thermometer at ninety-eight. This is the sort of weather for politics. This is, in fact, a political article. The weather is getting ready for the Baltimore convention. That will be a cool and cheerful time. The Democrats always appear to get together in the hottest places at the hottest time of the year. And then, to think of supporting, in this weather, Horace Greeley! Nobody can think of it. It is absurd. He is a provocative to perspiration. There is not a cool bone in his body, nor a cool hair on his head. He ought to have made his run, if he must run, in the winter. He is no candidate for a hot summer. But it is relief to turn to Grant. Grant is cool. Grant is collected. Grant has sang froid, and sang froid is worth more now by the glass than soda water. It is sometimes like a pleasure to support him even in a hot day, for he does not appear to need as much supporting as Greeley. If this weather continues Greeley's chances will all melt away. Such weather tries a man; and we see that Greeley cannot stand the test.

It is a very good time to study the correlation of forces. During the day light and heat appear to be the same thing, and when night comes there is not much change. Motion is only another form of heat; that we demonstrate every moment. A person cannot walk a square, even in a paper suit, without discovering that all those which he has been accustomed to call original elements are melted into one. There is only one force and that is the force that lifts the mercury in the thermometer. If any one desires to run for office or write editorials on the state of the country in this weather he can have a situation.—Christian Union.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

CLAP TRAP AND CANT.—Invalid reader, if you are unwise enough to put yourself outside of any of the mock tonics guaranteed to contain "no diffusive stimulant," you will inevitably come to grief. Ask your physician if any liquid preparation, destitute of stimulating properties, is worthy of the name of a tonic, he will tell you no. Shun all such nauseous cacphonnies. Plantation Bitters, the most wholesome invigorant in the world, owes the rapidity with which it relieves the disordered stomach and the shattered nerves to the diffusive agent which conveys its medicinal ingredients to the seat of the complaint. That agent is the spirit of the sugar cane, the most nutritious and agreeable of all the varieties of alcohol. The medicinal ingredients of the Bitters, valuable as they are, would be comparatively useless without this distributive basis. They would ferment and sour. Beware, as you hope for health, of the horrible compounds of refuse drugs in a state of fermentation which humbugs are endeavoring to foist upon the public as medicines.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the Lungs, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough, Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician is out of reach, immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he had ever seen, after a thorough, long spent experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Nice California Bartlett pears at R. D. Smart's, Market Street.

On Saturday evening, the Board of Mayor and Aldermen granted City Marshal Johnson a furlough of two weeks from August 1st.

The Walker house at the corner of Cabot and State Streets was purchased at auction, Saturday, by Mr. Samuel S. Frye for $2900.

A young lady desires us to inquire whether there is any person in town who repairs pumps in houses. Employees of the Aqueduct Company barred out!

The contracts for naval supplies, bids for which were recently opened at the navy department, will be awarded about the latter part of this week. The list of supplies to be furnished is very large, employing all kinds of materials used in the construction of ships and at the navy yards, the cost of which exceeds four hundred thousand dollars for the present fiscal year. It is thought when the contracts have been awarded that work at the several navy yards will become more active, as the new supplies are to be furnished immediately. The work now suspended for the want of supplies will be at once resumed.

Railroad Matters.

The members of the lobby during the late session, report engagements after the Senatorial contests as dull. Indeed the only parties in the field in the pursuit of corporation plunder were the Eastern and Boston & Maine Railroads, each of which has Winter contests in the Legislatures of Maine and Massachusetts and a summer passage-at-arms at Concord. At the late session the Boston & Maine deemed it for the public good that a railroad should be built from Plaistow on the line of their road to Nashua. This was seriously objected to by the Nashua & Rochester railroad as likely to impair their prospective business, and they invited the aid of the Eastern, whose extensive corps of legislative aids were eager for the fray and whose stockholders would forego a dividend any time to beat the Boston & Maine. The Eastern lobby deemed it for the public good that a new railroad should be built from Alton Bay to some point on the Great Falls & Conway Railroad to develop the business of the region, connect Rye Beach with the Lake, &c., and it was urged that if the Nashua & Plaistow was needed, the Alton and some other way was needed more. The superior tactics of the general in command of the Eastern prevailed. The Nashua & Plaistow not only went by the board, but a resolution actually passed one branch of the legislature which required the Attorney General to see by what authority the B. & M. issue new stock without legislative sanction or permission, and in the mean time the Nashua & Rochester girds up its loins for a new raid on the business between Portland and New York, which is now so largely enjoyed by the Eastern.

Dover owns 2626 shares in the Boston & Maine Railroad, Exeter 1592, Portsmouth 823, Stratham 688, Greenland 141, Hampton Falls 147. The largest stockholder in New Hampshire owns 185 shares.

SHIP BUILDING ON THE MERRIMAC.—Notwithstanding the high price of every article appertaining to this important branch of industry, and the still further advance of iron in England, by the increased price of coal strikes combined with the advance of Southern pine of some eight dollars per M, we find individuals possessed of sufficient courage to build vessels. A first class ship ready for sea cannot be built short of $75 per ton, but so long as demand exists the supply must be met, regardless of cost. The following vessels are in course of construction:

At the yard of John Currier, Jr., a fine ship of 1350 tons, for Messrs. J. N. and William Cushing, P. H. Blumpey, Capt. George Pierce and the builder. Also the frame for another ship from the same moulds and of the same tonnage.

At the yard of Hardy & Brother, a steam ferry boat of 130 tons, for the town of Jamestown, R. I., to ply between that place and Newport, to be completed in September.

At the yard of Ebenezer Marston, a schooner of 220 tons, ceiled and partly planked, for sale.

At the yard of Colby & Lunt, a schooner of 150 tons, for J. I. Honseman, of New York, designed for the oyster trade and to be completed in October.

Mr. Aaron Bowen at the foot of Jefferson street, has a small craft of 16 tons, designed for a pleasure boat or fisherman, nearly completed, for sale.

Mr. George E. Currier is negotiating for the building of a three masted schooner of 400 tons, for parties out of the city.

Messrs. Atkinson & Fillmore will this fall commence the construction of a barque of 800 tons, for sale.—Newburyport Herald.

Domestic Felicity.

The brown curls fell in their wondrous grace,
As the blue eyes met his own—
Shading the light of the beautiful face
With a glory all her own.

The moonlight stole with a loving gleam
On the delicate upturned brow,
And swept with its pure mysterious beam,
Down the snow arm's dazzling snow.

One white hand lay on his loving breast,
And one 'neath the lovely head;
While the dimpled cheek to his heart was pressed;
And parted the lips' warm red.

On his shoulder floated the waving hair,
Shading the beautiful brow;
And overall rested the moonlight fair,
With its quivering, silvery glow.

And he clasped her warm in his loving hold,
As he spake in his yearning tone:—
"What is it my darling would have me told;
Little wife, my darling, my own?"

The blue eyes gleamed with a loving thrill,
And a look so pure and sweet;
"Our dinner to-morrow; oh, dear me, Bill!
Has the butcher-boy brought up the meat?"

When the sunbeams came with a loving thrill,
And the air grew warm and sweet;
And the moon had vanished behind the hill,
The butcher-boy brought up the meat.

State News.

A singular accident occurred upon the White Mountain Notch road about four miles above the Crawford House Wednesday afternoon. A stage coach on its way from Ammonoosuc Station to the Crawford House was struck by lightning during a heavy shower; the horses being thrown down but not killed and two passengers sitting on the top of the vehicle on the top of the vehicle were somewhat injured. Their clothes were burned, their gold watches and watch-chains melted in their pockets, and one of the men was burnt upon the breast, the electric fluid also completely encircling his body.

A correspondent of the Amherst Cabinet says Daniels, the defaulting treasurer of the Wilton Carpet Company, is not disposed to give any information about the matter, but says he used a large share of the money in a lumbering company in New York, the investigators have not as yet found where. When asked what was to be done in regard to funds placed in his hands for safe keeping, he said he had nothing and his bondsmen must pay it. The more the matter is investigated the darker it looks. The defalcation will exceed $50,000. Some of his friends are excusing him on the ground that he is deranged.

Fire was discovered just before twelve o'clock Friday night in the dwelling house at Exeter owned by the First Parish, and occupied by Joseph W. Gale and Charles Marseilles. The main portion of the house was saved, although considerably damaged by both fire and water. The building was insured in the Ætna of Hartford for $3000; loss estimated at about $2000. Mr. Gale was also insured in the Ætna for $500 on his furniture. Mr. Marseilles was insured in the Franklin of Philadelphia for $1200 on his furniture. The insurance of either Gale or Marseilles will hardly cover their loss. We regret in common with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Marseilles the misfortune they have sustained.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

gerally improving, when all of a sudden he found that he loved Mabel.

Then the silly young man afraid of the wealth of the Ringwoods, allowed concealment to prey upon his frame, and grew thin as a shadow.

After a time he ceased to visit his friends, and Mabel grew thin as a shadow too. But the doctor, whose practice had grown extensive, drove by each day, like Jehu the son of Nimshi, and never looked towards the house.

And Mabel would sit by the window and cry. But when her father would ask her what troubled her she would not tell him.

Old Mr. Ringwood was sorely troubled. He liked the doctor, and wondered what ailed him, and wondered why he stayed away so perversely. And he loved Mabel and wondered why she was growing so terribly thin and pale. But for all his study the riddle remained unread.

One day a thought like an inspiration flashed through his mind. He would send for the doctor to come to Mabel.

No sooner decided upon than done, and Hugh came over in haste, believing she was very ill. The servant was not explicit.

"Where is she?" he cried, "and how long has she been sick?"

The old gentleman saw that he was intensely excited, and he got another inspiration.

"She isn't so very sick," he muttered. "I guess she's only pining for you."

Poor Doctor Hugh! He turned all sorts of colors, and grasped a chair for support.

"If you love her, my boy, go in and win," said the old gentleman warmly. "I've not the slightest objection, provided your love is reciprocal, and shall feel proud to have you my son-in-law. Don't mind the money my boy, but only think that human nature is human nature, for all the tinsel of dollars." And he slipped from the room just as Mabel entered it by another door.

"Hugh!"

"Mabel!"

Do you think, kind reader, that we would intrude on a scene of private love-making? We shall not do it, so you will be disappointed, perhaps.

"But I think," said Mabel, afterward, "that if you had the courage to kiss me twice, the very first time you saw me almost, that you might have been brave enough to ask me whether I loved you or not, instead of running away from me."

"Then you were conscious?" said Dr. Hugh. "You might have rebuked me."

"I had seen your face, remember, and I rather liked to be kissed by you."

And that's all that needs to be said.

ARILLY COSTUMED.—A small and envious newspaper tells this on a large journal: A lady and gentleman were recently robbed in Judea by Arabs, who stripped them of all their clothing. They begged their captors to return them a copy of the London Times. The Arabs yielded to the request, and the pair, the gentleman attired in the regular issue, and the lady in the supplement, returned to Jerusalem.

—A couple of countrymen blew out their gas in a hotel in Decatur, Illinois. They stopped the horrid smell and saved their lives by sticking a cake of soap upon the burner.

—In order to keep up with the progress of the age, Time is said to have abandoned the scythe and hour glass, and purchased a mowing machine and a watch.

—It is stated that Pierre Zaccone, the French fictionist is only 34 years old, but has issued 325 volumes. Anybody who pleases can believe it.

—Thirty-six lashes is what a boy received, in the St. Louis House of Refuge, for opening his eyes during prayers.

—New Mexico has refused free schools by a vote of 5076 to 37.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Scrofulous, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The product should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

RAILROAD DEVELOPMENT.—The Philadelphia North American, in commenting upon the astonishingly rapid growth of our American trans-continental railroad system, and the grand prospect which it holds out of national progress and development, has the following remarks:

"From all appearances, ten years will not elapse before the Pacific Railroad will be multiform. East of the Rocky Mountains we can already count two through railroads completed and in use, the Union Pacific and the Kansas Pacific, and a third, the Northern Pacific, about half built, while a swarm of others are pushing westward vigorously, among them the Atchison & Pike's Peak; from Atchison to Colorado, the Leavenworth & Denver Narrow Gauge, the Texas, or Southern Pacific, and Atlantic & Pacific and several more bound from the Missouri river border to New Mexico. It is idle to go into details, as these projects increase in number constantly, and the prospect is quite fair for at least a score of main lines of railway westward to the Rocky Mountains.

If we look at a good railway map of the United States we shall find that the number of east and west lines this side of the Mississippi is so complicated as to be difficult to estimate. West of the great river they are increasing in the same way. Iowa has at least four, Missouri has three, and so it is all through that country. Before the proposed Canadian Pacific Railway can get half way through to British Columbia, the United States will have a main line of railway from ocean to ocean, threading every defile of the Rocky Mountain. It is already apparent that the competition for this through business is destined to become as formidable as that for the through trade and travel between the Northwest and the seaboard."

Our cotemporary adds, that if all these partially completed lines shall fix their Western terminus at San Francisco, that city will ultimately become one of the greatest commercial centuries in the world. But this, of course, will not be done, and there is actually no more reason why San Francisco should become the common centre and terminus of these various parallel lines, which are destined to span the continent at intervals of hundreds and perhaps a thousand miles apart, than that all the lateral lines East of the Mississippi Valley should converge to one point upon the Atlantic seaboard, say at Philadelphia, New York or Boston.

The policy of multiplying these trans-continental lines, if we understand it, is to open short and direct routes for the accommodation of the trade and travel of different sections of the country, and to reach across the Pacific Ocean, by the nearest practicable channels, the commerce of those Asiatic and Australian pots which lie in different parallels of latitude.

Of course, these conditions would not be met by aiming at any one point upon the Pacific seaboard, since the commerce of that Ocean, like the Atlantic, is destined to be widely distributed along the whole range of its coast, for thousands of miles, and to find its entrepots wherever the natural condition are favorable for the location of seaports and the growths of large cities.

Although San Francisco is now the most important commercial centre upon the western shore of this continent, and the only present point of egress and ingress for its foreign trade, the future development of that must establish other ports of entry and departure, nearer to some of the principal Eastern markets.

The Northern Pacific Railroad will, of course, establish its western terminus on Puget Sound, for the conclusive reason that it aims to tap the trade of northern Asia, and the distance by ocean transit thence to all the countries lying in that region is much less than from San Francisco. The route from Puget Sound to the mouth of the Amoor River is about 4,500 miles; to Hakodadi, Japan, direct, 4,800 miles; and Shanghai, China, 5,716 miles. From San Francisco to Hong Kong, is 6,200 miles. The distances to Japan are about the same by both routes.

For similar reasons, the Southern Pacific Railroad, which, pursuing a general course between the 30th and 33d parals of north latitude, must constitute the shortest route to Southern Asia and Australia, will probably find its outlet on the Pacific coast at San Diego, five hundred miles south of San Francisco. This, though an ancient Mexican port, is very favorably situated for developing both the domestic and foreign trade of southern California, and is destined to play an important part in the future commerce of the Pacific Ocean.—Commercial Bulletin.

—The Lebanon Free Press is guilty of the following considerate local item: "He came courting. He hitched his horse in the meeting-house shed. The animal, not being of a serious turn of mind, left his quarters and strolled upon the track under the Hanover street bridge, and collided with the midnight train—and died. Twenty-five cents' worth of livery stable would have saved the animal. Young men, take warning."

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needle or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners, of whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and broken-down health or debility, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and glossy hair of young or older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Recent Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The News.

Castello's band of Carlists has been totally defeated by the Spanish government troops.

Mlle. Christine Nelsson was married to M. Rouneaud, in Westminster Abbey, on Saturday.

There is trouble in the joint commission of the United States and Mexico, and the possible overthrow of the treaty is predicted.

The Boston and St. John steamer New England, wrecked on the "Wolves" several days ago, was got off the rocks and towed to Eastport.

Political.

All eyes are directed to North Carolina. The State election will take place on Thursday.

The Buffalo Evening Post, for 25 years a Democratic paper, is out for Grant and Wilson.

Doolittle, who did so little in North Carolina for the Democrats, now goes to Maine on a stumping tour.

The New York World's correspondent, writing from Raleigh says "that there was never a State, probably, so thoroughly drenched through and through with talk as North Carolina has been."

The Greeley papers which have hastened to abuse President Grant in the vilest and most slanderous manner now remonstrate against "personalities" in the present canvass because the Republican press poke fun at Mr. Greeley!

The Boston Hebrew Leader closes an article expressing its gratitude to Gen. Grant, as follows:—"With these facts before us, all will admit that Gen. Grant is entitled, even if not according to the opinions of some to the votes, at least to the gratitude and respect of the Jewish American citizens."

The cable message that was to announce to the waiting millions of Europe the nomination of Horace Greeley for the Presidency, suffered a sad sea change on its way. The astonished readers of the foreign press saw, with a bewildered smile, that the democratic candidate was named "Florence Gapleg." And such is fame.

The Utah democratic State convention met at Salt Lake City on Saturday, and nominated as delegate to Congress George Q. Cannon, a prominent polygamist and apostle of the Mormon church. The Cincinnati platform was indorsed, and a resolution adopted that the public sentiment of the nation and our own best interests alike require that the domestic institutions and the local government should be moulded to conform with those of all other American communities.

Assistant-Secretary Richardson of the Treasury department has written a letter in reply to a statement made that the expenditures of the government under Grant were greater than under Johnson, in which, giving details by figures, he proves directly the reverse, and alluding to the expenditures, under the heading of miscellaneous expenditures, which democrats use to substantiate the above charge, he says they were no more a part of the executive expenditures for 1870 and 1871 than they were for 1867 and 1868. He further says that the expenditures for the last two fiscal years of Johnson's administration, 1867 and 1868, were $19,860,504. The first two fiscal years of President Grant's administration for 1870 and 1871, were $13,019,159.

THOSE POOR CHAPS, the Massachusetts editors, went in second class cars over the Boston & Maine Railroad on their recent excursion—and they have let the B. & M. Road severely alone since. It is the meanest managed Railroad in the country.

NEWS.—The Franklin Journal says it "stands fast to all the essential ideas of the republican party." That is a fact worth knowing.

MOONY.—The citizens of Peabody, Mass., were so astonished at the rising of the moon that they started an alarm of fire! They hadn't water enough to extinguish it, so they let the old thing shine.

—In trembling accents a young lover of Mobile, Ala., put to his sweetheart the important question of his life, but she replied with the utmost calmness and a sweet sigh of resignation, "Anything to beat Grant, dear."—Post.

Correspondence.

BOSTON, July 29.

Do you ever cry, O August Chronicles, in appreciation;—because things are too good, too bright, or too beautiful to express admiration in other ways? If not, you may weep at the length of this letter. I have lost enough of my reportorial craft to make me tedious to the reader, and therefore pray you to "cut" my letter when common sense would dictate.

The Jubilee has been held, and the Coliseum is now held for proposals. Setting aside the carpings of New York,—(the metropolis, forsooth, put in petty jealousy; emulous of a country village.)—New York that bid high for crumbs from the Jubilee table and had so little music in her soul as to make a loss thereon;—there has been but one verdict on this great musical gathering, viz:

That the world never saw its peer before, and is hardly like to see it again soon. Despite the arduous labor of the various committees a deficit of $150,000 exists, which the guarantee fund manfully shoulders. If no other result than the training and grouping of 20,000 voices; the rehearsal and performance of 2000 picked musicians, under such leaders as Strauss, Eichberg, Gilmore and Zerrahn; the gathering of leading bands from France, Prussia, England and Ireland, bringing their softer, sweeter notes to home talent, were gained: then the Jubilee was a success, no matter though the cost were increased tenfold. But it has done more. Music, and that of a high order, has received an impetus that years will not efface. The choristers drilled by Zerrahn and Tourjee, those who have sung with Rudershoff and Pescha-Leutner; the musicians who have watched the batons of Gilmore and Strauss; the bands that have played in the presence of and have listened to the wonderful organizations under the direction of Dan Godfrey, Paulus and Saro, will ever feel a worthy rivalry that shall tend to the benefit of music and the country.

By the way, Parker, (a bad boy,) considers Nillson's song a Norse-trill, and says he nose it is so. [I fancy nostril would be better orthography for so demented a person as he.]

I have made a discovery which I think demands a "strike" on the part of Trades Unions. The Boston and Albany railroad are building a new Grain Elevator in this city. [Par parentheses. I would remark that the grain elevator most used in this vicinity seems to be whiskey, which puts a brick in a man's hat,—while even Horace G.'s hat used from now to November would not carry a tithe of the material used in this building.] The fact is, they've got an Iron Irishman; a double, endless chain that takes up bods of brick, bods of mortar, buckets of water, and nearly anything the workmen in their elevated position desire;—without noise, without wrangling, without disturbance. How long are our citizens of the green and the orange going to stand this infringement of their rights? What is to become of March 17th and July 12th if this palpable infringement of patent rights is submitted to?

The removal of the duty from Tea and Coffee must be a blow to such a strict protectionist as H. G., though where he could find a tea party outside of Georgia or Louisiana is more than I know. The campaign promises to be spicy; and speaking of spicies reminds me to mention the old house of N. Berry & Sons, 28 Central street, Boston. They are well known to some of your Portsmouth merchants, and take especial pride in grinding nothing not strictly pure at their mills in Lynn.

While your gardeners furnish such beauteous flowers grown in the open air, the florist is called upon for only the choice varieties, but for special occasions I can recommend your readers to Galvin Brothers at 61 Tremont St., who succeed their father Mr. John Galvin, so long and favorably known as a leading florist in this city. They have large resources, and spare no effort to please.

And now Parker—(bang that Parker!)—interrupts, again interrupts, to explain that "the carboniferous period is thus named because the world was so coaled then."

Some ignorant persons inquire "what's in a name?" A Portsmouth schoolboy could easily answer: "A liquid, two vowels and a labial." Perhaps the following data may throw more light on the conundrum:—Two fat bogs escaped from Brine & Clark, East Cambridge, recently. [Most hogs have a decided objection to brine, however they may feel toward Clark.]—Church & Goodman publish a religious paper in Chicago.—Thaddeus Clapp, of Pittsfield, Mass., generously offers to assist in Clapp-boarding any church in Berkshire county that needs it. [The papers said he was "ready to give them a lift." Sampson was the only man on record heretofore who was up to the business of lifting places of worship.] Schooner Laura A. Dood recently put into Cape Canso, with Capt. Malady sick with the small pox. [That's a bad Malady, and the captain is to be pitied.]—Some rash typo makes the following hash of the name of Theodore bon La Hache, a leading Southern composer and musician; "in New Orleans recently Prof. La Rache died, and his daughter was made permanently and totally blind by drinking water that had passed through lead pipes."

The beauties of a ride over the Eastern Railroad are now greatly enhanced by the unusual verdure of the scenery for this season. Even those who avail themselves oftenest of the facilities of your excellent road cannot refrain from expressing admiration at the charming panorama unfolded in the fifty mile ride.

Parker says my letter must be about as long as the railroad, therefore I stop. M.

HORACE GREELEY'S RIDE.—When Mr. Greeley was in California, ovations awaited him at every town. He had written powerful leaders in the Tribune in favor of the Pacific Railroad, which had greatly endeared him to the citizens of the Golden State. And, therefore, they made much of him, when he went to see them.

At one town the enthusiastic populace tore his celebrated white coat to pieces, and carried the pieces home to remember him by.

The citizens of Placerville prepared to fete the great journalist, and an extra coach, with extra relays of horses, was chartered of the California Stage company, to carry him from Folsom to Placerville, distance forty miles. The extra was on some account delayed, and did not leave Folsom until late in the afternoon. Mr. Greeley was to be feted at seven o'clock that evening by the citizens of Placerville, and it was altogether necessary that he should be there by that hour. So the Stage Company said to Henry Monk, the driver of the extra: 'Henry, this great man must be there by seven o'clock to-night.' And Henry answered, 'The great man shall be there.'

The roads were in an awful state, and during the first few miles out of Folsom slow progress was made.

'Sir,' said Mr. Greeley, 'are you aware that I must be at Placerville at seven o'clock to-night.'

'I've got my orders!' laconically returned Henry Monk.

Still! the coach dragged slowly forward.

'Sir,' said Mr. Greeley, 'this is not a trifling matter. I must be there at seven!'

Again came the answer! 'I've got my orders!'

But the speed was not increased, and Mr. Greeley chaffed away another half hour, when as he was again about to remonstrate with the driver, the horses suddenly started into a furious run, and all sorts of encouraging yells filled the air from the throat of Henry Monk.

'That is right, my good fellow!' said Mr. Greeley. 'I'll give you ten dollars when we get to Placerville. Now we are going!'

They were, indeed, and at terrible speed.

Crack! crack! went the whip, and again 'that voice' split the air, 'Git up! Hi yi! G'long! Yip—yip!'

And on they tore, over ruts and stones up and down, at a rate of speed never before achieved by stage horses.

Mr. Greeley, who had been bouncing from one end of the coach to the other, like an India rubber ball, managed to get his head out of the window, when he said:

'D—on't—on't you—u—u—think w—e—e— shall get there by seven if we do—on't—hn't go so fast!'

'I've got my orders.' That was all Henry Monk said. And on tore the coach.

It was becoming serious. Already the journalist was becoming extremely sore from the jolting, and again his head might have been seen at the window.

'Sir,' he said 'I don't care—care—care, if we don't get there at seven.'

'I've got my orders.' Fresh horses. Forward again, faster than before. Over rocks and stumps, on one of which the coach narrowly escaped turning a summersault.

'See here!' shrieked Mr. Greeley, 'I don't care if we don't get there at all!'

'I have got my orders. I work for the California Stage Company, I do. That's wot I work for. They said 'Git this man through by seven. An' this man's going through.

You bet! Gerlong! Whoosp!'

Another frightful jolt, and Mr. Greeley's bald head suddenly found its way through the roof of the coach, amid the crash of small timbers and the ripping of strong canvas.

'Stop you—maniac!' he roared.

Again answered Henry Monk.

'I've got my orders! Keep your seat Horace!'

At Mud Springs, a village a few miles from Placerville, they met a large delegation of citizens of Placerville, who had come out to meet the celebrated editor, and escort him into town. There was a military company, a brass band, and a six horse wagon load of beautiful damsels in milk-white dresses, representing all the States in the Union. It was nearly dark now, but the delegation was amply provided with torches and bonfires all along the road to Placerville.

The citizens met the coach in the outskirts of Mud Springs, and Mr. Monk reined in his foaming steeds.

'Is Mr. Greeley on board?' asked the chairman of the committee.

'He was a few miles back,' said Mr. Monk; 'yes,' he added, looking down through the hole the fearful jolting had made in the coach roof— 'yes, I can see him! He is there!'

'Mr. Greeley,' said the chairman of the committee, presenting himself at the window of the coach. 'Mr. Greeley, sir! We are come to most cordially welcome you, sir. Why God bless me, sir, you are bleeding at the nose!

'I've got my orders!' cried Mr. Monk. 'My orders is as follows: Git him there by seving. It wants a quarter to seving. Stand out of the way!'

'But sir,' exclaimed the committeemen, seizing the leader off by the reins. 'Mr. Monk we are to escort him into town. Look at the procession, sir, and the brass band, and the people, and the young women, sir!'

'I've got my orders!' screamed Mr. Monk. My orders don't say nothin' about no brass bands and young women. My orders says, 'Git him there by seving.' Let go them lines. Clear the way there. Woo-ep! Keep your seat, Horace!' and the coach dashed wildly through the procession, upsetting a portion of the brass band and violently grazing the wagon which contained the beautiful young women in white.

Years hence gray-haired men, who were in this procession, will tell their grandchildren how this stage tore through Mud Springs, and how Horace Greeley's bald head ever and anon showed itself, like a wild apparition, above the coach-roof.

Mr. Monk was on time. There is a tradition that Mr. Greeley was very indignant for a while; then he laughed, and finally presented Mr. Monk with a bran-new suit of clothes.

Mr. Monk himself is still in the employ of the California Stage Company, and is rather fond of telling a story that has made him famous all over the Pacific coast. But he says he yields to no man in his admiration for Horace Greeley.

CURING VERSUS COBBLING.—There are many medicines that give transient relief in sickness without touching the source and fount of the complaint. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is not one of these. The great tonic and restorative does not cobble the diseased and enfeebled system. It is not a mere palliative, that only temporarily controls a few unpleasant symptoms. No; its invigorating, regulating, restorative principle penetrates to very source of the difficulty in the fluids and solids of the body, and hence its cures are radical and thorough. In dyspepsia it strengthens the stomach, in liver complaint it regulates the flow of bile, in constipation it promotes a punctual fit of body, in nervous ailments it tones the sentients and motive fibres, in rheumatism it counteracts pain, and in cases of general debility rehabilitates the emaciated frame.

CLAP-TRAP AND CANT.—Invalid reader, if you are unwise enough to put yourself outside of any of the mock tonics guaranteed to contain "no diffusive stimulant," you will inevitably come to grief. Ask your physician if any liquid preparation, destitute of stimulating properties, is worthy of the name of a tonic. he will tell you no. Shun all such nauseous catchpennies. Plantation Bitters, the most wholesome invigorant in the world, owes the rapidity with which it relieves the disordered stomach and the shattered nerves to the diffusive agent which conveys its medicinal ingredients to the seat of the complaint. That agent is the spirit of the sugar cane, the most nutritious and agreeable of all the varieties of alcohol. The medicinal ingredients of the Bitters, valuable as they are, would be comparatively useless without this distributive basis. They would ferment and sour. Beware, as you hope for health, of the horrible compounds of refuse drugs in a state of fermentation which humbugs are endeavoring to foist upon the public as medicines.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT AND OF SOME OF THE DISEASES PRODUCED BY IT. A sallow or yellow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face and other parts of body; dullness and drowsiness with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in mouth, dryness of throat and internal heat, palpitation, in many cases a dry, teasing cough, with sore throat, unsteady appetite, a raising of food, and a choking sensation in throat; distress, heaviness, or bloated or full feeling about stomach and sides, back or breast, and about shoulders; colic, pain and soreness through bowels, with heat; constipation, alternating with frequent attacks of diarrhœa; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of extremities; rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy, numbness of limbs, especially at night; cold chills alternating with hot flashes, kidney and urinary difficulties; female weakness and irregularities, with dullness, low spirits, unsociability and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. All who use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for Liver Complaint and its complications are loud in its praise. Sold by all druggists everywhere. 6o1

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing quieting effect it produces natural sleep and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Relief of Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES so fatal and prevalent, it is the choice of Parents and Children attacked with Whooping Cough. Croup should be immediately cared for. The painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL given speedily will relieve the child in a few hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in perfecting it with the best medical skill in the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

In the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gentle stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of secret ingredients "discovered" by "walking in the forest" in South America or anywhere else, but one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as the best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death, and is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The steamer Enterprise is being repaired at Biddeford, Me., preparatory to carrying stone between Rockport and New London. A false deck of 2 1-2 inch plank is being laid to withstand the wear and tear of large blocks of stone, and a new foremast is to be substituted for the old one now in the vessel.

Navy Yard Matters.

The New York Nautical Gazette, speaking of the U. S. Steamer Nantasket, which recently arrived at this Station, after a cruise of two years and nine months in the West Indies, says:—

A survey was held upon her, and the hull was found to be entirely rotten and unfit for repairs. The Nantasket was built at Charlestown Navy Yard in 1866; the frame was of white oak, the best that could be procured at that time, the great demand for ship-timber during the war having exhausted the stock of seasoned timber usually kept on hand at the different navy yards. Now, after a cruise of less than three years, this vessel is entirely unfit for service, owing to the unseasoned stock put in the hull. On the contrary, the Marion, which was broken up at this place some time since, was so sound that some of her old live oak timbers, which had been in her since 1838, were so good that they were used in building the new vessel. The engines of the Nantasket, which were built at this Navy Yard, were in such good order that the engineer reported that at an expense of $100 the engines could be put in order for a three years' cruise; they have not yet had occasion to use any of the spare brasses put on board, although the vessel has averaged 50 days' steaming for each quarter, which would amount to over 500 days which the vessel has been under steam. Perhaps it is needless to add that they are not compound engines.

The Nantasket's engines were the first and we believe the only ones ever constructed at this Navy Yard. They were ordered and planned while Chief Engineer William Roberts had charge of the Steam Engineering Department and finished under the management of Chief Engineer David B. Macomb, Mr. Albert W. Rix, the present Master Machinist, having charge of their construction. The Engineers in charge of the machinery of the Nantasket must have attended strictly to their duty, to have succeeded in running it with so little damage. Their report of the condition of the engines is in itself a well merited complement to the skill of the mechanics of this vicinity employed in their construction. And here we are pleased to record the statement made to us last month at the Philadelphia Navy Yard by Capt. John Guest, which was to the effect that the workmen employed at this Navy Yard are not excelled in skill by those at any other Yard in the country, while they accomplish more and do their work much cheaper. It is reported that Capt. Guest on being promoted to Commodore, will relieve Rear Admiral Pennock in command at this Station, at the expiration of the Rear Admiral's present term of shore duty. While the Navy Yard employees will regret the necessity of Rear Admiral Pennock's departure, they may congratulate themselves that he is to be relieved by a gentleman who will second all their endeavors to obtain a full share of government work, and appreciate their efforts in constructing vessels and machinery skillfully and well.

A Washington dispatch states that Rear Admiral Pennock is to be assigned to the command of one of the Pacific squadron.

Base Ball.

The Bostons suffered the third defeat of the season, at the hands of the Athletics, in Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon. The contest was a fine one and but few errors were made on either side, until the ninth inning, when the Bostons made so many errors that the Athletics scored five unearned runs. The only player on the Boston side who made a run was Schafer, and but for an error of Meyerle he would have been out at the home base. The fielding on both sides was fine and remarkable for the numerous fly catches. The Bostons played a steady and plucky uphill game, but the luck was decidedly against them from the first. The scorewas:—Athletics 9, Bostons 1.

The professional championship record now stands as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.
Boston,	25	3
Athletic,	19	6
Baltimore,	22	9
Mutual,	19	10
Troy,	18	10
Cleveland,	11	14
Mansfield,	10	12
Atlantic,	7	9
Eckford,	5	10
National,	3	11
Olympic,	2	18

At a meeting of the championship committee held in New York on Friday it was voted that in the games to be played by the clubs entering for the pennant, the series shall consist of nine games instead of five as was decided on in the early spring.

A Ten Per Cent. Investment.—We advertise to-day an Arkansas State Loan issued to aid in the construction of the Arkansas Central Railroad, extending from Helena to Little Rock, with a branch to Pine Bluff, uniting the three largest cities of the State. These bonds are absolutely safe, being issued upon the faith and credit of the State and being specially endorsed by the railroad company, the endorsement being in the form of a mortgage lien upon the entire property of the road. Being sold at a low price the investor is insured over ten per cent. interest as well as a handsome profit on the principal of the road. No local investment can pay so well, and none so sure. The First National Bank of Portsmouth and the Rockingham Savings Bank are local agents for these bonds and will furnish information concerning their character.

Morning Chronicle.

GREELEY AS A DOMESTIC DISTURBER. We doubt if the horrors of the present political campaign will ever be brought more directly home, or result in a sadder case of domestic infelicity than that which we record below. Most of our citizens have seen the campaign Greeley fans with which the city is flooded, and since their introduction every bootblack and news-boy in the city as well as older persons are familiar with the ruddy features of the axe-slinger of Chappaqua, as they appear surrounded with a halo of white wool, and affixed to a stick for wind propelling purposes. As a correct likeness of the most aspiring aspirant for the Presidency that ever lived they are a success, and if our readers have any desire to make the picture more vivid, let them follow the instructions of an eastern poet who says:

Would you see the face of H. G. aright?
Take your study-lamp and put out the light;
Stand up against it the Greeley fan—
Add a white felt hat, and behold the man!

But to our story. Residing upon one of our prettiest thoroughfares is a man named Stringer, who has from the very moment when the result of the Cincinnati Convention became known allowed all the spare wind that escaped from this political bellows to shape itself into shouts for Greeley. His wife, who is young and pretty, naturally partakes of his views in a political sense, and knowing of his intense admiration of the Graham bread philosopher purchased one of the new Greeley fans the other day while out shopping and took it home to surprise her husband. Owing to a convivial meeting that evening where confusion to the Administration was drunk in sparkling bumpers of champagne by Stringer and a few boon companions, the former did not return to his happy home until about midnight. His wife, who had retired to bed at the usual hour, after fanning herself for an hour or two with her purchase of the afternoon, finally laid it over in her spouse's pillow and dropped off to sleep. Stringer entered his house without making any noise, took off his boots, softly ascended the stairs to his wife's apartments, entered and was about to disrobe for the night, when oh! horrors, what a sight met his slightly inebriated gaze! There, reclining upon his pillow he saw the beautifies of a bald-headed, gray-haired man, whose flushed features betokened guilt and poor liquor. Stringer smelled a rat larger than an elephant; he saw it all at a glance. He had entered so still that he had surprised the scoundrel who had thus polluted his home. His wife snored a peaceful snore, and that angered him still more, and without stopping to think whether he was sufficiently insane or not, the wronged and miserable Stringer pulled out his pistol and fired two shots through the head of the aged rascal. The noise awakened Mrs. Stringer, who shrieked, the gas was turned up, and with his wife [illegible] Stringer saw he had made an ass of himself. He tried to make his wife believe it was a joke, that he just wanted to have some fun—that he knew it was Greeley when he first came into the room, and was willing to stand "anything to beat Grant;" but his wife said that story did not possess the requisite thickness, and told a neighbor's wife who attended sewing society the next day, and it got out.—Cleveland Leader.

—There were three mad dogs on Main street, Saturday night. They weren't mad until they met each other. A few words were exchanged, and the combat commenced at once. They snapped around pretty freely for a moment, and stirred up a cloud of dust that completely obscured what little sight rage had left them. They then went into it lively. They didn't touch each other, because they didn't know where each other was, but they danced around, first on their forward legs and then on their hind legs, and howled and swore, and sneezed and choked, and bit great round chunks out of the atmosphere, and carried on dreadfully for five minutes. After that they withdrew to one side to a cool spot, where they could sit down and think.—Danbury News.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and entail into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Obstructions of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The present should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

The Lay of the Gas Man.

HIS LIFE.

Don't envy the life of a gas man,
In spite of the plunder and pelf,
Forever blown up by the public,
An't often blown up by himself.

A common man blesses the sunshine,
Delighted with beautiful day;
But the bloated and horrible gas man
Despises whatever don't pay.

All nature to him is but business,
The sun does a gas tank appear;
The very stars nothing but burners,
And a moon but a big chandelier.

A satrap, he governs our pockets,
Our houses, our shops, and our rights;
The doctors may fuss with our livers,
But he must have charge of our lights.

Read in the life of a gas man,
The lessons such people can teach,
Prophetic of brimstone and blazes,
As plain as a parson can preach.

HIS DEATH.

How dreadful the death of a gas man,
Surrounded and haunted by those Whom his plundering charges have swindled
Till conscience bids him repose.

Oh! solemn and awful his passage,
With implements gathered around
Wherewith he has ruined his neighbors
And lit his own home under ground.

The coal and coke and bitumen,
The acids, the tar and the steam,
The sulphur, the lime and foul odors,
All through his horrible dream.

If he kicks, both his feet must remind him
Of the feet overcharged in the bill;
While the click of the clock like metre,
Each sound must give him a thrill.

HEREAFTER.

At length, when his oxygen fails him
He sinks with the folks of his sort,
When Satan immediately grabs him,
And places him in a retort.

—The most faithful lover who has a name and being outside of trashy novels, lives in Danbury. The parents of the young lady are opposed to this championship, but it don't make him proud. Sometimes the old gentleman reaches him with his boot before he can get over the fence, but the young man doesn't lay up ill-feeling on account of that; he only smiles at the despoiler of his pants when he meets him, and calls it "heaping coals of fire on his head." Saturday evening he thought he would get up a surprise for the old chap He put a paving stone in each of his coat tail pockets, and started for the fence as usual. The old man let out for him with increased enthusiasm and caught him—caught him good. Then he laid down on the grass and said, "I die by the hand of an assassin." But the young man passed on without a word, and smiled the most heavenly smile of forgiveness ever seen on that street.—Danbury News.

—By a squall in the Delaware bay last week, while sailing in a yacht, two young men were overtaken. From the way things looked the capsizing of their craft was very near inevitable. "Bill," said one to the other "this is serious business; can you pray?" "No, I can't I've heard it done, but can't do it myself." "Well you can sing a hymn, can't you? for God's sake." "No I can't sing here." "Well, we must do something religious. take up a collection.,' To this Bill consented. In his companion's hat he deposited thirteen pennies, a cork-screw and a broken-bladed knife. As he did this the wind lulled and the shallop made a successful landing.

—A Fond du Lac maiden who saw an outrageous panier for the first time, followed the lady for a block or two, thought the obtrusive appendage a good thing to do, went into a shop, and asked for half a dozen yards of "bump" cloth. The new name puzzled the clerk, but the proprietor thought it appropriate.

—Theodore Tilton says: "What we need is to shuffle the North and South together like a pack of cards." This may be true, but we don't want to trust old gamblers to do the shuffling, for they would certainly "stock" the cards on us.—Cincinnati Gazette.

—Goldsmith Maid has won her lost laurels, which inspires a reflection, to wit: that there is nothing so uncertain as horse racing, except "women in their hours of ease."

—We are told that the biggest dose of "masses and water" ever mixed on the Pacific coast was put up at Santa Cruz. Seventy-five ladies were bathing at one time.

—It is said that the Duluth people won't allow small-pox patients to be interred in their cemetry, because there are several unvaccinated corpses buried there.

—What is the difference between the alphabet and a mud-turtle one hundred years old? The one is taught us in youth, and the other is tortoise in old age.

—The freedom with which the southern darkies use the razor leads the St. Louis to fear that it will eventually become the eraser of the race.

—A little girl in Lyons, N. Y., was choked to death by a bean lodging in her throat, last week.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMONIC CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, flies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMONIC CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" in "distant pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and colds, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just such a remedy as these they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest lasting, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The News.

A large part of the town of Foxburg, Pa., was destroyed by fire on Saturday night.

The Bostons defeated the Atlantics at Brooklyn, after a hard struggle. The score was even at the end of the ninth inning, and both nines were blanked on the tenth, but on the eleventh the Red Stockings made six runs, and won by a score of 18 to 12.

William Dinsmore and three companions, of Unity, purchased some liquor on Sunday morning, after drinking which they became violently sick with every indication of having been poisoned. Mr. Dinsmore died during the forenoon. The others will probably recover. All the parties are farmers of Unity A good deal of excitement prevails in the vicinity.

On Saturday afternoon the dead body of a woman, with a child tightly clasped in her arms, was found on Thimble island, near Long Island Sound. They were dressed in what seemed to be bathing costumes, and the belief is that they were drowned from some watering-place. They could not have been in the water more than a day. The woman was apparently twenty-five years of age and the child two.

THE SINGULAR ACCIDENT by lightning near the Twin Mountain House is thus described by Mr. Luther L. Holden of the Boston Journal:—

Mr. George Oakes was driving from the base of Mount Washington to the Twin Mountain House, and had on board several passengers who had come down from the summit. Three gentlemen were upon the outside, namely: Mr. Morse of Hoboken, N. Y., Mr. George L. Trask of New York, and Mr. Bridgman of Connecticut. Mr. Morse occupied the seat with the driver, and carried an umbrella to ward off the rain. The coach had reached a point in the road about a mile above the Twin Mountain House, when in passing under the telegraph wire the umbrella-tip touched the wire. The electricity was thus taken from the surcharged wire, and the shock was instantantaneous. All the outside passengers were affected, but Mr. Morse was the only person injured to any great extent. He was burned upon the breast and partly around the body, his under clothing being burned at the same time. The strangest freak was performed with his watch and chain. The electrical currant made a round, clean hole through the face of the watch, the works were partly melted, and the chain was so completely destroyed, with the exception of one or two links, that nothing could be found of it. Mr. Morse was thrown off the coach by the shock, and was taken out from under the vehicle, having narrowly escaped being run over. Strange to relate, only one pair of the horses were seriously affected. These were the leaders. They were thrown down, and the driver found them under the wheel horses. The driver and Messrs. Trask and Bridgman felt the shock very sensibly, but were enabled to retain their seats on the coach. The accident occurred about eight o'clock in the evening. Mr. Morse was conveyed to the Twin Mountain House, and had so far recovered yesterday morning, that he was enabled to resume his journey homeward.

THE MOST BITTER SATIRE upon Mormonism, to those who have been "sealed," as we should suppose, is contained in the following sentences from a Salt Lake Letter: "When the congregation was dismissed, the rustle of silk and the flashing of diamonds attracted my attention, and I saw many of the poor Mormon women gazing with longing eyes on the rich dresses of their Gentile sisters. The contrast between saint and sinners was still further heightened by the conduct of the men. The Gentile men tucked the arms of their pretty wives under their own, and walked away with a proud air, while the Mormon women trudged off alone. How could a Mormon man tuck the arm of half-a-dozen wives into his? And if he escorted one or even two wives, how would the rest feel? If I wanted to break down Mormonism, I would put a dozen French military stores in Salt Lake City, give General Morrow the military commander, $15,000 or $20,000 to entertain with during the winter, and station a strong corps of good-looking, young officers at Camp Douglas."

—The population of Russia is 81,500,000 souls.

—Tom Thumb is going to the Thimble Islands.

Political.

Ex-Judge Thomas W. Clark, an influential member of the Tammany general committee, which is pledged to Greeley, has just published a letter resigning because he cannot support Greeley. After alluding to the democratic idea of free trade, he says:—"Yet, the man who has been all his life defying the plain teachings of the construction in this respect, and of its democratic commentators, is now, by shameless intrigue and trick the candidate of the great democratic party of the Union. I deny, however, that he is truly the candidate of that party, but he is the candidate of the leeches, who, with the hope of renewed power and plunder, have contrived, for the time, to get control over it. It is a most unholy alliance, a most anomalous coalition, which will end in disaster to every democrat who has had any hand or part in it."

The Fulton (Ill.) Democrat has been a firm and constant avocate of democratic principles. The nomination of Greeley and Brown by the democratic party has killed it. The editor said in his last issue that he could not consistently support those nominations, and, therefore, withdrew from the field. Policy at this time, he said, could not gain the ascendancy over the principle in his mind, and rather than, like many of his old political associates, dishonestly advocate the election of his life-long antagonist, he stopped the issue of his paper.

Hon. R. F. Van Horn, of Missouri, says: "We believe we can carry Missouri for Grant, and intend to make that belief good.

O. C. French, member of the Republican national committee for Mississippi, says that his State will give 20,000 majority for Grant and Wilson.

A letter from a prominent Republican in Alabama says: "Thousands and thousands of good, honest old Democrats and Whigs are now on the fence.,'

A canvass of German papers shows 119 for Grant and 105 for Greeley, with two influential Democratic dailies and three Republican on the fence, but leaning strongly towards Grant.

Henry D. Moore, formerly State treasurer of Pennsylvania under Governor Curtin, writes from St. Petersburg that he is authorized to say for Mr. Curtin that he earnestly desires the re-election of President Grant, and that neither Curtin nor himself has any sympathy whatever with the Greeley movement.

State News.

One-fifth of the graduating class at Dartmouth are Roman Catholics.

Newport has had a great temperance revival, and a reform club has been organized.

Hon. Harry Hibbard died in Somerville, Mass., on Sunday, after a protracted illness. Mr. Hubbard formerly held various important State offices in New Hampshire, and was a representative in Congress from 1849 to 1855. His age was 56.

Concord Railroad.

A dispatch from Concord, Tuesday, says:—

It is rumored here to-day that the negotiations long pending, for a sale of a majority of the rising stock of the Concord Railroad to parties in the interest of the Northern Railroad, are about to be consummated. It is understood that a meeting is being held in Manchester to-day, and that a transfer of what is known as rising stock, will be made which will effect a radical change in the management of the road.

POVERTY PLEADERS.—We know of no practice more worthy of condemnation among editors than their willingness to make themselves appear poor in purse. Just now we notice an editorial in a Massachusetts paper, a good paper, too, in which the writer expresses himself as satisfied with a short excursion this year, "from the reason that the editorial fraternity are not proverbial for plethoric purses." Now we venture to say that the writer of that sentence has "rocks" enough to go on a $11.50 excursion twelve times a year—but thinking should he do so he might save the extra half dollar because he pleads to being unsuccessful in money matters, he belittles himself and the profession in common with others by disparaging his own business. There is no excuse for any man who will go on excursions to plead poverty, and if he is really as poor in purse as in spirit, there is certainly ample evidence that he has mistaken his calling—for no one who cannot lay up something for a rainy day in the newspaper business should remain in it.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

AMY'S TRIAL.

Amy's head was inside her desk. She had a dear little baby-house there, made out of her spelling book and grammar set up on end. It was carpeted with a piece of an old plaid shawl and on a chair in the middle sat a doll in a calico dress. There were two or three pictures tacked up with pins, a little box of slate pencils, a clam-shell, a crayon, and a sponge. Amy was very busy just then making fresh licorice-water in a bottle. It was creaming up splendidly, ever so much better than Jennie Day's, who kept house in a desk two doors below. She was holding it up for Jennie to see, when Mr. Brown called her.

"Amy Fields, come here."

Down went the lid with a thump, and up walked Amy to the master. She was not a bit afraid of him, because he lived next door, and talked politics with her father every night. She only hoped he didn't mean to confiscate her licorice-water. His desk was pretty sure to be ornamented with rows of good things taken from the scholars, and what he did with them all was a problem that many of them could not solve.

Mr. Brown rapped three times with his, ruler and then looking over his spectacles at the school, said:

"I am going out for half an hour. Amy will stand here and be monitor. Take the names, Amy, of all who speak."

Some people like being monitor, and some do not. Amy didn't. For one thing, it was the first time. Then she felt bashful, perched on the platform, facing two long rows of schoolmates. She didn't mind the girls so much, but there were the boys, and like the little woman she was, she wondered whether her hair was smooth, and wished she had worn a white apron. Besides, she hated to tell of the others and get them into trouble. Oh, if they only sat still and behave until Mr. Brown came back; for, standing in that place, she'd have to take the names if they did not.

A verse she had said to her mother the night before, and had asked the meaning of, came up in her mind oddly just at this minute: "It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful.

"Well I will," she said to herself, "even if I dont like it."

"Johnnie is pullin' my hair," shouted Louie, from the A-B-C bench.

"He pinched me," screamed Johnnie, in return.

Amy set a good boy between the two, and silenced the hubbub. While she was doing this, Susie Jenkins left her seat, and took one by Mollie Camp, so Amy had no compunctions about putting her down in bold, round characters.

Mr. Brown's half hour was nearly up; and the little monitor was very glad. Two boys and one girl—it might have been worse. Just as she was congratulating herself, she heard a familiar voice on the left, and turning, there were Abram Post and Charlie Dawes chattering to each other like magpies.

What should she do? Justice, the being found faithful, demanded that she should treat all alike. But Charlie was her special favorite, defender, and friend. She sewed up the rips in his gloves, and he carried her to school on his sled. They "went halves" with all their goodies. A great, rosy Seek-no-further, his gift, was in her bag at that moment, and at recess she had given him her biggest doughnut, all powdered over with sugar. Charlie! How could he be so vexatious?

To make matters worse, just as her mind was made up, she caught a laughing glance from Charlie's merry blue eyes, and a folded paper thrown by him fell upon her slate. Opening it, she read:

"Deer Amy: I've got too more apples for you.—C. D."

"That a girl be found faithful," something whispered very softly just then in Amy's ear. Something else said, "It's mean to tell of your dearest friend," and between the two the poor child was half wild. Her faced burned and the tears came to her eyes, but conscience won the day. Her hand shook like Stephen Hopkins' when he signed the Declaration of Independence, as she wrote, "Charlie Dawes," and, like Stephen, she put something else to it. It was this;

"Mr. Brown, please don't punish him. I had to tell, but I didn't want to."

A moment after the door opened, and the master came in. He was in good humor, and smiled as he took Amy's slate. Amy felt as if she would fall through the floor; she wished it would open and hide her, as his hand on her curly head, Mr. Brown read the names of the delinquents. One glance of wonder, resentment, and reproach came to her from Charlie, and it needed all the comfort that belongs to doing one's duty to help her to bear it. Poor little monitor! School had been over an hour, and those who had been kept were coming out, when Charlie plunging through the snow-drifts, heard himself called. It was Amy, half frozen, who was waiting to give him back his apple, and be forgiven. But Charlie's anger was gone like a mist, for perhaps purposely, Mr. Brown had left the slate where he could see it. He caught little Amy in his arms, and almost carried her home and that night, tucked up warmly in her little bed with her mother's sweet kiss on her lips, the little monitor said to herself, "I'm glad God helped me to be found faithful."

Appledore.

"E. C. F." writes a sparkling letter to the Boston Journal. Here it is:]

I haven't seen any letter in your columns from this "King of the Islands," and out of the benevolence of our hearts, who not only "want to make ourselves happy, but all those around us happy," I propose to tell you something about our trip and sojourn at the Appledore, or Apple core as our little big brother persists in teaching the children to pronounce it. What holds out more charming inducements on such days as dawned before us poor sweltering Bostonians the first of this month of July than a trip to the sea-side, even though prefaced by a two hours' ride in the cars? We took ours immediately after a shower, as do all sensible people when the showers come in the right time and place, and an immense improvement in traveling we found it. Air soft and hazy was nature's countenance with the smiles just washed away awhile by tears; tears of joy, perhaps, that we had got one cool day at last, and so we reached Portsmouth at peace with ourselves and all the world besides—the grave old city, looking for all the world like our dear old aunt from the country. No Nicholson or concrete offend the nose, and bless the feet of pedestrians and horses, at least, as far as we could see en route to the boat. And is that the boat—that little black thing with its rusty boiler—and a tender remembrance of our Rose Standish comes up. "Yes marm, that is the beautiful steamer Appledore, built on purpose, and carries two hundred passengers bigger than you are, safe and sound. Jump on, and away to the stern, while we take on these two tons of ice—that's for your ice cream and claret, you know." Oh, what visions does that conjure up. Shoals and iced claret after Boston and Jubilee. And now she tacks, or turns, or whatever the marines call it, and leaves the wharf about three feet, when, lo! up drives a carriage most furiously. Cars late, party for the Shoals. Must go down this trip. And so the obliging captain draws as near as possible, and Miss Heavysides prepares to come over. "Oh I never can, no plank and downward—if you help me, I shall certainly upset you, and I know I shall fall in myself," and "By George! she will," breathlessly murmur the passengers. But a pull and a jump, and they are over, and we steam away; out of the river, past skiff and craft, and away for the Shoals! Ye saints! what a breeze! why I had no idea these islands were situated in such close proximity to the North Pole! And the man who forgot his overcoat shivers and shakes, and finally, like a certain historical individual of recent fame, borrows his wife's waterproof and—draws near the boiler. "But what makes the ocean so green to-day, mamma," said four-year-old Nellie; "it was blue when we went to Hull. Has anybody been putting paint in it?" "Yes, my love, the Great Painter, 'who holds it in the hollow of his hand,' and makes it green to-day and blue to-morrow."

But now the little boat rolls—up one end and down the other, with the soapsuds flying out behind; "a first rate teeter," said the little big brother—but not so, thought Nellie. "Sit down," (imperatively) to Katie, "its you that makes the boat do so." "Well," said Sharley, "let's go to the other end of it, it doesn't do so over there." "Do boats ever tumble over?" said Nellie. "Yes, babe." "What! and let all the peoples fall in the water?" "Yes, sometimes." "Oh!" said she, with a glance of dismay at her blue poplin, "not when they have their best clothes on, do it?" But where are the Shoals? We ought to see it before this; no, it is not clear enough, and we almost came to anchor before she rises to our vision—a white throne upon her rocky bed—and screech, screech go the whistles—five whistles—a telegraph to the house that fifty visitors are coming to the Shoals to-day; and an old tradition has it, that the cook's ear is on the alert, and when she hears those whistles into the chowder pot go five buckets of water; but we have yet to learn that the chowder is ever any weaker for the five or ten whistles; and now the descent into the row boats, which carry us to the landing, for the beauty of the Shoals is never to be marred by a hideous wharf, suggestive of water rats and drowned children, and a very warm reception we receive from about fifty pairs of eyes, who come out to look for friends, or to criticise, or to pass an idle moment; and arm in arm, we that have friends, up we go, to the inviting piazza, or we whose visit is our first, saunter and gaze, knowing that Oscar, whose word is as good as his bond, has two nice rooms awaiting us, a good dinner and a good appetite; flowers too, culled from this Island—flowers such as never graced a belle's table, but as charming here—wild roses, yarrow, white weed and morning glories; have you any idea what a sweet bouquet these make in lieu of a better.

A good dinner and a good appetite, what could the creature man wish for more, unless I add, a good night's rest upon comfortable beds, which we surely found here—no midnight marauders in any form, either winged or legged; no milk cart in the morning; no fish boy—but, shade of the Jubilee! what is that? A French horn? Spirit of Arbuckle, hast thou indeed followed us? Out of their beds to see the "band" tumble the children, and in a dazed amusement up springs papa. Yes! that is just what Oscar wants; it is the getting up signal, and he knows that its merry note brings every one to their feet, with a smile on their face. And now for the piazza and a race over the rocky hills. Oh Star Island! oh Smutty Nose! oh Blue Beach! may I only live to return to you. Such a place for the sick! here the hollow-eyed consumptive basks all day on the sunny rocks, cooled by the gentle wind and drinking in a new lease of life with the ocean's bright air; here the city worried baby rests quietly in its nurse's arms, or lies back in its little carriage, the bracing air rapidly dispelling the infant's summer terror: and what a place for the well, overworked lawyers, merchants and bookkeepers, to rest from their labors—all day long to spend on the shady piazzas, with the broad ocean for a foreground, yachts and row boats invitingly waiting; also the billiard-room, the bowling alley and the music-room. See the small army of children; here they swing, run, or climb rocks or row themselves in little boats in a sea of their own, and imagine themselves first-class mariners, or don their bathing-dresses and sport at there pleasure in the same little sea. Oh, Nellie, down on your knees and fill your apron with these smooth stones and little shells, and we'll string a fine necklace for Sharley, who knew which end of the boat didn't rock.

This is the most independent place, socially, I ever saw. You may become bosom friends with your next neighbor, or, "not know you, sir," just as you please, and no one cares; or you may go to dinner in your rubber boots with fish-scales attached, or in gorgeous array, according to your own sweet will. Belles from New York and the well-bred "Friend" from Philadelphia, all seem to harmonize. I saw a sweet-voiced mother of the latter persuasion down at the bath-house to-day encouraging her little ones to brave the salt water, and the pretty dialect seemed just suited to the task. "Bay," said she to little Mabel, (which is a great improvement on Ruth and Naomi, I thought, "Bay, thee must wet thy shoulders. Jump, now, into the waves; it is for thy good, my child. And thou, —, thee must swim, or thee must come out. Get down, Bay, and paddle with thy arms and legs. Play, thou, that thou art a frog." We have our share of celebrities, too. Last week the noble head of Whittier graced our dining-room, and the pleasant face of Mrs. Celia Thaxter greets us always. Hepworth is expected, and will probably favor us with a taste of pure orthodoxy now and then o' Sundays. Barnabee, with his songs and inimitable stories, and Henry Bryant, the ventriloquist, with his talking grandmother, make the house resound with fun and laughter.

O, come ye to the Shoals, ye weary and warm ones, out of the city with her hot walls and blazing sky, to this island of coolness, of gorgeous sunsets and peaceful nights—but be sure you engage your rooms beforehand.

Business Change.

We understand that Mr. Jos. H. Foster has purchased the stock of books and stationery of Mr. Foster Shores, and while keeping his present store in operation, will be found personally at No. 1 Congress Block after Aug. 15th. These changes bring to mind the men of the past in connection with the book business: in 1792 Mr. Charles Peirce opened a book store in Daniel Street; in 1812 he sold out his stock to his son-in-law, the late James F. Shores, who in 1836 transferred his business to his son, J. F. Shores, Jr., who in his turn in 1870, transferred it to his son Mr. Foster Shores, who now leaves Portsmouth to enter another business in Chicago.

In 1812, Mr. John W. Foster came from Boston and opened a bookstore in the same store now occupied by his son, Mr. Jos. Hiller Foster, whom he took into business as a partner in 1848, hiring the store at first for six months only, until he could find one he liked better. Since his death in 1852, Mr. Jos. H. Foster has remained in the store, it being sixty years since the store was opened.

Mr. Foster Shores has accepted a lucrative situation with Jacob B. Shepherd & Co., bankers and brokers, at Chicago. He is a young man of energy and enterprise and of capable business qualities. Our best wishes for his future success.

Laconics.

Lester Wallack is coming Sept. 13th.

Universalist and Freewill pic-nics today at Wallis' Sands and Kittery Point.

Portsmouth mosquitoes are very large around the waist and are often mistaken for humming birds.

Oar, of an ashy hue, has been discovered at Wallis' Sands. It yields abundantly when developed.

It is said the Massachusetts Democrats propose to bring out Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury as a congressional candidate.

U. S. tug boat Leyden has arrived at the Navy Yard with a cargo of timber from the Charlestown Yard, to be used in repairing the dry dock.

The Portsmouth Daily CHRONICLE was started August 1st, 1852, so that this day's issue completes the twentieth year of its publication. There is not a person now connected with the ownership or management of the paper, who was employed at the start.

A drunken man, arrested by the night police, rendered the excuse that he had a felon on his finger, had suffered severe pain, and drank too much liquor to numb the sensations. Query—Would drunkenness, caused by drinking to cure a felon, be considered felony?

A drenching thunder storm commenced here Monday evening and continued through the night—there being a great fall of rain. The lightning was nearly continuous and the thunder very heavy. At ten o'clock, there was a rumble which many persons believe was an earthquake shock. The storm was one of the heaviest ever experienced here.

Morning Chronicle.

HOW NAST BECAME AN ARTIST.—Thomas Nast, the caricaturist of Harper's Weekly, has recently received an invitation to make some pictures for a prominent London fashion journal entitled Vanity Fair, the leading characteristic of which is the masterly caricature portraits of public men. It selects statesmen, actors, painters, dramatists, poets; in fact, any and every man who has made a strong mark before the word, is a fair candidate for pictured immortality in Vanity Fair. The enterprise has been a great success in its English phases, and now Nast has been engaged to "do" some American portraits; and I am told that he has already sent on his earliest sketches.

The story of Tommy Nast's artistic career is a little peculiar. His father was a professional musician, and, when I first met Tommy, the old gentleman was playing that extension brass, shove-out-and-pull-back, force-pump sort of old-fashioned horn they used to have in bands (a friend says it is called a trombone), in the orchestra of Wallack's old theatre, corner of Broome and Broadway, at $10 a week. Nast, senior, wanted Tommy to become a musician, and, to that end, used to thrash him with a leather strap most enthusiastically and faithfully, in order to make him learn the scales on the violin. Thomas, however, had a genius for drawing, and knew it. He used to beg his father to permit him to become an artist, to all of which the truly conscientious old German gentleman (now many years dead), would reply with additional doses of strap.

At last, young Thomas became acquainted with Mr. Berghaus, now, and for more than a dozen years, one of Frank Leslie's chief artists; and to Berghaus, who was also a German, he confided all his woes. He showed his drawings to Berghaus, and to Sol Eytinge, who is one of our most delicate and fanciful American draughtsman, and who was at that time with Leslie, and they, seeing there was something in the boy, then 11 years old, advised him to continue his efforts to convince his father that he could earn more money as an artist than as a musician.

Tommy went home that night, and to the German parent, having come home at twelve o'clock, midnight, he thus remarked:—

"Father, I must be an artist. It you let me go and learn to draw, in a year or two I can earn $20 a week, and, in a few years after that, I can bring in from $50 to $75 every week; if you make me learn music, I may slave all my life, and I shall very likely find myself at fifty years old just where you are now, playing for ten poor dollars a week in somebody's band, liable to a discharge any minute, and out of an engagement a quarter of the year, even when things are at their best."

Whether it was the argument or the determination of young Nast to learn to draw in spite of the paternal forbidding that carried the point, I know not; certain it is, however, that, the next day, Tommy Nast entered Frank Leslie's employ, and was assigned a desk between Berghaus and Eytinge, which two thorough artists and amiable gentlemen gave Nast all the regular instruction he has ever had.

The young artist more than kept his word; in less than a year he could earn, not $20, but twice that on Frank Leslie's paper alone, besides making as much more on outside work. His father lived to see that his son was right, and to see his son bringing home his hundred dollars in gold every Saturday night, while he was humbly toiling away for the same old hardly earned ten dollars.

Nast's industry and imaginative genius rapidly carried him forward in the profession. I presume that, for the past ten years, there has not been a week when his work, taking his cartoons for illustrated papers, his illustrations of books and other business has not been equal to at least $50 a day, and up to three times that sum.

Nast's mother is a thorough German, a most estimable woman, I am told, and excellent mother—but she cannot speak, or could not when I saw her first and last, a dozen words of English.

DIET FOR DIARRHŒA.—Roast some rite as you would coffee; then grind it in a coffee-mill; then dissolve two ounces of gum arabic in one pint of hot water; when dissolved put in a tea-cup of rice, and let it boil twenty minutes, or until it is the consistency of mush. If too thick, as you use it, thin it with hot water. Desperate cases have been cured by this remedy.

CURE FOR FELON.—The Journal of Medicine recommends the following remedy for a felon:—"As soon as the parts begin to swell get the tincture of lobelia, and wrap the part affected with a cloth saturated thoroughly with the tincture, and the felon is dead."

APPLICATION FOR NEURALGIA.—Tincture of aconite and choloform, of each five parts; lard, twenty parts. Mix. After applying the ointment cover the surface with cotton.

PRICKLY HEAT.—Biborate of soda dissolved in water, of moderate strength, applied as a wash, will remove this eruption.

—During a thunder-storm a mother told her little girl that the thunder was God's voice. By and by it thundered again, when the child exclaimed, "There, he's hollering again!" Another little girl was out on the piazza, when, for the first time, she saw it lightning. She came running in, exclaiming "Mother, the moon just came by, all broken to pieces."

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disorder and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

TRY WALNUT LEAVES.—The fly, insignificant as he is in size, and devoid of the power of doing any great harm, is one of the most annoying little pests of all the insect tribe. A nuisance to man, the fly is the terror of the horse, whose flesh is made to quiver whenever the foot of one touches him. It is, therefore, an act of humanity to come to the aid of the horse, powerful as he is, against his nimble assailant, the fly. Here is a receipe which is said to be an excellent defence against it. At all events, a trial of it will not involve much expense, nor will it do harm should it prove unavailing as a defence to the horse:

Take two or three small handfuls of walnut leaves, upon which pour two or three quarts of cold water; let it infuse one night, and pour the whole the next morning into a kettle and let it boil for a quarter of an hour; when cold it will be fit for use. No more is required than to moisten a sponge, and before the horse goes out of the stable, let those parts which are the most irritable besmeared over with this liquor, viz.: between and upon the ears, the neck, etc. Not only the lady or gentleman who drives out for pleasure will derive benefit from the walnut leaves thus prepared, but the coachman, the wagoner and all others who use horses during the hot months.

TURPENTINE IN HEADACHE.—Dr. Warburton Begbie advocates the use of turpentine in the severe headache to which nervous and hysterical women are subject. There is another class of sufferers from headache, composed of both sexes, who may be relieved by turpentine. I refer to the frontal headache, which is most apt to occur after prolonged mental effort, but may likewise be induced by unduly-sustained physical exertion—what may be styled the headache of a fatigued brain. A cup of very strong tea often relieves this form of headache; but this remedy with not a few, is perilous, for, bringing relief to pain, it may produce general restlessness and—worst of all—banish sleep. Turpentine, in doses of twenty or thirty minims, given at intervals of an hour or two, will not only remove the headache, but produce, in a wonderful manner, that soothing influence to which reference has already been made.

—A fine instance of canine kindness is given by a Portland paper. One day recently a little black and tan terrier was run over on Middle street by a horse-car. A big Newfoundland, seeing the accident, rushed to the track, seized the little terrier by the nape of the neck, tenderly as a cat takes its kittens, and carried him to the sidewalk, where he tried to lick away his pain, but the terrier died.

—A tube is clamped to a sewing machine table; a fan-handle is made fast by a screw, and the fan is drawn toward the operator by an elastic band; through the agency of a cord the treadle in its downward movement draws up the fan, and when it rises again the elastic band lowers the fan. And so the seamstress is vigorously fanned as she sings "The Song of a Shirt."

—Miss Maggie Haggerty of Tarrytown, N. Y., recently horsewhipped a man because he had named his mare after her, and then entered the beast to a race with another mare named Josie Mansfield, and placarded the two names side by side all over town, which Miss Maggie considered an insult and an injury.

—A Chinaman in Weatherville, Cal., whose life was insured for a large amount, was seriously hurt by falling from a wagon. There was some doubt of his ever getting better, and at length one of his friends wrote to the insurance company, "Charley half dead, likee half money."

—The offer of certain Southern men to bet largely upon the results of the pending Presidential canvass, provokes the New York Commercial to remark: "We are glad to notice these signs of increased prosperity at the South."

—"Why, pussy, did you lay all them?" was the impromptu exclamation of a South-End five-year old chip of a fine block as she one morning found pussy nursing a litter of newborn kittens.

—Close-cut hair was the cause of the death of a coachman in Belleville, N. J. While bathing he was seized with cramps and his comrade failed to rescue him because he could not obtain a hold.

—An Indiana town has the following ordinance: "Dogs that are not collared and labeled, no matter how respectably connected, will have their narratives amputated one inch south of their ears."

Billings has told what he knows about meadow moles; They don't have enny eyes, but see with their ears, and kan see more, without seeing anything, than enny rat in amerika.

—Mr. R. H. Isabelle of New Orleans, colored, has recovered $1000 damages from the board of directors of a white school, because they refused to admit his children as pupils.

—A water privilege—attending a temperance picnic.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to deliver entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration, and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF PRINTS IN THE CITY

—AT—

HENDERSON'S.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the incessant twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Campaign Rates.

To all new subscribers, we will furnish the DAILY CHRONICLE until after the Presidential Election, for $1; or the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for 50 cts.,—payable in advance.

Our Anniversary.

To-day, August 1st, being the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of the Daily CHRONICLE, we improve the occasion to make brief retrospect of the progress of the paper to this time. Twenty years is a full generation of business life; and there are very few men in business in this city now, who were thus engaged at our start in 1852. The only firm then and now existing, we believe, is that of Hill & Carr, which is one of the oldest to be found anywhere. In Exchange Block, where our office has remained unchanged in location all the while, we think there are but three other occupants who were found here at the commencement —Messrs. Henry H. Ham, T. P. Moses, and C. E. Laighton & Son; and of these, Mr. Ham has formed and dissolved a partnership, the Messrs. Laighton have become partners, and Mr. Moses was for several years absent from the premises and the city. Of our neighbors, some of the officers of the Rockingham Bank, Col. Wm. S. Hadley, Col. H. F. Wendell, the auctioneer, and Messrs. S. W. Moses and R. K. Oxford, grocers, almost alone remain; even Dr. Thacher having at last shifted location. Of those originally employed on the paper, Mr. John H. Miller was a carrier, and has ever since retained a connection as printer, editor or correspondent; and Mr. Newman (who should have had an a in the middle of his name) has also sold the paper from the first number; and among the other earliest carriers were Edward A. Rand, now a clergyman in Boston; Frank W. Hackett, now a secretary at the Genera Conference; James Shaw, now editor of the Mobile (Ala.) Republican; Richard Els, late captain in the army; Frank D. Webster, now lieutenant of marines; and others, whose success in after life was indicated by the manner of their performance of their first business duties. Messrs. C. W. Gardner, G. W. Marston, I. P. Miller and H. M. Messer were early connected with the CHRONICLE, and are now the veterans of the establishment, Mr. Gardner being one of the most efficient reporters in New Hampshire, and Mr. Messer, "Old Reliable," being the faithful foreman of the office.

It was on the 11th of June, 1852, that the "Prospectus of the MORNING CHRONICLE, a Daily independent newspaper, to commence in Portsmouth on the 2d of August," took the printers of the city especially by surprise; and they, no less than the public, expected but another failure to establish a daily in Portsmouth—but owing to pluck, hard work, and good luck, if you please, the CHRONICLE has always been favored with liberal patronage, and achieved the success of which the two Daily Journals and two Daily Gazettes failed, the CHRONICLE paying handsome dividends from the start. Of editors and printers, our cotemporaries in 1852, Mr. L. W. Brewster, of the Journal, and W. H. Foster, alone continue in the business; and all the printing offices in the city have changed locations once or more. Great have been the changes in the papers in the city, and the Journal and the Gazette only still abide with us.

The prospectus, which announced Millers & Gray as the publishers, was not published in the columns of the paper, as is customary. It was subscribed by Frank W. Miller, Samuel Gray and Thomas W. Miller, three young typos then all unknown to fame, but not afraid of hard work and capable of a vast amount of it. And herein lay the secret of their success—no eight hour rule was theirs—sixteen to business was much nearer their average, and more than that was by no means uncommon. In their prospectus they said, "being all practical printers, and thus enabled to do most of the work necessary to such an enterprise, they can perhaps commence under more favorable circumstances than most others." Yes, truly, a strong team was that, and they always pulled together, and were thus enabled to remove the mountains of difficulties which always lie in the way of the success of new enterprises, especially newspapers. By the canvassing and personal efforts of Mr. F. W. Miller, these columns were crowded with advertisements at the very first number—and never has the stream run dry yet; while a goodly list of subscribers was at once gathered, and still holds and increases. Perhaps the success of the CHRONICLE was due as much to the late T. H. Miller, ("Uncle Tooy,") as to any other man. Though older in years, his heart was as young, his hopes as bright, and his hand as skillful as any of the boys, and he worked as hard and effectively as any of them, perhaps more so. But in the attempt to make an "independent" (or neutral) paper, he utterly failed. His belief was too decided for that—he acted too much from principle. It was no good Lord, good Devil, with him. He was not always ready to swallow his own words. The battle of life with him was worth the fighting; and he would never have swallowed his own head, like Greeley and the Democratic party. So he made the CHRONICLE give no uncertain sound, but placed it over on the side of progress and freedom, for which blessings on his memory.

The firm of Millers & Gray continued till 1855, when Thomas W. Miller died from the effects of a fall from a tree; Miller & Gray printed the paper for a year, when Mr. Gray sold out to Frank W. Miller, in 1856; who remained sole proprietor for twelve years; in 1868 Mr Marston became a partner, and in 1870 Mr. Miller sold his interest to Mr. Freeman. We must not omit to mention Mr. Jacob H. Thompson, now of the New York Times, who for nearly six years rendered most efficient service as assistant editor in establishing the CHRONICLE, and who retains as pleasant memories of the former proprietors as they do of him.

But enough, and much more than we intended. The past is past, and we cannot too long dwell on it. Our business is alone with the present, and with that cared for aright, let us all have no fears for the future. By the favor of the public, the CHRONICLE has always enjoyed a liberal patronage—never before so much as now; and while we hope to merit a continuance of the same, we still more strongly hope that when our own personal record shall be complete, it shall stand as bright as does that of those who have gone before us.

The Campaign.

With the closing of the political contest in North Carolina comes the season of great interest to politicians and the people generally. In 1868, with a popular vote of 130,316, Gen. Grant received a majority of 12,136. In 1870, with a popular vote of 171,075, the Democrats chose their State ticket by a majority of 4221. The present legislature has a Democratic majority of 58 on joint ballot. The State has been thoroughly canvassed by both parties and the vote to-day will doubtless be the largest ever thrown. Should the Republicans elect their candidate for Governor, Hon. Tod R. Caldwell, it will be a grand triumph and will render Greeley's election almost an impossibility. Should the Democracy win, there will be a stubborn fight for the supremacy in Pennsylvania and the Western States until the elections in October. The defeat of the Greeley men at this time in North Carolina would also strengthen the straight-out Democrats, who under the lead of Col. Blanton Duncan of Kentucky have succeeded in developing a large element of the party in favor of a new ticket. They have called a national convention to meet at Louisville in September and eager response is being made in nearly all the States in the Union. Under favorable circumstances the defection of the straight-outs in New Hampshire will render the defection of a few (and very few there are,) Republicans, worthless in this State. The Democracy can poll double the vote in this State for a new candidate that they threw in 1860 for Breckinridge. With certain defeat awaiting the "Dolly Vardens" if North Carolina fails them, we are prepared to see the Louisville convention grow more important day by day, and if managed with wisdom the Greeleyites will find the Democratic masses stampeding to the support of the straight-out candidates.

In this connection, the action of the Labor Reformers this week, at New York, is instructive. Their candidate for President, Judge Davis, having declined and indicated his intention to support President Grant, they met to confer on the best possible course to take. A large minority of the delegates bolted and nominated Grant and Wilson. In the regular meeting, the Greeleyites failed to induce an endorsement of their candidates, Col. Blanton Duncan, the advocate of a straight-out Democratic nomination, succeeding in defeating the Greeleyites. It was finally decided to call a convention to be held at Philadelphia, August 13th.

The letter of Sumner endorsing Greeley will change the result in no State in the Union. The Democrats show no enthusiasm for Greeley, and realize the "ridiculosity" of his nomination when they are called on for cheers. Should North Carolina elect the Republican ticket to-day, Horace Greeley is "a dead cock in the pit," and the Democrats have an excuse they are very much in want of for deserting him for one of their own kind.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company have, owing to the enormous increase of their business, changed the sailing days of their steamships, and are now running three vessels a month instead of two as formerly. We bear witness to the prosperity of this Company with cheerfulness as it is the only purely American line of steamships in active operation.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.—There is no disease of human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with perfect safety, as it does not contain any metallic compound.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CURING VERSUS COBBLING.—There are many medicines that give transcient relief in sickness without touching the source and seat of the complaint. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is not one of these. The great tonic and restorative does not cobble the diseased and enfeebled system. It is not a mere palliative, that only temporarily controls a few unpleasant symptoms. No; its invigorating, regulating, restorative principle penetrates to every source of the difficulty in the fluids and solids of the body, and hence its cures are radical and thorough. In dyspepsia it strengthens the stomach, in liver complaint it regulates the flow of bile, in constipation it promotes a punctual habit of body, in nervous ailments it tones the sentients and motive fibres, in rheumatism it counteracts pain, and in cases of general debility rehabilitates the emaciated frame.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—No case of fever and ague, liver complaint, colic, indigestion, bodily weakness, sick headache or sexual difficulty, can withstand the curative and at the same time invigorating action of these Pills. Sold 68 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price, 25 cents per box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instaps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done, and persons relate their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparations, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

CLAP-TRAP AND CANT.—Invalid reader, if you are unwise enough to put yourself outside of any of the mock tonics guaranteed to contain "no diffusive stimulant," you will inevitably come to grief. Ask your physician if any liquid preparation, destitute of stimulating properties, is worthy of the name of a tonic, he will tell you no. Shun all such nauseous cacphpenies. Plantation Bitters, the most wholesome invigorant in the world, owes the rapidity with which it relieves the disordered stomach and the shattered nerves to the diffusive agent which conveys its medicinal ingredients to the seat of the complaint. That agent is the spirit of the sugar cane, the most nutritious and agreeable of all the varieties of alcohol. The medicinal ingredients of the Bitters, valuable as they are, would be comparatively useless without this distillative basis. They would ferment and sour. Beware, as you hope for health, of the horrible compounds of refuse drugs in a state of fermentation which humbugs are endeavoring to foist upon the public as medicines.

The News.

Baltimore is in danger of a water famine.

The Mutual base-ball club have defeated the Haymakers by a score of 11 to 2. The Haymakers have been embodied in the Eckford club.

A passenger train was wrecked at Coon Creek station on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, July 29th, the bridge over the creek having been destroyed by a water spout. Five immigrant passengers were killed.

A terrible steamboat explosion occurred on the Mississippi about two miles above McGregor, Iowa, July 30th. The raft boat James Malburn, bound up, exploded her boiler with fearful effect. Of the twenty-five persons on the boat, only ten were saved, as far as ascertained, and several of these are badly scalded and otherwise injured.

The property destroyed by the great fire at Hunter's Point, N. Y., embraces four sheds, containing in all 25,000 barrels of petroleum, two tanks, containing 15,000 gallons of petroleum, the guano factory of Enoch Coe, three wharves and a number of small buildings, a ship, a barque, a brig, and four canal boats, each loaded with 2000 barrels of petroleum. It is rumored that two children were burned to death in the flames. Burning oil poured down to the river and was borne on the tide as far up as Astoria and set a ferry boat on fire which was lying at her dock. The loss is estimated at $500,000. It is the belief that the fire originated from a live coal falling from a stove at which a woman was cooking, on the deck of a canal boat in the canal, north of the petroleum pier.

These Bonds were issued under act of the Legislature for the purpose of assisting the "Arkansas Central Railway" in accordance with Section 6 of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, which provides as follows: "The credit of the State or a nation shall never be loaned for any purpose without the consent of the people thereof expressed through the ballot box," which act was submitted to the people at the general election held in Nov., 1868, and unanimously ratified by them. The Legislature of the State has no power to grant any additional aid whatever; consequently the debt of the State cannot be increased, except by amending the Constitution through a vote of the whole people.

The sailors of the U.S. Steamer Nantasket have been paid and discharged.

Second Assistant Engineer Charles P. Howell is ordered to tug duty at this naval station.

Four and ten Manchester policemen risked their lives in Portsmouth and at the Shoals, Wednesday.

Mr. Chas. B. Parker, who has made famous the Ladd Street dining rooms, succeeds Mr. Atkins as landlord of the Franklin House.

Mrs. James C. Brown of this city was one of the passengers on steamer New England, which went ashore on the "Wolves" a short time ago.

Growing weather this—corn grows like cane-brake and lots of young fellows about town sit on stone posts to prevent the posts from rising.

The new co-operative boot and shoe company on Vaughan Street have already found it necessary to enlarge their business and accommodations.

Six Grant and Wilson flags are to be raised this evening. Republicans are requested to meet at headquarters and be in readiness to march at 7 o'clock.

The crew of brig Adeli McLoon were reduced to three able-bodied seamen on their recent trip. Some of them went aboard from Salem, drunk; one died, another deserted and the third was left at Lingan, C. B., in the hospital. The vessel was navigated from Salem to Lingan and from Lingan to Portsmouth by the captain and first and second mate.

Some 8000 shares of Concord Railroad stock, being about one fourth of the capital stock, have been sold by Messrs. Wm. A. Tower, Jas. A. Johnson, Anson S. Marshall and others to Hon. Onslow Stearns. It is said the sale is in the interest of consolidation. It is understood the price paid was not less than double of the par value the stock. It is not expected that there will be any change in the management of the road at present.

At a session of the governor and council held July 30, Jas. W. Odlin, of Exeter, was nominated sheriff of Rockingham county, and Joseph D. Weeks, of Canaan, trustee on the board of agriculture. The following trustees of the normal school were appointed: D. C. Durgin of Newmarket, Rev. George T. Day of Dover, D. G. Beede of Sandwich, Rev. G. R. W. Scott of Newport, Joseph G. Edgerly of Manchester, Samuel B. Page of Concord, and Hazen Bedel of Colebrook.

Mr. Patrick Gallagher, Ordnance Sergeant in charge at Fort McClary, writes us a long defence of his action in endeavoring to hinder the landing of a pic-nic party there last week. Sergeant Gallagher states that he was acting under orders and shall always endeavor to do his duty. He complains that he was rudely treated and abuses in round terms some of our best citizens who were with the party. The communication is too offensive for publication.

NEPOTISM.—Another case of nepotism, and an outraged world still rolls on! A Greeley organ, announcing the fact, says: "The relation is by way of Aaron Delano, whose Aunt Susanna married Captain Noah Grant, the great-grandfather of the President." "Aaron Delano," says the horror-stricken Detroit Post, "is brother-in-law of this nepotic postmaster." Thus the postmaster's brother-in-law's father's aunt married the President's great-grandfather. And this brother-in-law of a man whose father's aunt was stepmother to Grant's grandfather, holds a post-office worth from $300 to $500 a year! Can such things be and the American people continue to suffer in stoic calmness?—St. Louis Globe.

—We have made arrangements by which we are enabled to pay fifty cents a piece for every finger torn off by a pistol this week. The finger must be shown at this office, accompanied by a certificate of genuineness from some responsible party. We pay two dollars for three fingers blown from one hand. They must be fresh fingers—none of last year's trophies. Now is the time to get up clubs.—Danbury News.

—A little German boy in Buffalo bled to death from the effects of a wound in the leg caused by a glass bottle which was thrown him by a playmate.

—The "prince of barbers" in Waterbury, Conn., trims his customers' whiskers with a razor, and wins fame and patronage thereby.

Political.

The Chicago Board of Trade vote 95 for Grant and 34 for Greeley.

The nomination of Greeley and Brown has killed another Democratic paper in Illinois.

The Portland Oregonian says that not one-half the Democratic voters of Oregon will vote for Greeley.

George Becker, Binghamton, N. Y., a life-long Democrat, has written a vigorous letter opposing Greeley.

In Wellsville, N. Y., the largest Republican vote ever polled was 404. The Grant and Wilson club there now numbers 525.

In Rome, New York, there are 56 Democrats who will not vote for Greeley. In Monroe, there are 36 of the same way of thinking.

A Chicago Republican wishes to sell all his real estate, and a large amount of other property, and take his pay when Grant is elected.

Eight prominent Democrats in Gardiner, Maine, have signed the call for a Grant meeting. The Greeleyites begin to feel lonely down there.

Hon. F. A. Pike of Calais, Me., having squeezed four Congressional terms out of his Republican constituents, which they thought sufficient, now accepts a Democratic nomination for Congress for the purpose of endeavoring to defeat his successor, Hon. Eugene Hale. It is of such ungrateful material that "Liberal Republicans" are made—and the Democracy are welcome to them as fit companions.

The Prairie du Chien (Wis.) Courier, a democratic journal, is to be added to the list of those which refuse to advocate the election of Greeley. The editor says that he knows there are over five hundred of his readers in the county of Crawford, Wisconsin, alone, who do not wish to vote for Greeley. "They are true democrats," he says—"have stood by us many years, and now we intend to stand by them."

The syren of the Chicago Tribune tunes her harp, and sings this refrain to the Great Chappaquack:

He's been the Mate that helped to steer
The Ship of State the many a year,
And bravely stood by helm and prow,
Come, boys, we'll make him Captain, now.

Sir Toby presents his compliments to the "syren," and sugests the following subject.

"He's been the Mate," that's very true,
But when the wind of treason blew
He wanted to give up the ship,
Vamose, and "let the old thing rip."

The correspondent of the New York Times in North Carolina writes that no reason can be found to change the figures of the canvass, which, carefully made up, give the republicans the congressional districts by the following vote: First, 1200; second, 9000; third, 600; fourth, 800; fifth 900, making a total majority in the State of 12,500. From this must be deducted the Democratic majorities in the sixth district, 300; seventh, 500, and eighth, 1200, and giving the republicans a net majority in the State of 10,500.

MUCH ADO.—The Newburyport city crier made a fearful din advertising a boy lost, a few evenings since. After searching a long time in vain for the missing boy, his parents found him in bed, fast asleep!

City of Portsmouth:

Joint Resolutions authorizing City aid in the construction of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

Resolved by the City Councils. That his Honor the Mayor be directed to subscribe in the name of the City of Portsmouth for stock of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad not exceeding three thousand shares of $100 each.

Resolved, That bonds of the City not exceeding three hundred thousand dollars be issued to pay for said stock, bearing interest semi-annually at the rate of six per cent. per year.

Resolved, That said bonds be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Treasurer of the City, and be issued in sums not exceeding one thousand dollars each, and made payable in terms of twenty, thirty, forty or fifty years.

Passed July 18, 1872.

A true copy. Attest:
MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

H. G. AS A WARRIOR.—While Alfred Livingstone was foreman of the Tribune composing room they took down the stove in Mr. Greeley's old-fashioned, dingy sanctum, where he was wont to sit at a very high desk; the stove-pipe had gone straight through the ceiling, and after its removal no provision had been made for closing the hole. Above, in the composing room, were three printers' stands equi-distant from the open hole. Printers are proverbially tobacco chewers. These three were tobacco chewers extraordinary. Having covered the floor with their tobacco juice, they alternately endeavored to spit through the stove-pipe hole, using it as a target. One warm May day, Mr. Mr. Greeley sat underneath, and worn out with his labors, had fallen into a gentle and innocent slumber. He had on a white waistcoat and a clean shirt. His dreams were suddenly disturbed by a pattering on his forehead. He awoke, half blinded with the nicotine visitation, and seeing his waistcoat and shirt spoiled therewith and suspecting the source from which it came, he stalked up stairs at a gait that would startle Startle. The printers, hearing him approaching and fearing trouble, scampered to other parts of the composing room. Mr. Greeley, appearing on the scene in the character of the "Gladiator," shouted with an outburst of profanity that gave a sulphurous odor to the apartment: "By ——where is the man that spit down that hole? I can lick the man that did it! Where is he?"

—The Albany Journal says of the statement in the Whig that the Farnam steamer boys attempted to play on the moon with their engine recently: "When a fire company gets so that it can't tell heaven's blue vault from the Albia road, or sweet, pale Luna, goddess of the night, from a red and raging fire-brand, the situation would indicate either that the fascinating study of astronomy was grossly neglected by the members, or else that they were in the habit of putting too much "stick" in their fluid refreshment. The Farnam steamer boys should be talked to—kindly, yet firmly, and be provided with opera glasses for the future."

—There is a girl in Waterford, Vt., who has refused twenty-five applications for marriage, the twenty-fifth being a merchant, and the handsomest man in town. Now what nonsense that is.

—Lotty Hough will never lecture any more—in public. She has made a permanent engagement. His name is Gregory. Lotty lectured last winter on "Popping the Question," telling how it ought to be done. Gregory did it. This illustrates the influence of the lyceum and woman's mission in it.

—Mr. Patrick Morrisey will deliver his valedictory speech from a platform erected at the expense of the State, in Buffalo, on the 5th of September. Mr. Morrissey had a little difficulty with his mother, it will be remembered, which resulted in her death. Hence the little speech.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Blotches, or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about fifty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The present should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

—Connecticut should be credited with the laziest fisherman. The individual in question is a "fifteenth amendment," who ties his fish line to his dog, and when he gets a bite, kicks the dog.

—They even have domestic Ku Kluxery in Arkansas; for instance, a loving wife recently turned and shortened her husband, and then turned him into the street like "a rained on fowl."

—Eight hundred and eighty-two thousand pounds of strawberries were shipped to Chicago over the Illinois Central railroad this season.

—A double headed cat in Iowa torments a quiet neighborhood with double headed yowls.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, COLT'S FOOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Camphor, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, Chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, sure and sure.

Ninety thousand is the number of documents daily sent to all parts of the country by the republican congressional committee in Washington.

The Rutland Herald is authority for the statement that the circulation of the New York Tribune has fallen off one-half in Vermont, since Mr. Greeley's nomination.

Gen. Harriman addressed an immense meeting at a barbecue in Greenborough, North Carolina, on the 31st ult., 4000 persons being in attendance. It was the closing gathering of the campaign.

The Newburyport Herald (independent) says: "The election of Mr. Greeley would be in our estimation a temporary calamity * * * * and the certainty under Grant is safer than the experiment with Greeley."

Theodore Tilton once threatened to write the following epitaph of Mr. Greeley:

"Here lies Horace Greeley, founder of the New York Tribune. First in peace, last in war, least in the hearts of his countrymen."

Scientific men are asking, "Are the Andes disappearing? As bearing on this question the Rochester Express remarks that one of the smaller Andes, formerly very prominent, has almost entirely gone out of sight—namely, Andy Johnson, of Tennessee.

The Tribune calls the Hartford Courant "the dear old grandmother of American newspapers," whereat the Courant reports that it "cannot allow any claim of relationship with a child which has the Democratic measles so bad as to destroy all hope of a creditable future for it."

The governor of Arkansas has issued a proclamation to the people of Pope county, telling them that if they continue to resist the authority of the law and its officers he will declare martial law, and if necessary employ the whole military force of the State in the preservation of peace and order.

Governor Hoffman says that Horace Greeley is a pretty good judge of men; he can pick out an honest man or a knave as quick as any one. The Commercial thinks the governor ought to know. Greeley has been calling him a political knave for the last seven years. It is not every democrat who is as frank as Hoffman.

Mount Desert.

Eds. Chronicle:—The Ancient Mariner who visited Mount Desert with me last week, says that I must give you an account of our trip, which I do with great pleasure; though, if he had suspected that it would include a truthful account of himself, he would have preferred to tell his own story, as he belongs to that numerous class who can forgive all their enemies but one,—the one who speaks the truth of them. It is indeed the greatest disaster that can befall them.

I wanted to send you a letter dated at Bar Harbor, from under the shadow of Newport Mountain, or from the breezy heights of Otter Cliffs, and yet the few days I had to spend there were too precious to be given to anything but the delights of vision. When the Mariner heard me lamenting over this difficulty, I regret to say he suggested a remedy which neither George Washington nor I could for an instant think of adopting. The more I look into this matter, the more convinced I am that that illustrious man and myself were not intended by nature for reporters. For this business there is one qualification more essential, if possible, than the ability to tell a lie, and that is, the shrewdness that knows when not to tell the truth. The experienced navigator in these inky seas gives a wide berth to many a stubborn fact,—learns to "circum-go-round-it," as the Mariner says, when he cannot sail over it, or steer clear of it altogether; but the unwary novice makes boldly for the most dangerous reefs or shoals, and goes to pieces of course,—as I shall probably do.

"The best way," said the Mariner, "to write a letter from Newport Mountain or the Cliffs, is to do it from your room, in your slippers, comfortable,—with a bottle of cider or something else on the table, and a pipe in your mouth. Then you can do justice to the subject. Many a letter from London and Paris is written in Boston, and why can't you write from Mount Desert, in Portsmouth?" I looked at him in a manner designed to arouse his conscience, but it was too late. The poor fellow didn't know what I meant. He smiled affably, thinking he had done me a favor, and went on with his supper. Six years in a printing-office had caused destructive metamorphosis of tissue, and his conscience was no more. Although I could not avail myself of this oblique expedient, yet if in the course of my story, I should grow partial, like Silas Wagg, I shall be transported to the Enchanted Isle, and speak accordingly.

On Tuesday, July 23d, we took the noon express for Portland, in order to ramble about that city before the departure of the Mount Desert steamer, at 10 o'clock, P. M. The scenery along the railroad consists largely of immense wood-piles, some containing hundreds of cords. I don't know how tourists in general regard them, but I never get tired of wood-piles. If the car window is open, they send in a perfume that is better than Lubin's best, and they recall the varied enjoyments I found when a child, amongst them; the play-houses I used to construct, with real flights of stairs, all the better for being slightly insecure and causing me a bruise now and then; lovely mosses and lichens that I was never tired of gathering, and the delicious pitch on the ends, that I chewed persistently with butter because somebody told me that it would be Jenny Lind gum if I chewed it long enough. But a wood-pile, like everything else, to be pleasing, must be in its proper place. On the shores of Sagamore Creek, or under the eaves of the Stone Church, it is a melancholy sight. We wandered through the beautiful streets of Portland, and admired the tasteful residences which abound there, and which present a much greater variety of styles of architecture than is usually found in one city. But the most remarkable object in the scenery was, the bill of fare at the hotel—it had no wine-list! This State has become the Desert of Sahara to the Democratic party,—its days are numbered there. Slavery destroyed and the Maine Law enforced, what is there to live for?

Immediately after the arrival of the 10 o'clock express at the Eastern depot, which is but a few steps from the wharf where the steamer lies, the Lewiston gave a premonitory shiver, the bell rang, all the things which are done on such occasions and which I don't know the names of, were duly performed, the main spanker, the flying jib-boom, the bulk-heads and the leo-scuppers all right, (those last being the comfort and main-stay of landsmen writing sea stories)—and off she went under the skillful management of Capt. Charles Deering, who never wastes an ounce of power or a foot of room in maneuvring his steamer, so says the Ancient M. He is a most skillful and able skipper, never having had the slightest accident during the twenty-seven years he has been in command of a steamboat. This is his seventh season on the Mount Desert route. He told us that he once caught a half-bushel of trout in twenty minutes,—a story which shows that he might have achieved brilliant success as a journalist, if he had chosen that profession. Anybody but a coward would have felt safe with him, so calm a night as that of Tuesday. But just at starting we heard that a steamer of the St. John's line had been wrecked on the Wolves that very morning, in the fog, and the effect was solemnizing. As the clouds got the better of the waning moon, and there was a prospect of rain I thought it prudent to sleep in my clothes, so as to be all ready to help the captain if he needed me, or, if I must be drowned, to go in good order, in citizen's dress. My room-mate asked me why a night-gown wasn't citizen's dress and said she didn't think, in case the boat struck, that it would be any great advantage to me to have my hair done up and that I should probably get my feet wet, even if I did have my boots on. Then wishing me "a pleasant night-mare," and not worrying herself about fogs and rocks, she drew her curtains and left me to get through the night as best I might. And I had a time of it. The tea at the hotel in Portland was the strongest I had ever met with at a public house—it was strong too, on board the Lewiston. Their attention not being distracted now by other drinks, the people of Maine can attend now strictly to their tea and coffee. Partly owing to this, and partly to my momentary expectation that something was going to happen, strengthened by all sorts of mysterious noises in the ship, I could not sleep at all. I tried in vain to find an easy hair pin, but I couldn't get the bearings of one of them, turn which way I would,—and my head in the morning must have been indented in a way that would excite the wonder of a phrenologist. When the morning came, behold, it was rainy! But I was so delighted to find myself not yet an angel, as I had feared, that the discomfort attending our mortal state didn't trouble me. It was enough for that day, not to be drowned, and I looked with complacency at the fog, and was not even depressed by a short dialogue between a lady near me, on the deck, and her husband who had just joined her after an absence of half an hour. "Where have you been so long," she asked. "Oh! I found a handsome young lady and couldn't bear to leave her!" "I don't see where you managed to find her—I haven't seen one since I came aboard." And I was sitting next her! The poor woman must have been sea-sick.

We had a tearful view of Rockland with its lime-kilns and piles of rocks waiting to be cast into the fire; Castine, one of the most beautifully situated towns on the coast; Sedgewick cuddled down amongst the hills; and Deer Island where we had the pleasure of seeing some of our fellow-passengers go ashore in a flat-boat, with umbrellas up, apparently quite wretched. The steamer stops at all three places each trip, both going and returning. Soon after leaving Sedgewick the fog closed around us, and we had only that and each other's faces to look at for the rest of the passage. Some, unable to bear this dreadful alternative, disappeared somewhere in the recesses of the boat; those who remained made some futile attempts at being funny. The Ancient Mariner, when he was not smoking the calumet or pipe of peace, which was very seldom,—was gaping (I can't substitute "yawning," for that doesn't begin to express it.) In this inglorious and foggy manner we approached the Isle of our dreams. At this point we should have had a fine view of Newport and Green Mountains in the distance,—but we didn't. A few miles beyond, the splendid range of the Camden hills should have been in sight—but they weren't. Now we should have enjoyed the picturesque shores and islands of Penobscot Bay, but, owing to circumstances over which we had no control, we couldn't. We made this journey by faith and not by sight. The first stopping-place on the Island was Southwest Harbor, where more of our passengers left us, and which was kept a secret from us, by the fog, like everything else. An hour more after leaving this place and we were at our destination, Bar Harbor, at the opposite extremity of the Island. Not a mountain or hill was to be seen. Only a cluster of houses on a slope, with a street leading up from the jetty, which we ascended in search of a hotel. It took two of them to accommodate us, the Ocean House and Deering's Hotel. We roomed at the first and took meals at the other. As soon as we had deposited our luggage, and taken formal possession of our quarters, we started off to walk, for the rain had ceased and the fog was beginning to break away. Regardless of mud we went a mile or so, catching a glimpse here and there of a steep cliff or wooded mountain slope, but all "as through a glass, darkly," and only stopped when too deeply encrusted with clay to go any further. At sunset only enough of the fog remained to float veil-like around the mountain-tops, and catch the last bright glow from the west. Strolling again, up another road, we reached a point where the shape of the noble mountains overlooking Bar Harbor stood clear and solemn against the sky, broken by a deep and precipitous gorge. This outline is very grand. Here endeth this epistle.

Laconics.

Rev. Wm. H. Alden, previous to his vacation, will preach next Sunday.

The Cocheeco Band of Dover will pic-nic at Kittery Point next Tuesday.

The Cane Brothers have sold their Carriage Factory buildings on Hanover and High Street, to Mr. Daniel McIntire of Kittery.

The E. R. R. have lately purchased the remaining part of the North Mill Pond and are rapidly filling it in to meet their present wants.

Gen. Thom has again advertised for proposals for the removal of about 1000 cubic yards of sunken ledge at the Gulf or Upper Narrows in the Cocheco river.

The insanity of ex-King George of Hanover, who thought he was dead, was almost as absurd as that of some of our fossil politicians who think they are alive.

John Conners and wife, who keep a rum mill on Daniel Street, have been held in the sum of $1000 on three counts to appear before the S. J. Court for selling liquor.

People never read their papers more thoroughly than when in the country and at the sea-side. Therefore it is a mistaken idea to suppose the summer is not a good time to advertise.

One of the buildings built by the E. R. R. Co. on what was formerly called Hale's Point contains three tanks which hold 30,000 gallons of water. They are filled twice a day and supply water for thirty engines daily.

On Thursday morning, Capt. Baker of the Steamer Appledore towed up to Railroad Wharf from the lower harbor two brigs loaded with thirteen hundred and sixty tons of coal. This is probably the largest quantity ever towed up the Piscataqua at any one time.

Our Jubilee reporter, having taken our editorial associate under her wing for a trip towards the rising sun, has been induced to make notes of the journey, which may be found under the heading "Mount Desert." It is cheerful reading and leaves the reader in the condition of "Oliver Twist."

One of the agreeable features in marketing is the marked improvement in the general appearance and cleanliness of our fish market. Fresh salmon and other delicacies in the fish line are temptation to silver bait, and one enjoys a dinner without any unpleasant thoughts of mud flats and scaly sinks and counters.

The guests at the Farragut House, Rye Beach, had a series of tableaux, Thursday evening, Mr. Albert H. Fernald, the accomplished and pianoist, furnishing the music. Mr. Fernald is to preside at the Sea View, Saturday evening, the occasion to be decidedly unique and richly musical. Parties from this city are to attend.

In the Boston police court on the 31st ult., Frank Valentine, a lad from Portsmouth, was charged with larceny of a pistol and was fined $30 and costs. In default of payment he was sent to jail, but as there are some mitigating circumstances in the case, it is believed that he will be released from durance vile through the interposition of friends.

A call of ye thirsty ones to the Pop Beer and Soda manufactoring establishment of Mr. C. E. Boynton at No. 19 Bow Street will prove an agreeable pastime. Mr. Boynton disposes of about one thousand bottles of pop and several casks of soda each day. He has lately introduced the Ginger Beer, which is an agreeable drink in Winter or Summer.

A young lady whose name is given us as Miss Benners of Philadelphia, was thrown from a horse on Layayette Road, Thursday afternoon, and dragged a long distance with her foot in the stirrup before being extricated. Both bones of her leg were broken, near the ankle. Dr. Parsons attended the injured lady, who was afterward removed to the Ocean House at Rye Beach, from which place she started on her unfortunate ride. Her escape from worse injuries was fortunate.

Boatmen are getting interested in a regatta to come off next week, the day and particular to be announced. We understand the course to be from a point in the Piscataqua river to the Shoals and return. All sail boats owned on the river are expected to take part. There are many fast sailers owned here and the contest between a half dozen or more of them will be close. Several of the boats which are to compete have been hauled up, scraped and put in good order. There's fun ahead!

A Grand Grant Rally.

The supporters of Grant and Wilson turned out by thousands to greet the campaign flags which were thrown to the breeze, Thursday evening, there being seven in all. A long procession of voters was formed and took up its line of march shortly after 7 o'clock, under the marshalship of Mr. William B. Randall, the Cornet Band furnishing music. The enthusiastic Grant men first paraded to the junction of Cabot and Austin Streets and saluted the campaign flag there by a round of cheers; then to the residence of Chief Engineer Marston, who hoisted the first flag of the evening; then to the Creek, where another flag was raised; then to the residence of Ex-Gov. Goodwin; from there to a raising at the junction of Bridge and Hanover Streets; then to the Kearsarge House on Congress Street, where Messrs. Dennett and Lovell threw out another banner; then to the residence of Mayor Marvin, to the CHRONICLE office and to the Republican headquarters on Congress Street. At each place the flags as they were unrolled were saluted by rounds of hearty cheers. This was the first large gathering of the campaign and shows that the Republicans of Strawberry Bank are true as steel and can be counted on every time for a rousing majority.

BOSTON, July 31,

Dear Chronicle:—We notice by this morning's issue that Aug. 1st, will be the 20th birth-day of the CHRONICLE. Permit us with other numerous friends to send in our hearty congratulations. We feel specially interested in the CHRONICLE's success, for we had the honor of being among the carriers who took out its first issue. How vividly the experience of those morning tramps comes back to us now. In the office, we seem to see that big wheel of the printing-press turning around as Friend Gove tugged busily at it. There are the pressmen nimbly turning the sheets, while we hear the voice of the indefatigable Frank W. Miller, Esq, cheering on his forces. Then came the scattering of the carriers, down stairs hurrying off with the new Daily, and bestowing a benediction on every one who laid out four cents for a CHRONICLE. How this young tree in journalism has grown since, sheltering every good cause, throwing a kindly protection over every interest of the grand old city of Portsmouth. May the paper long be continued in its progressiveness, ability, success. We number it among the most promising institutions of Portsmouth, and trust it will keep on pushing each good thing from start to end. With best wishes, truly yours, E. A. R.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Cough, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never before enjoyed by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of security from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The present should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

ARKANSAS STATE LOAN.

A LIMITED NUMBER OFFERED AT

79 CENTS & ACCRUED INTEREST.

These Bonds were issued under act of the Legislature for the purpose of assisting the "Arkansas Central Railway" in accordance with Section 6 of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, which provides as follows: "The Credit of the State or a sinking shall never be loaned for any purpose without the consent of the people thereof, expressed through the ballot box," which act was submitted to the people at the general election held in Nov., 1868, and unanimously ratified by them. The Legislature of the State has no power to grant any additional aid without the consent of the people, the debt of the State cannot be increased, except by amending the Constitution through a vote of the whole people.

As an additional security, these Bonds are guaranteed by the Arkansas Central Railway by special endorsement, recorded as a mortgage in every county through which the line passes, acting as a direct lien upon the property of the Company, its Real Estate, Rolling Stock and Franchises.

☞ It is also recorded that the "faith and credit of the State are solemnly and irrevocably pledged for the payment and redemption of the Principal and Interest of each and every Bond."

Every possible safeguard surround them to protect the holder from the danger of corruption and fraud.

Unlike ordinary Railway Bonds, these now offered are negotiable as any stock on the New York Stock Exchange, as may be observed from the daily Stock Quotations.

These bonds are of the denomination of $1,000 each, payable to bearer, and therefore negotiable by simple delivery. The interest coupons attached to each bond are payable semi-annually, at the office of the Union Trust Company in New York, by the Treasurer of the State on the 1st day of October and April in each year, until the principal of the Bonds is redeemed at par in 1868. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for Him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair the natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the taints and humors which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearances on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

QUITE A MISTAKE.

In the thriving village of Hollythorn, there was (as is common to such places) a church, a post office, a couple of stores, and district school, the said school being taught by a young lady who had a widowed mother and brothers and sisters to assist in supporting.

For the sake of economy Miss Eva Stanley "boarded around" among the scholars, and was considered quite a paragon among teachers. Her father had been a respectable mechanic, but had died after about two years of illness, which bitterly impoverished the family. Eva had, however, (she being the eldest), received a good plain education before the great calamity came upon them, and nobleheartedness and manliish, began her work of assisting in their support.

The last week previous to the holiday vacation she had been boarding with a Mrs. Carpenter, who was making gigantic preparations for guests she expected from New York.

'You may have met my brothers, Eva,' she said, and then began to give the pretty young teacher a description of them. 'There's Sam, George, and Johnny, the youngest; and such times as they have when they get out here to rest and rusticate, as they call it! But dear me, I don't have much rest or peace, for they are like a lot of boys out of school. Such tricks and pranks no one ever saw. The last time they visited me all together, John and Sam actually cut a pane of glass from the window and pelted George out of my best room with snow. You see there is always a regular strife for that particular room, for one bed is a spring one, and they say they don't sleep on any other in the city. But they don't get in there this time, that's certain, for I intend to keep you in that room, and so end the controversy. I am so afraid that they will break or ruin something that I am glad you are here. It may keep them in check a little.'

'I had just as soon occupy any other room, Mrs. Carpenter, and do not wish to incommode your brothers—have no right to do so.'

'No you shan't, Eva,' peremptorily exclaimed her hostess; 'and what is the use of your going home vacation week? You can stay here just as well as not, and do up your sewing on my machine. Your mother has mouths enough to feed I guess, and won't miss you.'

The subject was dropped and the entire household retired early, for on the morrow the brothers, young, ardent and full of life, were to be there. But, without sending any word of their intention, they had concluded to take the evening train, which would land them at Hollythorn about bed time. George and John did so, and when safely seated in the cars, began to speculate about the absence of Sam.

'No reason on earth why he shouldn't have been along,' said George.

'No, for he told me this morning he would certainly be on hand,' answered John.

'I can't make it out, unless he took the five o'clock train, by mistake.'

'Not a bit of it,' laughed John, who fancied he understood the entire programme.

'It's more like he took that train on purpose to get into Han's spare bedroom, and make us take up with straw ticks and feathers.'

'I didn't think of that, but I reckon you are right. 'We must contrive to get him out, somehow.'

'Bet your life on that.'

The brothers put their heads together and laughed merrily over some scheme for outwitting Sam, and accordingly, when the train reached Hollythorn at eleven o'clock, they approached the house of their sister in a very stealthy manner.

Climbing the fence in the rear, they softly opened a window and obtained access to the pantry, where they demolished a mince pie and a lot of doughnuts. Then with appetites appeased, they removed their boots, and to investigate the best room stole along the hall, which was dimly lighted by the moon, ascended the stairs and reached the door. The faint rays of the moon disclosed a chair piled with clothing, and they could distinctly trace the outlines of a form beneath the bed-clothes, and had not the remotest idea but that Sam was enjoying sweet repose upon Hannah's best bed.

A few whispered words were exchanged and then as softly as if shod with down, they drew near.

'All ready!' whispered George.

Quick as thought they seized the form of the sleeper, bed clothes and all, bore it swiftly down the stairs, out into the snow, and were just about to deposit it when a shrill scream broke the stillness of the night, and oh! horror! it was that of a woman! And in their consternation they dropped their burden plump into the middle of the drift.

'Good Heavens!' exclaimed George, 'it isn't Sam, but some woman, as I am a sinner, and she has fainted. Run and call Hannah.'

With admirable presence of mind he lifted the limp form of Eva Stanley and carried her into the house. But her cry had already been heard, and the inmates came rushing into the hall just as he appeared.

'George! John! for goodness sake what does this mean, and who is you there?' asked Mrs. Carpenter in a breath.

'Blessed if I know,' he answered; 'thought it was Sam, so we proceeded to give him a douse in the snow, for getting into the best bed room, and to encore us. Quick! I believe she has fainted.'

'Just like you!' scolded Hannah, as she assisted in depositing the once more upon the bed from which she had been so unceremoniously ejected. 'Standing your sisters upon the floor before you fairly get into the house. Clear out now!'

Long and profuse was the apologetic hue-and-cry that followed as they scurried down stairs, where, almost went into hysterics over the joke.

'A pretty kettle of fish,' said George, rolling over the floor and shaking a peal after peal of laughter.

'I should think it was,' replied John, holding his sides. 'Oh, my, just what the dickens is to be done, anyhow, and who do you suppose she is, George?'

'Some guest of Hannah's, of course, young and pretty at that. I don't know how it is with you, but I feel strongly small and extremely chap-fallen. I could sell myself at a very low price.'

'Cheap?' roared John, 'why, I would actually give myself away this blessed minute, and throw in something to boot. What we are to do I don't say; but I believe I shall dig out of this place and get back to the city before morning. I haven't got the courage to face the music, so I'll get up and go.'

He began hastily putting on his boots, and would have put his threat into execution, but for the appearance of Hannah, who at once asserted her authority.

'You are not going a single step,' she said; 'but I don't wonder you feel ashamed of yourselves. Which one of you possesses you is more than I can tell.'

'That's right, Han; pitch in and scold away. I'll take any amount just now, for I am meek as a lamb. But who is it we have played so shabby a trick on?' said George.

'Trick! I should think it was. Why, it is Eva Stanley, just as nice a young thing as ever lived. She is our school teacher, and this is her week to board here; and I knew well enough you boys would be squabbling over that room as usual, so I put her in there, little thinking you would come home in this startling manner.'

'Eva Stanley! Whew! A pretty school teacher!' and repeating his sister's words, he gave a lugubrious groan.

'Has she recovered?' questioned John, vainly endeavoring to restrain his laughter at the wry faces his brother was making.

'Yes, I soon brought her to; but I don't believe the poor girl will ever get over her fright. She said that the first thing she knew she was being lifted up and carried out, and she was so much alarmed that she couldn't utter a sound; but the moment the cold air struck her, she realized that she was being abducted, or something of the kind, and had just time to utter a scream when she fainted. It is too bad, I declare, boys. I should not wonder if she had taken her death, being dragged out of a warm bed at this time of night and dropped into a snow drift in that fashion. No wonder that she cried, poor thing.'

'Cried, did she,' repeated George with a groan.

'I should think she did. I just took her in my arms, and let her cry out, while I explained to her how she happened to be mistaken for Sam, and so became the victim of your pranks.'

'That was neat of you, Han. I am awfully glad you hugged the poor little thing. Wish you had just given her a brotherly squeeze for me—'pon my honor I do. Oh, dear. I am in sack cloth and ashes from henceforward and forever,' replied George, with another dismal groan.

'And how on earth do you expect us to stay and take the consequence?' asked John, who was beginning to look serious. 'I am for taking myself off instanter. I had rather face a masked battery than this pretty teacher, after making such fools of ourselves.'

'I don't care if you had,' answered his sister indignantly. 'The only way to do is to brave it out, both of you, and apologize for your rudeness. She is not a bit stupid, but pleasant and cheery, and no doubt you will have jolly laugh over the affair.'

'But Sam,—how the deuce are we to get along with him? You know well, Han, we shall never hear the end of it from him. That it will be brought up at all times and all places.'

'If you two can keep the secret, I'll find a way to silence Bridget, and it is a subject Eva will not care to have discussed, and fortunately my husband is away from home. So go to bed and rest contented.'

She showed them to the room she had intended them to occupy, and soon the house was once more hushed in slumber.

Meanwhile their brother Sam had arrived at the depot ten minutes too late. He found the train he was to have taken gone, but upon consulting a time table, he ascertained that another started two hours later, and so decided to take it. He figured to himself, as he patiently crowded into an empty seat, and was being whirled along at a rapid rate, how snugly his brothers had esconced themselves in the best room, which by right belonged to him, he being the

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, panic-struck with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage, at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling in the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

In the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, QUILLA BOOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be endured. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no mild or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sore-footed, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely sure for internal, blind, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

North Carolina.

The election was held on Thursday and the first reports were decidedly Democratic. The Democracy chose their State ticket in 1870 by 4221 majority and elected five of the seven Congressmen. Senator Ransom, Democrat, telegraphed that Merrimon, the Democratic candidate for Governor, would have 10,000 majority. All accounts agree that the vote is fuller than ever before. The negroes voted solidly for the Republican candidates—which disposes of the claim that Greeley will draw them from the support of Grant because of his past record. Raleigh gives 568 Republican majority—a large gain. The vote of 1870 is the basis on which gains and losses are estimated. The Associated Press dispatch says the counties west of the Blue Ridge cannot be heard from before this evening. In these counties, 15,000 Republicans were kept from the polls by the Ku-Klux in 1870. They were of the class of Union men who could not be swerved from their loyalty and remained defiant in their mountain fastnesses during the rebellion. The Republicans hope for large gains in that region.

The Boston Advertiser's dispatch of Friday morning from New York says the Times has received a special which concludes: "My opinion, based on the best information obtainable at this hour, is that the State has gone Republican." It says that all news thus far received has been from Democratic sources, and being made up on peculiar principles shows Democrat gains everywhere. Democrats from their despatches claim 200 in Crawen county, but the Republican specials show the vote of that county to be a Republican majority of 680, being 400 Republican gain over 1870. Like reports are made of a dozen other counties. The Republican gain of 100 in Raleigh is over the convention vote of last year, but the gain over 1870, upon which the gains generally reported are based, is much larger. Reports from the west indicate Republican gains. Judge Settle is surely elected in the fifth district, Major Smith in the fourth, and these, with Judge Thomas' majority in the second, will give the State to the Republicans by a good majority. All the Democratic returns claim gains in eastern counties where Blumenburg has worked. The Republicans claim the State from 5000 to 6000 against the claim of the Democrats of 10.000 and that all the Associated Press despatches are from Democratic sources.

A Raleigh dispatch of the 2d says prominent Republicans have no doubt they have carried the State by a large majority, and have elected Cobb, Thomas, Smith and Settle to Congress. The Democrats concede all but Settle, which would alone gives the State to the Republicans.

Newburn gave a Republican majority of 549. At James City Republicans have 425 majority. Heavy gains and majorities for the Democrats are reported from the western counties.

On Friday, we received the following dispatch from the Secretary of the Republican National Committee;—

North Carolina very close; may take several days to decide. Most reliable advices are that we have carried the State. Settle's district uncertain.

W. E. CHANDLER.

The News.

Several mysterious disappearances have occurred in San Francisco lately.

A child two years of age died in New York from eating the ends of ordinary matches.

The Baltimore base-ball club defeated the Mansfields in Baltimore, by a score of 8 to 4.

At base-ball in New York the Mutuals defeated the Atlantics by a score of 15 to 4.

At the election in Memphis, Tennessee, on Thursday, the Republicans made large gains over last year.

Returns from various counties in East Tennessee show decided Republican victories on county elections. King county, after a most exciting contest, elects Republican county officers with one exception. The majorities range from 500 to 1000, a very large gain.

It is stated that Judge Ladd has recalled his letter resigning his seat on the bench of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Sumner's Letter.

The long-expected letter of Mr. Sumner, in answer to one addressed to him by a number of colored men, asking his advice concerning the proper action of the colored voters in the coming Presidential election, has been given to the public. In it, Mr. Sumner unequivocally declares in favor of Greeley and the Democratic party, as opposed to Grant and the Republican party; its effect in the North, as might have been (in fact, was) expected, is inappreciable; what its effect on the colored vote of the South will be we cannot yet tell, but see no reason to suppose that it will turn any great number of the freedmen into the camp of the party which has only at the fifty-ninth minute of the eleventh hour acknowledged their political equality. Had Sumner's letter been written with a view of strengthening the Republican party, it would have told; but his power of harming the party was gone from the moment his virulent attack upon Grant was made in the Senate and rebuked by the united Republican press of the country.

Charles Sumner has been a mighty power—a tower of strength to the measures he has advocated; but it was because he was regarded by hundreds of thousands of high minded men as the incarnation of lofty devotion to principle—a man who could not be swayed from the path of honor and duty by any considerations of mere expediency, of personal feeling or prejudice. But his bitter and savagely personal speech destroyed the idol so long worshipped; it showed that the ignoble motive of personal hate towards one opponent was sufficient to make him falsify the record of a life-time, and that he could stoop to the distorting of facts, to giving as facts what had either not been proved such or had been proved not to be,—in short, that his devotion to principle was a mere bagatelle when it stood in the way of his vengeance on the man he hated. From the moment that speech was made public the Charles Sumner of pre-rebellion days existed only in history.

Mr. Sumner urges the negroes to vote for Greeley—because Charles Sumner dislikes Grant! He uses many words, but that is what the whole letter amounts to. If, as he says, the Democrats in nominating Greeley have become Republicans, the whole question narrows down to a personal struggle between Horace Greeley and the President whom he so boldly and steadily defended until he was bought by the administration's opponents. Mr. Sumner says: "The Democrats in joining Horace Greeley have changed, * * * adopting the Republican platform, which places equal rights of all under the safeguard of irreversible guarantees. * * They have set their corporate seal to the sacred covenant. They may continue Democrats in name, but they are in reality Republicans." There is no man in the United States more perfectly aware of the absolute falsehood conveyed in the quotation given, than Charles Sumner.

Mr. Sumner advises the colored voters to prove the past assertions of the Democracy, that the black man is not fit to be trusted with a vote, to be true, by voting the Democratic ticket,—because Grant has offended France and Germany. He might have added another weighty reason why the colored men should vote for Greeley, viz.: that the governments of France and Germany, through their official organs, have repeatedly given the lie direct to this statement of his; but he overlooked this reason why the colored man should support the party which has always oppressed him.

Mr. Sumner rakes up the Haytien affair once more, as another reason why the colored vote should be given to Greeley, Tammany and the Democratic party; but the Presidency of the United States is now under issue, and not Haytien affairs. He also urges that Mr. Douglas has not been properly treated by the President; but Fred Douglas is stumping for Grant and the Republican party, and says he "never was received by any gentleman in the United States with more kindness, more cordiality, I may say with more confidence—never felt more at home in the presence of any gentleman—than I have in the presence of Ulysses S. Grant. He is a good man, a true man, a steady man."

Altogether, Sumner's letter to the colored men seems to have fallen even flatter in the North than his famous (?) speech did; and if it is not equally harmless in the South, it will be the fault of the Republican managers in not placing the subject fully before the freedmen.—for there is nothing formidable or convincing in the egotistical note; take away the personal hatred of Grant and the lofty esteem of Charles Sumner with which the letter is filled, and a blank sheet of paper would remain.

QUITE COMPLIMENTARY.—The Courier says of a young speaker from Dover who addressed a Greeley meeting in Rochester:—

He was as poor a stick as ever talked in the old Town Hall.

PILES.—The nocessing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — The family destitute of this preparation is life-rally without the only safe and certain means of curing those eruptions, ulcers, swellings, and painful nervous complaints so common to us all. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and gray heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.,) Journal.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. s12

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparations, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

CURING VERSUS COBBLING.—There are many medicines that give transcient relief in sickness without touching the source and seat of the complaint. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is not one of these. The great tonic and restorative does not cobble the diseased and enfeebled system. It is not a mere palliative, that only temporarily controls a few unpleasant symptoms. No; its invigorating, regulating, restorative principle penetrates to every source of the difficulty in the fluids and solids of the body, and hence its cures are radical and thorough. In dyspepsia it strengthens the stomach, in liver complaint it regulates the flow of bile, in constipation it promotes a punctual habit of body, in nervous ailments it tones the sentients and motive fibres, in rheumatism it counteracts pain, and in cases of general debility rehabilitates the emaciated frame.

CLAP-TRAP AND CANT.—Invalid reader, if you are unwise enough to put yourself outside of any of the mock tonics guaranteed to contain "no diffusive stimulant," you will inevitably come to grief. Ask your physician if any liquid preparation, destitute of stimulating properties, is worthy of the name of a tonic, he will tell you no. Shun all such nauseous catchpennies. Plantation Bitters, the most wholesome invigorant in the world, owes the rapidity with which it relieves the disordered stomach and the shattered nerves to the diffusive agent which conveys its medicinal ingredients to the seat of the complaint. That agent is the spirit of the sugar cane, the most nutritious and agreeable of all the varieties of alcohol. The medicinal ingredients of the Bitters, valuable as they are, would be comparatively useless without this distributive basis. They would ferment and sour. Beware, as you hope for health, of the horrible compounds of refuse drugs in a state of fermentation which humbugs are endeavoring to foist upon the public as medicines.

Secretary Robeson intends participating in the canvass in Maine.

Evening service will be held to-morrow, in St. John's Church, commencing at 1-4 past 7 o'clock.

The Lyre of Friday evening has a picture of its editor trying to throw President Grant over his head.

A rainbow in the morning, brilliantly beautiful, was observed between five and six o'clock, Friday, by early risers.

Ship William Ross, of Boston, 919 tons, built here, in 1859, has been sold at Callao by Bryce, Grace & Co. for $12,500.

The Lyre says the removal of the Democratic Sheriff of this county causes great dissatisfaction in the Republican party! Ah-ha!

The Fifth Avenue Journal says Frank Leslie is to send an artist to Rye and Hampton beaches to sketch for his illustrated paper.

The bliss of the genuine Copperhead was heard at the unfurling of several American flags about town by the Republicans, Thursday evening.

On Friday morning, Mr. Roswell W. Webster while endeavoring to tie up a breachy cow was caught on her horns and thrown across his barn, breaking two of his ribs.

The young Republicans are wide awake. Masters Charles E. Hatch and William Tucker raised the subscription for the handsome Grant and Wilson flag which floats near the Chronicle office.

The Odd Fellows of Manchester with their ladies are to make an excursion to this city on Wednesday next and will be received by the members of the Order here, who will treat them to an excursion to the Shoals in the steamers Appledore and Clara Bateman and a "chowder and fixin's" on Star Island.

The Kearsarge base ball club went to Amesbury Mills, Thursday, winning a game with the Alerts of that place by a score of 33 to 27. Mr. Wm. S. Hazel acted as umpire. The victors speak in high terms of their entertainment by the Alerts, who are fine players, and hope for the pleasure of a return game in this city some time this month.

Clippings.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—The Messrs. Came will early in the fall erect a capacious carriage factory on the site of their late fire.

— The Unitarian Sabbath School had a picnic on Wednesday at the summer residence of their pastor at Newcastle.

— Master Lyman G. Spalding, of this city, has been detached from the U. S. S. Canonicus and ordered to the Yantic.

—Work has begun on the U. S. S. Monongahela at this naval station to immediately prepare for sea. The hull of this vessel has been almost rebuilt on the railway of the dry dock.

—A delicious, cooling beverage is "lemon crystal," which is made by pounding ice as fine as peas, squeezing lemon juice and sprinkling powdered sugar upon it, and eating it as you would ice-cream.

— A special meeting of the stockholders of the E. R. R. in N. H., will be held in this city, on Monday next, to see if the corporation will vote to lease the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, and to take such action relative thereto as may be deemed expedient.

— The Portsmouth Cement Pipe Co. having been burnt out by the fire on McDonough street, have taken the building on Railway wharf, No. 26 Water street, formerly occupied by the late Leonard Cotton. Mr. Shea's experience in the business and the success of the drain pipe warrant us in commending the article to the attention of the public.

— Leach's Island, between Newcastle and Little Harbor, has been turned into an extensive poultry market. There are nearly fifteen hundred fowls and an immense number of turkeys, ducks and geese in "a high state of cultivation" for the market. A building over a hundred feet long has been erected for sheltering them. The crowing at early morn is said to be deafening.

— The navy department, having adjusted all preliminary questions, will soon be ready to pay to the workmen at the navy yard in this city the full amount of their wages during the term in which a portion was withheld in consequence of the partial enforcement of the eight-hour law. This is the beginning of the execution of the clause in last session's deficiency appropriation bill, which will rectify the error in all the government workshops and navy yards.

— We have examined a neat and simple apparatus for chopping meat and vegetables, the agency for which has been taken in this city by Mr. E. A. Joy. It is apparently a durable and easy working machine, designed to save much labor in a family. We are assured that with it in two minutes' time materials for mince pies were prepared with perfect ease which would have required half or three quarters of an hour's time with the ordinary chopping knife. It is called the Champion Chopper. It occupies less space than a chopping tray; will last, they say, a lifetime, is not easily dulled, is noiseless, and costs but $2.50. Call and see it.

City Council.

In Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, a notice from Jarvis Bros., Agents for Shelton Barry, that the filling in now in progress by the Eastern Railroad, will damage the out-lot of the common sewer running through their land, and that they shall call on the City for all damage occasioned thereby, was received.

Voted: That said notice be transmitted to the Directors of the Eastern Railroad.

The claim of Mrs. G. V. Rowe for damage done by breakage in the sewer was referred to the City Solicitor.

The further consideration of the subject of a fire alarm bell on the Cabot Street School House was indefinitely postponed.

Voted, That Aldermen Wilson and Mendum be a committee on the part of the City to confer with the Directors of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad in regard to the location and construction of the Road.

Voted, That the preamble and resolution passed last week authorizing alterations on the City Building on Market Square be reconsidered.

Ald. Giddings moved that the Committee on City Lands and Buildings be authorized to make such repairs on the City Building on Market Square as they think necessary.

Ald. Hatch objected to this motion as out of order.

The Mayor decided that the motion was in order.

Ald. Hatch appealed from the decision of the Mayor.

The Board sustained the decision of the Mayor. Ayes, Ald. Annable, Waldron, Wilson and Giddings, 4; Nays, Ald. Mendum, Hatch and Wendell, 3.

Voted, That the Committee on City Lands and Buildings be authorized to make such repairs on the City Building on Market Square as they think necessary.

Voted, That the Committee on the Fire Department be authorized to construct the proposed reservoir in the yard of the Hanover Street School House.

On a motion that the Committee on City Lands and Buildings be directed to advertise for proposals for any repairs and alterations they may decide to make on the City Building, the Board voted no.

Another motion, that before proceeding to make repairs on the City Building, the Committee on City Lands &c., be directed to prepare plans and estimates and submit them to the Board, was negatived.

Rev. John A. Goss will preach at the Court St. Chapel to-morrow.

Rev. C. M. Dinsmore of this city delivered a temperance address last Sunday evening before the Rochester Union Temperance League.

On Thursday evening, as a news vender passed a veteran Democrat, the man with the news cried out, "Gen. Banks' letter in favor of the Democratic nominee." Instead of buying a paper the Democrat said, "Well! if Sumner and Banks have joined the Democratic party, I will quit it."

LIBEL SUITS.—Gen. Kilpatrick has sued Mr. Louis J. Jennings of the New York Times for libel. Mr. Jennings says he does not at present see his way clear to withdrawing the charge. "We are always ready to correct an injustice, but we require to be satisfied first that the thing complained of is an injustice. In this case we elect to go to trial in a court of law."

The Times is threatened with half a dozen other libel suits. One of these is by George N. Sanders. Concerning this the Times says, "To him we say thus publicy that we will not withdraw a single word we have said about him. Therefore the sooner he brings his action the better. We will prove him to have been a traitor and a rascal. The disreputable characters who are at work for Greeley need not flatter themselves that they will deter us from exhibiting them to the public in other than their true light." Elsewhere in the same article the editor says: "We have attacked most of the scandalous combinations of corrupt politicians and adventurers who now surround Mr. Greeley, and shall probably attack them again and again. We may take the liberty of saying that if we had not risked the inconvenience of denouncing these men a year ago the city would still have been in the hands of Tweed and his fellow-thieves. We do not intend to stand by silently while the stone which we rolled up the hill last year is rolled down again by the Tweed and Greeley alliance."

—The Newark Courier says:—"Mr. John W. Newlin, editor of the Millville Republican, while endeavoring to extinguish a fire in that place the other day, was robbed by some inhuman wretch of nine dollars—the saving of a lifetime."

—It is hinted that Dore's sickness is love-sickness, and Nilsson the cause.

1812 of 'Em.

"C. E. B." sends us the following:—

Inside the long, low Isles of Shoals a British frigate lay, and guarded with a zealous care the coast which fringed the bay. The men who lived in Hampton then took up their firelocks rusty, and formed a band to guard the coast composed of yeomen lusty. The leader's name was Andrew Brown, at his house they quartered, and there they drank New England rum and British seamen slaughtered. One night they'd taken just enough to get them into trouble, their eyes revealed a host of things,—in fact they all see double. The captain led his valiant band down to the dark blue ocean, when suddenly they all could see a barge with oars in motion. Behind a rock they quickly hide. "Now, when the barge comes nigher," the captain said, with husky tone, "I'll give the word to fire." And when the boat came near the shore, the captain like a lion, cred, "fire!" the balls all bounded off like hail on striking iron. They had been firing at a rock, 'round which the waters dashing had seemed to them to be he sound of many boat-oars splashing. Then quickly to the house they went to pay the rum attention, and when fair peace came back once more each got a sold er's pension.

An enquirer wishes to know whether there is anything significant in the position of the names on the campaign flags. Grant and Wilson are everywhere closely attached to the "Union" (or blue part of the flag); while in several cases he has noticed, Greeley and Brown seem to have slipped a good ways down therefrom, or are only holding to the extreme lower edge of the stripes.

[illegible] plan to get [illegible] with them.

Some time after midnight he was awakened at Hollyhoue, and reaching his father's house he scouted around until he found a warm entrance into the kitchen, where he deposited his baggage and removed his boots. Then he quietly stole up stairs and opened the door of the best room. 'Here enough,' he thought, 'are fine chairs, you are in clover.' For the rooms contained unmistaken signs of their being occupied. Garments were lying upon chairs, and the bed was pressed by slumbering forms.

To think of coping with their united strength by dragging them forth was not to be thought of; but there stood the water pitcher, and he knew that a good dousing with the icy fluid would bring them out quick enough.

'If I can't have my old quarters,' he chuckled, 'you shan't, that I am determined on. So here goes.'

He filled the pitcher, approached the bed, raised it high, and suddenly dashed the entire contents upon the sleepers.

Such a moment of terrorous was he h d never heard before rang through the house, and before Sam could recover his scattered senses four other door was opened, and Hannah, George and John rushed in, clothed in scanty apparel—Hannah with a frightened look in her face and a lamp in her trembling hand, that revealed the entire scene.

There, sitting up in bed, with her hair dripping like a mermaid, her night dress dripped, her face colorless and eyes looking terror, was the young schoolmistress, and there was Sam, with the empty pitcher in his hand, the very picture of imbecility, scaring soon like an idiot at Miss Eva and the havoc he had made.

Hannah, George and John instantly comprehended the situation, and the latter, at the command of his sister, dragged Sam away, while she assisted the drenched and terrified girl to dry clothing, and bed, explaining for the second time the mishap of the night.

'I'll keep you with me now, my poor child,' she said, though with great difficulty keeping back her laughter. 'These boys are handsomely come up with, any way; and if it wasn't for having you so terribly frightened, and the way the bed has been used, I would not care. They do nothing when they come home but study up some trick to play upon each other; and,' continued she by way of apology, 'they are so confined to their offices and stores during most of the year, that they get entirely loose when they get out here. But you are safe now.'

Hannah kissed her charge, and went down to see about the boys, who, as sooner they were fairly shut up in the regions below, began to thoroughly appreciate the joke; and now shut Sam was as deep in the mud as they in the raire, gave no quarter.

'I'll be blamed if I know what it all means,' said Sam, looking in confusion at his brothers who were rolling and kicking in convulsions of laughter.

'Wait,' replied George, 'until Hannah comes and see if you don't find out.' And he gave out another peal.

Sam had not smiled, and sat looking the very picture of discomfort and perplexity, but answered:

'For heaven's sake, hold on boys! I am willing to admit that I am badly sold—gone dog cheap to the biggest bidder; but hold up long enough to tell a fellow what it means!'

'Means? Of course I will' continued George, still holding his sides. 'It means that you have stolen like a thief into Miss Eva Stanley's bed chamber—who is a young lady teacher and boarding around—that this is her week here; and thinking it was your humble servant and Johnny sung in bed, you attempted to draw us out, and made a grand mistake. How do you like it, Sam?'

'I confess I see the point, but can't the joke. It's an outrageous shame.'

At this juncture Hannah came in and began rating them soundly, thereby letting out the whole story. It was Sam's turn to laugh then. He struggled manfully to maintain his gravity, but the whole thing was so supremely ludicrous that he was compelled to join his brothers.

Miss Eva was not visible at the breakfast table the next morning, and Hannah announced that she was sick with a severe cold; whereupon George groaned out and called for a handful of peas to put in Sam's shoes, while that gentleman looked very contrite, and John declared that he wanted to shoot himself. But Hannah had the unruly crew under her thumb for once in her life, and had the satisfaction also of seeing them behave with something of dignity. They appeared never to forget that there was a sick individual in the house, and went on tiptoe about; and Sam, who seemed to take the entire responsibility upon his shoulders, sent off to New York for choice fruit and flowers, which he induced his sister to convey to the young lady with the most abject apologies and regrets.

In a couple of days Eva was able to come down stairs. She was looking very pale, but lovely, and of course blushed divinely when presented by Mrs. Carpenter to her three brothers, who behaved quite well, considering the unpleasantness of their situation.

But Sam, who had broken the ice by invoice of his presents, was the most at ease, and by virtue of his age and experience, constituted himself the proprietor, and was constantly on hand to offer Miss Eva a thousand nameless attentions; and before the week was out John declared in confidence to Hannah that 'Sam was done for!' 'Gone under completely!' echoed George with one of his dismal groans. 'Just think of it, Hannah—if it had not been for a pitcher of water, Sam would have been heart-whole this blessed minute. The fellow meets lots of girls much prettier than she every day, and with lots of stamps too. They say pity is twin sister to love, and I believe it.'

'Sour grapes!' whispered John, puckering up his mouth.

Hannah sang Eva's praises and secretly commended Sam's choice. She recommended marriage to all of them, as being the only sobering process she was acquainted with. It is a piece of advice, however, that they do not appear to follow, notwithstanding Sam's happy lot with the pretty school mistress of Hollyhoue.

She often reminds her brothers-in-law of her uncermonious introduction to a snow drift at the dead of night, and they retaliate by the shower-bath given her by Sam. And she twines her arms around Sam's neck, and with tears in her sweet blue eyes, declares that but for that episode she fears she never would have had a husband.—Peck's Household Magazine.

The Legislature of the State has no power to grant any additional aid whatever; consequently the debt of the State cannot be increased, except by amending the Constitution, which requires a vote of the whole people.

GRATZ BROWN AT NEW HAVEN.—Rumor has been busy of late touching the condition of Gratz Brown, while on his recent visit to New Haven, which ended in a serious sickness, attributed to overeating cherries, on his reaching New York. The precise facts in the case are given by the New Haven Palladium from which it appears that Mr. Brown took his cherries in a liquid state. The Palladium says:

"The name of our informant, who is an official at the hotel where Gov. Brown stayed while in New Haven, is at the service of any one who desires it. He says: 'Mr. Brown came to the New Haven House late Wednesday night, from his class supper, and went to bed. What time he got up I do not know, but he went out, I suppose, to the Yale Commencement exercises. When he came back from there, before he went to the alumni dinner, he went to his room and sent down for some brandy. I sent him up, before he went away, three drinks of brandy, for which I received pay. He came back after the dinner, and between that time and the time when he made his speech he sent down for three more glasses of brandy, and I am not sure but more. I know that I sold him eight, and he paid me for them. When he came to the office, before going to the boat, to pay his bill, I saw that he was very drunk. He paid his bill, however, and the porter, said: 'What in —— has this man done?' (Here followed a conversation with the porter which was to evile and profane to print, but which the clerk can swear to.) A reporter then stepped up to him and asked him to look over his notes of the speech, and Brown replied: 'I don't care a —— —— for any newspaper,' and other expressions of the same sort. He then started for the side door, where a hack was in waiting for him. He staggered as he went along, but finally went away alone. About fifteen minutes after he had gone, Gov. English came down stairs and I said, 'Governor, Mr. Brown was rather tight, wasn't he?' 'Yes,' replied the Governor 'somewhat set up.' On being asked to state again what Mr. Brown's condition was, the reply was, 'He was boozy drunk.' To be sure that nothing incorrect was taken down, our informant, before we took reading of the notes of what he had said, as given above, and responded that he was perfectly willing to make an affidavit to the statement if required."

Commenting on the above the Springfield Republican, one of the most prominent supporters of Mr. Greeley, says:

"If it were possible to vote separately for President and Vice-President, many at least of the Liberal voters, who will feel outraged by this shameful conduct of the candidate for the second place upon the ticket which they wish to support, would find no embarrassment under these revelations. They could easily, and would at once change their support from Mr. Brown to Gen. Wilson, who though of less distinguished services to political reform and anti-slavery revolution than his rival, yet has done enough for them to entitle him to public respect and popular favor, and certainly has such control over his personal appetite as to relieve the public from anxiety lest he should disgrace the office and themselves by drunkenness. This however is an impossibility. As the case now stands, one cannot vote for Horace Greeley without voting for Gratz Brown, and the alternative is a vote for General Grant."

Rev. J. B. Cleveland, of Bloomfield sends the following letter to the Meriden Republican:

"For twenty-five years I have loved and admired B. Gratz Brown. Delighted was I to meet him in New Haven on Wednesday the 10th inst., and sit with him at class supper on the evening of that day, to see him on the Center church stage for a half hour, at the commencement exercises; rejoiced was I to be able to congratulate him on his vice-presidential nomination, and glad was I to listen to his outspoken alumni after dinner speech. In the "midst" of a crowd of from three to five thousand New Haven citizens and others, I listened with a degree of admiration and some wonder at his New Haven balcony serenade speech.

At his class supper, Gov. Brown refused wine when he might have drunk of the choicest of liquors, all being at hand.

In the Alumni Hall, before he pronounced his manly after-dinner speech, he, to my surprise, indulged in undignified boyish brag relative to the issue of the coming Presidential election.

"After his serenade speech, I entered the New Haven House, awaited his coming down from his room to take his departure for New York, half-past ten o'clock p. m. My interview with him could not have exceeded two minutes, but to my utter astonishment, I saw enough in that time, yes, in one-half minute, to convince me that though he could stand erect and walk without staggering, he must be unduly influenced by some intoxicating drink or drug. What I saw on the occasion filled my soul with sadness, and caused me to turn from him in sorrow. I am glad that the New Haven mayor and other worthy and reliable men can testify that Governor Brown, in their opinion, was not 'inebriated.' Glad am I that one can say there was not the smell of liquor in his breath, but these testimonials do, in fact, neither cheer nor comfort.

THE HOUSE THAT GRANT SOLD.—We reported Monday General Kilpatrick's account of the sale of President Grant's house in Washington to General Sherman. General Kilpatrick has reported wherever he has spoken in this State, that the President elect sold his house to Mayor Bowen for $40,000, but on learning that General Sherman's friends were intending to present a suitable residence to that officer, disowned the transaction with Bowen, compelling him to give up the contract already executed, and then resold the property to Sherman's friends for $65,000, thus clearing $25,000 by the operation and cheating Mrs. Sherman, to whom the balance of the subscription of $100,000 was turned over, out of precisely that sum. A letter from ex-Mayor Bowen to one G. L. Watkins, of Scipio, New York, follows General Kilpatrick in his travels, appearing in the Democratic papers just after his departure from the points illuminated by his oratory. It was printed in the Argus this morning, and states—not that the President defrauded Mrs. Sherman of $25,000, but that he cheated Bowen out of that pretty sum; not that Bowen was compelled to give up the contract, but that he still holds that instrument, and after waiting four years has convinced himself that he ought to be angry, and has "made arrangements to commence a suit against Grant at the next term of the Washington courts." The arrangements which it has taken four years to perfect must be painfully elaborate.

The stories of Kilpatrick and Bowen do not quite tally, but nobody expects Kilpatrick's stories to tally perfectly with anybody's else, and Bowen is original authority upon this matter. Bowen's version of the transaction, if any, deserves serious attention, and upon this version we are fortunately in a position to make a few comments.

Mr. J. F. Olmstead, junior partner of the firm of Kilbourn & Latta, real estate brokers in Washington, was Tuesday at the Falmouth hotel, and after a short visit to Mount Desert intends to return there. Mr. Olmstead says he was conversant with all the details to the transaction and authorizes us to state that the statement published in the Chronicle of Saturday last was substantially correct. In the month of October, 1868, General Grant instructed Messrs. Kilbourn & Latta to sell the house which he had occupied as General of the Army—the house alone for $40,000; the house and most of the furniture, excluding the piano and a few other articles, for $60,000; or the house and all the furniture for $65,000. Messrs. Kilbourn & Latta concluded a trade with Mr. Bowen, then mayor of Washington, for the house alone for $40,000, and executed a contract acknowledging the receipt of $1000 advance payment, which was accepted by Bowen and approved by Grant. Afterwards, General Butterfield, who represented General Sherman's friends, called to enquire about the house, remarking that he understood from General Grant that it had not been sold. On being informed of the state of the case, he expressed his regret, saying that General Sherman's friends were very anxious to establish the headquarters of Grant's successor as General of the Army in the house which Grant had occupied in that capacity. Mayor Bowen was thereupon consulted by Mr. Latta, and at once volunteered to give up his bargain, but at the same time took pains to have the contract recorded so as to perfect his title. The house and all the furniture were then conveyed to General Sherman for $65,000, the same price originally asked of Mr. Bowen. The May or delayed the execution of a formal release for some time, but being finally asked to say squarely whether he meant to keep his word or not, did sign the necessary papers.

So far, we simply give Mr. Olmstead's statement, substantially in his own language; and it may be well to add that he is a Democrat, and hence cannot be accused or suspected of any partisan purpose in setting right this scandalous report. We desire to add that Mayor Bowen is the gentleman who made the notorious Wm. A. Cook corporation attorney at Washington; that he was a candidate for Mayor in May, 1869, and was defeated for good reasons; and that his purpose in delaying the execution of the release he had volunteered to make, appears to have been to secure a hold upon the President by threatening the scandal he has since made, and so control a portion of the executive appointments in the District of Columbia. General Grant being a very obstinate man, refused to have any further dealings with Mayor Bowen, who now takes his revenge by threatening an impossible law suit on the eve of the President's re-election. Portland Adv.

—Somebody has discovered that in Charles Sumner's late letter the pronoun "I" is used no less than eighty-seven times; and "me," "my," and "myself," double as many times more.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Believe Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no delay in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, QUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Briggs' Alleyantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and Much has been said written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no mere polish compound, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleyantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

North Carolina.

The N. Y. Times' latest Raleigh dispatch says that the Democrats concede the election of Cobb in the first, Thomas in the second and Smith in the fourth Districts—all Republicans—to Congress. The Republicans are more cheerful, as the latest news shows large Republican gains, and the hasty, unreliable reports of large Democratic gains are being materially corrected by officials counts. Leading Republicans are sanguine of the election of Caldwell.

The Herald's Raleigh special, dated the 2d at midnight, contains the following: The Counties of Sampson, Wilson, Lenoir, Onslow, Rockingham, Franklin, Gaston, Lincoln, New Hanover, Brunswick, Halifax, Edgecomb, Craven and Wayne, heard from to-day give Republican gains on the vote for Attorney-General of 1870, of 3364. Buncombe, Davison, McDowell, Burke, Caldwell, Iredell, and Stanley, seven specimen counties of the west from which the Democrats looked for their greatest strength, give only 391 Democratic gain. The Republican gains in the east are much larger proportionally than the Democratic gains in the west. But by the vote of 1870 the Republicans must overcome a majority of 4995 to carry the State. Orange county, the home of Gov. Graham and Josiah Turner of the Sentinel, by an official vote, gives a majority of 624 for Merrimon, a loss of 93 from the Democratic majority of 1870. Greene, Pitts, Union and Alamance, former Republican counties, give a Democratic gain in the aggregate of 617. At the Democratic headquarters they make out a gain for the Democrats in the forty odd counties heard from officially and unofficially, of 3274, and the Republican gain 2197. The majority of gains over the Republicans, 1077. The remaining counties gave the Democrats a majority in 1870 of 3963, so that by calculation Merrimon will beat Caldwell by 5040, supposing the Democrats hold their own in the remaining fifty odd counties, about which there is great doubt.

The Times thinks it may take until Monday to settle the North Carolina election.

The Herald's Raleigh dispatch says that the returns are all in a muddle, and an official count will be necessary to determine the result.

A dispatch received in this city, Saturday evening, by Postmaster Pierce, announces the fact that the Republicans have carried the State by a close vote.

A CHEAP TRIP TO EUROPE.—Almost everybody wants to go to Europe and will be interested in a letter of an old Boston merchant:—

"If you are limited to forty days, say that you leave New York July 20th, arriving in Liverpool on the 30th; in London three days; to Paris, via Southampton, visiting Metley, Cowes, Rouen, two days; in Paris four days; Switzerland eight days; back to England two days, and home in ten days, costing in gold; Steamer excursion ticket, $140: expenses on board, $10; four days in England at $10—$40; to Paris, per Southampton, $7; extra, $10; four days in Paris at $5—$20; circular ticket to Switzerland, $27 50; eight days and $5 extras, $40; to Liverpool from Paris, $35; extras, $5; extras on the voyage home; total, $344.40. The charge of $10 per day in England will recover railway expenses. The Queens Hotel, St. Martin's LeGrand, (opposite the Post office,) London, is a good family house—rooms from 4s. to 7s. per day—order what you like. The best restaurant in London, is the 'Gaiety,' on the Strand, near the Charing Cross Hotel—dinner admirably served, 3s. 6d., exclusive of wine."

JUDGE JOHN A. BINGHAM of Ohio has been defeated for a renomination as candidate for Congress by one vote. Instead of shuffling off into the Greeley ranks on account of his disappointment, he made a speech, saying:—

I cheerfully accept the situation. No man will find me while reason has a place in my brain following in the standard of that party or organization which conspired against the life of my country and attempted to destroy the unity of the republic; and especially does it become all American citizens who have regard to principle in the administration of American affairs, who have regard to principle in the exercise of the elective franchise by American citizens, to see to it that a man who has gone back on all that is praiseworthy, upon all that was just, upon all that was right in his past life for the sake of a nomination, and has struck hands with the common enemy of his principles, should not receive the vote of any man who has any self-respect or character.

Political.

The Boston Times is the best campaign Greeley paper in New England.

The Michigan Republican State convention nominated John G. Bagley for governor.

Speaking zodiacally, Gratz Brown has no use for aquarius, but loves cancer not wisely but too well.

General Hartranft says that he will be elected, and that Pennsylvania will give Grant and Wilson a decisive majority.

General Chamberlain of Maine authorizes a contradiction of the report that he has gone over to the Greeley party.

Mr. Stanley Matthews, of Ohio, who was a leader in the Cincinnati movement before it was captured by the Greeleyites, has declared for Grant and Wilson.

Samuel Proctor, one of the colored men who signed the letter to Sumner, publishes a card declaring that he gives his support to Grant.

What troubled General Kilpatrick the most during his recent down-east tour, were the stories the Democratic papers had told about him when he was a Republican.

At a very large meeting of colored people in Indianapolis, resolutions were adopted repudiating Charles Sumner and reaffirming their attachment to the republican party.

The Germania, the oldest German newspaper in Cleveland, Ohio, which has favored the election of the Greeley and Brown ticket, announces its intention to advocate the election of Grant.

James H. Parker, the member of the Maryland Republican committee who has been repeatedly claimed for Greeley, publishes a denial of all these rumors and affirms his adherence to the Republican ticket.

When Senator Sumner made his charge against President Grant, that he was a great quarreller, a lady, upon hearing it, quietly remarked, "His wife has been able to live with him for nearly thirty years, and they seem to get along very pleasantly and happily together."—Boston Traveller.

The Tribune published a list of defaulters to the government the other day. Three of them are dead, five are fugitives, and the other thirteen are supporters of Greeley. There is not a defaulter in the country but favors Greeley's election. If there is one that does not, he is as great a curiosity as a white elephant.—N. Y. Commercial.

"How can you Democrats vote for Horace Greeley?" asked a Republican, conversing with a leading New York politician recently. "Well," was the reply, "it is not because we like Greeley, but because we can use him." That is the gist of the whole matter.

Tuesday evening the friends of Grant and Wilson rallied in an enthusiastic meeting at Binghamton, N. Y. The call for the meeting was signed by 1435 voters. The entire Republican vote at the last election was only 1253. There is disaffection somewhere—but where? Not among the Democrats; of course not.

SPEAKER BLAINE publishes a sharp letter to Charles Sumner, declaring that "in all the startling mutations of American politics nothing so marvellous has ever occurred as the fellowship of Robert Toombs, Jefferson Davis and Charles Sumner in a joint effort to drive the republican party from power, and hand the government to the practical control of those who so recently sought to destroy it.

The colored men of this country are not as a class enlightened; but they have wonderful instincts, and when they read your letter will know that at a great crisis in their fate you deserted them. Charles Sumner co-operating with Jeff. Davis is not he they have hitherto idolized—any more than Horace Greeley cheered to the echo in Tammany Hall is the same Horace Greeley whom the republicans have hitherto trusted. The black men of this country will never be ungrateful for what you have done for them in the past—nor, in the bitterness of their hearts, will they ever forget that, heated and blinded by personal hatred of one man, you turned your back on the millions to whom in past years you have stood as a shield and bulwark of defence."

FRED DOUGLASS says of Sumner's letter:—

It is written in the interest of Horace Greeley. It comes upon us at a time when the professions of favoring equal rights made by the party nominating Horace Greeley are being proven a false pretence in Savannah, Ga., by the shooting of colored people for trying to exercise their right to ride in the street-cars of that city. This specimen of liberal republicanism is not well calculated to encourage colored men to cast their lot with the supporters of Horace Greeley, whose journal encourages such outrages by apologizing for them.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

IS YOUR STOMACH UNEASY?—Many a dyspetic Crœsus would be willing, it is said, to give half his wealth for an easy stomach. If this is a fact, why do any of our "solid men" continue to endure the pangs of indigestion. Is it not parent to the whole community that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure the worst case of chronic Dyspepsia in six or eight weeks? No occasion for the expenditure of half a fortune; a few dollars will suffice to accomplish the object. Surely, every man who is not "sand blind" to the great utilitarian facts of the day must know that this celebrated vegetable specific promptly relieves all diseased conditions of the stomach, liver, bowels and nervous system, restores their vigor and imparts regularity to their functions. Is your epigastrium uneasy? Is the vulture, disease, gnawing at your liver? If so, resort at once to the Bitters.

THE HUMAN ROOF AND ITS THATCHING. If the man deserves well of his country who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, surely he who produces a glorious crop of hair on a comparatively barren scalp deserves the hearty thanks of the obliged party. All honor, therefore, to Professor E. T. Lyon, for, unquestionably, he has accomplished this object. Gentlemen whose whiskers are shy of making their appearance in force, or the fibers of whose moustaches disclose those "magnificent distances" for which Washington City was once so famous, will find this Hair Persuader the most wonderful encourager of fibrous development that has ever yet been invented. Both sexes are advised to use it, as by all odds, it is the best article for improving the growth and beauty of the hair, keeping it free from scurf and dandruff, preventing it from becoming harsh, dry and gray—giving it a rich gloss and enlivening it with flexibility—the Toilet Chemistry has ever evolved from the vegetable kingdom.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.—There is no disease of human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with perfect safety,—it does not contain any metallic compound.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — The family destitute of this preparation is literally without the only safe and certain means of curing those eruptions, ulcers, swellings, and painful nervous complaints so common to us all. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to grease his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

Too Much Kelley.—We protest! This Kelley business is getting too monotonous. Kelley, Col. John, is a Manchesterian. Kelley has been a Republican — quite frequently. We don't know Kelley, except through Kelley's pronunciamentos. Kelley, you know, (of course you know,) is a voter. Kelley thinks Kelley's vote worth mentioning, (some people spell it "men shunning,") and so Kelley Col. periodically tells the people how Kelley proposes to vote in this or that campaign—which is very kind of Kelley. Kelley thinks just now that a Manchesterian should be a vegeterian, so Kelley announces that he has "gone over" again—this time to Greeley. Divers times has Kelley "gone over"—but he will return. Kelley always returns. Kelley is a boomerang. Kelley strikes back where he starts from. Come back, Kelley must, else how can Kelley take a fresh start after Governor Straw's second term has expired? We dote on Kelley—because Kelley believes in No. 1. Was there ever a "citizens' ticket" in Kelley's Manchester, ran in opposition to the Republican candidates that Kelley did not announce publicly that he must support? Was there ever a chance for Kelley to seek notoriety in this world of change, that Kelley did not avail himself of? Did ever Kelley let slip an opportunity of putting himself on record publicly in a newspaper? We admire Kelley's go-it-ive-ness and self-esteem. 'Rah for Kelley!

Sobriety or Intemperance.

From the Newton (Mass.,) Journal of July 27th, we copy the following article and commend it to our readers.

In the present fast age when it seems to be the universal custom to drink, it is necessary for us to take a decided stand as regards the question of temperance. We find ourselves surrounded on every side with Gin-mills, Beer Gardens, and Gilded Saloons, and we meet with acquaintances and even those who profess to be our friends, and as a natural consequence are invited to "take something." We are all aware of the ruin and devastation the demon Rum is working everywhere, and we know that when the appetite is formed it is with difficulty overcome, but why is it we persist in taking that, which ruins both body and soul, and carries us down to a drunkard's grave. Some have troubles and cares which oppress them, and drink to drown their sorrows, but when they come forth free from its influence, their sufferings are much more severe. But the main reason is (and I speak from experience,) that we get in the habit of taking a "social glass" of ale, beer or liquor now and then, and at last we think it becomes a necessity. But the necessity arises from our diseased organs, occasioned by the use of alcohol. Old drinkers say they could not live without their regular drinks, but I know they can, for I have seen cases which seemed incurable, overcome in a very short time. The Washingtonian Home of Boston is the means of restoring many of the unfortunates to their families and friends. The Institution seems to be but little known except by name, and men who are in the habit of drinking to excess think it would be a disgrace to become an inmate, but do not think what a disgrace they are to themselves and friends, by living an intemperate life. Any person of common sense would extend a helping hand, and do all in their power for one who is trying to help himself. The Home is really a "temperance hotel," where they attend to your physical wants, giving you plain, substantial food regular hours, and an encouraging word. You also have the benefit of the experience of others, and if a man comes with the determination to reform and follow the advice of the Superintendents he will come forth a sober man. The Sup't. and Ass't Sup't. are both practical men, having had a ripe experience as regards the properties contained in alcohol, and a man can trust himself with perfect security in their hands. The foregoing is written by an inmate, hoping it may be the means of saving even one, making him thoughtful over his lost condition. Let us all stand up boldly for the cause of temperance. F.

William C. Lawrence, Esq., of Boston, a native of New Hampshire, has been the Superintendent for several years, and J. Horace Kent, Esq., Ex-City Marshal and U. S. Detective of this city, is Assistant Superintendent of this Reformatory Institution.

The Nation winds up an editorial on "Greeley and the South" with the following paragraph:—The fact is that his canvass is and must remain a tissue of evasions, double-dealings, suppressions of the truth, and suggestions of untruth. With his antecedents, his position as the candidate either of democrats or reformers must be a false one. He saw this himself, and pointed it out as regards the democratic nomination, in cooler moments, a year ago. We for our part trust that we may see the wretched intrigue in which he is involved not only suppressed but with such emphasis that no attempt to renew it will be made in our time. We hope this, we repeat, not so much in consideration of what we consider Mr. Greeley's obvious unfitness for the office to which he aspires, as in consideration of the disastrous influence on all reformatory effort of such an ending to a reform movement as his election would prove. Better that a thousand honest efforts to mend the world should honestly fail, than that one honest effort should be converted into an agent of fraud and tergiversation. There is no despair like the despair which comes from the distrust of one's fellows; and if President Greeley should prove the result of the Cincinnati movement, no man would for twenty years to come be able to ask another to go reforming with him without a broad grin.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and other effects is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. Dr. Ayer's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His Hair Vigor sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of Ayer's Hair Vigor for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by premature gray hair, resort to your druggist, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they disorder, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from general vitiation of the uterine discase, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

ROBINSON CRUSOE'S ISLAND COLONIZED.—At a distance of less than three days' voyage from Valparaiso, in Chili, and nearly in the same latitude with this important port on the western coast of South America, is the island of Juan Fernandez, where once upon a time Alexander Selkirk, during a solitary banishment of four years, gathered the material for De Foe's "Robinson Crusoe." This island, little thought of by the inhabitants of the Chilean coast-land, has lately become of some interest by the fact that in December, 1869, it was ceded to a society of Germans, under the guidance of Robert Wehrhan, a native from Saxony, for the purpose of colonization. The entrepreneur of the expedition, Robert Wehrhan, left Germany eleven years since, passed several years in England, served as major through the war between the American States, and was subsequently engaged as engineer with the Cerro Copasco railroad in South America.

He and his society, about sixty or seventy individuals, have taken possession of the island, which is described as being a most fertile and lovely spot. They found there countless herds of goats, some thirty half-wild horses and sixty donkeys, the latter animals proving to be exceedingly shy. They brought with them cows and other cattle, swine, numerous fowls, and all the various kinds of agricultural implements, with boats and fishing apparatus, to engage in different pursuits and occupations. The grotto, made famous as Robinson's abode, situated in a spacious valley, covered with large fields of wild turnips—a desirable food for swine—has been assigned to the hopeful young Chilean gentleman to whom the charge of the porcine part of the society's stock has been entrusted, and he and his proteges are doing very well in their new quarters. Juan Fernandez is one of the stations where whaling vessels take in water and food.—Japan Herald.

BAGGAGE SMASHING.—Eli Perkins, in the New York Commercial Advertiser, says: The other day Mr. Dodd, of Dodd's Express, came to the Atlantic-Pacific-Arctic-Ocean House. He said he didn't think he could sleep; that he was so accustomed to hear the rumble of wagons and the banging of trunks that the Long Branch silence was positively oppressive.

"We'll try and make it comfortable for you," said William, and that night he collected twenty five trunks, and had the poor waiters banging them, and thrashing them, and breaking them in front of Mr. Dodd's room. All night long the haggard forms of the waiters could have been seen banging those trunks. My splendid English sole-leather was among the rest, but alas! in the morning there was nothing left but the straps and one hinge. At 6 A. M. the boys were still throwing the destroyed trunks against Mr. Dodd's door. When Mr. Dodd came down he said he slept splendid.

He said "every time they whanged Perkins' $65 trunk down on the floor, it sounded like sweet music—it sounded like being at home by my own express office."

Then he smiled, rubbed his hands, and went down to the sea and drank the water. William Leland's faithful waiters smashed up the trunks and satchels so naturally that Mr. Dodd has engaged them to go around with his team in New York this winter. One man has got so that he could pitch a two hundred pound trunk sixteen feet, and make it roll over four times."

—A Saratoga correspondent of the World relates that a singular episode of real life occurred on the piazza of the Union hotel, the afternoon of the great race. A somewhat noted woman, formerly a singer of some prominence, while walking with her present husband, chanced to pass in her promenade directly between two of her former husbands. The three men, each of whom had loved the same women, and who hated each other mortally, glanced at each other for a moment, the woman, in her beauty, her diamonds, and her airy summer dress, eyed all three curiously, there was a momentary pause, then the lady and her escort resumed their walk, the other men stepped forth in diverging directions, and the episode was over.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new hoop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE BEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-things the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

The bonds are of the denomination of $1,000 each, payable to bearer, and therefore negotiable by simple delivery. The interest coupons attached to each bond are payable semi-annually, at the office of the Union Trust Company in New York, by the Treasurer of the State on the 1st day of October and April in each year, until the principal of the Bonds is redeemed at par in 1836. State News.

The second reunion of the Third Regiment will take place at Manchester, Sept. 3d and 4th, the 3d being the eleventh anniversary of the departure of the regiment from Concord.

FRANKNESS OF DEMOCRATIC ORATORS.—The supposed copperhead-abolitionists victory in North Carolina developed greater frankness, as well as confidence, among orators. At a barbecue at Lexington, Ky., Representative Beck, a candidate for re-election, declared positively that the democrats supported Greeley simply as a means of getting into power, and that upon his election a democratic Congress would not only prevent him from doing harm, but compel to acquiesce in such measures as they deemed necessary. General George B. Hodge spoke with even more boldness, saying: "Looking back now upon what he once considered the fruitless hopes of the South, he saw the equal rights and sovereignty of the States would be restored, and that his comrades of the lost cause have not died in vain: that this anticipated triumph would be the victory for which they fought." He also said that the election of Greeley meant the restoration of John C. Breckenridge and other chivalric sons of the South to their former positions of power and influence in the nation.

There was an impromptu Grant meeting in Columbus, Ohio, last week, that gives some idea of the political activity in that State. A despatch to the Cincinnati Commercial says that much to the surprise of all but the parties themselves, at about 8 o'clock in the evening a delegation of about one hundred (the Associated Press despatch says one hundred and fifty) Democratic working men who cannot eat crow, employed at Gill's car shops, formed a procession, procured a band of music and a huge banner on which was inscribed, "What we know about voting for Grant and Wilson," "We prefer a man of deeds rather than a man of words," "Gill's car shops," "Grant tanners," marched to the rooms of the Grant club, asked permission to join, and signed the constitution. A large number of Republicans joined the crowd and filled the club room to overflowing. The procession reformed and marched to the house of Governor Noyes, who made a ringing speech, after which the line of march was taken through the principal streets, with songs and cheers. Many houses were hastily illuminated, and the Commercial despatch says that the entire affair was a complete success. It was altogether spontaneous, not the slightest preparation having been made in advance except by the anti-boiled-crow Democrats, who gave no intimation of their intentions.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The Boston correspondent of the Hartford Courant thinks Butler could beat Gov. Washburn for the gubernatorial nomination in the Republican covention, should he try; that as "the Adamses are quite particular about their candidates, prefer themselves as a rule, and failing in this" are difficult to suit—Charles Francis is not likely to support Greeley; that the Democracy would like to nominate him for Governor if he were known to be sufficiently orthodox in their faith; that he might beat Butler at the polls; that one if not both of his sons prefer Grant to Greeley; and that the temperance men, disatisfied with Gov. Washburn, will probably nominate a new candidate.

—Chicago has a Scandinavian population of 43,000.

—A Kansas woman has been paralyzed by the sting of a wasp.

—A prostitute was shot and killed by an unknown woman near Columbus, Indiana, recently.

—A Folsom, Cal., hog drank so much sour lager, thrown out of a brewery, that it became thoroughly drunk, and behaved in a most discreditable manner for a hog.

—The millennial festival of the establishment of the kingdom of Norway was celebrated in Christiania on the 18th ultimo. There was a great popular festival, for which more than 30,000 tickets were sold. The streets and vessels in the harbor were profusely decorated with flags, evergreens and flowers.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents rearing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong medial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, QUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be relieved, the pressing, suffocating feeling at the corns they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the sole or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has failed. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The Results.

Horace Greeley is the candidate of the party he has all his life villified by speaking the truth about, and Charles Sumner is trying to persuade the colored voters of the South to vote for a return to power of the men who used to sell them at the auction block, both Greeley and Sumner pretending to believe what each knows to be false,—that the Democracy have come to them instead of their having gone to the Democrats. After this, who can question the accuracy of the saying that "white men are mighty uncertain?"

Politics, which in this country are mostly in the hands of white men and would be entirely so could the Democracy compass it, are also mighty uncertain; but we feel pretty safe in prophesying that if both the Presidential candidates live long enough and nothing occurs to prevent, either Ulysses S. Grant or Horace Greeley will be the next President of the United States. According to the papers which are engaged in manufacturing "enthusiasm" for Greeley by shouting hosannas to his old white hat and proclaiming from the house tops that the nation will go to the devil unless Tammany is given a chance to work financial reform in the national treasury, a Republican victory in the coming Presidential contest means the total blotting out of American liberty and the utter ruin of all things here below. According to some of the Republican papers, a victory for the Democratic crowd which is trying to smuggle itself into the White House disguised in an old abolitionist's white hat and coat, means a virtual return to slavery for the freedmen and financial ruin for the nation—the undoing of all that has been done to advance the country during the years of Republican rule. We don't believe it would be quite so bad, in either case.

As to the disastrous results which the Greeleycrats prophesy in case Grant is re-elected, an answer is given by pointing to the Republican record of the past ten years. Liberty has been given to four millions of men and women, in spite of the desperate opposition of the very men who now howl so loudly of "preserving our liberties," and who strove to dismember the Union that liberty might not be more than an empty name; the Union has been preserved and cemented, in spite of the efforts of Southern rebels and Northern copperheads to destroy it that slavery might live; and the vast financial burden which the men who are now anxious to "clasp hands across the bloody chasm" and assume the direction of national affairs saddled upon the country, has been lightened to a degree which has excited the astonishment and admiration of the old nations of Europe. No such progress towards perfect liberty was made by the Democratic party during their long misrule; their record is a history of unremitting and unscrupulous attempts to carry the slave pen and auction block all over the Union. If the "liberties of the people" are in danger from either of the political parties, then, it certainly is not from the Republican.

But while we believe that President Grant's re-election would be the best thing for the country, we do not believe that Greeley's election would be an irremediable disaster. In the latter event we admit that the Democratic party would return to power; but the power of that party to injure the country has been greatly curtailed during the years of Republican rule. Horace Greeley could not be a more pliant tool in their hands than was Peirce or Buchanan; there is no slavery to extend,—no necessity to steal land from feeble nations to make slave States of; the four millions of freedmen cannot be remanded to their former condition of chattelhood, and it is absurd to suppose any such attempt would be made in any contingency; we do not imagine the reconstruction acts (including the three Constitutional Amendments) would be subject to any open attempt at overthrow by a Democratic administration and Congress; and the national debt is too largely in the hands of Democratic capitalists to leave much room for fear that it would be repudiated in whole or in part. There might and indeed probably would be more or less talk about virtual repudiation, in the shape of a national assumption of the rebel debt and the payment of pensions to rebel soldiers, but the mere talk of such proceedings would occasion so loud a warning in the shape of a failure of our credits abroad that any positive action would be impossible. We place much more faith in the force of circumstances than we do in the professions of Democratic conventions. That the finances of the country, and its credit, at home and abroad, would suffer, the characters of the most active puglers for Greeley leaves little hope could be averted; but the country weathered a tougher storm than even four years more of Democratic misrule could produce, during the war, and can borrow money to-day at reasonable rates and on easy terms. A Democratic victory would undoubtedly be a great financial calamity, but it would not be financial ruin, except to individuals.

The worst thing to fear, in case of Greeley's election, is the disastrous effect it would have upon the progress of the freedmen at the South. Though they would not—could not be remanded to absolute slavery, it is idle to suppose the old slave-drivers would lose the opportunity offered them by a national Democratic victory, to crush back their former "black cattle" as far as possible from the position to which they have been brought. The right of every State "to regulate the status of the colored race" within its borders would be re-asserted, and the colored men would be again reduced to the "status" of degraded, inferior beings, with very few rights which a white man is bound to respect. Negro schools, negro witnesses, negro jurors and negro voters (unless they were Democratic negro voters) would soon be almost as scarce as they were ten years ago. Charles Sumner may tell the colored men that the adoption of a Republican platform by a convention largely composed of ex-rebel slaveholders "places equal rights of all under the safeguard of irreversible guarantees," but we shall not believe it,—any more than did Charles Sumner himself at the time he was writing it.

As to the result of the election on the two political parties: it is highly important for the progress of the principles which the Republican party represents, that President Grant should be re-elected; but it is absolutely necessary to the continued existence of the Democratic party (it having no principles left to preserve) as an organization, that Greeley should be pushed to victory and the Presidential chair by the Democracy. The latter party, by their professed adoption of Republican principles and their nomination of Greeley, have confessed that there is no hope of a Democratic victory on the time-honored platform that "a negro has no rights which a white man is bound to respect"—a platform on which the party stood for many years and from which it descended only when the party managers announced that it must be done, at Baltimore. Having thus professedly abandoned the ancient party faith and acknowledged that caste prejudice is no longer potent to win political victories, there is nothing left of the party but its organization and its willingness to parcel out the offices of the national government among its supporters. A defeat for Grant in the coming contest means a set-back to the Republican party, to the country and to equal rights; a defeat for Greeley means the utter dissolution and burial of his party, which, having confessed the hopelessness of conquering on a Democratic platform, and been defeated on a mixed one, mainly Republican, would infallibly go to pieces,—and then, and not till then, will the results of the war for Union and freedom be positively assured.

GENERAL DIX ON GREELEY.—The name of General John A. Dix has been claimed among those committed to the Democratic ticket. The following letter from him has just been made public:

WESTHAMPTON, July 27, 1872.

Dear sir:—Your letter of the 13th instant, asking my aid to procure a speaker for a Greeley meeting at Hancock, was sent to me while I was in New England. I have been unable until now to acknowledge its reception. I do not understand on what grounds you considered yourself authorized to address such a request to me. If you had been familiar with the course of my public life, and equally so with Mr. Greeley's, could not have supposed me capable of advocating his election to the office of the President of the United States without imputing to me the utter abandonment of all political principle. I am opposed to Mr. Greeley:

1. Because I believe him to be as "unstable as water," perpetually floundering to carry out the scriptural figure amid the surges of opinion, and deficient in all the requisites essential to a firm, steady and consistent administration of the government.

2. Because he has usually been found among the most extreme ultraists on the great questions of political and social duty, which have been brought under public discussion during the last quarter of a century.

3. Because he has been the advocate (and in this instance persistently) of that most unjust and unequal commercial system which is destroying our mercantile and shipping interests, and heaping up enormous accumulations of wealth in the hands of the protected classes, to the oppression and impoverishment of all others.

4. Because he is associated, in relations more or less intimate, with some of the chief plunderers of New York, justly warranting the apprehension that, through his complicity or his facile disposition, the same system of fraud and corruption which has disgraced the municipal government of this city may be carried to more infamous extremes in the administration of the federal government; and,

5. Because in the darkest hour of the country's peril, when a traitorous combination had been formed to overthrow the government, he openly counselled the cowardly policy of non-resistance, and an acquiescence in the dissolution of the Union, whenever the cotton States should make up their minds to go.

The coalition which has been formed to promote his election is one of the most extraordinary in the history of parties, in respect both to the discordant elements it embraces and the surrender of principles it involves. The Cincinnati convention, called to bring before the people important measures of reform, nominated him, greatly to the surprise of the whole country, knowing him, in regard to one of those measures, to be an implacable opponent—nominated him, too, against the wishes and judgment of the chief promoters of the movement, who accepted him, either with an avowed or an ill-concealed disgust, which would be far more creditable to their feelings if the act of acceptance were not utterly irreconcilable with their principles. The democratic convention at Baltimore indorsed and commended him to the support of their party—not as the exponent of any principles they have professed, or any measures they have advocated, but as a known and bitter opponent of both—the man who, perhaps of all others, has been the most malignant to the democracy, impeaching its integrity, traducing its motives and villifying its character. The adoption of such a man as their candidate for the chief magistracy of the Union is the most conspicuous abandonment of political principles known to party contests. It remains to be seen whether the great body of the democratic voters, and the true friends of reform, can be made parties to this unscrupulous coalition between political leaders.

That General Grant has committed mistakes, his most sincere friends admit. But if his errors had been four-fold more numerous he would, in my opinion, be a much better Chief Magistrate than Mr. Greeley. He has, in that capacity, done much for which he deserves the thanks of the country. Above all, he has kept it at peace, notwithstanding the efforts of sensation journals and popularity-seeking politicians to provoke hostilities with Spain on the question of Cuba, and with Great Britain on the Alabama claims and the fisheries. If, regardless of these titles to the approval of his fellow-citizens, and of his invaluable services during the late civil war, they should set him aside for Mr. Greeley; if the latter, a mere erratic politician, untried in any important public trust, should be elevated to the Chief Magistracy of the Union—a Union which would not now exist if his counsels had been followed—and if the man who, of all others, has done the most to preserve it should be discarded for a successor so ill qualified and so unscrupulously nominated and sustained, the example would be most deplorable in its influence on all high motives to political action, and justify the most painful forebodings as to the future.

I am respectfully yours,

JOHN A. DIX.

A. B. Cornwell, Hancock, N. Y.

The News.

Edward Howard, only son of Capt. George Howard of Newburyport, was found drowned at that place Monday afternoon. He had been seen fishing a short time before, but no one saw him fall in, and nothing was known of the disaster until his body was seen lying on the bottom of the river. He was about seven years of age, and a lad of great promise.

Under President Grant's administration, the national debt has been decreased $337,404,603.57. The decrease in annual interest has been $22,610,457. The actual debt on the 1st of August was $2,188,058,656.44. At the present rate of reduction per year, the entire debt will be paid in twenty-two years. The amount of debt bearing no interest is $429,791,918.97.

Letters from North Carolina, Florida and Alabama give encouraging statements of the Republican situation there. In Florida, one gentleman, not an office holder, who has recently travelled over the State, says that there will be a purging and reorganization of the party, and that Grant's vote will be larger than that for the State ticket, owing to the Democrats voting for him. The negro and Democratic votes balance each other, while the white Republican vote is fully 2600, of which 350 only are carpet-baggers. Alabama advices assert confidently that the Republican majority will be 30,000. Quite a number of Democrats are pronouncing against Greeley.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

One Lie Exposed.

The outrageous and most unjustifiable falsehood circulated by the slandering evening sheet which supports Greeley for President, and by a nameless correspondent of an obscure paper in Portland, to the effect that Hon. ICHABOD GOODWIN of this city will support Greeley, is entirely without foundation, and the Ex-Governor desires us to state that it is "a malicious falsehood."

Laconics.

Methodist picnic, at Newmarket Junction to-day.

Mr. A. J. Sides is the Portsmouth member of the "Liberal Republican" State Committee.

Lieut. Charles M. Anthony is detached from the Navy Yard, and ordered to the Canandaigua.

James R. Osgood, Esq., of Boston, who has been stopping at the Pepperell Hotel, Kittery Point, left Monday morning for a two months' trip on the Continent of Europe.

Those Democratic guns, Saturday night, were decidedly Greeleyish and water-gruel-ish. Four of the thirty-seven, reminded one of very distant thunder. The remaining thirty-three were hardly up to a pop beer explosion.

Mr. Daniel Mason is about to start a planing and sawing mill, and is erecting suitable buildings therefore at the head of Green Street, on land formerly used for Spinney's wood yard. An engine of 60 horse power is being put in, and Mr. M. proposes to manufacture shingles, laths, small lumber, etc., and in course of time, sashes and blinds.

Sullivan Lodge No. 15, Knights of Pythias, was instituted at Claremont Friday evening by Grand Chancellor M. T. Betton of Portsmouth, assisted by R. M. Blanchard and S. S. Davis of Nashua, J. L. Dow, S. C. Clater and N. E. Metcalf of Manchester, Mr. Gerrish of Portsmouth, and L. K. Peacock of Concord. The Lodge starts with ten members.

At the special meeting of the stockholders of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire held in this city on Monday, the lease dated June 1, 1872 having been presented and considered, it was resolved that said lease of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad to this corporation, and the terms and conditions thereof upon the indemnification thereto annexed by the Eastern Railroad Company be and the same hereby are approved, ratified and confirmed.

In the old Town Records of Kittery, Me., in a list of "marriages consumated by the Rev'd Mr. John Rogers," the following record of marriage is given, showing that the adage "better late than never" was believed in, to a certain extent, a century and a half ago: "1758, Novem. 27th—Richard Pinkham of Dover, aged 85 years, and widow Mary Welch, aged 96 years." The average age of the pair was 90 years and 6 months when they thus started in life—old enough to know better.

On Thursday of last week, one J. H. Butters, about 23 years of age, hired a horse and buggy of Mr. Hiram Litchfield, of Reading, Mass., and drove to Seabrook, where he sold it to a Seabrook gentleman for $65. On Sunday, City Marshal Johnson learned of the theft, heard the team had been seen in Seabrook and called for information on a resident of Seabrook who was in Portsmouth that day. The latter proved to be the person who had purchased the team! He immediately told the Marshal to drive to Seabrook and secure it, and Messrs. Johnson and Entwistle did so. The reward of $25 is to be given to the gentleman who purchased the team, and then he will be forty dollars out by the operation. He states that he detained the thief five hours before he paid him the money, thinking the team might have been stolen. Trying to trap the fellow, who appeared to be undertwitted, he failed to do so and then made the purchase.

North Carolina.

The New York Times despatch from Raleigh says seventy-four counties "unofficially reported" give Caldwell, Republican, majority of 1434. The seventeen counties to be heard from gave in 1870 a Democratic majority of 1742. If this is maintained Merrimon is elected by 308, but it is estimated that they will give a Republican gain of 600, which will elect Caldwell by 300 majority. The official count is necessary to decide, the vote is so close.

A dispatch received at this office from Mr. L. J. Jennings, editor-in-chief of the New York Times, dated Monday morning, says:—

State still in doubt. Our latest advices from Raleigh claim it by 500 to 1000. We have elected three Congressmen.

Private despatches from Raleigh, sent at 9 P. M. Sunday, state that sixty-three counties have been heard from. They give Merrimon nine hundred majority. The remaining twenty-eight counties will probably elect Caldwell by one thousand majority. The Republicans have elected Cobb in the first district, Thomas in the second, McKay in the third and Smith in the fourth, with Settle in the fifth in doubt. Further dispatches state that there is no longer any doubt of McKay's election. From Democratic sources it is acknowledged that the official votes so far received reduce the Democratic majority of 1870 in Bolivar four hundred votes. The Republicans assert that it should be thousands.

A despatch from Raleigh, dated at noon Sunday, claims that the Republicans in the sixty-three counties heard from so far have entirely overcome the Democratic majority of 1870. The twenty-eight counties to be heard from, if they only give the same majority they did in 1870, will elect Caldwell by 1200 majority. Judging by other western counties whose vote has been received, the Republicans will gain on the basis named. The Legislature is Democratic without much doubt, in consequence of the peculiar apportionment made last winter. This has been generally expected.

A dispatch to the Boston News says: "The latest telegrams state that Caldwell and the whole State ticket is elected by the Republicans by a majority of about 2000. The prospects of the Republicans are hourly improving. The latest reports give Settle 200 majority."

Mrs. A. W. Moore, of the Willey House, at the White Mountain Notch, for ten years past, died very suddenly last week.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — The family destitute of this preparation is literally without the only safe and certain means of curing those eruptions, ulcers, swellings, and painful nervous complaints so common to us all. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and gray heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparations, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

IS YOUR STOMACH UNEASY?—Many a dyspeptic Crœsus would be willing, it is said, to give half his wealth for an easy stomach. If this is a fact, why do any of our "solid men" continue to endure the pangs of indigestion. Is it not patent to the whole community that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure the worst case of chronic Dyspepsia in six or eight weeks? No occasion for the expenditure of half a fortune; a few dollars will suffice to accomplish the object. Surely, every man who is not "send blind" to the great millionaire fact of the day must know that this celebrated vegetable specific promptly relieves all diseased conditions of the stomach, liver, bowels and nervous system, restores their vigor and imparts regularity to their functions. Is your epigastrium uneasy? Is the vulture, disease, gnawing at your liver? If so, resort at once to the Bitters.

THE HUMAN ROOF AND ITS THATCHING. If the man deserves well of his country who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, surely he who produces a glorious crop of hair on a comparatively barren scalp deserves the hearty thanks of the obliged party. All honor, therefore, to Professor E. T. Lyon, for, unquestionably, his renowned Kathairon accomplishes this object. Gentlemen whose whiskers are shy of making their appearance in force, or the fibers of whose moustaches disclose those "magnificent distances" for which Washington City was once so famous, will find this Hair Persuader the most wonderful encourager of fibrous development that has ever yet been invented. Both sexes are advised to use it, as by all odds, it is the best article for improving the growth and beauty of the hair, keeping it free from scurf and dandruff, preventing it from becoming harsh, dry and gray—giving it a rich glossy look and endowing it with flexibility—that Toilet Chemistry has ever evolved from the vegetable kingdom.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callositics on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your hair return to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Scrofulous, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, Suffering from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Morning Chronicle.

A DAY AT SARATOGA.—Eli Perkins writes to the Commercial Advertiser from Congress Hall:—

"What do we do in Saratoga? Well, this is the regular routine: We all get up at half-past eight and make a general stampede for Congress and Hathorn Springs, three glasses. Sentimental young fellows invite their lady friends a mile away over to the Geyser or down to the Empire. At 9 we all eat our brook trout and pig pork. At 10 we all sit on the front balcony. The old ladies gossip, talk pedigrees and incomes, and do fancy work. At this hour old bachelors present bouquets and retire, while good, young fellows go out and buy bonbons for the young ladies or take them to drink iron water or see the Injuns. The fellows who have teams drive over to Glen Mitchel or out to the ten spring woods, while very sentimental and spoony fellows trapse the young ladies down to see the Congress Park, buck over to the village graveyard or up to see the beautiful squaw. At 12 the balconies are cleared. All the young ladies are up stairs writing letters to New York sweethearts, reading novels or dressing for dinner. Colored boys now appear on the balconies with brooms, sweep off cigar stuts, broken fans, lost gloves and lost curls. At 2 p. m. the big dinner room opens. Darkeys stand ready for fifty cent bribes for woodcock and soft shell crabs. At 3 everybody comes out on the balcony, the band plays, the fellows smoke, and the newsboys shout the New York morning papers. From 3 to 5 o'clock we gossip, smoke, read the papers, and gather in groups to abuse Jones and Harrison and criticise new comers. At half-past five we all go out to drive. Those who don't go, sit by to criticise the turnouts, and then corner pretty girls over behind the piano! The exclusive epicureans drive over to Meyer's Cedar Bluff Cottage, the regulars show their nobby clothes, eat fried potatoes, and stare at each other over at Moon's, and swell fellows with tandems and "tigers" take $400 Paris driving dresses around the lake or off on new and picturesque roads. Some of the sentimental fellows drop their "tigers" and go it alone after they get out of town. At 7 the carriages get back, young ladies rush to their rooms to make evening toilets, and the fellows see their horses put out, punish a few mint juleps and rush in to supper beside pretty girls whose fathers are still dining over to Meyer's. From 8 to 9 comes the swell balcony dress-parade, when every young lady is expected to have a new dress and a new beau to help her show it off. Old bachelors with dog-carts now present bouquets and retire for the night. At 9:30 Bernstein strikes up a Strauss waltz in the hop room, the children scramble in first, and we all follow after. The ball-room now becomes a fairy scene—the fellows in swallow-tails (or should be) and the young ladies in low-necks and court trains. Married men squeeze young ladies' hands in the grand chain, and wives vice versa. At 11 p. m. the band stops—the ball-room empties. Alfred Pease plays the 'Eli Perkins Galop' on the piano, sentimental fellows spoon young Clarendon ladies in retired balcony nooks, and generous fellows order champagne punches in the reception room, where they drop orange peel and lemon juice over $300 gaslight green silks. Mammas scold. At 12 (midnight) the grand parlors are empty—the young ladies are asleep, and wicked men start for John Morrissey's to smoke, gamble, and eat a game supper. Kind old fathers now run across verdant green sons. Mutual recognition, and swearing on the part of the young man.

So ends a day at Saratoga—a day full of wisdom, health, pride, love, folly, dissipation and damaged dresses."

LUCK.—John was made rich in spite of himself at Long Branch, and this was the way it was done:

Just as I was the hungriest Longfellow and Harry Bassett were brought out and they went round the corner like two Colt's revolvers. All the nice young men around me stood up and bowed and scraped and held up one finger, as if they were stopping an omnibus. They all yelled: "A hundred to eighty on Harry Bassett." They all appeared to be so very polite, that I held up my finger too and bowed back to all of them. I never saw such a polite lot of young men before. You would have thought I was the Grand Duke Alexis. I kept up the bowing game just as long as they did, and pretty soon the race was over, and I confess I was agreeably surprised to see about four hundred young men file up and each one chuck a $100 bill into my lap. Then I thought that lot of young men just the nicest lot of young men I had ever met. There I sat with $40,000 in my lap, and much to my astonishment, I found out that all the time I was pointing my finger and bowing back to 'em darned if I wasn't taking every darned bet that was made, and darned if I knew it. I only had eight dollars in my pocket, and if I had lost I'd slept in an oyster bed that night sure.

THE ODDEST OF HOTELS.—Of all the hotels in the world, the very oddest is a lonely one in California, on the road between San Jose and Santa Cruz. Imagine ten immense trees, standing a few feet apart and hollow. These are the hotel, neat, breezy and romantic. The largest tree is sixty-five feet around, and contains a sitting-room and that bureau of Bacchus, wherefrom is dispensed the thing that bites and stings. All about this tree is a garden of flowers and evergreens, and madrona branches. For bed chambers there are nine great hollow trees, white-washed or papered, and having doors to fit the shape of the holes.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of attainment and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE DEARESTT

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speed and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

—A house was haunted in Saginaw, Michigan, and a thorough investigation revealed a venerable wood-pecker in an inner room.

—Certain temperance tracts were lately placed in the hands of the convicts at the State prison in Auburn, N. Y., which it was hoped would have a good influence upon their minds. Soon afterwards a number of them were discovered in an intoxicated condition. It was found that they had made use of the analysis given in the tracts to show of what deleterious things liquors were compounded, and produced a kind of whiskey which "fetched" them. How they obtained the materials is a mystery.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cured for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning; when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, QUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients, "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the compounds specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

HENDERSON'S.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just suited to the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

6000 GAIN!

A Raleigh dispatch to the New York Times dated Aug. 6, states that the Republican majority for Caldwell is over 2000, with a probable majority in the House.

A Herald's Raleigh dispatch states that S. F. Phillips, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, says that the result in 72 counties gives Caldwell a gain of 5000, which elects him by about 1400 majority. Subsequently two counties added 500 to this Republican majority. The Congressional status is as follows:

First District—Cobb, Republican, 1000 majority; Second District—Thomas, Republican, 8000 majority; Third District—Waddell, Democrat, 700 majority; Fourth District—Smith, Republican, 600 majority; Fifth District—Leach, Democrat, 600 majority. Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Districts elect Robbins, Ashe and Vance, Democrats, by majorities not ascertained.

Eighty counties heard from, official and un-official, give Caldwell 4191 gain over the vote of 1870. Twelve Western counties are yet to be heard from.

The Tribune's special from Raleigh says the Era claims the State by 1100 majority for Caldwell. The latest intelligence is from Lewis Hames, at Salisbury, that the Republican gain in Surry, Stakes and Yadkin counties is 1203. If this report is true the Tribune says it will make Merrimon's election more doubtful.

The Democrats have 18 majority in the legislature—a Republican gain of 38.

The N. Y. Telegram, Greeley paper, admits that the offical returns fix beyond peradventure the election of Caldwell, Republican, for Governor, by a majority of 2000.

Last week, our Greeley neighbor, brought out four roosters and a jackass, and had a good old boiled crow jubilee. Of that merry crowd, the jackass mutinied, the roosters lost their pin feathers—and now see what's left of them.

THIS IS BOILED CROW.

—North Carolina has laid the foundation stone for the Greeley and Brown pyramid.—Charlestown Adv.

That's so! May all the other stones of the G. and B. variety be made of the same material.

More Brick.

The Dolly Vardens of Louisville, Ky., came to grief on Monday. At the city election a very large vote was thrown. The regularly nominated democratic ticket was defeated by a very large majority. The opposition or citizens' ticket, composed of democrats, was elected entire, notwithstanding the regular ticket was supported by the democratic and liberal republican papers of the city.

The Republicans carried Lexington by 819 majority.

Returns from all the counties in East Tennessee show large republican gains.

Political.

The election in West Virginia takes place on the 22d instant on the adoption of the new constitution and for State officers. Both parties are making a hard fight.

A letter from a man doing a large business in Wisconsin says no one except the copper element will vote for Greeley in that vicinity, and there is not enough in the State to be noticed.

Fernando Wood says all "good men," including himself, are for Greeley.

The Albany Evening Journal says it is clearly demonstrated that the election of Mr. Greeley would be a very grave calamity to business.

Mr. Greeley will have to do without one valuable supporter. Ex-Controller Connolly writes that he does not intend taking part in the coming Presidential campaign; that he is disgusted with politics and politicians generally, and desires to remain quiet.

THE NEW ENGLAND FAIR.—The ninth New England Fair will be held at Lowell, September 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th. The grounds contain about forty acres, and are in every respect desirable for the purposes of the fair. There is a superior half-mile track, and an exhibition building which contains more than a half-acre of space. An abundance of pure water for visitors and animals is furnished in various parts of the grounds. The premiums offered in the departments amount to nearly $30,000. In addition to the usual attractions there will be a trial of steam fire engines on one day of the fair. All railroads trains discharge passengers as well as animals and articles for exhibition at the grounds. The principal railroads in New England will transport animals and articles for exhibition free and passengers at reduced rates.

The captured Cuban war-vessel Pioneer was on Saturday taken possession of by a United States marshal and will be at once dismantled.

Thomas J. Lasier, editor of the Claremont National Eagle, has been chosen secretary of the associated alumni of Norwich University.

DROWNED.—At Drewsville (Alstead) on Friday a very sad accident occurred. Two men, Mr. William E. Jones and Mr. William P. Hill of Somerville, Mass., were stopping with Mr. Willard Lovell in Drewsville. On Friday morning last the three were out on Cold river fishing. Mr. Hill being some distance from the others, heard a splashing in the water, and on turning a bend in the river saw the heads of Messrs. Jones and Lovell just above the water, both of whom sank before he could reach them. The river is a narrow one and not very deep except in this one place where both seemed destined to meet their end. Mr. Hill is unable to explain the mystery of how the two came in the water, his only theory being that both came to a high ledge of rocks which line the shore, and that one of them must have slipped off, and the other in attempting to save him was also drawn in. Both were dead before they could be rescued. Both were very worthy citizens. Mr. Jones leaves a wife and three small children, and Mr. Lovell a wife.—Claremont Eagle.

—A grocer says he is constantly annoyed by flies, who pester him with inquiries about the price of his best molasses, and then let their indignation know no bounds because he refuses to take his pay in second-hand, silver-plated spoons, purloined by them from a neighboring restaurant.

—A fine old Kentucky gentleman made a zebra of a medical student at Louisville, for paying unwelcome attentions to his daughter.

HOW A PRINTER GOT HIS PAY.—A circus company in Iowa owed an editor a bill for advertising and refused to pay it. Thereupon the editor called upon the sheriff, who attached the Bengal tiger and brought him around to the newspaper office in his cage. He was placed in the composing-room, and during the first two days he not only consumed fifteen dollars' worth of beef, but he scratched six dollars' worth of trowsers from the leg of a local reporter who endeavored to stir him up with a broom-handle to make him roar. On the third day the tiger broke loose, and the entire force of printers descended the staircase with judicious suddenness. The editor was alarmed to find his exit through the composing-room cut off, and that the sanctum door was broken. So he climbed out of a window and sought safety upon the roof. The paper was not issued for a week, and even after the tiger was shot the editor had to slide down the water spout, because he was afraid to descend by the rope by which he came.

—The first game of life—Bawl.

—A Danbury shoddy lady who has just returned from a European trip, speaks eloquently of the delightful sail she enjoyed across the Bay of Tunis. As the lady in question weighs nearly two hundred pounds, we imagine the Bay of Tunis is closed for the balance of the travelling season.

—They tell "hard" snake stories in Kentucky. This is the latest: A man in Butler county got very drunk on a quart of whiskey and lay in the woods all night. The next morning a large dead rattlesnake was found about three feet from him which had evidently bitten the drunken man three several times during the night, as shown by the impression of the teeth in the flesh. The bites did no further injury than to cause a slight swelling and inflamation, which soon passed away, but the mean whiskey in the man's system was too much for the snake and he is supposed to have died immediately after inflicting the wound.

THE HUMAN ROOF AND ITS THATCHING. If the man deserves well of his country who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, surely he who produces a glorious crop of hair on a comparatively barren scalp deserves the hearty thanks of the obliged party. All honor, therefore, to Professor E. T. Lyon, for, unquestionably, his renowned Kathairon accomplishes this object. Gentlemen whose whiskers are shy of making their appearance in force, or the fibers of whose moustaches disclose those "magnificent distances" for which Washington City was once so famous, will find this Hair Persuader the most wonderful encourager of fibrous development that has ever yet been invented. Both sexes are advised to use it, as by all odds, it is the best article for improving the growth and beauty of the hair, keeping it free from scurf and dandruff, preventing it from becoming harsh, dry and gray—giving it a rich gloss and endowing it with flexibility—that Toilet Chemistry has ever evolved from the vegetable kingdom.

IS YOUR STOMACH UNEASY?—Many a dyspetic Croesus would be willing, it is said, to give half his wealth for an easy stomach. If this is a fact, why do any of our "solid men" continue to endure the pangs of indigestion. Is it not patent to the whole community that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure the worst case of chronic Dyspepsia in six or eight weeks? No occasion for the expenditure of half a fortune; a few dollars will suffice to accomplish the object. Surely, every man who is not "land blind" to the great utilitarian facts of the day must know that this celebrated vegetable specific promptly relieves all diseased conditions of the stomach, liver, bowels and nervous system restores their vigor and imparts regularity to their functions. Is your epigastrium uneasy? Is the vulture, disease, gnawing at your liver? If so, resort at once to the Bitters.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.—There is no disease of human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with perfect safety, as it does not contain any metallic compound.

VEGETINE is not a stimulating bitter which creates a fictitious appetite, but a gentle tonic which assists nature to restore the stomach to a healthy action.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — The family destitute of this preparation is literally without the only safe and certain means of curing those eruptions, ulcers, swellings, and painful nervous complaints so common to us all. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

Fire—Loss $15,000.

Shortly after noon of Tuesday, the Martin planing mill near the Eastern Railroad track, Green Street, caught fire from some unknown cause, seemingly near the foot of the stairs. Considerable delay occurred in spreading the alarm, but the hand-engine on Elm Street was speedily manned. The dead bell was rung by Mr. Henry C. Walker, but not until the school house bell at Christian Shore joined in did the alarm become general. By that time the large building was in flames and the fire was beyond the control of the hand engine company. When the steamers arrived the building was nearly consumed, the old planing mill next east was on fire and the three story dwelling house south was beginning to burn. Before a stream could be played the old planing mill was a mass of flames and it was impossible to save it, as it burned like tinder. Several venturesome individuals remained in the loft for a time, passing out lumber which was afterwards burned. The efforts of the fire department were directed to preventing the spread of the fire, but for a time it was thought it would sweep to the river and endanger the closely moored schooners at Railroad wharf. Happily this catastrophe was averted. After a hard struggle, the tenement house fire was extinguished, and several old buildings in range of the fire were saved after being badly scrached and partially burned.

The fire also communicated to a pile of lumber on the old planing mill wharf and about 30,000 feet were consumed. The lumber was the property of Thos. J. Call & Sons, who occupied a barn in which a ton of hay caught fire and was ruined by fire and water. Mr. Call's horse and teams were saved. His total loss is estimated at $1800; insured. The barn belonged to the Charles Walker estate and was insured. The planing mill and tenement house belonged to the William Martin estate. There was $1000 insurance, on the house only. The owners of the other property preferring to risk the destruction of the other buildings with the machinery rather than pay seven per cent. for insurance. Their loss is upwards of $5000. The engine and boiler in the building where the fire caught were saved in good condition. They cost originally $3600. The machinery was ruined, including several high cost machines and quite a number in the upper portion of the building which the Messrs. Martin had invented and were never patented.

Messrs. Mason and Pendexter lost all their machinery in the mill and had no insurance. Their total loss is about $5000. Messrs. Chas. W. Norton, Jacob Haddock and others lost several hundred dollars' worth of lumber each—having left it at the millto be planed. Mr. Geo. W. Pendexter was peculiarly unfortunate. While working assiduously at the fire he left his coat within reach of the flames and it was burned up, with a pocket book containing $40 in money and some valuable papers.

A wood-shed of the Eastern Railroad, which corporation also owned the old planing-mill,) 45 feet long, was burned and the ruins fell across the track. Isaiah Wilson, Esq., occupied the old planing mill as a joiner's shop. His loss is $500; uninsured. Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, one of the Eastern Railroad Directors, was early at the fire and stationed the employees of the road at various places with strict instructions for all contingencies. Gov. Goodwin also stationed men on the Noble's Island bridge and took every precaution to save it. The general impression is that considering the time elapsed before the alarm became general, the firemen are entitled to great credit for confining the conflagation within the limits where they found it.

Private Brady of the U. S. Marine Corps, who distinguished himself at the burning of Came Bros.'carriage factory, was promptly on hand and rendered valuable aid to the firemen on this occasion.

We are pained to announce the decease of Moses N. Jenkins, Esq., who died of typhoid fever, Monday evening, after a very brief illness. The sad tidings will be received with grief by hosts of friends who sympathize deeply with the afflicted family. The death of a younger brother by drowning we but recently chronicled, and the double affliction, so sudden and unexpected, must fall severely on those who sorrow. Mr. Jenkins was one of our most prominent young attorneys, had attained quite a lucrative practice in his profession, and had the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

Brag and Falsehood.

The present Presidential campaign is being conducted by the Greeleycratic editors on very simple principles—brag long, brag loud, brag always, and lie as much as may seem necessary. As there is nothing possible to present in the shape of argument in favor of their candidates, all that remains to be done is to keep up a constant shouting of "Hurrah! boys; we're sweeping everything before us;" and the coppery press goes into it with a will—not only swallowing the boiled-crow but loudly swearing that it has the flavor of turtle. Any one unacquainted with the tactics of the Greeley editors and leaders, would imagine from their statements that but one man in the country, still holds to a determination to vote for Grant, that man being the present President of the United States. Among the Ex-Democratic converts to Greeley and miscegenation, none shows more zeal than the editor of the local hash-party organ; in fact he's what the Scotch would call "a mouth." He has not scrupled to reduce the Republican party in this city to a corporal's guard, and is as loud in announcing the defection of great numbers of Republicans and the certainty of an overwhelming copperhead victory, as he was previous to our late State election—and with exactly as much truth.

But his strongest point (leaving out "it is reported on good authority," "it is said" and "we learn,") is headlines and pictures. He put a big line, "The State Redeemed," over his first report of the North Carolina election; and from the way in which things appear at the moment we write this, we should not wonder if it was redeemed and had gone Republican—though that is not exactly what he meant. Another big line promised North Carolina to Greeley and Brown by 20,000 majority—which, though generous, is not so generous as it would have been had he promised 200,000 majority, which he might just as well have promised while he was at it.

Then his roosters were magnificent—much more so than the late returns of the election are for the Greeley party; and his representation of a jackass trying to throw Grant over his head was a brilliant cartoon, and no doubt truthfully expressed the opinion generally entertained by the Ex-Democrats of their Ex-Republican allies. The jackass evidently was not intended for the copperhead party, for "Republican party" was marked on his neck; and as the Republican party to which we belong, so far from being engaged in an attempt to unseat Grant fully intends to re-elect him, Willie must have intended the donkey to typify his new allies. Truthful, no doubt, but not complimentary.

Willie has made a great deal of fuss over the accesion to the Democrats of some few Republicans in this city, (most of them notoriously sore-headed,) and has given the names of a few, including that of Ex. Gov. Ichabod Goodwin! He has also, once or more, defied us to give the names of former Democrats who would vote for Grant or refuse to vote at all, alleging that the Democratic party is a unit. It may be; but we again assert that we know quite as many Democratic Grant men as we do Republican Greeleycrats; and still we decline to give names. But as Willie, in a late issue of his paper, says: "We have refrained from publishing the names of the Republicans in this city who have declared their intention to vote for Greeley and Brown for the reason that such persons do not wish to be annoyed by the 'whippers-in' of the Grant party," we will give him our reason for not furnishing the names of Democrats who decline to feast on boiled crow—which is that the man who makes public use of private conversations, or of statements privately made, without the express permission of the persons whose names he uses, shows himself wholly ignorant of the sentiments which shape the conduct of a gentleman. The same may be said of a man who gives currency to rumors which he does not know to be true, when the means of verifying or disproving them are within his reach.

The ex-copperhead editor's delicacy in "refraining from publishing the names," etc., (and his regard for the truth,) is well exemplified in his reluctance to spread the absurd rumor that Hon. Ichabod Goodwin had proved false to the principles which he has so sturdily advocated all the years the Republican party has existed. The Ex-Governor never shrank from openly declaring his political platform, and nothing was easier than to have secured from him an explicit statement of his present political faith. We, as well as Willie, heard the assertion made that "Gov. Goodwin has pronounced for Greeley," but until it was publicly made in Willie's "reliable" paper we considered it too ridiculous to be noticed. We did feel a little indignant that the Ex-Governor's honorable name was not sufficient to protect him from such a slander; but when we heard on whose authority the report was said to stand, we enjoyed a hearty laugh. When a Democrat told us "Gov. Goodwin is coming out for Greeley," the spirit moved us to say "It's a lie;" but when he added, "Gov. Goodwin told George Leach so, anyway," the ludicrous juxtaposition of names was too much for our risibilities, and our indignation vanished in mirth.

Laconics.

Republicans are requested to meet this evening at head quarters.

Kearsarge S. F. Engine Co. No. 3 has invited Torrent No. 18 of Boston to visit them next month.

The Eastern Railroad on Monday commenced running five trains each way between Lynn and East Boston.

Mr. E. A. Ferguson, Master Machinist of the Great Falls and Conway R. R., was recently the recipient of a veritable Porcupine, received from North Conway. His Porcupinity is to grace the interior of a museum.

Ex-Governor Ichabod Goodwin, in response to the general expression of indignation that he should be so basely traduced by the Greeleyites, puts himself on record indisputably as a believer in the principles of the Republican party and a supporter of Grant and Wilson, in a letter which we shall publish tomorrow morning.

Officer Currier of Salisbury arrested Butters, the horse-thief, Monday, and discovered that Butters was the man who broke into a store at Amesbury some time ago. He has served three years in the State prison at Concord for stealing horses. He is detained on the charge of burglary and horse-thieving. After that he is amenable to the laws of New Hampshire.

The picnic of the Odd Fellows of Manchester and of this vicinity is to take place to-morrow (Thursday.) The party intend to start from Pier Wharf at 7 o' clock in the morning. A limited number of tickets at $1 each for the trip will be furnished to Portsmouth members of the Order and may be procured at M. T. Betton & Co.'s store, the large number of visitors expected precluding a more extended issue.

At a meeting of the society of the North (Congregational) Church, Monday evening, it was voted to extend an invitation to Rev. Carlos Martyn, who has been filling the pulpit for the past year, to become their pastor at a salary of $2500. Rev. Mr. Martyn has succeeded in binding to himself strong friends, in and outside the society, during his brief residence among our citizens, and the complimentary manner in which the call for his permanent stay has been tendered will doubtless secure his acceptance of the pastorate.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and sometimes fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organ, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Ruptures Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With these departions health returns.

—Who are the great travellers? The barbers; they pass continually from poll to poll.

—Men are frequently like tea—the real strength and goodness are not properly drawn out of them until they have been for a short time in hot water.

—In some Russian cities persons found drunk are sentenced to sweep the streets during the whole of the next day. It has a very discouraging effect.

—Everything is now ready for the reconstruction of the Vendome Column in the Place Vendome at Paris. The plans are all prepared, the expenses being caculated at 250,000f., and M. Normand, the architect, is only waiting for orders to commence operations.

—A worthless fellow fell from the deck of a steamboat on the Mississippi and was very nearly drowned. His saviors were astounded to hear him shout, as soon he recovered breath, "Hurrah for Horace Greeley," and naturally discussed the question whether it were not best to throw him in again.

—Charles Marlow, who committed one of the most dastardly crimes on record about a year ago at Jamestown, N. Y., giving a man named Bachman strychnine in beer, stunning him by a heavy blow on the head and finally burning him in the furnace of a brewery, was hanged at Mayville on Friday, after making a full confession of his guilt.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents, Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Mount Desert.

CHAPTER II.

It was our first morning at Mount Desert. I looked from my window, "and behold the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east, and his voice was like the voice of many waters, and the earth shined with his glory." I saw as it were a sea of glass mingled with fire, and a "multitude of isles" was there. The mountains were crowned with light, the forests sang, and the valleys were full of peace.

Bar Harbor is a village of hotels, clustered around the shore of Frenchman's Bay, at the foot of the two highest mountains on the Island, and within easy walking distance of them both. There is the bare, precipitious peak of Newport, with a bold spur, Round Mountain, on its inland side, and a long series of sharp descents on the side towards the sea. Green Mountain, from its altitude of some sixteen hundred feet, looks solemnly down on this bold summit, and stretches its dark ridge far to the south-west. From the piazza of our hotel, my eyes were always drawn upward with irresistible attraction, to where the long curve of the mountain's back ends in a sudden plunge into the gorge; for from the brink of that tremendous precipice the eye commands a view unsurpassed, perhaps, in the world. But this is anticipating,—we are not yet at the summit, but down in the village.

Before going further, I must say something about our accommodations and fare, because these matters are important, and opinions vary concerning them. I have just read that article on Mount Desert in the August "Harper's" and conclude that the writer's last visit to the Island was paid some years ago, giving time for great improvement in the matter of food,—or else that he "fell among thieves." The bread, of which he particularly complains, we found to be very good, at Deering's, and instead of a lack of meat and a superabundance of fish we found rather the reverse. I could not understand why we had fish so seldom, and especially lobster, which was much in demand, and which appeared but twice during our stay of five days, and then in scanty measure. The landlord was sounded on the subject, but he kept his own counsel discreetly. The table was always abundantly furnished with well-cooked meats and vegetables,— very much such fare as Madam Freeman provides for her visitors at Cape Neddick, or Captain Fletcher at the Biddeford Pool,—good, plain, and wholesome. And with such an appetite as was furnished by the air and exercise at Mt. Desert, I could find much poorer fare delicious. To be sure it wasn't in the least like Parker's or Delmonico's; neither were our rooms, with two yellow chairs, one ditto table with drawer, wash-stand and bed, straw matting and small looking-glass dangling from a peg;—but the rooms were clean, airy, and free from bores of the insect persuasion. Still less was it like a first-class hotel to find no notice in the office, "Beware of pick-pockets. Jewels or money may be left in charge of the clerk for safe keeping;" or to walk along the entries and see room after room left open, articles of dress or ornament and even jewelry lying about, portmanteaus open, and the rooms deserted by their occupants, not for a few minutes only, but for hours and often for the day. To leave your door unlocked is a luxury not to be indulged in at every hotel; and one which, to many, more than counterbalances the most sumptuous furniture and the most epicurean fare. I saw no foreign help at all; the women were all dwellers at Mt. Desert, or came down from the neighboring towns in Maine, for the season. The waiters at table were fine specimens of country-girls,—dignified, self-respecting, and evidently glad to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the guests. Long may it be before the Hotel our friend in Harper sighs for is seen at Bar Harbor, with its inevitable accompaniments,—Irish help and black legs. Those who truly love the mountains and the sea, will not complain because their food is simple and their bed is hard. For others there is ample accommodation elsewhere.

All the mountain wagons are in requi-

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen year spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, QUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest Instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

Ex-Governor Goodwin Speaks.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:—Being greatly annoyed and astonished by a report started in Maine and republished in one of our local papers, to the effect that I have abandoned the political principles and proclivities of a long life time by announcing myself a supporter of Horace Greeley and his grotesque medley, I feel it but just to my party and myself to say unequivocally and plainly that the statement is utterly base and groundless, and only to be ranked as a feeble trick of political chicanery.

Regarding the Greeley movement as a coalition of the worst men of both great political parties, I cannot but look with dismay upon a successful issue of an alliance which would throw our Government into the hands of its late enemies, the rebels of the South. In 1864, Horace Greeley, even then unreliable, attempted to defeat the re-election of President Lincoln—a man whose sagacity was clearly demonstrated in his selection of the General who was destined to give the final blow to the Rebellion, and who, as our honored President for the last four years, has so faithfully administered the great trust reposed in his hands. Under the banner of Grant and Wilson, and only under its folds, can the country look for prosperity and greatness.

Very Respectfully, &c.,

ICHABOD GOODWIN.

Portsmouth, N. H., August 7, 1872.

PRESIDENT GRANT INTERVIEWED.—In an interview with a newspaper man, Tuesday, President Grant said that he considered the result in North Carolina a Republican victory. He could not say he was very anxious as to the result, and he would not say he was not.

He then said: "I was not anxious to be President a second term, but I consented to receive the nomination simply because I thought that was the best way of discovering whether my countrymen or the majority of them really believed all that was alleged against my administration and against myself personally. The asperities of an election campaign will give my political opponents and personal enemies an opportunity and an excuse to say all that can be said against me. That opportunity I do not grudge them, and I depend on the people to rebuke or indorse me as they see fit. All those who have treated me unfairly have now a chance to declare themselves. I do not personally covet the Presidency any longer. The mere fact of my having occupied the position I have already enjoyed. It was an honor to me, which I trust I shall duly appreciate. But the attacks were made upon me long before I had fulfilled my term, and before I had ever thought of a second term. I reluctantly consented to enter upon this second struggle, and I would not have done so at all, if I did not feel a desire to know whether the majority of my fellow-citizens were willing to aid my enemies in foisting slanders upon me. Besides I am anxious to ascertain whether the Republican party, whose choice I again happen to be, is to have its policy sustained or not."

North Carolina.

A despatch to President Grant from Judge Settle at Raleigh, dated 7th, 11.50 A. M., says "North Carolina has elected the entire Republican State ticket by majorities ranging from 1500 to 2000."

The legislature has ten Democratic majority in each branch.

The N. Y. Tribune says the returns which it has give Caldwell a majority of 406.

A later dispatch from Raleigh estimates the majority at 2500.

—The Japanese let off their fireworks in the day time.

—Germany lost just 183,078 officers and men in the late war with France.

—Twelve hundred pounds of tomatoes grew on a single vine in California.

—The Kansas papers speak of Mr. Sumner's letter as "Charles and his Ball."

—Brigham Young's latest domestic census enumerates forty daughters and twenty-eight sons.

—All at one time three little Hirths joined the other little Hirths around the hearth of P. Hirth of St. Louis.

Political.

Horace Greeley is at Manchester.

Senator Wilson had an audience of 10,000 at Richmond, Ind.

About 15,000 majority for Grant is the figure claimed by intelligent Republicans in Louisiana.

Gen. Farnsworth of Illinois joins the Greeley crowd. Reason why—a few days ago he was defeated for a Congressional renomination in a Republican convention.

The names of George Opdyke, Ex-Senator Morgan and Geo. Wm. Curtis, among others, are mentioned as probable candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York.

Mr. Stanton, the husband of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, is a Greeley man. Mr. Gage, the husband of Mrs. Joslyn Gage, is also a Greeley man. Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. Gage are both Grant men.

Postmaster-General Creswell says that after extensive conversation and observations he believes Michigan will swell its Republican majority to 30,000, an increase of nearly 10,000 over last year.

Ex-Representative Benjamin G. Harris of Maryland openly and emphatically repudiates Greeley, and publishes a vigorous letter advising his fellow Democrats to attend Blanton Duncan's straight-out convention.

Col. Forney gives a quietus to the rumors that he is soon coming out for Greeley, by the assertion that "nobody more earnestly desires the re-election of General Grant, and nobody has done or is doing more to secure it."

The son and nephew of a German shopkeeper and Greeleyite in Janesville, Wis., hung effigies of the liberal candidates in front of his store for a joke, and the great northwest rings with the narrative of "administration venom."

What purports to be a "Liberal Republican" State Committee has been appointed (by whom?) at Concord. Among the names we notice the name of Eleazer D. Barker, who, it is stated, has acted with the Republican party. This will be news to the citizens of Wolfeborough at least.—News.

The "straight" Democratic committee have issued a circular calling on straight-out Democrats to organize. It suggests that district conventions be held by the 20th of August, and announces that arrangements have been made for half fares going to and returning from the Louisville convention.

The Independent, an influential Democratic paper in Kansas, announces that it cannot support Mr. Greeley, and hoists the names of Grant & Wilson. It says: We recognize the fact that while President Grant does not belong to, or confess membership in what we have known as the Democratic party, and thereby commend himself to our choice, still, of the two candidates prominently in the field, we believe him the better representative and exponent of the principles of honesty and reform, and of the two, the only one who possesses the moderation and good judgment necessary in a wise and discreet ruler. Then, "with malice toward none, with charity to all," we join hands across the narrow gulf of party with those against whom we have been politically arrayed, and "with firmness in the right to pursue the right," we propose to lend our assistance, such as it may be, to binding up the wounds of the country, and insuring a lasting peace which, we honestly believe, can be best and most speedily effected by the election of Grant and Wilson.

Judge E. O. Hamlin, one of the most honored and respected Democrats of Minnesota, repudiates Greeley and announces his intention to vote for General Grant. In his letter Judge Hamlin says: As between these two Republican candidates I much prefer the man who possesses at least the dignity of silence beneath the most bitter and audacious personal calumnies to a political gymnast, who, having heretofore regulated his life by the wish that "it might be written on his tomb that he never was a follower of the Democratic party, and lived and died in nothing its debtor," now astonishes the world by accepting a place "upon a platform of principles which are at once incontestibly Republican and emphatically Democratic." As between these two parties I much prefer the government of a party of principle to the tyranny of a rapacious and discordant organization whose only claim to support is loud-mouthed protestations of honesty, and whose only cohesive power must be the hope of public plunder, and I am frank to admit that if the shibboleth of Democracy consists in placing in the Presidential chair a man who has always been "a decided enemy of that party even in its most respectable aspects," I have misunderstood its principles and loved it and honored it in vain.

The News.

The Japanese embassy has left the country.

Niji-Novgorod, Russia, was burning on the 7th.

The iron bridge of the Boston & Maine Railroad across the Saco River is about completed, and is an ornamental structure.

Dr. Peters, at Utica, N. Y., reports the discovery on the night of July 31 of two new planets. Both belong to the asteroids.

At base ball in Baltimore, the Athletics defeated the Baltimores, 24 to 9. In New York the Mutuals defeated the Mansfields, 14 to 3.

A French boy named Fish, ten years old, got caught in a belt of the peppermint mill at Biddeford and was horribly crushed and mangled.

There was severe rioting at the close of the elections in Quebec. The stores were all closed and the military and police were all out. Three men were shot.

Rino Creek, N. Y., during a heavy rain storm overflowed its banks and the water swept everything before it. A house was carried away and two children were drowned.

The evidence before the House congressional committee now in Brownsville, Texas, investigating the depredations on the Mexican border, reveals an appalling record of murder and plunder.

Ship Harry Warren, Captain Adir, which sailed from Liverpool, March 14, for Calcutta, was wrecked at the mouth of the river Hoogly on the 12th of July. She was a good ship of 1181 tons register, built at Newburyport in 1864, but hailed from Liverpool.

At Newburyport on Monday evening the mackerel struck in and the fishermen averaged over a thousand per boat. The market was glutted, fishmongers offering but four dollars per thousand. This drove the fishermen to the street, where they offered them at fifteen cents per dozen.

The Argentine provinces on the west side of the Rio Platte are invaded by Indians who are ravaging the country by burning settlements, taking lives and committing plunder. The government at Buenos Ayres is charged with neglect in providing defence, and the excitement runs high. The invasion is said to have removed all danger of war between the Confederation and Brazil.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.—There is no disease of human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with perfect safety, as it does not contain any metallic compound.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—The family destitute of this preparation is literally without the only safe and certain means of curing those eruptions, ulcers, swellings, and painful nervous complaints so common to us all. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.,) Journal.

THE HUMAN ROOF AND ITS THATCHING If the man deserves well of his country who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, surely he who produces a glorious crop of hair on a comparatively barren scalp deserves the hearty thanks of the obliged party. All honor, therefore, to Professor E. T. Lyon, for, unquestionably, his renowned Kathairon accomplishes this object. Gentlemen whose whiskers are shy of making their appearance in force, or the fibers of whose moustaches disclose those "magnificent distances" for which Washington City was once so famous, will find this Hair Persuader the most wonderful encourager of fibrous development that has ever yet been invented. Both sexes are advised to use it, as by all odds, it is the best article for improving the growth and beauty of the hair, keeping it free from scurf and dandruff, preventing it from becoming harsh, dry and gray—giving it a rich gloss and endowing it with flexibility—that Toilet Chemistry has ever evolved from the vegetable kingdom.

IS YOUR STOMACH UNEASY?—Many a dyspetic Cœsus would be willing, it is said, to give half his wealth for an easy stomach. If this is a fact, why do any of our "solid men" continue to endure the pangs of indigestion. Is it not patent to the whole community that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure the worst case of chronic Dyspepsia in six or eight weeks? No occasion for the expenditure of half a fortune; a few dollars will suffice to accomplish the object. Surely, every man who is not "land blind" to the great utilitarian facts of the day must know that this celebrated vegetable specific promptly relieves all diseased conditions of the stomach, liver, bowels and nervous system, restores their vigor and imparts regularity to their functions. Is your epigastrium uneasy? Is the vulture, disease, gnawing at your liver? If so, resort at once to the Bitters.

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such complaints, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Death of Prof. Senter.

A dispatch was received in this city shortly after ten o'clock, on Wednesday, announcing the sudden death of Prof. Timothy G. Senter at Portland. Professor Senter was a native of Portsmouth and learned the hatter's trade of Mr. Joshua Knight. Afterwards, in August, 1840, he commenced teaching the grammar school in the old brick school house in the room now used for election purposes. In 1858, he was offered the Professorship of Dean Academy, at Franklin, Mass., and accepting the trust remained in charge of the institution until within a few months, resigning on account of ill health. Since then he has resided in Portland. Prof. Senter leaves a wife, a son, Rev. Chas. Herbert Senter, and a daughter. It was our good fortune to attend Mr. Senter's school in '54 and '55 and we venture to say that none of the thousands of pupils who sat under his teaching ever found a teacher whose friendship they valued more than his. All will remember him as one who left behind him most pleasant memories and agreeable associations. In the early days of the city organization Mr. Senter served as a Councilman and an Alderman.

Short Sightedness.

What is its cause? A careless neglect of those principles which are the mainspring of all successful efforts. What is its cure? Ans.: Follow the light of wisdom instead of groping on in darkness. The human mind has a capacity for growth and to this end all other powers and forces are to be made subservient. Bring every enterprise to the test point of this truth and permanent success will be the result. Neglect on this point has filled the world with obstructions and drawbacks. Our forefathers in their shortsightedness invented ardent spirits, and mankind have stumbled and failed in almost every enterprise that they have undertaken. The substitution of ales is an improvement only so far as an imbecile may be preferable to a madman. Also, in the construction of great works, railroads and the like, how many mistakes have been made? Not to spend time in enumerating what almost every individual is fully cognizant of already,—wisdom dictates that we now open our eyes widely as possible in order that we may know the path that lies before us.

Let me instance our railway enterprises. The present basis of their prosperity is that from necessity people travel, and freight merchandise; but it does not require a large amount of the spirit of prophecy to discern that ere long (perhaps) passenger business will mostly if not wholly occupy their resources, and people will travel for enjoyment and not as now from necessity. Then it will be necessary for railroads to offer attractions of beautiful and diversified scenery with all the variations possible to relieve monotony and prevent fatigue. Such a variation for instance as would be afforded by a good pontoon bridge which I will imagine stretched across our river just above Freeman's Point, on which passengers could make a foot trip, or by good substantial ferry boats enjoy another variety. The present violent efforts to make trade and commerce of such leading importance, will subside. Then it will be seen that the true policy in fixing routes and termini is to preserve carefully all natural outlines of beauty, and have an ear open to every one who may have suggestions to make on this point. P. X.

Mr. C. A. Hazlett advertises his four Fire Insurance Companies in another column. The Hanover and New Hampshire Companies have been recently added to the list.

Mr. E. H. Balch has sold his lease of the stable on Fleet Street and a part of his stock, to Mr. Enoch Skilling, of Biddeford. Mr. Balch has removed to Warren Street.

On Wednesday, about 2 o'clock, A. M., fire was discovered in a house at Rye, owned by Mr. U. Harvey Jenness and occupied by the family of Mr. John P. Peabody, of Salem, Mass. The dwelling and a carriage house were entirely consumed. Probably the work of an incendiary.

A New York paper says of Lester Wallack's dramatic company, which performs here next Monday evening:—

The brilliant and sparkling society play, entitled "Americans in Paris," is always welcome to the frequenters of Wallack's Theatre. Mr. Stoddart keeps the audience in the best of spirits from first to last. Miss Julia Gaylord, as the Zealous Wife of Fashion, acts remarkably well and dresses very richly. Mr. B. T. Ringgold is excellent as Arthur Morris, the fast Young Husband. Mr. Rockwell, Mr. Holland, Miss Reeves, etc., are in the cast. Mr. Stoddart's humorous acting of Doctor Botherer, in this play, is as great a hit in its way as is his famous "Lawyer Moneypenny," in Boucicault's "Long Strike."

CLERGYMEN HALF PRICE.—The Eastern Railroad now sells tickets to ministers at half price. A Western road that tried this experiment found that it was an advantage to both parties. Ministers not only rode more, but even more than twice as much, taking with them occasionally, a wife or child. The Eastern can easily bear all the loss it will suffer from this liberality, through the decided gain it is steadily making over the Boston and Maine road.—Boston News.

An Exeter kitten always smells the breath of a sister kitten after any absence from it. If it finds that stay-at-home has had anything to take during its absence, the mewing that arises to get a share is really painful to hear.

The disappearance of an old lady by the name of Whidden, aged about 80, from her home at Hill's Corner in Canterbury, where she lived alone and was provided for by one of her neighbors, who is heir to her property, is the cause of great excitement in the town. Upwards of one hundred people have been engaged in searching for her.

A Boston correspondent writes: Several prominent stockholders in the Boston & Maine road are considering the feasibility of appointing Mr. Merritt general manager, on his return from Europe, or some such practical man, and of the selection of Mr. Cyrus Wakefield or E. J. M. Hale for president of the Board of Directors, with duties similar to those performed by the president of the Eastern road. It is also currently reported that the directors from Strafford county may be excused from further services after the November annual election to give place to some one representing a large amount of stock in the corporation.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to be hold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glose and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Boils or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Scrofula, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal abscess, Dropsical Affecting Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Morning Chronicle.

sition, such bright mornings as this of July 24th; party after party embark at the piazzas in high spirits, and drive off in various directions; others pass us with their fishing tackle and sketch-books on the way to their boats, and I suppose some remain at their hotels, though as we were never at ours during the day, I cannot tell. The top of Green Mountain was our aim, and to attain it we secured a wagon, a driver, and two bottles of excellent cider. We started just after breakfast, warmly dressed, for the morning was cold; the pipe of peace sent up its modest tribute to the mountain mists,—the knowledge that there was plenty of tobacco abroad diffused a beautiful serenity over the mariner's countenance, and prepared him to fully appreciate the scenery. I had retired into the cavernous shades of an enormous hat, broad enough to accommodate the most liberal Christian, in the hopes of escaping additional freckles and a red nose. From this retreat I looked out with delight as we drove along the road that passes the church, running between the bay and the mountains, and in full view of both. All the houses as we passed were astir with preparations for the pleasure-parties of the day, small craft were already dotting the bright blue water and all went merry as a dinner-bell. In a few minutes we struck into the Somesville road, that passes over a spur of Green mountains; the woods shut in the view on either hand and we began to climb.

The variety and richness of the evergreens give one of its greatest charms to the landscape. I saw scarcely a pine on Green Mountain, but splendid firs, spruces, arbor-vitæ, birches, alders, some oaks, and here and there a maple. Such lovely spruces, spreading their wide green skirts till they trailed on the moss, in a way to make the landscape gardener's mouth water; how I wished some of them transplanted to various gardens that I wot of! The giant fir lifted its cone-shaped, black-green mass far up against the light, the arbor-vitæ were green to their tips and heavy with clusters of blossoms. Here and there a spruce hung full of dark red tassels. Baby trees of all sorts stood up to their knees in the moss, and the moss was everywhere. How it does love the woods and mountains! and when it finds both its dear friends together, it seems to run wild with joy, hugs the old trees and the fallen trunks, swings from the boughs high overhead, riots in the hollows underfoot, scrambles all over the wild crags, peeps into every crevice of the rocks, and decks everything it can get hold of with fringe, or plume, or mimic fern, fairy cup or painted tapestry, and never seems to think it has done enough. The sun struck through under the trees and painted great patches golden-green or brown; close by in the shade it was velvety, deep and dark; here on the rock were splashes of orange, grey and black; there a damp hollow was all cushioned with tender yellow. And the bunch-berry parties all up and down the mountain, what brilliant affairs they were!

We reached, in about half an hour's driving, the foot of the mountain proper, where we found a carriage drawn aside under the shade of the wood, and inferred that its occupants had preceded us to the summit. Here we stopped to look back over miles of forest to the many-islanded bay, the splendid blue range known as Schoodic Hills, with lesser hills innumerable, and straight down into Eagle Lake, below us, yet far above the level of the sea, sunk in its deep green cradle among the mountains, wooded to its very margin, and where the little white clouds hung ever it, looking as if some giant had made sooty finger-marks upon it. These shadows were too much like dirt to be beautiful. Thus far the ascent had been gradual and the road very good. Now it began to look like Jacob's ladder in the Colombian Bible. The driver and the A. M. walked from here, and so did I, much of the way. I was glad to get out and plunge my feet into the moss, and gather treasures to fill up the bottom of the wagon and be lost or forgotten, to the mariner's great delight. Every moss-bed paid toll as I went by; the pretty mountain sand-wort, a one-flowered yellow honeysuckle, the bright little mountain cranberry, and other charmers, met me at every step and made the ascent very difficult, so that I was put into the wagon at last because the horse and the other gentlemen were tired of stopping for me. But not until we had come up with a party of seven or eight, including two pleasant-faced ladies of the boulder pattern, who evidently found it hard work rolling up hill. They were resting from their labors just then, 11 1-2 A. M., and expected to reach the top, eye the various views and return to the foot of the ascent at one o'clock, at which time their wagon was to come for them. Wishing they might be so fortunate as to secure the services of a friendly iceberg and be landed on the mountain top with the other boulders, we passed on.

On leaving the wagon the Mariner had scraped acquaintance with one of the bottles of cider, which flew up and hit him in the eye, and foamed at the mouth so alarmingly that the driver and I beat a hasty retreat. We had no drinking vessel, and I was afraid the Mariner would lose his cider; but he was equal to the emergency, and after two or three ineffectual attempts to quell the riot with his thumb he put the animated bottle to his lips and stood fire nobly. Perhaps he realizes now the sensations of a toad swallowing a bumble-bee. With the aid of this invigorating drink he ascended the mountain in fine style, and not content with the steepness of the road, struck out through the thickets and over the huge boulders to reach the top of a rugged height which frowned a challenge to those below to "come up higher," in a way no man with that cider inside him could possibly stand. When we arrived at the summit he was already there; we ordered dinner at the little hotel which stands on the highest point, wrapped our cloaks about us and started for a tour of the summit.

I have not spoken of the beautiful views all along the ascent of Sargent's Mountain and Great Hill, spurs and peaks unknown, all dark with evergreen forests, full of noble expression, deeply grooved with valleys and ravines, bathed in the splendid noon-day light, with here and there a slope lying in the velvety blackness of a cloud-shadow,—for the clouds were grand that day. To these near mountain views, as in all the views we had at Mt. Desert, was added the charm of the loveliest water scenery and the beauty of distant hills. Eagle Lake assumes a new aspect at every point along the wood, the little white sand beach at its southern extremity looking as if it would be a lovely walk. One of the most beautiful effects I saw in going up, was when a turn in the road brought us suddenly in sight of a dark green mountain wall, nearly a thousand feet above us, with a dazzling pile of white noon clouds behind it.

Now, at last, we sat on the weather-beaten summit looking towards the sea, with a view of bewildering beauty and immensity before us. The great disk of the earth in whose centre we sat enthroned, held within its vast circumference as fair a scene, I believe, as can be found on the globe. The view from the summit will form the subject of another letter. Some idea of the height of this mountain may be obtained from the length of time it takes me to get up and down again. M. E. B.

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of those are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds of the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

HEROIC DEATH.—Yesterday morning a company of colored soldiers from Philadelphia visited Spring Mill Heights, for the purpose of having a little target shooting and enjoying the pleasures of a picnic. They were joined during the day by quite a number from Norristown, and nothing occurred to mar the pleasures of the occasion until half-past six o'clock. About that time Philip Gould, who, we believe, was not a member of the company, but had come from New Jersey to attend the picnic in company with five ladies, one of whom was the wife of the lieutenant of the company, was enjoying a row on the Schuylkill.

The party finally disembarked opposite the picnic grounds at the point where the boats are usually moored. They then ascended the bank and commenced walking down the track. It so happened that they chose the down track, which runs along next to the river on an embankment about ten feet high. They had proceeded a considerable distance below the picnic grounds when one of the ladies heard the whistle of an engine, and called the attention of the others to the fact. The party, half turning around, looked across the river, and seeing a train passing on the Norristown side, supposed the whistle to have been that of the engine attached to it.

Unfortunately they were mistaken, and before a single warning could be given, the Reading express, which does not stop between Norristown and Philadelphia, came thundering around the curve at the rate of forty miles an hour. The heavy curve prevented the engineer from seeing them until almost upon them, and then it was impossible to do anything to stop the train. Gould was the first to see the danger, and, with a presence of mind totally unexampled, and with a heroism which has rarely had a parallel, instantly pushed the whole five of his companions off the track and over the embankment. Almost in the act the engine caught him, and mangling him terribly, tossed his body over the smoke-stack on to the tender of the engine, from which he rolled off on to the roadside. The lieutenant of the company was but a short way off, and seeing the position of the party when the train came along, supposed of course all were killed.

He rushed immediately to the spot and, looking over the embankment, saw his wife and the four ladies among the bushes along the river's edge, where they had fallen entirely uninjured. But Gould had preserved them only at the sacrifice of his own life, and when picked up he was dead.—Norristown Herald, 1st inst.

AN AWFUL FATE.—It was an awful fate for such a little boy. Tommy Adler is our nephew. His father has just come back from Europe, and had brought with him a miniature music box which played four tunes. It was long and narrow, but not much larger than a ten cent note. So one day just after the music box had been wound up Thomas got to fooling with it, and placed it in his mouth, and accidentally swallowed it. When Thomas went down to dinner, certain mysterious music seemed to be wafted from under the table, and the food became quite cold while the family groped around on the floor trying to discover whence the sounds. But the truth was discovered at last. While the family was at prayer that evening Thomas got the hiccup, and the music box started off, all of a sudden, 'Listen to the Mocking Bird.' Whereupon Mr. Adeler, senior, rose from his knees, and grasped Thomas by the hair, and shook him up a lot, and asked him what he meant. They tried their best to get that music up, but it stuck fast; and every time they would pour some kind of emetic down Thomas' throat the machine would give a sort of fresh spurt, and grind out 'Home, Sweet Home,' or 'Thou'lt never Cease to Love.' And so they were compelled to permit that music box to remain inside of young Mr. Adeler; and it made him miserable, because, just as likely as not, while he was asleep in the middle of the night, the melody works inside would begin to work, and would play 'Kathleen Mavourneen,' for two or three hours, unless a peg happened to slip, when it would switch back into 'Listen to the Mocking Bird,' and rattle that tune out till Tommy's brother would kick him out of bed in wild despair, and make him miserable. And the same way when he went to church. Very likely in the most solemn part of the sermon it would start in with 'Thou'lt Never Cease to Love,' until the clergyman would stop and look cross-eyed at Thomas, and the sexton would rush up the aisle, grab him by the collar and incarcerate him in the cellar until after church. But what the boy suffered at school, with those internal variations of 'Home, Sweet Home' and 'Kathleen Mavourneen' tearing around him at the most unreasonable periods, so that the teacher every few minutes caned him, was more awful. And it will kill him. Unless the musical box can be got out, Thomas Adeler will die.

MAX ADELER.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-tirying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the quince of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, prolonged with fear and anxiety not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

In the ultimate their of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sedorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine; is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and colds, and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS!

The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES

for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

North Carolina.

In the fifth Congressional district, Judge Settle is beaten by only 200 votes. Eight hundred Republicans were deprived the right to vote there and Judge Settle will doubtless contest his election and obtain his seat in the next Congress.

The New York Tribune places the Republican majority at 1323.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE held a very enthusiastic meeting at Concord, Wednesday evening. The inspiriting letter of Hon. Ichabod Goodwin was read and received with a storm of applause. Hon. E. H. Rollins, the able Chairman of the Committee, announced that owing to the great increase of his private business, he was compelled to resign the position he has filled so acceptably and efficiently for seventeen years. He stated his intention of aiding to his utmost power the election of Grant and Wilson. After speeches by many of the members of the committee thanking Mr. Rollins for his great work in the cause, the resignation was accepted and Orrin C. Moore, Esq., editor of the Nashua Telegraph was chosen Chairman. Mr. B. F. Prescott will continue as Secretary. Hon. William E. Chandler, Secretary of the Republican National Committee, was present and spoke confidently of the results of the campaign. Members from all sections of the State expressed themselves as knowing the Greeley defection to be of little importance, overbalanced in every case by the refusal of large numbers of Democrats to support their old enemy for the Presidency.

Who Comes Next?

Following quick upon the heels of Hon. Charles Sumner, General N. P. Banks has declared for Greeley and Brown. We hardly know how to receive these accessions, whether with a hearty welcome as adding to the strength and to the popularity and respectability of the movement, or with fearful apprehensions lest they should prove a source of weakness by creating dissatisfaction at the overshadowing influence which, as prominent Republicans, they may exercise over the counsels of the party in the hour of triumph.

Charles Sumner, though he may not be able to break the solid and compact black column of the South, and draw away any considerable portion of the colored vote from Grant, will most undoubtedly carry with him his warmest and most devoted admirers in the East and West. The fear is they come in such numbers as to endanger the influence of the more liberal element in the party; and thus the very object we have had in view—that of changing a radical for a liberal administration—may be defeated.

There is such a thing as a party becoming too popular. We don't want the liberal movement to fail from this cause. We want enough to overcome the present corrupt radical party, and put men of a more liberal and tolerant record in possession of the government; but we have not dreamed of merely swapping the devils we now have for such witches as Sumner and Banks. It may be well enough to have it understood in advance that these eleventh hour men are not to seize on the leadership, appropriate the fruits of victory to their own uses, and turn the entire movement into a mockery.

Banks is not by any means to distasteful to us as Sumner; still he is a very ambitious man, and has long had his eye on the Presidency; but he has of late years been in the "vocative," and we trust that he has no very large axe to grind now. He wanted to "let the Union slide" once upon a time, but was the first among the civilians to accept a military commission and invade the South at the head of Massachusetts troops. Banks was, however, a very humane and magnanimous as well as a very "inefficient" general. He treated our people very kindly upon all occasions, and so far from doing us any damage in the field, many a poor, ragged and hungry Confederate was indebted to his well stocked commissariat, both in Virginia and Louisiana, for an occasional "square meal." Therefore, should his repentance prove sincere, we think upon the whole we may bid him welcome—but he must not fix his hopes too high or expect too great a price. He is now chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, and knows where the richest fruit grows in foreign climes.

As for Mr. Sumner, we shall do the best we can with him; although, to tell the truth, we were already so full of first-class lodgers we scarcely know where to stow him away. As he is not particular, however, and would not object to negro company, we may provide for him in the kitchen cabinet with Pinchback, Sella Martin, Fred. Douglass and any other of his colored friends who may be induced to follow in his wake. While we are in the humor for this thing it won't do to be particular. Greeley has been pardoned and exalted and we may as well, perhaps, make the amnesty general, and take Sumner, Banks and all who can be induced to desert the sinking fortunes of Grant and Morton into the liberal fold. The association may have the happiest effect, and result even in their liberalization and reform. Who comes next?—Richmond Enquirer (Democratic.)

What a lofty opinion the Southern Democrats entertain of their Ex-Republican allies at the North! The desire for office and political power, though quite sufficient to "liberalize" the Democratic party, is inferior to the task of making the party conceal the contempt entertained for their new converts from the Republican side.

Ex-Governor Goodwin Speaks.

To the Editors of the Chronicle:—Being greatly annoyed and astonished by a report started in Maine and republished in one of our local papers, to the effect that I have abandoned the political principles and proclivities of a long life time by announcing myself a supporter of Horace Greeley and his grotesque medley, I feel it but just to my party and myself to say unequivocally and plainly that the statement is utterly base and groundless, and only to be ranked as a feeble trick of political chicanery.

Regarding the Greeley movement as a coalition of the worst men of both great political parties, I cannot but look with dismay upon a successful issue of an alliance which would throw our Government into the hands of its late enemies, the rebels of the South. In 1864, Horace Greeley, even then unreliable, attempted to defeat the re-election of President Lincoln—a man whose sagacity was clearly demonstrated in his selection of the General who was destined to give the final blow to the Rebellion, and who, as our honored President for the last four years, has so faithfully administered the great trust reposed in his hands. Under the banner of Grant and Wilson, and only under its folds, can the country look for prosperity and greatness.

Very Respectfully, &c.,
ICHABOD GOODWIN.
Portsmouth, N. H., August 7, 1872.

Political.

Gen. John Bedel, formerly Democratic nominee for Governor of New Hampshire, openly repudiates Greeley.

The Concord Monitor says the defection of Col. Tappan "will grieve, as well as surprise, his Republican" friend in all parts of the State. Some may grieve, we think, but few will be surprised.

Twenty-five straight-out Democrats of Veazie, Me., have formed a club and are determined to stick to old Democratic principles. They take no stock in new departures, and will either vote for Democrats or Republicans straight.

A query is suggested by the new liquor law, which makes the liquor seller responsible for any damage done by any persons whom he has rendered intoxicated. If the Democratic candidate for Vice-President should again visit New Haven, could the proprietor of the New Haven House be held responsible for the damage he would do his party?—Waterbury American.

Mr. Greeley tells the people of New Hampshire that he comes here to visit the playmates of his childhood. "Playmates of my childhood" is good, but we suggest to Horace that it is rather thin. Douglas ruined that idea when he went to "see his mother." It is the playmates of his second childhood the old office-seeker desires to meet.

So it seems that our Democratic friends in New Hampshire would be placed under guardianship in case Greeley should be elected President. Mason Tappan, trusted by the Republicans beyond his merit, goes to Greeley because Horace was his play-mate in school-boy days! The texture is not of sufficient thickness! Rather confirmatory is his defection of the statement that Greeley, if elected, would give Cols. Kent and Tappan the disposal of the entire government patronage in this State. Think of this, ye Democrats, who are to furnish 999 out of every 1000 votes to be given to Greeley—and then get down on your marrow bones to Kent and Tappan for salvation via office.

State News.

Hon. Geo. G. Fogg has resigned his position of Editor-in-Chief of the Independent Statesman.

Mr. John P. Lord of Manchester, a representative in the legislature, has received an appointment in the Boston Custom House.

—A Peoria lady lately gave employment to a gorgeously clad and tremendously pigtailed heathen Chinee, and the entire family turned out to see him work. He broke plates, smashed a lamp-chimney, spilt dish-water on the floor and swore in good English when he scalded his fingers, in so familiar a voice that the good lady found to her disgust that the "hired help" was only her oldest son, wearing her best Dolly Varden and her last new switch. He won't do that again, just yet.

—Nasby is worth $200,000 and owes a farm.

A STRANGE STORY.—From Captain Samuel Elwell, master of the schooner Belvidere, which arrived at this port from Georges, on Sunday, we learn the particulars of one of the most singular verifications of a dream, and the evidence of the committal of a most shocking crime, which has ever come under our notice. On Sunday morning, 21st ult., soon after breakfast, while the vessel was crossing Georges, Captain Elwell, not feeling very well, concluded that he would go down below and "turn in." This he did, and after getting asleep, dreamed that he saw a dead body afloat on the water. All his efforts to secure it proved unavailing, and it finally passed under the counter of the vessel.

His dream seemed so much like reality, and his efforts to secure the body, and disappointment in not being enabled to do so caused him to awake, and upon going on deck found it impossible to convince himself that he had not actually witnessed the scene so vividly portrayed in the dream. It made such an impression upon him that he felt intuitively that something out of the common course would soon occur. The crew, noticing his uneasiness, asked the cause, and he told them of the dream, and they endeavored to convince him that dreams were nothing but fancies of the mind, and tried to withdraw his mind from the subject, but all of no avail.

About half an hour after the captain had come on deck he noticed a box, some distance ahead, floating upon the water. Upon sailing up to it he made endeavors to get it on board, but it eluded his grasp and went under the counter of the vessel. They sailed on, but the captain was uneasy and finally gave orders to put about and secure the box. This was done, and upon opening it there was found the body of a lithe girl about four years of age, who had apparently been dead some ten days. She had on a plaid dress, with a white apron, nice pair of gaiter boots, and had the appearance of belonging to persons well-to-do in the world. Her hair was of golden brown, and the top of the forehead gave indications of severe injuries. She was lying upon seaweed, with which the box was packed, and there were holes bored in the sides, which indicated the desire of the perpetrator of the deed to have the box sink. The box was of coarse, hard wood, nailed securely, and it was evidently made expressly for the purpose.

As decomposition of the body had commenced, and the vessel was not to return for several days, it was nailed up and sunk. If Captain Elwell had thought of the affair as he now does, he would have placed the body on ice and brought it ashore, where the proper steps could have been taken to secure depositions to be used as evidence if they should ever be needed. But in the excitement of the moment, neither himself nor any of his crew thought of this. They, however, can describe the dress, and the appearance of the body, which may be of some benefit in unravelling the horrid mystery with which it is surrounded.

The above are the facts in the case, and, taken together, form a remarkable revelation. Strange indeed was the captain's dream, and still more strange was the discovery of the box, the unsuccessful attempt to obtain it, its subsequent recovery and the body found therein. There is scarcely a doubt that the little girl had been foully dealt with, and the perpetrators of the deed had supposed that the box would sink and their deed would never be known. But the sea would not keep the dread secret, and we hope the publication of these particulars may be the means of bringing to justice the guilty parties.—Cape Ann Advertiser.

—The following legend relates how a certain Grand Duke of Florence built a bridge without expense to the State: The Grand Duke issued a proclamation that every beggar who would appear in the plaza at a certain designated time should be provided with a new suit of clothes, free of cost. At the appointed hours the beggars of the city all assembled, whereupon the officers caused each avenue of the public square to be closed, and then compelled the beggars to strip off their old clothes, and gave to each one, according to promise, a new suit. In the old clothes thus collected enough money was found concealed to build a beautiful bridge over the Arno, still called Beggars' Bridge!

—A huge rattlesnake which had a kingfisher by the leg was discovered in Indiana recently, while a large number of other birds of all kinds had assembled in answer to the cry of the captive, and were attacking the snake from all quarters, to prevent him from swallowing the bird.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.—There is no disease of human system for which the VIGORTINE cannot be used with perfect safety, as it does not contain any metallic compound.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — The family destitute of this preparation is literally without the only safe and certain means of curing those eruptions, ulcers, swellings, and painful nervous complaints so common to us all. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

THE HUMAN ROOF AND ITS THATCHING. If the man deserves well of his country who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, surely he who produces a glorious crop of hair on a comparatively barren scalp deserves the hearty thanks of the obliged party. All honor, therefore, to Professor E. T. Lyon, for, unquestionably, his renowned Kathairon accomplishes this object. Gentlemen whose whiskers are shy of making their appearance in force, or the fibers of whose moustaches disclose those "magnificent distances" for which Washington City was once so famous, will find this Hair Persuader the most wonderful encourager of fibrous development that has ever yet been invented. Both sexes are advised to use it, as by all odds, it is the best article for improving the growth and beauty of the hair, keeping it free from scurf and dandruff, preventing it from becoming harsh, dry and gray—giving it a rich gloss and endowing it with flexibility—the Toilet Chemistry has ever evolved from the vegetable kingdom.

IS YOUR STOMACH UNEASY?—Many a dyspetic Crœsus would be willing, it is said, to give half his wealth for an easy stomach. If this is a fact, why do any of our "old men" continue to endure the pangs of indigestion. Is it not patent to the whole community that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure the worst case of chronic Dyspepsia in six or eight weeks? No occasion for the expenditure of half a fortune; a few dollars will suffice to accomplish the object. Surely, every man who is not "sand blind" to the great utilitarian facts of the day must know that this celebrated vegetable specific promptly relieves all diseased conditions of the stomach, liver, bowels and nervous system, restores their vigor and imparts regularity to their functions. Is your epigastrium uneasy? Is the vulture, disease, gnawing at your liver? If so, resort at once to the Bitters.

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

The Game of Brag.

The Greeleycratic game of brag is by no means confined to the party organs, for in this city we have proofs that individual Greeleycrats go about privately boasting that one and another of the oldest and most influential Republicans are in favor of and will soon declare for Greeley, hoping thus to win over any of their opponents who may be weak-kneed or inclined to "vote with the winning party," to the support of the Dolly Varden candidates. There is hardly a prominent Republican in the city but has been handed over to dishonor by these precious champions of honor and reform, though they are of course aware that their statements are wholly false,—but that makes no difference at all with them,—"Anything to beat Grant." These baseless fabrications concerning the apostacy of men who are firm in support of the principles for which they have long contended are trumped up to an extent which is astonishing, and circulated (and endorsed) by Democrats who would scorn to tell a lie in their business affairs or to spread a slander for any but political effect. The design of this plan—for it bears evidence of being a regularly organized plan—of proceedings doubtless is to bring into the Greeleycratic fold the many Democrats who still hold aloof from the corrupt coalition, as well as any reputed Republicans who may have no principles to stand in the way of such a change. The character of the Greeleycratic leaders and their estimate of the amount of "principle" possessed by those Republicans whom they hope to win over, is significantly shown in the great argument which is being privately and publicly urged to induce them to leave their party, by the Greeley wire-pullers and editors; "Come over to us; you'd better come, and come quick—because we are going to win!"

In this city the private brag of individuals goes even further than the public brag of Greeley's organ; not only has Ex-Gov. Goodwin been given to Greeley, (a transaction to which the principal sturdily refuses to be a party,) but one of the oldest and most honored members of the Rockingham bar, a prominent and influential Republican whose reputation for political rectitude and consistency is as high and as justly deserved as the Ex-Governor's and who has no more thought than he of deserting his principles and stultifying the record of his life, is quietly but positively announced as "favoring Greeley, though he does not want it made public just yet." To those who know the gentleman personally, the insinuation that he would hesitate to make an open declaration of any opinion he might hold would at once stamp the whole story as spurious; but some of those who hear the statement do not know the man—and so long as the ridiculous assertion of his swinging round the circle is not printed it can be made to do good service for the honorable "reformers," without putting them in danger of getting another such shot as that called out by the indiscreet publication of the Greeleycratic lie concerning Gov. Goodwin.

But on Wednesday evening we met with what to us was even a better example of the unscrupulous extravagance of the Greeleycratic game of brag, than that afforded in the claim that the two gentlemen above referred to had proved false. We were gravely informed by a respectably-appearing stranger with whom we incidentally engaged in conversation that "Gov. Goodwin and 'Squire ——— are out for Mr. Greeley, and I have it on good authority that the editor of the CHRONICLE is for him, and will say so when the right time comes!" In our astonishment we ejaculated the name of the original Greeley chap, and then asked, "Are you sure of this? And which of the CHRONICLE's two editors do you mean?" In answer we heard our own name given! And our informant, while not pretending to have heard us say so, for he acknowledged that he did not know us even by sight, assured us that we had told several Democrats that we should oppose the administration "on account of something or other concerning the naval Line and Staff dispute!" There was just enough of apparent truth in this statement to make the lie seem plausible; for during that same "line and staff dispute"—the only national question which has been considered since Grant took his seat in which we took very great personal interest—we opposed to the best of our ability the views of the administration. But though sadly disappointed in our pet hobby, we recognize that there are other and greater questions than that to be considered, and other people in the world besides ourselves; and having given our Greeleycratic friend our name, and an assurance that though both the CHRONICLE's editors would declare for Greeley "when the right time comes," that time will never come in this world, we left him, wondering who next would be claimed as being secretly for Greeley.

Col. Kelley of Manchester is hereby informed that we are not frightened because he is to vote for Greeley half as much as we should be at the defection of some of his wet nurses.

The demand for copies of the letter from Ex-Goodwin was so great on Thursday, that we reprint it this morning to supply those who failed to secure a copy yesterday before our edition was sold.

A son of Mr. John M. Davis, while at Kittery Point with the North Church picnic, Wednesday, fell from a tree and dislocated his collar-bone. It was replaced after the return of the picnic party to this city.

The York Co. (Me.) Republican convention unanimously renominated Messrs. John E. Butler of the Biddeford Journal, Cyrus H. Hobles of Wells, and Albert G. O'Brion of Cornish, for Senators. Nath'l. Hobbs of North Berwick, was nominated for Judge of Probate; Horace H. Burbank of Limerick, for Register of Probate; Asa L. Ricker of Waterboro,' for Register of Deeds; Edmund Warren of Alfred, for Sheriff; Zophar R. Folsom of Lyman, for Treasurer; and William S. Burbank of Limerick, for Commisioner.

All Hands Pleased.

Since the Connecticut election, last year, no election has taken place which has so completely delighted both political parties, in this city, as the recent contest in North Carolina. On the former occasion the rival political papers considered themselves fully justified in indulging in roosters and big headlines ad lib. for a whole week; and the late North Carolina election seems to have made everybody hilariously happy, as it should, for it is not often that a State goes both ways at once and gives each side a handsome majority. The local organ of the Greeley party has crowed as over a mighty victory, though it is possible it may have "slopped over" a bit in its zealous haste, as it very often does; and the local bosses of the Greeley-enthusiasm-manufacturing business had a salute fired, though from the extreme faintness of the reports we imagine they saved most of their powder to sell to the Republicans for celebrating the same glorious event, or perhaps the Greeley leaders had an eye to the eternal fitness of things and graduated their gunpowder rejoicings according to their victory—made them unnoticeable. One old-line Democrat, who tries to persuade himself that he has not swallowed boiled crow by asserting that Greeley has become a Democrat and that the Democrats still stick to the prejudices which formerly served the party for principles, after receiving a rose-colored Democratic report from North Carolina went to a leading Republican and proposed to borrow the gun and cartridges which he understood the previous reports had led the Republicans to procure for the purpose of saluting, so that the Greeleycrats might make a bigger noise than they did the first time. The Republican said his party preferred to keep the powder, as they would certainly want it early in November if they didn't just now, but said they would "go halves" with the Greeleycrats in firing a good salute right off, over North Carolina election, and then it could be credited to the party which the official count of votes should show to have won.

—O'Brien, who gave the Tammany records to the New York Times, is reported to have said that Judge McCunn could have been acquitted if he had been willing to spend $20,000.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to be hold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Deacon Brown.

BY JOHN PAUL.

It's Deacon Brown yer askin' about?
He hain't been round for a year;
They planted him last kittenge time,
Which is why he isn't here.

☞ Far'pape yo're observed as a gin'ral thing
That this lyin' under ground
For a year or two don't make one feel
Pretty much like stickin' round.

His kerricter, eh? What, old Deac. Brown?
Well, I'm rather 'shamed to say
That he wan't much the sort o' saint
Sot up by Harte and Hay.
He never cussed in his nat'ral life—
I mention this with concern—
He didn't know how, though he might a know'd
If he had a careel ter larn.

But it makes it rough fur the chap that gets
The writin' of his blog,
To hev ter confess he's a slingin' ink
Over sich a bumpon a log,
Who didn't amount to shucks in a row,
Who never war out on a tear,
And fur tacklin' a neat little game of "draw,"
Couldn't tell a full from a pair.

Fur the Deac. jest was a common cuss
O' the most ornariest kind,
Who never looked out o' the winder o' sin,
And durst'n raise a blind.
Ye've no idee how jarrversz he was,
I've hearn him remark—this limb!
That though he war raised in a Christian land,
One wife war enough for him.

His canal-boat once't—it was years ago,
When drivers both drav and steered—
Ran agin the bank jest above Penn Yan,
An' some o' the help got skeer'd.
The pilot sot in the lagin-room,
And helt his nozzle an' sworo.
But the Deac. spread himself at the gang-plank
A bandin' the ladies ashore.

P'raps the Deac., of he'd hed the rearin' o' some,
Would a panned out better that trip;
But, considerin' of his broughtens up,
He didn't quite lose his grip.
Onfortunit like fur the Deac. an' me,
He'd careful raisin' to hum;
An' yer can't 'spect much of a chap, yer know,
Onless he sprouts from a slum.

If he'd been a high-toned gambolier,
Or the rough of a mining camp,
With a bushel of sin in his kerricter,
An' a touch of Sairey Gamp,
Or an injineer or an injin that—
Any kind of a rum-histin' lout—
Fer'aps he'd a done some pretty big thing
Fur me ter be splurgin' about.

But he jest plugged on in a no 'count way,
A leadin' a good squar life,
Till the war kem oh—then he pulled up stakes,
An' said good bye ter his wife.
I've hearn tell a grittier man nor him,
In battle never trod,
An' he didn't let down in the face of Death,
Although he b'lieved in a God.

It's queer how he fout at Fredericksburg—
The Deac. jest went in wet,
A prayin' an' shoot'n an' every time
A fetchin' his man, you bet.
Yet he wan't sustained by the soothin' thought,
When he fell—October 'teenth,—
That he'd knocked spots out the commandments
An' been special rough on the seventh.

Jest beyont thet turnip-patch,
Some twenty holes yer kin see,
Thet air filled by chaps who went from here
To fight 'gin General Lee.
They went from here 'bout plantin' time,
They kem back when corn was ripe,
An' we buried 'em by thet walnut tree—
All chaps of the Deacon's stripe.

We'll cross over thar to the old man's grave,
And I guess I'll be gittin' then;
Yer pardin, stranger, I allers unroof
At the grave o' that sort o' men.
I've been gassin' away promiscus like,
But now I make bold ter say,
It don't follor on a man's a sneak
Cause he lives in a decent way.

I know some folks reck'n contrairywise,
An' sling their ink quite free,
But they ain't got holt the right end on it,
Accordin' to my idee.
An' that's why I've sort o' been chippin' in,
A pleadin' the Deacon's excuse,
Fur we all can't be gamblers and thieves,
An' all women needn't be loose.

—The man with his long-tester who accompanies Barnum, and makes an honest penny by testing the wind of the multitude, came to grief at Terre Haute Tuesday. A healthy farmer's boy, with a chest on him like an emigrant's valise, drew in a mouthful of the atmosphere, wrapped a quarter of his lips over the nozzle and breathed. An explosion followed— first of the machine and then of the bystanders, and the "professor" was heard to say, as he gathered up the fragments of tinkling brass and springs, "He had been eating onions; that's what made his breath so strong."—St. Louis Globe.

—Macaulay's New Zealander will have a hard puzzle if, when he comes, he chances to get hold of some of our current political terms. How can he be expected to guess, for instance, that the following is an announcement of a political speech by Mr. Voorhees: "The Tall Sycamore of the Wabash will give a specimen of how crows are eaten this evening at the Democratic stand in the court-house yard?"

—Nothing is impossible—to a woman. An Indiana train was running at the rate of forty miles an hour. In it was a mother, an infant and a bottle of milk. The bottle dropped out of the window; the mother frantically pulled the bell cord, stopped the train and wanted the conductor to go back after the babe's lost sustenance. He didn't go.

Article, beechnut. Name, Sillision. Residence, Underhill, Vt. Time, two years and a-half ago. He coughed it up last week-in the presence of his admiring relatives.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

The Sullivan House in Durham.—On a recent visit to the town named, a call was made to the house once occupied by Maj. Gen. John Sullivan, distinguished as an officer in the war of the Revolution, as Delegate to the Continental Congress and Governor of the State in 1786, '87 and '89. He occupied this dwelling in his late years, and died in it, Jan. 23, 1795. A grave yard perhaps twenty rods back of the house on a gentle elevation of land, is where he was buried, at the head of which is a plain slab of marble, bearing a simple inscription consisting of his name and the dates of his birth and death. The title Maj. Gen. is given, but no reference is made to his having been Chief Magistrate of New Hampshire.

The house is southeast from the center of Durham village, on the road to Newmarket, on the left side of the road, and is just beyond the bridge over Oyster river. Its front is towards the southwest. It is a large double house, two stories high, and painted white. Changes have been made in it since it was occupied by the Governor, but the general plan of the rooms is the same as when he lived there. Reverencing greatness and usefulness in the human character, we were intensely interested in these spacious rooms where the brave old soldier of our war for Independence and one of our early statesmen received visitors, held councils with the notable men of those times and devised measures for the safety and prosperity of the commonwealth.

Gen. Sullivan was a lawyer, but what was his law office is not now where it was when he occupied it, but is half a mile away and now a dwelling. Just back of the house is a cottage in which negro servants lived and performed the duties of writers and workers for the Governor and family.

Gen. Sullivan was father of Hon. George Sullivan of Exeter, for many years Attorney General of New Hampshire, and grandfather of Hon. John Sullivan, also Attorney General. Both are dead.

—A lady in New Haven was so affected recently by the death of a pet cat, that she dressed the remains and exposed them to view before burying them.

—Copper-toed fans are sold for the benefit of young ladies who have no one to love, and who chew the stuffing out of any other kind in one evening when a hop is in progress.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents resting with children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, COLTS FOOT, LIQUIRICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and Much has been said written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no add or potash compounds, but safe, reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

Political.

A Greeley pole ninety feet high, with a big white hat on it, has been raised in Morrow, Ohio. It is noticed as a remarkable coincidence, that the crows of the neighborhood all roost on it.

The San Francisco Bulletin, which for some time gave a very uncertain sound in political matters, has at length climed off the fence and speaks thus of the Cincinnati-Baltimoreans:

"If the happy family are quarreling already over spoils in prospective, what would they do if their candidate were really elected? Would such inharmonious elements promise any more successful administration than we have had the last four years? Would not the prospects of building a new party on the ruins of the Democracy be improved by beating the programme to rehabilitate the Democracy?"

The Greeley papers asserted exultingly when it was thought the Republicans had met with a defeat in North Carolina, that "it settles the Presidential election." Now that the Republicans have carried the State, the Greeleyites do not think "it settles" the matter as much as it did—while the Republicans think it does.

A Democrat who thinks the necessities of his party demand that he adopt "crow meat" as a permanent diet, says "H. G." evidently stands for "Hard Grab."

Vice President Colfax predicts that Indiana in November will give its old republican majorities of 1864 and 1868.

The California September election is omitted this year. The state elects congressmen in November.

"Just look at him!" exclaimed a Liberal Missourian, proudly contemplating the meteoric hair of the tail of the Greeley ticket; "why, he is a whole torch-light procession himself."

Senator Tipton had three brothers-in-law, a nephew, and a son appointed to office, and tried to have another son-in-law appointed to a Consulship. He is opposed to nepotism, and for that reason will not vote for Grant.

This is the way Dan Voorhees went over to Greeley, according to the St. Louis Dispatch:

A gentleman in this city sent word to Voorhees that "all his friends were getting into the Greeley boat; and that he was too good a fellow to leave behind, and he had better come along too, before they shoved off." Voorhees received the message, and sent this back; "He was pretty much in the condition," he wrote, "of the boy at camp meeting, where nearly all the people had gone forward on the anxious benches, and he was left blooming alone. At last the minister saw him and came up.

"My young brother," said the preacher, "why do you sit here alone? Why not come to glory?"

"All them gals goin' to glory?" asked the boy.

"Straight as a shingle," said the preacher.

"No switchin' off nor nuthin'?"

"Through by daylight," answered the minister.

"Well, parson," said the boy, "if all them gals is a-goin' to glory, I don't see as its much use o' me a-whittlin' here by myself; I guess I might jest as well go 'long too."

—A writer in Appleton's Journal argues very strongly in favor of ladies riding horses "man-fashion," and says: "Assuming this position, then, to be well taken, there is a word or two to be said of the accessories for riding en cavalier, and these embrace in themselves no small portion of the advantages to be gained by "cutting" Queen Anne. The long, dragging, fluttering, flying, 'habit' is to be discarded, of course. Even an ordinary skirt, despite the example of Madame Camarra, will not do. What is to be the costume then? It is ready at hand—the very dress. Ugly, ungainly and unfeminine, as it has been presented to us by pedestrians, on horse back it can be made pretty and piquant, and is just what we want. It is the so-called bloomer costume. With a very full skirt falling a little below the knee, Turkish trousers gathered at the ankle, a neat high gaiter, or zouave bootee, and a jaunty riding-hat and plume, we surely have a riding-dress, that for style, compactness, comfort, ease of management and relief—mounted or dismounted—from the two handed embarrassment of the trailing habit cannot be surpassed.

—A New Orleans youth thought he would commit suicide, and accordingly jumped in to the river. Finding it too cold for comfort, he changed his mind, swam ashore, and scrambled upon a dock whence he viewed with much interest the efforts of the police and citizens to recover his body.

—A box of eggs at Chattanooga, Tenn., was hatched into a multitudinous brood of chickens, by the heat of the sun.

THE REPUBLICANS of Augusta, Me., had two great mass meetings, Thursday evening. Secretary Boutwell made a speech of great power. He predicted success in November, saying:—

There have been several State elections since the organization of what claims to be a new party, but for which an appropriate name cannot be found in the English language, and these elections have shown not only that the Republican party is undiminished, but that it is everywhere strengthened and everywhere increased. The witnesses are New Hampshire, Connecticut, Oregon, and lastly the State of North Carolina (applause,) whose action caused the new organization to rejoice when they believed in error, which seems to be their usual condition, and to mourn when they learned the truth. The election in North Carolina has not only indicated with certainty that that State by a vastly increased majority will sustain the Republican nominations in November next, but shows also that the error of the new organization is sufficient for the exigency in which that organization is placed, which is that they shall revive the ancient Democratic policy to secure a united South and combine with that portion of a divided North. It indicates, also, that the old States of Virginia and West Virginia, which have not been counted upon as likely to sustain the Republican party, are reasonably sure in November next, and that the Republican party is better assured of victory in 1872 than it was at a corresponding period of the contest in '64 or '68.

MR. LULL ON THE LICENSE LAW.—Mr. Lull of Tolland, made a remarkable speech in the Connecticut House on Friday evening on the license law, surprising his Democratic associates who had originated the bill and pressed it forward, by the boldness of his utterances. He is thus reported:—

Mr. Speaker—The action of this house—the action here, Mr. Speaker, on this bill—has killed the Democratic party of Connecticut, it has killed the party, I say. I repeat, Mr. Speaker, that the Democratic party has buried itself under the turf, and I denounce that party, Mr. Speaker—I denounce it—I denounce it. (Laughter on the Republican side of the house.)

O, laugh, laugh! well you may laugh, on your side of the house. I should think you would laugh. (Great laughter.) You have done enough—I should say you had. (Laughter.) You have euchered us—you have euchered the Democratic party and—and I know it. (Laughter.)

(Mr. Lockwood of Norwalk, who sat behind Mr. Lull, broke out into a violent peal of laughter.)

Mr. Lull, (turning to Mr. Lockwood.) And you laugh! I should think you would. Yes, laugh—you fooled us euchered us—when we voted for Levy—you did, and I'm ashamed of it; I'm ashamed that I was fooled. (Great laughter.)

This bill, Mr. Speaker, kills the Democratic party, and I say for one that I'll never vote with a party that will do such a thing. (Laughter.) No sir, I'll not. (Renewed laughter.)

The speaker here interrupted Mr. Lull, and explained to him that the matter before the house had no relation to the license law, and the gentleman from Tolland then gave way to regular business.

MADAME PESCHKA-LEUTNER.—There have lately been put in circulation so many rumors about Madame Peschka-Leutner's earlier life that the musical public will be glad to hear the real story which is translated from a recent German paper and is as follows:—

"Minna Peschka-Leutner is the daughter of the violinist, von Leutner, and was born on the 20th of October, 1869, at Vienna, where her father held the position of violinist in the orchestra of the imperial opera. Through him she received her first instruction and he laid the foundation to her later reputation. When a girl of seventeen she made her appearance on the stage at Breslau as "Agatha" in Weber's Fric schutz, and as "Alice" in Meyer beer's Robert with decided success, for which she was mostly indebted to the instruction her mother's sister, Lenore Friedlowsky, and Henry Proch, then conductor of the imperial opera at Vienna. In Breslau she became acquainted with and married Dr. Peschka, a practising physician, after which she finished her musical education with Madame Bochkolz-Falconi, one of the most famous singers and singing teachers of the German stage, and rose by diligence and application to her present position as an artist of the highest rank recognized by all critics and lovers of music in this country and Germany."

—A boarding-house keeper in Memphis, who feared she might not get pay for the board of a woman who was in arrears, forcibly detained her baby for security.

—In Dordrecht are two streets—as long and crooked as their names: "Blindleidengasthuissteeg," "Sisarisosarixgang." The name of a society is the Worstenbroodmaatschappijen, (Sausage-bread-makers' Society.) The euphonious name of its President, Mr. Snookks, is spelt in Flemish, Snoecks.

—In America there are about a dozen varieties of frogs, but only two or three are used as food. They subsist on flies, insects and the inexperienced infants of their own race. As a general rule only the hindquarters of the frog are eaten, but in Germany they "go the whole (fr)og," except the insides and the skin. They are in season from March til November, being best for table use in the Fall.

The ejectment suit brought by John A. Coleman of Providence four years ago against the New Haven Railroad Company, has at last been settled by the company paying Mr. Coleman $8800. The suit was on account of an ejectment from a train for refusing to pay fare otherwise than by a coupon ticket. It was decided that the coupon ticket was legal for passage over the road.

A CONUNDRUM ANSWERED.—One of our citizens is blessed, or otherwise, with a very stubborn wife. In his case he finds that "he pend on't," and when she won't, she won't and that's an end on't. This peculiarity of disposition in his wife is no secret among his associates, and one of them meeting him recently asked:

"W——, do you know why you are like a donkey?"

"Like a donkey?" echoed W——, opening his eyes wide. "No, I don't."

"Do you give it up?"

"I do."

"Because your better half is stubbornness itself."

"That's not bad. Ha! Ha! I'll give that to my wife when I go home."

"Mrs. W——," he asked, as he sat down to supper, "do you know why I am like a donkey?"

He waited a moment, expecting his wife to give it up, but she didn't; she looked at him somewhat commiseratingly as she answered:

"I suppose it's because you was born so."

W——has abjured the habit of putting conundrums to his wife.—Lawrence American.

PIMPLES, ERUPTIONS, ROUGH SKIN.—The system being put under the influence of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a few weeks, the skin becomes smooth, clear, soft and velvety, and being illuminated with the glow of perfect health from within, true beauty stands forth in all its glory. Nothing ever presented to the public as a beautifier of the complexion ever gave such satisfaction for this purpose as this Discovery. The efforts of all medicines which operate upon the system through the medium of the blood are necessarily somewhat slow, no matter how good the remedy employed. While one to three bottles clear the skin of pimples, blotches, eruptions, yellow spots, comedones or "grubs," a dozen may possibly be required to cure some cases where the system is rotten with scrofulous or virulent blood poisons. The cure of all these diseases, however, from the common pimple to the worst scrofula is, with the use of this most potent agent, only a matter of time. Sold by all druggists. 603.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

THE HUMAN ROOF AND ITS THATCHING. If the man deserves well of his country who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, surely he who produces a glorious crop of hair on a comparatively barren scalp deserves the hearty thanks of the obliged party. All honor, therefore, to Professor E. T. Lyon, for, unquestionably, his renowned Kathairon accomplishes this object. Gentlemen whose whiskers are shy of making their appearance in force, or the fibers of whose moustaches disclose those "magnificent distances" for which Washington City was once so famous, will find this Hair Persuader the most wonderful encourager of fibrous development that has ever yet been invented. Both sexes are advised to use it, as by all odds, it is the best article for improving the growth and beauty of the hair, keeping it free from scurf and dandruff, preventing it from becoming harsh, dry and gray—giving it a rich gloss and endowing it with flexibility—that Toilet Chemistry has ever evolved from the vegetable kingdom.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Health, cheerfulness, long life, depend upon the regular action of the digestive organs, pure secretions and the vigorous condition of the lungs and the nerves. All these conditions of the system are secured by the use of the above remedies. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price, 25 cents per box or pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited. 11

IS YOUR STOMACH UNEASY?—Many a dyspeptic Crœsus would be willing, it is said, to give a fee to know why do any of our "solid men" continue to endure the pangs of indigestion. Is it not patent to the whole community that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure the worst case of chronic Dyspepsia in six or eight weeks? No occasion for the expenditure of half a fortune; a few dollars will suffice to accomplish the object. Surely, every man who is not "sand blind" to the great utilitarian facts of the day must know that this celebrated vegetable specific promptly relieves all diseased conditions of the stomach, liver, bowels and nervous system, restores their vigor and imparts regularity to their functions. Is your epigastrium uneasy? Is the vulture, disease, gnawing at your liver? If so, resort at once to the Bitters.

PERHAPS no real medicine ever gained the rapid popularity which Castoria has done. One person relates their experience of its good effects to another. It is a vegetable preparations, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take; does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. Any person who has ever used Castoria for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Croup, Flatulency, Worms, Piles, or deranged Liver, will never again use nauseating Oil, Bitter Pills or Narcotic Syrups. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its soothing, quieting effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children. It costs but 35 cents, and one bottle will save many dollars in doctors' bills.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Another Grand Rally.

The Republicans of this city are irrepressible. A dozen Grant & Wilson flags are flying about town and the supporters of Republican principles get nervous if they cannot find vent for their enthusiasm. Hot weather does not seem to cause less activity. Their indignation at the infamous falsehoods by the Greeleyites relative to the defection of Republicans, has brought into active political movement many a Republican who has hitherto remained in the background and allowed others to perform the campaign work. The Greeley men fired thirty seven "pop" guns over their alleged victory in North Carolina, but have "sung small" since. On Friday evening, the Republicans responded with a hundred guns that were not at all doubtful in sound.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, an hour's notice only being given them, the Republicans with the Marine Band marched from their headquarters to the Creek, and on their return serenaded Ex-Governor Goodwin, who made an effective speech appealing to the old phalanx of Republicans to remember "Auld Lang Syne" and vote as in "auld lang syne." The Governor said the election of Greeley would ruin the business of the country, encourage those who fought against the Union and elevate a man to the chair of State who is a traitor to his party. Greeley had said many hard things against his present associates which were as true now as when first spoken. While the Governor was speaking a small gang of rowdies of the Greeley persuasion, who have no ideas of decency, endeavored to insult the Governor by interruptions and cheers for Greeley. Where were the police?

Hon. William H. Y. Hackett was serenaded at his residence, and made a speech declaring his belief that the Greeley party is indeed made up of the worst men of both parties, a combination that all honest men should shun.

During the evening Hon. Edward H. Rollins arrived at the Rockingham House, and it was determined to give him a call. Some three or four thousand ladies and gentlemen gathered there, and as the procession halted there was a general cry for "Rollins! Rollins!" That gentleman soon appeared and was introduced by Mayor Marvin. Several rounds of cheers greeted Mr. Rollins, who spoke for nearly an hour in an energetic speech replete with argument. The large audience insisted that he should go on, and testified to their approbation by frequent bursts of applause. Mr. Rollins was in excellent voice and made one of the most telling speeches it has ever been our fortune to listen to. We shall publish it to-morrow. At the close, the procession was dismissed with rousing cheers for Rollins, Grant and Wilson.

News Thieves

Are a Portsmouth nuisance. A gentleman who walked through our principal streets yesterday morning informs us that he saw a dozen men reading the CHRONICLE on door steps. Some throw the paper carelessly down and if it rains the papers are wet through and spoiled; if the wind blows they are swept away and the subscribers grumble because their papers are not delivered. A few of the news thieves take the papers from door-steps, hastily secrete them in their clothing and pass on, doubtless thinking they have done a smart thing. They are the cause of much trouble to us and our subscribers. Our instructions to carriers are to put the paper under the doors if possible. If they do not, we will thank any one who will notify us immediately of their neglect. We will give a reward of $10 to any one who will prove a theft of this kind on any person stealing one copy of the CHRONICLE from any of our subscribers.

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, a petition of Adams Perry, Jr., for grading Rockingham Street, was referred to Committee on Streets with power to act.

Petition of S. F. E. Co's. Nos. 1, 2 and 3, for increase of pay to $30 and Hand Engine Co.'s Nos. 5 and 6 for like increase of pay, were received and laid on the table.

The Board considered the petition of Wm. S. Fraser and others for widening Pleasant Street. John S. H. Frink, Esq., appeared for Mrs. A. R. P. Burrough. The Board voted to visit the proposed widening on Monday next at 3 o'clock, P. M.

Subject of Stewards of Steam Fire Engine Co.'s and their pay; also subject of purchase of furniture, &c., by the Chief Engineer, were referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

Laconics.

There will be no services at the Middle Street (Baptist) Church to-morrow.

Horace Greeley will visit Rye Beach next Friday, and will be the guest of G. H. Jenness, Esq.

Elder E. Owen will supply the pulpit of Rev. Mr. Harmon at the Pearl Street church on Sunday.

Fifteen persons fainted on account of the extreme heat, on a train from Bangor to Portland, Friday.

The report that Lieut. Fred P. Ela, U. S. M. C., now at this naval station, son of Hon. J. H. Ela, has come out for the Democratic candidate, is quite emphatically denied.

A committee of S. B. Breed Hook & Ladder Co., No. 1, of Lynn, was in this city on Friday arranging for a visit of the company on the 12th of next month.

Messrs. Edward P. Nowell, editor of the "American Odd Fellew," and Jacob H. Thompson, of the "New York Times" have been spending a few days in this city.

We regret to hear of the death of Mr. Morris Kichler, who recently relinquished business in this city and sailed for Germany. He lived but a few days after reaching the "faderland."

Maj. Edwin H. Leslie, the commander of Storer Encampment, G. A. R., of this city, indignantly denies the report that he will "rat" to Greeley. Major Leslie is an earnest supporter of Grant & Wilson.

The Franklin House, under its new landlord, is rapidly gaining in public favor. Mr. Charles B. Parker is making marked improvements and we think the old hostelry cannot fail to recover its ancient prestige, under his management.

On Friday evening a horse belonging to Mr. Henry Bean ran away on Market Square, and knocked down Misses Mary Murphy and Ellen Mitchell, who were watching the Republican procession. The ladies were severely injured.

A friend calls for the organization of a society for the suppression of cruelty to animals. He states that the horses which haul the street sprinkler are not strong enough for such work and that they are outrageously beaten and overworked.

Messrs. Gauford and Beers of Philadelphia, propose publishing an atlas of Rockingham County, consisting of of a separate map of every town, with the names and places of abode of all residents designated, together with a brief history of each town.

Mr. Alex. H. Rowe, formerly of this city, and now proprietor of the New Hampshire House at Dover, having important business which calls him to the West, has, we learn, decided to immediately dispose of the property, and proceed thence. He will carry with him the best wishes of a host of friends.

We hear further reports of desecration of graves at the cemetery. The statute law is sufficiently severe and explicit in designating the penalty for such offences, and we trust the proper authorities will take every measure to ferret out and inflict the severest punishment on all such malicious miscreants.

In the U. S. District Court, at New York, Thursday, the case of Paymaster Cahoon, against whose bondsmen a suit was begun by the government in 1871 for the recovery of the deficit of $30,000 in his accounts, came up. On motion of his counsel to overrule the demurrer of the government to the second and third counts of his plea, on the ground that he was an imbecile at the time of the execution of the bonds and occurrence of the defalcation, the motion was granted.

The Kittery Democrats are a demoralized crowd. It is said they will lose thirty-five per cent. from their vote of last year, next month. On Friday they had a flag raising, and not enough Democrats could be found to raise their pole. The sympathetic Republicans looking on out-numbered the Democrats two to one, and being appealed to for help, took hold and "with a long pull, a strong pull and a pull altogether," the pole went up "in the twinkling of an eye." Accommodating chaps, those Kittery Republicans.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to be hold. DR. AYER's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. HIS HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glow and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER's HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Boils or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Chased by Wolves.

"Your speaking of being chased by wolves in Canada woods recalls a similar experience I once had in Ohio," said the old pioneer, as he shook with suppressed emotion, but whether of a sad or pleasant nature could not be ascertained in the dim light of the fire-place.

"Let us hear the yarn," we suggested, with a reportorial eye to an item for consideration in a dull season.

"Oh, it ain't any yarn, I assure you," said the old man, as he chuckled and grinned, until a glacial movement of tobacco juice started from each corner of his mouth and pushed its way slowly down the wrinkles that led to his stubble covered chin, below. "Shut the door there—so that mother can't hear what is going on, and will tell you how I came to get married."

We complied with his request, and after storing away a fresh deposit of the weed "that cheers but don't inebriate," he drew his chair close to us and commenced:

"It was in the year 1850 that I came to Cleveland, and became employed in a hard ware store on Superior street. I had spent all my precious life on a farm, and had become tired of tramping around over the pastures, foddering sheep and cattle in winter, and working still harder in the summer. I won't say anything about the difficulties I experienced in getting employment upon my arrival in the city, nor how I tried every place in the town before I could find a boarding place that suited me until I became acquainted with a widow lady who kept a few boarders on what is now known as Euclid avenue.

My landlady was accomplished and had evidently seen better days, but the death of her husband left her in reduced circumstances. She had two daughters, both lively, intelligent and possessed of graces that only come from association with the better class of society. They were of extremely gay disposition, and I had not been at the house a month before I was hopelessly in love with Fanny, the eldest, and though at times her manner toward me was tender and encouraging, she carefully avoided giving me an opportunity to be alone with her long enough to declare my passion.

The winter had nearly passed without finding me any farther advanced in my suit, until one night in February after a heavy fall of snow, I asked Fanny to take a sleigh ride with me, to which she consented, and after we had procured as high stepping a pair of horses as could be found in the city, drove up to the house of my affinity, and in a few minutes we were whirling away out on the Cleveland and Medina turnpike. I had taken the road partly because it led towards my old home, and also owing to its being less travelled at night than the other thoroughfares leading [illegible] to be interrupted in our ride or conversation. The night was just cool enough to make it necessary to place my arm around my companion, the horses were frisky, and the moon shone with that peculiar light which is preferred by lovers to all others, unless it be that of a parlor lamp turned down so low that as an illuminator it is nearly useless.

Through Brooklyn township we whirled out into the country, where the lights from the farm houses became more scattered and the baying of a watch dog was the only sound heard. Fanny who had previously sang, laughed and chatted merrily on our ride, now became quiet; as we came to a rise in the road that disclosed a level strip two or three miles in length before us, I said to myself, 'Before we have travelled the road now in view, I will settle my fate, and go home a happier or more miserable man.'

Hardly had I come to this conclusion before I heard a peculiar rushing sound behind us, and looking around could see a flock of sheep coming at full speed towards us, and behind them were two or three dogs, which accounted for the fright of the sheep, which would doubtless run for miles before stopping, and cause their owner much trouble in hunting them up. But a bright thought came to me. Fanny was a city girl and had never seen a sheep save in the shape of cutlets or roast at her mother's table. I would indulge in a strategy of the kind which is considered fair in love or war. Lowering my voice to the note of the stage Jubbenainosy where he speaks of the death of his parents, wife and friends, I said, 'Fanny, my girl, are you brave—cas' you bear terrible news?' 'Why, Henry, what is the matter—what makes you so pale?' Assuming a more tragic voice I replied: 'Be firm, dearest—rely on me, we are followed by wolves? Look behind you and you can see the monsters who are already thirsting for our blood.'

She gave a hurried glance backward, heard the rushing sound of many feet, the deep breathing which, when heard in the forests of the north, causes the wildest dismay; then drawing nearer to me, said: 'I did not know there were any wolves so near the city, Henry?' 'Neither did I think there were any,' I replied, 'but it seems we were mistaken, for these behind us are of the grey species, and most dangerous of any to meet. Driven by hunger they have approached the settlements, and unless our horses can go to the 'Stone Tavern' in Parma before we are overtaken, we are lost.'

At this juncture the old early horned leader, tired and out of wind from the long run gave vent to a prolonged bleat which was fearful enough to scare a girl less timid than Fanny. I sawed on the horses' bits, flourished my whip frantically around them until they were excited and apparently doing their best to escape the fate behind them, but I was secretly holding them back, to allow the wolves (!) to get closer. On came the bloody horde, panting for breath, nearer and nearer, until I began to throw out robes and blankets. 'These will keep them chewing a few minutes,' I said, 'and we may escape.' But the sheep had no appetite for the robes, and were close behind us.

I arose in the sleigh, gave the reins to Fanny, saying: 'Drive for your life—I will sacrifice myself for you,' and made a movement as if to jump out of the sleigh. 'Never! never!' she screamed, 'we will die together,' and she pulled me down beside her to await her fate. While thus employed I succeeded in obtaining a hasty avowal of Fanny, at the same time I was holding back the horses to let the pursuers go by. They came; the monsters separated and passed us on either side, while I held my hat over her face that she might not see the dreadful deception I had played upon her.

She fainted the moment we were overtaken by the wolves, and without trying to revive her, I turned the horses homeward, and only stopped to pick up the robes which had been thrown out to check the ferocious animals. After driving a mile or two, my now affianced wife revived sufficiently to hear how we were saved by a party of sleigh riders who met us just as we were surrounded. Though nervous and weak from the excitement she recovered her buoyancy of spirit before we arrived home, and had promised to keep our adventure a secret, as I informed her 'the owner of the horses would charge me a fearful price if he know to what tests his steeds had been put.' And that is my adventure with wolves and how I came to marry."

But did your wife never find out the deception you practised?" we asked of the old settler as he laughed again while thinking of his boyish pranks.

"Not until eight years ago," he replied, "when I told her of it one evening when she was ironing."

"What did she say?"

"Not much,—not very much," answered our old romancer, but removing his hat, he showed us a triangular space upon his head such as might have been made by a hot smoothing iron and with not a hair upon its surface. We thought Fanny was revenged.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.
